Belknap's counsel some time ago indicated their purpose to summon a cloud of witnesses—about 150, from all sections of the country—for the purpose, it is asserted, of confusing and delaying the case; but the Senate incontinently sat down on the little arrangement by appointing a committee to decide what witnesses are essential to a fair and impartial trial of the accused: and any others he may desire to appear he will have to pay out of his pocket. Hence, yesterday he scratched out the names of about fifty that he has desired the Government to bring here for his defence. The trial will be resumed on the sixth of July; but there is an impression that it will ultimately be postponed until next November or December. The Senate has also adopted a resolution to prevent an adjournment of the House before the close of the trial should no postponement take place.

The President's message calling the attention of the House to the backwardness of the appropriation bills and to the detriment to the service likely to follow their failure, has had the effect to make both Houses a little more active. Ho suggested that Congress by a joint resolution continue the present allowance in full force until an adjustment of the present disagreements shall have been effected, and that the amounts so used be deducted from the appropriations for the next fiscal year. The democrats, as in duty bound, disapproved of the President's "attempt to coerce the House," as they characterised his action; he is generally commended for his course however. The democrats were reminded of their utter disregard of the rule requiring that all appropriation bills shall be reported by the committee having them in charge within thirty days from the begining of the session, during the discussion that followed the reception of the message. More than six months have elapsed since Congress came together and some of the bills are not yet reported; and the Senate is supposed to be able to pass them all between now and the first of July, when six months have not sufficed for their consideration by the House!

It does not appear possible to avoid the paralyzing effects that will inevitably result from their failure in any other way than that suggested by President Grant.

The following yet remain to be passed: the diplomatic and consular; the legislative, executive and judicial; the post office and Military Academy and the Military appropriation bills (all before conference committees;) also the sundry civil appropriation bill (not yet reported to the House.) The following have passed: the pension bill, the fortification bill, and deficiency bill. The following have passed the House, but have not been reached by the Senate: the river and harbor bill, the army bill, the navy bill and the Indian bill.

It is not probable that much more business of importance will be transacted by Congress until the close of the democratic convention at St. Louis. Many here are preparing to go, and it is likely that both House and Senate will be strongly represented. A hot struggle between Tilden and the anti-Tilden men is contemplated. Tilden has secured a large number of delegates by means best known to himself, it is hinted, and not at all to his credit as a "reformer."

The bill for the equalization of bounties to soldiers who served in the Union army during the late war, yesterday passed the House by 141 to 46. It provides that eight and one-third dollars shall be paid to every non-commissioned officer, musician and private soldier or sailor or marine, including Indians, for each month's service between April 12, 1861, and May 9, 1865, applying alike to volunteers and regulars. In case of death the bounty goes to the widow, or if no widow, to other heirs. All State and United States bounties are to be deducted. Substitutes and all who were discharged at their own request, except for disability, for purposes of re-enlistment or for promotion, are excluded from its benefits. Provisions are made for secondary proof of honorable discharge where the discharge certificate has been lost. All applications must be made within five years from the passage of the act.

The sub-judiciary committee were yesterday engaged in trying to connect Mr. Blaine and Thomas Scott with the sending of the Caldwell dispatch. The attempt was unsuccessful.

The democratic leaders here freely discuss the Cincinnati nominations and generally concede them to be very formidable; and it now looks as though a strong effort would be made at St. Louis to put forward General Hancock, with the hope of dividing the soldiers' vote. Their liberal support of the equalization bounty bills is regarded as a part of the programme in the same direction. Evidence is constantly being received here, showing that the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler has perfected the unifaction of the republican party, including the liberal element that supported the Greeley ticket in 1872. The position of Governor Hayes upon the public school question is also regarded as certain to detach from their party a large number of democrats who dread sectarian interference more than they dislike republican supremacy. MAXWELL.

News and Notes.

Schooner Ida L. Hammond sailed from Portland, Me., for Quincy, Mass., on the 12th of May, with a load of brick, and has not since been heard of. Her crew consisted of three men. There was a heavy gale the day after the vessel sailed, and she is supposed to have foundered. A schooner that arrived at Boston soon afterward reported having seen three men on the bottom of a boat, ten or fifteen miles east of Boon Island, and attempting to rescue them; but owing to the very heavy sea the poor fellows were all drowned. It is supposed the castaways were the crew of the Ida L. Hammond, which vessel would have been near that spot at about that time.

The London News publishes a letter from its Constantinople correspondent, dated June 16, giving details of atrocities committed in Bulgaria during the insurrection, and which still continue; the perpetrators are Bashi Bazouks, the Turkish irregular troops. The writer says that all movable property has been plundered, houses and villages burned, and old men, women and children indiscriminately slaughtered. It is estimated that the province which heretofore yielded to Government an annual revenue of four million dollars will not pay one-quarter of that sum this year or for years to come. Various estimates place the number of lives sacrificed at from 18,000 to 30,000. The correspondent names thirty-seven villages which are known to have been destroyed. Among the refugees, the number of whom is very small, there is not a girl over ten years of age. In the village of Servstitza, in the district of Phillippopolis, fifteen hundred persons are known to have been killed. The village consisted of four hundred houses, and was prosperous and peaceful. Every house has been burned and all the inhabitants killed, except a few women and children who took refuge in Phillippopolis, and some women who were carried off by the Bashi Bazouks. These cruelties have made a great impression at Constantinople. The English Ambassador has intervened with the Government to put an end to them.

Gen. Crook's command has had a four hours' fight with the Sioux, in which nine soldiers and eighty-three Indians were killed. The Sioux were routed. One Snake was killed, and four Crows wounded, of Crook's Indian scouts. Twenty-one soldiers were wounded.

Surgeon General Barnes has thoroughly examined Mr. Blaine's case, and finds him suffering from extreme nervous exhaustion and from severe malarial poisoning. These features of his case are complicated somewhat with threatened organic troubles, and General Barnes prescribes absolute rest for several weeks as indispensable to avert very serious consequences, and he orders that the rest be taken in some invigorating air on the sea shore or mountains. Doctors Pope and Verdi, who were in attendance upon Mr. Blaine during his original attack, have been urging upon him the same course prescribed by the Surgeon General.

The doubtful wisdom of using the rod in schools has been the subject of considerable discussion in the Educational Boards of this and other cities, and various are the compromises proposed by whippers and anti-whippers. The remembrance of that proposition in this city which exempted the girls but reserved the rattan for the boys must still rankle in the hearts of those who insist not merely on equal but the same educational advantages for both sexes; but it has never been put into practice, which is some consolation. A number of New York teachers have just petitioned for the right to apply the birch where the parents of the culprit give them discretionary powers in the matter. They would then be carrying out delegated parental authority according to their own judgments, and it would behoove the young sprigs to make good friends of their parents whatever might be their standing with their teachers. Those who made the request, however, hardly understood the principles of common law. To set up a school government in which one scholar might be punished more severely for a light offence than another for a heavy one would not be instilling into the youthful mind the right ideas of rewards and penalties. Perhaps, on the whole, those teachers who can control their charges only by the rod or lash would do better driving oxen than governing human beings.—Post.

The new government of Turkey is likely to burst up. The London Standard's Constantinople correspondent says: "Great uneasiness prevails and is increasing. The palace of Sultan Murad is surrounded day and night by pickets of cavalry. The Russian residents are sending their families away. Ibrahim Pasha has been placed under arrest. There are various rumors that he is implicated in the Russian intrigues, and that he assisted Abdal Aziz in disposing of his treasure. The censorship of the press is extremely severe. Three Turkish and three French journals are now suspended. The Government is fast becoming unpopular and will speedily fall if it does not abandon its undecided attitude."

The little dory "Centennial," Capt. Johnson, which left Gloucester, Mass., June 15, for Europe, was spoken on the 22d, off Seal Island, eighteen miles west of Cape Sable, Nova Scotia—all well.

Elijah Summers of West Hartford, Vt., who was arrested in Keene on suspicion of being implicated in the Foster murder, proved an alibi and was discharged.

The Democratic Convention.

The delegates to the democratic National convention at St. Louis, with the friends of the various candidates, had arrived at that city in large numbers at the close of last week. The friends of Tilden were there in force, including a swarm of Washington lobbyists and a very respectable army of his relatives; they were confident of securing his nomination if the two-thirds rule could be set aside. But influential enemies from his own State were at work on the ground, including John Kelly, of Tammany Hall fame, who says New York will go republican by 50,000 majority if Tilden is nominated. A letter from Judge Davis, declining to be a candidate for nomination, is said to be in the hands of a friend; but there is little likelihood it will be used if it appears he has any chance to win the nomination. Hendricks is said to have written a letter declining to run for Vice President. "Gentleman George" H. Pendleton has notified his alternate that he will not be able to attend the convention on account of a press of private business—working up another bogus railroad claim against the government, probably, at the halves. It is expected the platform will be devoted—one-half to denunciations of republican corruption and the other half to whole-souled endorsements of democratic virtue and devotion to "reform," leaving the school, tariff and finance questions to be "relegated to the Congressional districts." John Morrissey, ex-prize fighter, ex-Congressman, gambling-hall proprietor, etc., with one hundred and fifty "strikers" under his command, arrived in St. Louis on Saturday to work in the interests of Tilden and democratic reform. Hendricks is sustained by the greenback men, and Speaker Kerr has started a strong force from Washington to work for him.

Tammany's main objection to Tilden is said to be that his administration as governor of New York has been not a democratic but a reform administration, whereby he has lost his standing in the party. If his record as an honest reformer is all there is against him it hadn't ought to hurt him much.

The convention will probably nominate a hard-money man with soft-money principles, on a platform in favor of hard money but opposed to specie payment.

A New Contributor.

We have secured another valuable contributor to the columns of our paper, and print his first essay below. We don't know exactly who he is—nor care, either—but we do know that for hieroglyphics his essay beats all we have seen lately. He is evidently an original thinker and bold talker, —probably one of those terrible fellows who "go through" the rules of grammar and a drunken man's pockets with equal facility and disregard of rules and regulations. His communication is as follows:

"you editer you air a dam fool you better shet up yor dam yop an let foks alone as dent trubbel you you air a dam fool if you dont mind yor on dam biseness an let better folks than you alon a bulitt or a nif will do for you if you comin round the north end eny more lat nits we now you so beware vengence"

A careful, unprejudiced study of the above has impressed us with the idea that our valued correspondent is annoyed about something. Really, we are sorry; but we cannot see what we can do or say to sooth him. In spite of his gentle hint that we had better not "comm round the north end eny more lat nits" we are afraid we shall continue to do just as we please about it; we never have been accustomed to shape our course to please bullies and roughs, and are too old now to learn new habits. But we would suggest to him that if he can't shoot any better than he can spell he won't be likely to do anybody any great damage, anyway.

Call You That Backing Your Friend?

When the address for the removal of Sheriff Rowe came before the House on Friday, Mr. Hatch sprang into the breach. It seems that George Bingham is dieting for a judgeship, and is remarkably passive, and this or some other motive makes Harry retire from the small contests on the floor, and Hatch acts as leader of the democratic hosts. The Ex-Speaker was never fairer or more plausible, and wanted the question referred to the delegation from the county of Rockingham. This he knew would not save Rowe, for whom he really had no solicitude, but might save the Probate and Police Judges. Gen. Stevens alluded to the era of decapitation in 1874, when, under the direction of Mr. Hatch, no considerations were allowed weight against general removals for political causes alone. Mr. Hatch replied with emotion. He protested that the only removal then made of any official in Rockingham county was that of Sheriff Odlin; that the Register of Probate, now a member of the Senate, was spared, and no other removals were even attempted by his party; and that Gen. Stevens was mistaken in supposing he voted for removals; "for," said the patriotic Hatch, "I then, Sir, occupied your chair, and did not vote upon the question!" A democrat on the back seat was heard to exclaim in an undertone, "That's crawling through a d——d small hole, anyhow." The pith of the liberal conduct of the democracy may be appreciated when it is remembered that at that time the offices of County Solicitor, Judge of Probate and Judge of Police Court were filled by democratic appointees, and that addresses for the removal of the Special Justice in Portsmouth and the Register of Probate were all ready for presentation, but were withheld simply for the reason that the applicants for the anticipated vacancies were so notoriously unfit for the places that discretion compelled the managers to leave the incumbents undisturbed.

For Sheriff---J. Horace Kent.

The address for the removal of Sheriff Rowe having passed the House, his official head may be considered cut off; and we may now without impropriety express a hope that the appointing powers will see their way clear to the appointing of Col. J. Horace Kent as Sheriff of Rockingham County. We know that such an appointment would be highly satisfactory to a large majority of the people in this city and vicinity. Col. Kent possessing eminent qualifications for the position; without detracting in any way from the merits of other candidates, we will say that no better man than he for the place has been—or we believe can be—mentioned. On the score of fitness alone we trust he will receive the appointment; but we might go further, and suggest that this portion of the county is fairly entitled to the naming of one county officer, as Portsmouth pays a very large share (about one-third, we believe,) of the county tax; and as the appointments of all other county officers will go to the upper part of the county, without opposition from the lower portion, so far as we know, the request that the shrievalty be given to this city does not seem unreasonable.

Jottings.

These are the longest days in the year, there being fifteen hours and sixteen minutes between sunrise and sunset.

One of the Dartmouth College Seniors, Mr. William H. Gardiner of this city, has written and published the "Memoirs of the Class of '76" in a neat pamphlet of thirty-six pages. The work contains a short sketch of each member of the class, giving the date and place of birth, the fitting-school from which he came, the prizes he may have taken in literary or athletic contests, the amount of money he has earned while in college and other interesting and important facts in his life. The work is well written and will be of great interest to members of the class and their friends. The lives of several of the members have been remarkably varied. The two Seniors (Messrs. Peabody and Williams,) who started down the Connecticut a week or two ago, have returned. The time from Hanover to Saybrook, Conn., was about four days. The boat was constructed by Mr. Peabody, who has built several boats previously. The trip was a successful one, no mishaps, except an occasional capsize, having been experienced. Mr. Peabody attempted to shoot the rapids alone at Hartland, but got a ducking.

We are requested to announce a business meeting of the Temperance Reform Club this (Monday) evening to consider the matter of attending the Mass Temperance meeting at Concord, June 29. It is desired that there be a full attendance of the Club at Rechabite Hall to-night.

On the 21st, Alice, youngest daughter of A. F. Craig, Esq., was set upon by a large and ferocious dog and bitten in the left arm, the animal's teeth penetrating the flesh, causing the blood to flow and the arm to swell considerably. A complaint was made to the City Marshal, who notified the owner that the animal must for safety's sake be despatched. The next morning the dog could not be found, and it is said that he has been sent into Massachusetts.

The fishermen and other friends of Mr. Christopher Kellenbeck, who lost his boat and lobster-nets and nearly lost his life last week while fishing near Boon Island, have generously made up a purse to enable him to procure another outfit. We like to print items of this kind.

We learn that a beautiful and costly banner has been purchased by the Woman's Temperance League from the proceeds of the late Strawberry Festival, and will be formally presented to the Reform Club on Wednesday evening, probably at the Temple, although the place of meeting is not yet fully decided upon.

At the regular weekly meeting of the cavalry company, Friday evening, the name "Portsmouth Cavalry" was adopted. The uniform was also decided upon, to consist of a blue suit, trimmed with yellow cord.

Rev. George W. Bicknell, (formerly pastor of the Universalist church here,) chaplain of the Fifth Maine Regiment Association, is to deliver a centennial oration before that organization at its anniversary, July 27, at Scarboro' beach.

Hon. Samuel N. Bell, member of Congress from the Second District, has been at Concord the past week with an eye on threatened railroad legislation. He was interviewed by a reporter, who wanted to know which way to bet on the democratic nomination; but—unlike Frank Jones,—Mr. Bell does not know everything that is about to happen in politics. The result of the interview with the cautious Manchester man, whose sagacious investments in railroads have been as fortunate as our Member's have been disastrous, was that the reporter was informed that in regard to political nominations "you can't sometimes 'most always tell."

Political.

The republican convention of the Fifth Congressional District of Maine on Friday renominated Hon. Eugene Hale.

"The Tall Sycamore of the Wabash" calls Tilden "a wrecker of railroads and a political huckster." Voorhees ought to know.

The Portland Press, alluding to the various candidates for the St. Louis nomination, says "Hancock wore a blue coat instead of a gray one during the late unpleasantness, and so is out of the question."

The Boston Post says: Three years ago, in response to a demand from the police authorities, an act was passed by the New York legislature, based on a similar statute in London, and called the 'Habitual Criminals' Act.' Its announced purpose was to diminish crime by prevention, which would naturally dispense with a great deal of cure. The act gave the authorities the power to send to prison for a hundred days any person who had previously been convicted of crime and who should be found visiting public places for unlawful purposes. The intention of the act was to drive into hiding the pickpockets, thieves and confidence men that are the scourge of honest citizens. Three years ought to be time enough to afford a test of the law, which the New York Journal of Commerce now says has become a dead letter there. Burglaries, pocket-picking, robbery and violence are on the increase, and with the means of prevention right in their hands the police make no use of it. In London this law is a terror to those at whom it is aimed; but they do things differently in the American metropolis." Easily enough accounted for. The "American metropolis" is ruled by the Tammany democracy, and the dangerous classes are too important an element of the democratic party to be alienated from thier natural affiliations by the vigorous administration of law and justice.

—"That's what I call a finished sermon," remarked a man as he was coming out of church. "Yes, finished at last," replied his neighbor, "though I began to think it would never be."

—Little boys playing ball. Anxious mamma, in distant doorway calling aloud, "Tommy, Tommy." Gentleman calls the attention of children to woman. Best boy replies, "Her ain't callin' of we; us don't belong to she."

—The following statement from Cox's "Sabbath Laws" represents the character and logic of some old practices: "At Aberdeen, in the month of November, 1608, a great panic arose by reason of an earthquake which had visited the city, and as the cause of the earthquake was distinctly traceable to the custom of salmon-fishings on Sundays, the offenders were summoned before the session and solemnly rebuked."

—Keep a thing seven, or forty years, and you will find a use for it. An eccentric citizen of Cape May carried a rope in his pocket for forty years, his explanation being that he was liable at any time to wish to kill himself, and meant to always have the means handy. A few days ago he hanged himself with the old rope.

Keep the Liver Active.

The above is a sound health maxim. In order that the functions of digestion, evacuation and secretion shall be discharged with that degree of regularity and vigor which is essential to the well being of both body and mind, the liver, upon whose activity they are dependent for their due performance, must be kept in good working order. Calomel and blue pills, besides being hurtful mineral drugs, only partially and temperarily rectify disorders or sluggishness of the great biliary gland. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the contrary, accomplish thoroughly what the above medicines fail in doing, and are besides a safe as well as potent remedy for disorders of the stomach, bowels and organs of urination, as well as an unequalled general invigorant. They are, moreover, a sterling antidote to malaria.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

To Neutralize Offensiveness.

In many forms we use disinfecting agents. Impure breath, caused by bad teeth, tobacco, spirits, or catarrh, is neutralized by SOZODONT. 'Tis a healthful beautifier, and a great luxury as a dentifrice. The repulsive breath is by its use rendered as fragrant as a rose, and coldness by friends or lovers will no longer be noticed.

Spalding's Glue mends everything.

Pyle's Dietetic Saleratus.—Universally acknowledged the best in use. Each pound bears the name of JAMES PYLE. None genuine without. tj676

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawtr1277

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but to price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

THE PEDAGOGUE.

'Twas a jolly old pedagogue, long ago,
Tall and slender, and shallow and dry;
His form was bent, and his gait was slow,
His long, thin hair was as white as snow;
But a wonderful twinkle shone in his eye,
And he sang every night as he went to bed,
"Let us be happy down here below;
The living should live, though the dead be dead,"
Said the jolly old pedagogue, long ago.

He taught his scholars the rule of three,
Writing, and reading, and history too!
Taking the little ones on his knee,
For a kind old heart in his breast had he,
And the wants of the smallest child he knew
"Learn while you're young," he often said,
"There is much to enjoy down here below;
Life for the living, and rest for the dead,"
Said the jolly old pedagogue long ago.

—Nothing will dry a woman's eyes and check her sobs quicker at a funeral, than the detection of a new style of flounce on a neighboring mourner's dress.

—"You must have lived here a long time," said a travelling Englishman to an Oregon pioneer. "Yes, sir, I have. Do you see that mountain? Well, when I came here that mountain was a hole in the ground." The Englishman opened his eyes.

—Medium—"The spirit of the late Mr. Jones is present." Jones' widow (with emotion)—"I hope you are happy, Jones!" Jones (raps out)—"Far happier than I ever was on earth!" Jones' widow—"Oh, Jones! then you must be in Heaven!" Jones—"On the contrary!"

The "Housekeeper" of Our Health.

The liver is the great depurating or blood cleansing organ of the system. Set the great housekeeper of our health at work, and the foul corruptions which gender in the blood and rot out, as it were, the machinery of life, are gradually expelled from the system. For this purpose Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with small daily doses of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are pre-eminently the articles needed. They cure every kind of humor from the worst scrofula to the common pimple, blotch or eruption. Great eating ulcers kindly heal under their mighty curative influence. Virulent blood poisons that lurk in the system are by them robbed of terrors, and by their persevering and somewhat protracted use the most tainted system may be completely renovated and built up anew. Enlarged glands, tumors and swellings dwindle away and disappear under the influence of their great resolvents. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

"Claude, a child about three years old, was greatly afflicted with sores on his legs and feet, so that he could not wear his shoes and stockings. Had a great deal of trouble with him. Had tried many remedies ineffectually. At last we tried the Golden Medical Discovery, and in about three weeks he was entirely cured, his sores were all healed, and health much improved.

Respectfully yours, J. W. Boyer,
Vermillion, Edgar Co., Ill., Jan. 29, '75."

TO THE HON. JUDGE OF PROBATE FOR THE COUNTY OF ROCKINGHAM.

RESPECTFULLY REPRESENTS MARCELLUS BUFFORD, Administrator of the estate of HOWARD M. MESSER late of Portsmouth in said County, deceased, that the Personal Estate of said deceased is not sufficient to pay the just demands against his estate by the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars; that said Howard M. Messer died seized of real estate in said Portsmouth, to wit: a certain parcel of land with a dwelling house thereon bounded northwesterly by Cass Street, northeasterly by land of heirs of William H. Goss, southeasterly by land of Andrew H. Jones, and southwesterly by land of Samuel S. Pyne; that said Howard M. Messer left a widow and three minor children; that the widow is entitled to dower in said estate, and she and the children may be entitled to a homestead therein, which dower and homestead when set off may include the whole of said real estate except the reversion of the same, and that no part of said reversion can be sold without a sale of the whole.

WHEREFORE he prays that he may be licensed to sell at public auction the reversion in the whole of said real estate. The 9th day of May, A. D. 1876.

MARCELLUS BUFFORD, Administrator.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, Rockingham, ss. At a Probate Court at Portsmouth in said County, May 9th A. D. 1876.

UPON the foregoing Petition it is Ordered, that a hearing be had thereon at the Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth in said County, on the second Tuesday of July next; and that the Petitioner notify the heirs of said deceased and all persons concerned or interested therein, to appear at said Court, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication wherof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

MAGIC
CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They act at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Five Years Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get one box of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I did not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room about all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians have pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 22, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thula of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the luxurious trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or so throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vendor of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 31. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

THE TWO RUPERTS.

Concluded from yesterday.

A final picnic had been planned to close the season. It proved a great success. The day passed merrily on, until luncheon-time. Rupert had made up his mind to have a quiet ramble with Kitty, after this meal, and if things went well, to speak of his love. But he had counted without his cost, for when luncheon was over, and he had got rid of his aunt, Mrs. Stacy, who had called him to her side to wait on her, lo! Kitty had disappeared. Full of jealous fears, and determined to find out who his rival was, he set forth through the woods to discover Kitty. He had not gone far before her favorite dog came bouncing toward him. But when Rupert stopped to pat his name-sake, the dog darted ahead, then stopped and looked wistfully at Rupert, and then rushed on again.

"What can he mean?" said Rupert. A sudden fear seized him that something was wrong, and he hurried on, the dog rapidly leading the way.

At last, in an opening of the woods, on a moss covered rock, he saw Kitty, pale, breathless and apparently in pain. In a moment he was at her side. All his jealousy was gone. Love was uppermost.

"Oh, darling!" he cried, "what is it? Thank Heaven, I have found you."

"Oh, Mr. Mortimer," she cried with a little sob, "how glad I am to see you! I began to think I should have to stay here all night alone. I've sprained my ankle so I can't walk. What shall I do?" and she burst into tears.

Our hero took both the little hands and held them tightly in his own, while he questioned her anxiously as to the accident, relating meantime how he came to find her.

"But how,' exclaimed Kitty ruefully when he had done—"how am I ever to get back? I don't believe I can walk a step."

"Of course you can't. Who said you could?" cried Rupert. "But you'll get back right, all the same, for I intend to carry you."

"Carry me?" Kitty gave a little scream and shrank back, and covered her face with both hands, for she felt the hot blood in her cheeks.

"Oh, no! that will never do!" she blundered out, unthinkingly. "What will people say?"

But Rupert did not stop to reply to this question. Very little he cared for what people said. Without a word he put his arms about Kitty, and lifting her bodily from her feet, walked off with her as if she had been a feather-weight.

At first Kitty struggled a little, but the strong, manful arms held her close, and she soon began rather to like it, and to think it all very delightful.

"At any rate," she said to herself, "I can't help it; he is too masterful to resist."

With this comforting conclusion her fair head sank on his shoulder, and for the first time in her life Kitty knew what it was to be supremely happy.

Rupert carried his lovely burden to his phaeton, which stood apart from the crowd, and carefully placed Kitty in it.

"There now," he said" I shall take you, home immediately, and stop for a doctor on the way. Nobody can drive you with so little pain as I can," he added, seeing she was about to object. "Besides, you must begin to obey me, so as to get your hand in, for you are going to be my wife, you know."

"Your wife!" cried Kitty. She gave a pout, and a toss of her head, but she blushed, and not with anger, either. Yes, blushed to the tips of her dainty ears.

"Of course," retorted Rupert, as he stepped softly into the phaeton, and took his seat beside her, looking half-saucily, half-fondly into her eyes, which fell before him. "I've meant it all along. Didn't you?"

"Really you are the most 'impudent puppy' I ever saw!" retorted Kitty, bursting into laughter in spite of herself.

But for all that, she did not repulse the kiss with which, before starting, Rupert thought it necessary to fortify himself for the journey.

What is there more to tell? Very little. For Kitty and Rupert were married early in the autumn, and were superlatively happy.

"Do you know," said Rupert one day, "that it was the purest accident we ever knew each other? I had come down to my uncle's for a single night only; when I saw you in the swing, and my whole life was changed. I fell in love at first sight, and resolved to stay, and make your acquaintance, even if it took all summer."

"So I owe my happiness," answered Kitty, archly, "to my faithful dog—dear old fellow—being off guard that afternoon."

"And to an 'impudent puppy' coming along," retorted Rupert, with a kiss, "just in the nick of time, and taking his place."

—"You come well recommended, I suppose!" said a gentleman to a boy who wanted an easy place. "O, yes, sir, the man I was with last recommended me; he recommended me to leave and get work more congenial with my disposition."

The Fall River Times says that not one piece of manufacturers' paper made in Fall River has gone to protest within thirty-five years; and that of the thirteen hundred thousand spindles in the forty-four mills, not a spindle is under mortgage.

Daily Chronicle.

TUESDAY, JUNE 27, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

News and Notes.

Congressman Sayler, of Ohio, has been elected Speaker pro tem. of the U. S. House of Representatives. Mr. Cox has gone to St. Louis to fix things in the democratic convention.

The democratic National convention commences its sittings in St. Louis to-day.

The New Orleans Picayunc. alluding to Judah P. Benjamin, now a leading barrister in England, says. "it is a pity Judah won't come back to his native soil and be reconstructed." Reconstruction has tried its best on him and failed. His "native soil" is one of the British West India Islands. He was reconstructed into an American citizen once, but the operation was not lasting.

At the trial of John K. Lyons, one of the democratic repeaters of Ward Five, Manchester, one Charles Croghan swore so vigorously to a lie on Lyons' behalf as to render himself liable to imprisonment for perjury. He was arraigned, and put under $500 bonds to appear at a higher court, but "jumped his bail" and went to Chicago. Larry Dowd, one of his bondsmen, got mad at this and sent a detective after Croghan, and on Friday he was shoved into the Manchester jail, where he will be likely to stay till October at any rate. The leaders of the democratic party—the loud-mouthed "reformers" who hired such fellows as Lyons to do the work they did, and then induced Croghan and others like him to swear falsely to save the repeaters from punishment, are more deserving to be locked up than are their gutter-snipe employes.

Another democratic "reformer" has come out in his true colors. Col. John Fellows, a Tammany sachem, has decamped with $200,000 of trust funds. He is a disgrace to his party, for there are plenty of democrats who with his opportunities would have stolen a million.

Some of the democratic papers have been having a fling at Hon. William A. Wheeler, next Vice President of the United States, on the score that he took back-pay in what is popularly known as the salary-grab. Well, so he did; but then his record on that point differs a little from the records of those shining lights of democratic "reform," Sam Randall and Fernando Wood; they voted for the salary steal at every stage, pocketed the money as soon as they got it, and never returned it; while Mr. Wheeler voted against the measure at every stage and on its final passage, and after it passed he drew his back pay, converted it into United States bonds and turned the bonds into the Treasury with the request that they be canceled, saying that he would "stop the interest on that much of the national debt, at least."

Mr. Otis Rich, an old and respected citizen of Boston, committed suicide on Sunday. Despondency at the loss of a brother and two sons was the cause.

Boston and the sea-coast from Cape Ann westward had two severe showers on Sunday afternoon and evening, with much wind. Numerous boats and small yachts were capsized in Boston harbor and along the beaches, but no loss of life is reported as yet.

The New York Yacht Club committee have decided that the schooner-yacht "Madeline," owned by the commodore of the Brooklyn Yacht Club, shall contest with the Canadian yacht, the "Countess of Dufferin," in the match race on the 10th, 12th and 14th of July, for the Queen's Cup, won by the yacht "America" at Cowes, in a match against the combined fleet of the Royal English Yacht Club.

Political.

No man in his senses in any part of the country can any longer delude himself into the belief that any candidate whom the democrats may nominate at St. Louis will be supported by the so-called reform republicans of the North and West.—N. Y. World.

The war democrats and the sensible Southerners, who see the folly of nominating a man whose loyalty to the Union was questioned during the rebellion, urge as an objection to Sam. Tilden the fact that he was chairman of the platform committee of the Chicago democratic convention of 1864, which put forth the famous "peace platform" pronouncing the war a failure, and demanding an immediate cessation of hostilities. Should Tilden become the democratic standard-bearer this fact would be made prominent, and, no doubt, to his injury. Governor Ingersoll of Connecticut was a member of the committee which reported the above platform, but as he is an amicable gentleman and has very few enemies the republican leaders have never urged the point against him. There is no doubt but that Sam. Tilden and Governor Ingersoll are satisfied now that the war was a success.—New Haven Union.

The Hartford Courant says the democratic party is a party with no leaders except the Woods, and Morrisseys, and Hills, and Proctor Knotts, and Eatons, and without policy or principles. Upon the vital question of honest money it does not dare to take a firm stand either way, but gives all its influence to the dishonest side. It matters very little what it may do at St. Louis; but it is safe to predict that it will denounce the corruption of the republican party, and will say nothing about the Schumakers and Pendletons, and Woods and Morrisseys who are its brightest reformers; that it will speak in favor of hard-money and against resumption; and that, finally, it will make a ticket containing one hard-money man and one inflationist, and will appeal to all reformers for their cordial support.

Bradford, Mass., Academy.

The friends of the oldest academy for the complete education of young ladies gathered at Bradford, Wednesday, in force, to witness the anniversary exercises at the close of the first year of the institution under the direction of Miss Annie E. Johnson, its present principal. They have reason to congratulate themselves and her that eminent success has crowned the conscientious work of the year. The solid and unostentatious appearance of the building, the varied beauties of the scenery about it, and the increasing tastefulness of the grounds are characteristic of the substantial gracefulness of the instruction that Miss Johnson and her co-workers aim to impart. There is good reason that Bradford should be, as it is, the favorite of many of the best men and women of Boston. The friends gathered early from all quarters, the trains from Boston bringing numbers of graduates and their friends, and the seats in the commodious and well-ventilated hall were soon filled. The platform was occupied by the teachers, trustees, and members of the Board of Visitors. The exercises began with a chorus from Mendelssohn, followed by the recitation of a psalm, both rendered by the entire school. After prayer by Dr. Wellman, Miss Belle W. Eastman of Greenfield delivered the salutatory in Latin. Miss Eastman and Miss Julia Bloodgood then appeared at the piano, and gave Buck's "Dews of the Summer Night," accompanied by Professor Downs, the instructor in music. The next exercise was the reading of the class history by Miss Minnie E. Bodman. Miss Clara E. Colburn of Newton and Miss Helen F. Hidden of Cambridge then gave the audience some pieces from Jansen on the grand piano, and Miss Mary F. Coffin of Newton read a very comprehensive sketch of the progress of English literature from the age of Elizabeth to the time of Queen Anne. The remaining musical exercises were a semi-chorus from Spohr, "Jesus, Heavenly Master;" a polonaise, by Miss Hidden; a song, "The days that are no more," by Miss Eastman; a chorus, "Hope and memory" and piano recitation by Miss Colburn; all of which were accomplished to the evident satisfaction of the hearers. The exercises closed with the reading of a portion of the report of the Board of Visitors, prepared by C. M. Hyde, D. D., an address by Rev. A. H. Plumb, some very graceful and impressive remarks by the president of the Board of Trustees, as he conferred the diplomas, and a parting hymn, the words of which were by Miss Chase and the music by Miss Eastman, both of the graduating class. The friends of the academy, to the number of nearly three hundred, subsequently sat down to a banquet and indulged in social converse. Many lingered until the late trains, and all felt that the prospects of the academy were never brighter than they are at present.

One of the most entertaining exercises was a recitation by a number of the pupils of extracts from Shakespeare concerning man. They were given in response to the question, "What is man?" and were so happy as to draw forth much applause.—Boston Transcript.

Keep the Liver Active.

The above is a sound health maxim. In order that the functions of digestion, evacuation and secretion shall be discharged with that degree of regularity and vigor which is essential to the well being of both body and mind, the liver, upon whose activity they are dependent for their due performance, must be kept in good working order. Calomel and blue pills, besides being hurtful mineral drugs, only partially and temperarily rectify disorders or sluggishness of the great biliary gland. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the contrary, accomplish thoroughly what the above medicines fail in doing, and are besides a safe as well as potent remedy for disorders of the stomach, bowels and organs of urination, as well as an unequalled general invigorant. They are, moreover, a sterling antidote to malaria.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

To Neutralize Offensiveness.

In many forms we use disinfecting agents. Impure breath, caused by bad teeth, tobacco, spirits, or catarrh, is neutralized by SOZODONT. 'Tis a healthful beautifier, and a great luxury as a dentifrice. The repulsive breath is by its use rendered as fragrant as a rose, and coldness by friends or lovers will no longer be noticed.

Spalding's Glue mends everything.

☞ That yellow tinge of the complexion is a sure indication of bile in the blood. It is effectually removed by using GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be subject to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

NOTICE.
Having my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of
MARBLE WORK,
I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!
I also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

The Bill

In amendment of the city charter, as introduced in the legislature, is as follows:

SECTION 1. The city of Portsmouth hereby is, and shall continue to be, divided into four wards, which shall be constituted as follows:

Ward One shall contain all that part of said city situated northerly of a line beginning at the Piscataqua river at the Spring Market, and running through the centre of Bow-street and Market street, through Market square and the centre of Congress street and Islington street, to a point opposite Cass street; thence by the easterly line of land of Thomas Wardwell to the track of the Eastern Railroad, thence through the centre of said track to Creek street, thence through the centre of Creek street to Bartlett street, thence through the centre of Bartlett street to Woodbury street, thence through the centre of Woodbury street to Newington road, thence through the centre of Newington road to Dodge's lane, so called, thence through the centre of said lane to the westerly end thereof, thence by a direct line to the junction of Sherburne road with the new road leading from Myrtle street to Newington, thence through the centre of said new road to the line between Portsmouth and Newington.

Ward Two shall contain all that part of said city included within a line beginning at the Spring market and running through the centre of Bow street and Market street, through Market square and the centre of Congress street and Islington street to Cass street, thence through the centre of Cass street to a point opposite the centre of State street, thence by a direct line to the junction of Middle road and Lafayette road, thence through the centre of Lafayette road and South road to Richards avenue, thence by a direct line to Wentworth street, thence through the centre of Wentworth street to the centre of Pleasant street, thence to and through the centre of Washington street to Puddle dock, thence through said dock to the river, and by the river to the point begun at.

Ward Three shall contain all that part of said city lying westerly of Wards One and Two and the centre line of Lafayette road.

Ward Four shall contain all that part of said city not included in the above described wards, including all the islands except Noble's island.

SEC. 2. The annual meeting of the legal voters of said city, for the choice of city and ward officers, shall be holden on the first Tuesday of August in each year; and all city or ward officers who are chosen by the people shall be chosen by ballot, and shall hold their respective offices for one year from and including the second Tuesday of August, and until others are chosen and qualified in their stead.

SEC. 3. The board of aldermen of said city shall consist of nine members, of whom Wards One and Two shall each choose three, Ward Three shall choose one, and Ward Four shall choose two; and the common council shall consist of eighteen members, of whom Wards One and Two shall choose six each, Ward Three shall choose two, and Ward Four shall choose four.

The board of assessors of taxes for said city shall consist of nine members, of whom Wards One and Two shall each choose three, Ward Three shall choose one, and Ward Four shall choose two.

There shall also be chosen in each of said wards one overseer of the poor.

SEC. 4. At the annual city election the several wards shall each choose as many persons to serve as school committee as they are entitled to choose aldermen, respectively, who shall hold their office for one year, and until others are chosen and qualified in their stead. The committee so chosen shall annually elect a high school committee of three members from their own number, or otherwise. The members of the high school committee may sit and act with the school committee; and the committees so chosen and constituted shall have the same powers and perform all the duties which now by law appertain to the school committee and high school committee, respectively.

SEC. 5. The Mayor, aldermen, and common council shall hereafter meet in convention for the purpose of taking the oaths of their respective offices on the second Tuesday of August in each year, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and on said day the city councils shall, in joint convention and by joint ballot, elect a city clerk, who shall be qualified and enter upon the discharge of the duties of his office on the second Tuesday of August in each year; provided, however, in the case of a vacancy or a failure to elect on said second Tuesday of August, said vacancy may be filled or election made at any other time.

SEC. 6. All city officers, with the exception of city clerk, who are now required to be chosen or appointed by the mayor and aldermen, or by the city councils in joint convention, shall be so chosen or appointed in the month of August in each year, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient.

SEC. 7. The mayor, aldermen, common council, assessors of taxes, overseers of the poor, and school committee, now in office in said city, shall hold their respective offices until the second Tuesday of August next, and until others are chosen and qualified in their stead, and no longer; and all officers now in office in said city, elected by the city councils or appointed by the mayor and aldermen, shall hold their respective offices until others are elected and qualified in their stead, and no longer. All such officers shall be entitled to receive pay only for such portions of the year as they may have served.

SEC. 8. The mayor of said city shall have a negative upon the action of the aldermen in laying out highways and streets, and in all matters appertaining to railroads in which said city may be interested, and no vote relating to these subjects can be passsed over his veto, unless by a vote of two-thirds, at least, of all the aldermen elected.

SEC. 9. In balloting for State, county, city, and ward officers, school committee, representative to Congress, or electors of president and vice-president of the United States, the ballots for so many of said officers or persons there to be voted for in the different wards of said city shall be given in by the voter on one list or ballot, or so many of such officers or persons as the voter determines to vote for, with the respective offices designated against the name of each person voted for.

SEC. 10. At all elections held in said city, for state, county, city, and ward officers, representative to congress, or electors of president and vice-president of the United States, the polls shall be closed at six o'clock in the afternoon of the day of election and of the day of any adjournment from that day, and no ballot shall be given in, received, or placed in the ballot-box after the striking of six o'clock of the day when the balloting takes place.

SEC. 11. There is hereby established in said city a board, to be called inspectors of check-lists, to consist of seven persons, of whom at each annual election the first and second wards shall each choose two, and the third and fourth wards shall each choose one. The persons thus chosen having been first sworn, in the manner prescribed for town officers, shall choose a chairman from their own number; they shall also choose a clerk, who shall be ex-officio a member of the board of inspectors, and shall be sworn. A certificate of the oaths of all the members shall be recorded by the city clerk. The clerk of the inspectors shall keep a record of the proceedings of the board; he shall continue in office until his successor is chosen and qualified.

SEC. 12. Said inspectors shall prepare, post, revise, and correct, in the manner selectmen of towns are required to do, an alphabetical list of the legal voters in each ward: and for that purpose shall have access to any books or lists belonging to said city, or to any ward in said city, and shall have the assistance of any of the city or ward officers they may require; and they shall deliver an attested copy of the lists of voters so prepared and corrected to the clerks of the respective wards before the opening of any meeting of the voters; and the said ward clerks shall use the lists of voters so prepared and corrected, and no others, at the elections in said wards. In preparing the lists of voters, said inspectors shall record the first or Christian name of each voter in full, but may use initial letters to designate the middle name or names of any voter; they shall also record against the name of each voter the name of the street and number of the dwelling, if numbered, in which said voter resides; if not numbered, then such description as shall indicate as near as possible the residence of such voter.

SEC. 13. The said board of inspectors shall be in public session in the city building, or such other place as they may designate, for the purpose of revising and correcting the lists of voters, three days at least, within fourteen days next preceding the day of election, the last two days of such sessions to be held within one week of said election, from 9 o'clock A. M., to 12 M., and from 2 to 5 o'clock P. M., on each of said days. Due notice of such public sessions shall be given. The inspectors shall hear all applications for the insertion of any name upon said lists, or the erasure of any name therefrom, and may examine the party or any witnesses thereto upon oath, which may be administered by any member of the board. They shall insert the name of every legal voter omitted, and erase the name of every person not a legal voter; and when any name has been placed upon said lists, it shall not be stricken therefrom except in open session. The inspectors may prescribe such regulations, and require the aid of such police, as shall secure order and the right of each person to be heard; and there shall be no abridgement of the franchise or other qualification required than those prescribed by the laws of this State. The said board shall also be in session from 3 to 5 o'clock P. M., on the day of election; and in case the name of any person has been omitted from the check-lists, who the said board are satisfied is a legal voter, agreeably to the provisions of section five of chapter twenty-eight of General Statutes, the inspectors shall certify the same to the moderator of the ward in which he is entitled to vote, who shall receive his vote, and the ward clerk shall check the name of such person so voting on the back of said certificate, and shall return the same to the clerk of the inspectors with the check-list.

SEC. 14. As soon as a declaration of votes shall have been made at any election, the moderator shall deliver all the ballots given in to the clerk of the ward, and the said clerk shall seal up said ballots, and direct and deliver the same, together with the lists of voters used at said election, and a copy of the declaration of votes attested by himself, within one hour after the adjournment of such meeting, to the clerk of the board of inspectors, who shall receipt for the same, and immediately lay them before the said board, who shall be in session to receive them, and who shall preserve the ballots for six months; provided, however, that such parts only of section twelve and thirteen of this act as the board of inspectors deem necessary shall apply in special elections.

SEC. 15. The board of inspectors shall enter upon the back of the lists of voters used in each ward at the annual meeting for the election of representatives to the General Court, within one week after such meeting, the name of every male inhabitant of the age of twenty-one years and upward who were not legal voters, but were and had been for six months next preceding such annual meeting actual residents of the ward, or who had paid a tax in said city for the year preceding such annual meeting, as ratable polls; and the certificates of election of representatives to the General Court from the several wards shall be made out, certified, and signed by the clerk of the said board of inspectors: and the clerk of said board shall certify that the check-list of the ward was duly posted and used during the balloting on which such representative was chosen, the number of ratable polls in such ward, and the number of voters upon the check-list, as corrected on the day of such annual meeting. The clerk of each ward shall make out a fair and exact copy of the record of all the votes given in at the annual meeting for the election of representatives to the General Court, and shall certify upon said copy that the check-list was used during the balloting on which such representatives were chosen, and that the same is a true copy of said record, and shall seal said copy, and direct and deliver the same to the clerk of the board of inspectors, with a superscription upon the same expressing the purport thereof, within two days after such meeting.

SEC. 16. If the moderator, selectmen, or ward clerk, or any other person, shall alter any check-lists after the same shall have been delivered by the inspectors to the ward clerk, by adding any name or names thereto, or erasing any name or names therefrom, or in any way changing the lists, such officer or person so offending shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months; and any officer or person neglecting or refusing to comply with the terms and requirements of section ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, or fifteen of this act, or offending against the provisions thereof, shall be punished by a like fine or imprisonment.

SEC. 17. The board of inspectors of check-lists in said city of Portsmouth, at every meeting of the legal voters of each ward in said city for the choice of State and county officers, representatives in Congress, or electors of president and vice-president of the United States, shall, before the check-lists are delivered to the clerks of the several wards, take and subscribe on the back of the check-lists to be used at such meetings the following oath, which may be taken before the city clerk, or any justice of the peace or notary public, the blank in the same being first properly filled: We, the inspectors of check-lists in the city of Portsmouth, do solemnly swear that according to our best knowledge, the within list contains the names of those persons only who are by actual residence legal voters in ward —— in said city. So help us God. The clerk or magistrate before whom said oath is taken shall make on the back of said check-list a certificate thereof.

SEC. 18. The board of inspectors of check-lists in said city shall take and subscribe on the back of the check-lists used at the annual meeting the following oath, which may be taken before the city clerk, or any justice of the peace or notary public, the blank in the same being first properly filled: We, the inspectors of check-lists in the city of Portsmouth, do solemnly swear that, according to our best knowledge, the names of those persons only who were not legal voters at the last annual meeting, but were actual residents and ratable polls in ward —— in said city are entered upon the back of the within list. So help us God. The clerk or magistrate before whom said oath is taken shall make on the back of said check-list a certificate thereof.

SEC. 19. Any inspector who shall swear falsely, in taking either of the oaths prescribed by this act, shall be taken and deemed to be guilty of willful and corrupt perjury, and be liable to the punishment prescribed therefor.

SEC. 20. In making out the certificate of any representative from any ward in said city, the clerk of the board of inspectors shall certify whether or not the foregoing oaths prescribed by the seventeenth and eighteenth sections of this act were taken and subscribed by the inspectors on the back of the check-lists used in each ward at the annual meeting.

SEC. 21. The following named persons, being first duly sworn, may call the first meeting of the legal voters in the several wards of said city as constituted by this act, to be held on the first Tuesday of August next, for the choice of city and ward officers, inspectors of check-lists, and school committee,—namely, John H. Locke, William C. Ham, and Emanuel Charlesworth, or any two of them, may call said meeting in Ward One; William A. Ashe, Casper Morris Tredick, and Ebenezer G. Adams, or any two of them, in Ward Two; Charles A. C. Gray, William Sladden, and George Bilbruck, or any two of them, in Ward Three; William B. Randall, Oliver H. Locke, and Samuel Langdon, or any two of them, in Ward Four,—who shall prepare, post up, revise, and correct, in the manner in which selectmen in said city have heretofore been required to do, an alphabetical list of the voters in each of said wards to which they are hereby respectively assigned, and they shall issue and serve their warrants for said meeting of the legal voters in their respective wards for the choice of all city and ward officers, inspectors of check-lists, and school committee, who are elected by the people. Such warrants shall be posted at least fourteen days before the time appointed for said meeting, and shall designate the time and place for the meetings of the respective wards.

At said meeting, and until inspectors of check-lists and selectmen shall be elected and qualified in their stead, they shall exercise in their respective wards all the rights and perform all the duties which have heretofore been incumbent upon selectmen in said city.

They may appoint, for each of said wards in which they respectively act as selectmen, a moderator and clerk, who, being first duly sworn, may perform all the duties now incumbent upon said officers until others are chosen and qualified in their stead.

SEC. 22. That the act entitled "An act in amendment of the charter of the city of Portsmouth," approved July second, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act, so far as they relate to the city of Portsmouth, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 23. This act shall take effect from its passage.

The Seminary.

Truly Portsmouth is progressing in everything to make it an agreeable place of residence; and now that we have the opportunity of educating our girls under Miss Morgan's judicious and tender care, we have little to ask for in the matter of bringing up a family; persons who were present at the exhibition given at the Young Ladies' Seminary could not fail to be grateful to the lady who possessed the enterprise to put this institution within the reach of our citizens. We doubt if any institution is capable of more thoroughly fitting young ladies in all the branches that go toward making a well-educated woman. Miss Morgan pays pecular attention to the English branches, not forgetting the almost "lost art" of reading well; she has a French teacher from Paris; Fraulein Krauss, daughter of Prof. Krauss, of Boston, is the German teacher; Miss Smalley, of Boston, an accomplished musician and pianist, has charge of the musical department; and Miss Mary E. B. Miller, whose abilities are unquestioned and well known in this city, is engaged as teacher of drawing and painting. The proficiency of the pupils at this institution abundantly attests the entire qualification of the teachers; and Miss Morgan's strict adherence to the epigrammatic suggestion of Rev. Mr. DeNormandie, that "the best only would succeed," has in the short two years of the existence of the institution placed it in the front ranks; and we learn with pleasure that applications are flowing in from all quarters of the United States to gain admission to this liberally conducted seminary. †

Jottings.

The Catholics of this city will have an Excursion to Pinkham's Grove on Wednesday, if fair, for the purpose of holding a picnic. Music and refreshments will be furnished on the grounds, and a general good time is anticipated. Trains leave Eastern Depot for Grove at 9 and 11 A. M. and return at 7:15 P. M. Tickets 60 cts; children half fare.

The officers of the U. S. S. Sabine will hold receptions for their invited guests on the second and fourth Wednesdays of June, July and August, from 4:30 to 7:30 P. M., during this season.

Capt. William Walker, of Concord, has taken his annual overland drive from the capital to Straw's Point with his double team, and located for the season beside the busy waves of his favorite Summer sojourn. Gov. Cheney and wife passed Sunday of last week at the Point. Boarders at Rye are much earlier on the ground than has been usual heretofore, while the general preparations in the town shows that every inducement will be found for a comfortable season at the sea-side.

Ho! for North Conway. The annual meeting of the Eastern (in N. H.) and Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroads will be held on Tuesday, the 12th of July, and a demand for shares—good for a ride to North Conwayif for nothing else—has set in already.

The first of the open-air concerts by the Marine Band was given on Haymarket Square, Monday evening, and was enjoyed by a very large concourse of people of both sexes and all ages and conditions of life. These concerts (for which our citizens are indebted to the courtesy of the navy yard officials) will be given through the Summer, on Monday and Thursday evenings—on Mondays from 6:15 to 8 o'clock, and on Thursdays from 6 to 7 o'clock.

The steamer "Mystic," of Dover, designed to tow money from the pockets of her owners, and do an occasional job on the Piscataqua, was at one of our wharves, Saturday, receiving some finishing touches. This craft is said to belong to that school of naval architecture once celebrated in Maine as a kind that was built by the mile, and sawed off in lengths as wanted.

William C. Rogers of Brookline, William B. Bacon of Boston, and Willard P. Phillips of Salem have been appointed trustees of the Eastern Railroad under the act of the Massachusetts legislature.

Does any one remember of any democrats in this vicinity (or any where else in the State) signing petitions for the retention in office of republicans, at the time of the general decapitation of republican officials two years ago?

GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES!

PATENTED DEC. 16, 1873.

Cure Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Cough, Sore Throat, Piles, Rheumatic Affections, Humors, Headache, Inflammatory Fevers, Sick Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Canker, Loss of Appetite, and the long line of Affections consequent on a diseased state of the Liver.

An Excellent Spring Medicine.

They are purely Vegetable, perfectly safe; can be used by all persons, at any season and in any climate, and warranted to give entire satisfaction. They cause a healthy action of the Liver, thus promoting the flow of Bile, causing health and vigor to take the place of Lassitude and Disease.

N. B. Persons afflicted with any of the above affections, and wish to test the merits of this remedy, no cure, no pay,—will please call at

No. 27 Daniel Street,

Patentee, Proprietor and Manufacturer.

Daily Chronicle.

—Popular Hymnology.—Mistress (with a Ritualistic turn): "And how did you like the festival service, Martha?" Martha (from the country): "Lor', mum, it were beautiful! There was a lot o' men and boys a marchin' round and round the church with flags, and a singin': 'Onward, Christy Minstrels!'"—Punch.

—A man recently died in Zurich, Switzerland, who, for thirty years, made a remarkably big fool of himself. When young, he fell in love, and then became jealous. While in this condition he offended his sweetheart, who, to punish him, made him swear that he would not speak for twelve months. He swore. But she died before the twelve months elapsed, and the lover concluded to remain dumb until he rejoined her in the next world. He kept his word, and for thirty years was never heard to speak.

The "Housekeeper" of Our Health.

The liver is the great depurating or blood cleansing organ of the system. Set the great housekeeper of our health at work, and the foul corruptions which gender in the blood and not out, as it were, the machinery of life, are gradually expelled from the system. For this purpose Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with small daily doses of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are pre-eminently the articles needed. They cure every kind of humor from the worst scrofula to the common pimple, blotch or eruption. Great eating ulcers kindly heal under their mighty curative influence. Virulent blood poisons that lurk in the system are by them robbed of terrors, and by their persevering and somewhat protracted use the most tainted system may be completely renovated and built up anew. Enlarged glands, tumors and swellings dwindle away and disappear under the influence of their great resolvents. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

"Claude, a child about three years old, was greatly afflicted with sores on his legs and feet, so that he could not wear his shoes and stockings. Had a great deal of trouble with him. Had tried many remedies ineffectually. At last we tried the Golden Medical Discovery, and in about three weeks he was entirely cured, his sores were all healed, and health much improved.

Respectfully yours, J. W. Borer,
Vermillion, Edgar Co., Ill., Jan. 29, '75."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. DR. QUAIN'S

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $3 M.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship in the field. I shall send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried every patent medicine I heard of with result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and hunting for a cure I came near dying for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through a kinsman of Rev. J. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

— AND

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any putrescible or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them on the shore when the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and thereafter on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect or refusal, not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6 No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall upon notice to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, yard or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the Mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forthwith enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of any swine, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or placed that offensive substances therefrom may be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereinto; no person shall construct, keep or continue a drain leading from any pen for the keeping of swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other offensive or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or into any flat or marsh adjoining the same. No person shall throw or suffer to be thrown into either of said ponds, or upon any flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unsound or offensive animal or vegetable substance.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the best and noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Yes, Tom's the best fellow that ever you knew.
Just listen to this:
When the old mill took fire, and the flooring fell through,
And I with it, helpless, there full in my view,
What do you think my eyes saw through the fire,
That crept along, crept along, higher and higher,
But Robin, my baby boy, laughing to see
The shining? He must have come there after me,
Toddled alone from the cottage without Any one's missing him. Then what a shout—
Oh! how I shouted, "For Heaven's sake, men,
Save little Robin!" Again and again
They tried, but the fire held them back like a wall;
I could hear them go at it, and at it, and call,
"Never mind, baby, sit still like a man,
We're are coming to get you as fast as we can."
They could not see him, but I could; he sat
Still on a beam, his little straw hat
Carefully placed by his side, and his eyes
Stared at the flame with a baby's surprise,
Calm and unconscious, as nearer it crept.
The roar of the fire up above must have kept
The sound of his mother's voice shrieking his name
From reaching the child. But I heard it. It came Again and again. O God, what a cry!
The axes went faster; I saw the sparks fly
Where the men worked like tigers nor minded the heat
That scorched them,—when suddenly, there at their feet
The great beams leaned in—they saw him—then crash,
Down came the wall! The men made a dash—
Jumped to get out of the way—and I thought
"All's up with poor little Robin," and brought Slowly the arm that was least hurt to bible
The sight of the child there, when swift, at my side
Some one rushed by, and went right through the flame,
Straight as a dart—caught the child—and then came Back with him—choking and crying, but—saved!
Oh, how the men raved,
Shouted, and cried, and hurrahed! Then they all
Rushed at the work again, lest the back wall
Where I was lying, away from the fire,
Should fall in and bury me.
Oh! you'd admire
To see Robin now, he's as bright as a dime,
Deep in some mischief, too, most of the time;
Tom, it was, saved him. Now, isn't it true
Tom's the best fellow that ever you knew?
There's Robin now—see, he's strong as a log—
And there comes Tom, too—
Yes, Tom was our dog.

Correspondence.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 23.

As previously arranged, Dom Pedro, wife and suite have returned here and are located at the Continental Hotel. He will remain two weeks to look more minutely into the details of the Exposition. He is the only crowned head that has, as yet, honored us with his presence, and since his arrival in this country his time has been utilized in visiting all the principal points of interest; and the celerity of his movements has surprised the most energetic native.

He returns here apparently refreshed and rejuvenated by his tour of observation and with undiminished interest in the great exhibition, as shown by his close attention and by the great variety of goods he has contributed to be placed among the Brazilian exhibits. The pavilion of Brazil, situated in the main building, is beautifully ornamented and very attractive. It contains specimens of leather, books, shoes, needle work, cabinet-ware and soaps, and many other serviceable articles. His Indian subjects have contributed skilfully-made articles of cabinet-ware of imitation tortoise shell. Among the exhibits are two stands, the centres of the tops made of dark brown wood, with the lines in darker shades, resembling sheaves of wheat. One case shown is devoted exclusively to the plumage of birds of Brazil, very beautiful in shades and of all colors. Another case is filled with flowers made from the feathers of tropical birds; they far excel our crude attempts in that line and elicit universal admiration. There are exquisite specimens of jewelry, set with the Brazilian bug, the workmanship showing great ingenuity. A prominent and very attractive feature is a case containing the insignia of the different orders conferred by the Imperial Government; the Order of Dom Pedro I., Dom Pedro II., the decoration of the Order of the Rose and others. Although the Brazilian exhibits in the main building and in Machinery Hall attract much attention and are greatly admired, special effort has been made by the Emperor for a fine display in Agricultural Hall; and it may be said without disparagement to others that he excels any other foreign competitor by the tasteful methods of arrangement and in the beauty and variety of specimens shown. From the Southern main entrance by the leading avenue may be seen a large pavilion completely enveloped in raw cotton. The frame is festooned with products from St. Catharina, Rio Grande, St. Paull, Maracaibo and from other localities. The interior contains specimens of coffees and coffee berries, principally. There are hundreds of varieties of native wood, cut into logs and slabs, well polished and so arranged as to show the colorings and grainings, which range from ebony to the brightest tinge. They enclose all the space devoted to Brazil.

The United States Government makes a very interesting display. There are articles sent from all the Departments, and arranged so as to impart much useful information to the observing visitor. The Post-office Department is situated in the Southeast corner of the Government Building, and attracts more visitors than any other one of the Departments. There is in operation a post-office, showing the box and general-delivery system, the money-order and foreign-mail systems, the carrier delivery and collection system, and a registered-letter system. The post-office is complete in every respect and forms a Centennial branch of the Philadelphia Post-office. The Centennial postal carriages bring the mails to the grounds regularly. They are tastefully gotten up and made for the purpose. A number of model mail cars are inside the building, and are operated by a man who shows to visitors their practical method of working, including the mail-bag catcher. From the post-office we wandered to the Department of the Interior. Among the exhibits there the most interesting are those of a historical bearing, such as General Washington's commission from the Continental Congress, and his personal effects, including clothing, camp equipage and other articles. Large numbers daily visit the National Museum, where the original Declaration of Independence is kept and jealously guarded. Among other things displayed by this Department are figures of Indians. Red Cloud, Chief of the Ogalla Sioux, stands with tomahawk in hand, a plume of feathers on his head, denoting his rank, and a collar around his neck of grizzly bear claws. AMICUS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.

The resignation of Mr. Bristow surprised no one here, as it was generally understood that he would relinquish his place as soon as the nominations at Cincinnati were made. Nothing indicative of bad blood between him and the President was observable in the formal correspondence, announcing and accepting his resignation, but the impression has existed here for some months that their relations to each other were not of the most cordial or confidential character. The ex-Secretary does not appear to contemplate any active participation in the pending Presidential campaign, but is to spend some months in Europe. Other resignations of prominent Treasury officials have taken place and more are to follow. It appears to be definitely settled that Senator Morrill will accept the vacant Secretaryship in case the appropriation bills are passed by the first of July. His designation appears to give almost universal satisfaction with his party; and many leading democrats warmly commend it as an evidence that the affairs of the Treasury Department will be honestly and ably administered. Mr. Morrill now occupies the responsible position of Chairman of the Senate committee on appropriations, and it is to his vigilant watchfulness that the country is largely indebted for exemption from the evil effects of the crude and mischievous legislation relative to the appropriations by the inexperienced and hostile majority in the House. The prospect of a compromise between the House and Senate upon the appropriation bills is said to be encouraging. It is understood that Mr. Morrill, on the part of the Senate, and Randall, chairman of the House appropriations committee, have each submitted plans to so far harmonize the existing disagreements as to allow of their passage before the end of the fiscal year, and thus avoid the alternative urged by the President, viz.: to extend the provisions of the present appropriation bills to such time as an agreement could be reached upon the bills under consideration.

Mr. Blaine's illness begins to alarm his friends. It will be remembered that some weeks ago he was confined to his house for some days by an attack of malarial fever, the debilitating effects of which in conjunction with the prostration induced by the sunstroke, has left him in a state of nervous exhaustion which demands absolute rest from all active participation in the duties of his position. He is to go to the seashore or mountains as soon as he is able to endure the fatigue of travel. The sub-judiciary committee, appointed, seemingly, to convict him of some guilty connection with railroad speculations regardless of facts, has been engaged in the spiteful endeavor to show that he instigated the Caldwell dispatch to Knott, and which he (Knott) suppressed on the pretense of suspected forgery; but not the least scrap of evidence, showing either him or Colonel Scott concerned in the matter has rewarded their virtuous diligence. On the contrary it is conclusively shown that neither of them had any knowledge of the dispatch sent to Caldwell from Philadelphia, and which he signed and forwarded to the chairman of the judiciary committee; nor does the evidence in any manner favorably modify Knott's duplicity in suppressing the dispatch.

Senator Morton has made an attempt to remedy the defects in the enforcement acts, pointed out by the Supreme Court. Of course any proposed interference with the KuKlux and White Leagues of the South provoked the determined opposition of their friends, the democrats in the Senate. So sanguine were the democrats in the House that they were going to convict Secretary Robeson of corrupt practice that their party press all over the country was filled with the most specific charges of maladministration, and their columns were loaded down for months with the most abusive strictures against him; and now, after an examination of many weeks, conducted from first to last with the sole view to partizan advantage, they are obliged to eat their own vile fulminations and to reluctantly abandon the hopeless effort which was undertaken with such a flourish of trumpets. Paymaster Bradford, who was summoned from London to testify, swears that Mr. Robeson never interfered in any manner with him as a purchasing agent of the government; that he was never requested in any way, by word or insinuation, to favor the Cattells nor to show preferences to any party in awarding contracts.

Buckner's report as chairman of the committee appointed to investigate the affairs of this District, included the District Commissioners among those recommended for criminal prosecution for malfeasance in office. A minority (republican) report has been made sustaining the Commissioners and showing their administration to have been exceptionally upright and in conformity to law, considering the character of the false data furnished them, upon which they were obliged to base their action, in the absence of anything more reliable. The equalization bounty bill which has passed the House and is now before Senator Logan's committee gives eight and one-third dollars per month to all soldiers and sailors enlisted between April 12, 1861, and May 9, 1866, deducting all State and National bounty received. MAXWELL.

Daily Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 28, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Editorial Pencilings.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 26.

The individual who endeavors to convey on paper the faintest idea of the great Centennial Exposition has a task herculean in aspect and impossible of fulfillment. "Mack" is doing nobly with the task allotted to him. Far be it from our intention to interfere in any of its details.

The heated term has set in, and Philadelphia enjoys it about as much as it is possible to do. The visitor has one end in view: sight-seeing—and that has no end in fact! Excursionists arrive by every train and a great proportion of the people met with wear travelling suits and are possessed of carpet bags. The hotels are well filled—some of them too well! The visitor prides himself on his superiority of locomotion, untrammeled as he is with company, and resolves to see everything in a week. The first day he inwardly confesses to an erroneous anticipation; the second, he only finds confirmation of first impressions; the third, he "gives it up," acknowledges he is inspecting the best treasures of the chief cities of the world, and subsides into acquiescence to circumstances.

The most discouraging experience the visitor has is the endeavor to find a lost friend among the flowing tides that throng the innumerable buildings. Job would have gnashed his teeth with vexation at the thought! The trouble with this Exposition is, there is too much to be seen—that is where the "fraud" commences. Imagine a person sitting on a sandy beach and endeavoring to see each minute particle of sand, examine its shape and extol its merits. Expositioning is similar. Some of the best things in the world are there, magnificent, useful, beautiful, costly—affording opportunity for the frequent use of adjectives, adverbs and all the prepositions ever thought of.

Depositing a fifty-cent scrip, (two twenty-fives won't answer) the visitor enters through a turn-stile which registers at the principal office every quarter turn. The stile keeper has no opportunity to absorb the fifty cent scraps of paper, and at night the record shows he has tried all the day to be good. Men will be honest when machine-watched.

The first thing to do, once inside the stiles, is to pay five cents for a ride around the grounds, two-and-a-half miles, on a narrow gauge railroad. Double tracks are laid and trains go both ways. When the locomotives get too tired, they stop on a grade and wait for another companion to come up behind and push them. Sometimes the crowds on the five cars, after waiting patiently ten minutes, applaud with their feet as an encouragement to the locomotive to try it again after such a rest, as is done in theatres when the curtain has not risen on time. The chimes ring out the greatest medley ever performed and the chim-ist goes back a note occasionally when he has missed stays on one. Bandy-legged Dutchmen, long-queued Chinamen, silk-adorned Japanese, pass by amid the jabbering of scores of different tongued nations. Ever and anon a fog-horn with lungs of iron startles the whole State and makes people dread the possible nomination of Williamallen at St. Louis! The monster Corliss engine, the great artificial cataract, the noisy stamp mills for assimilating ores, keep up a racket, and the reapers and mowers join in the chorus. The proud old war-eagle which followed a Wisconsin regiment to the war and remained for three years, was in a score of battles and was twice wounded, sits up on a perch in one of the buildings and teaches dignity to young and old.

The exhibit of ores shows the wonderful capacities of the nation to some extent, yet the greatest find in the world, said to be that in Colorado, known as the "Fourth of July lode," is as yet unrepresented. Mr. William H. Ashton of Colorado, a young man of thirty-one years, succeeded in obtaining possession of it and will send a train-load of samples to the Exposition in July. Parties not unknown in Portsmouth have joined him in the enterprise with hope of great results. A mining bureau for the encouragement of investments is one of the results of this combination.

The Centennial Ex—— well, when you discover this deponent wasting time again on descriptions while there is so much to see, "Mack" will have forgotten his occupation and general ignorance of matters about the "City of Brotherly Love" will have become predominant.

News and Notes.

Two boats, one of them with two men and women, and one with three boys, which were out during the squall at Plymouth, Mass., on Sunday, are missing. Schooner Esther Ward, lying in Gloucester harbor, had her mainmast shattered by lightning; and schooner R. P. Chase was struck just outside the harbor, and a Mr. Woodbury killed.

The trustees of the Eastern Railroad have organized their office and appointed a chief clerk, Mr. Joshua Crane, whose long experience in the treasurer's office of the Michigan Central Railroad gives him an experience which will be of great value to the corporation.

The Direction of the Bureau Veritas has published the following statistics of maritime disasters reported during the month of April, concerning all flags:—Sailing vessels reported lost—28 English, 10 German, 8 French, 7 Norwegian, 7 Dutch, 6 American, 4 Swedish, 3 Danish, 2 Italian, 1 Austrian, 1 Portugese, 10 of which the nationality is unknown; total, 87; in this number are included 5 reported missing. Steamers reported lost—4 English, 1 American, 1 Italian, 3 of which the nationality is unknown; total, 9. In this number is included 1 reported missing.

Mr. and Mrs. Sartoris sailed from Liverpool Saturday for New York.

It is reported that Senator Morrill will not accept the position of Secretary of the Treasury.

A "walk about" Boston is what people are more likely to take than a "a walk around." The city has been discovered to be sixty miles in circumference.

Mrs. Frank Parsons of Keene, a woman about twenty-one years of age, committed suicide by taking arsenic on Monday evening, at the residence of Mr. James Livermore. No cause is assigned for the act.

Edmund Andrews, an old and well-known merchant of Dover, died in that city on Monday.

A son of Charles Morgan, of Bow, seventeen months old, was drowned in a shallow brook near his father's house on Sunday.

Ivory Harmon, Esq., superintendent of the Nashua Company's mills and one of the most prominent citizens of Nashua, died in that city on Monday.

The Providence Press says that in that city "is a family named Bowen, consisting of six sons and two daughters, nearly all of whom, it appears, within a short time, have met with accidents. The boys are carpenters, and the husband of one of the daughters in also a carpenter. Some weeks ago Horace Bowen had two fingers of his left hand severed by a circular saw, and a few days later his brother Henry chopped part of his left hand off. Vincent subsequently suffered the loss of one finger, and William cut three fingers of his hand off while working with a hatchet. Next Leonard had his right hand very badly cut with an axe, and owing to improper treatment, he has lost the use of it. While operating a circular saw last week, Lewis, the youngest brother, had his hand drawn in and terribly mangled. E. D. Barber, the husband of one of the Bowen girls, while absent from the city, recently, had his arm split open and his hand crushed. This is a singular affair, indeed, not a single member of the male portion of the family escaping."

The popular belief concerning the two-thirds rule of democratic National conventions is that it was adopted by the convention of 1844, and was devised to prevent the nomination of Martin Van Buren. Roger A. Pryor (a good democrat, for he fought bravely for the Confederacy,) writes to a newspaper showing that this belief is unfounded, as the first convention, that of 1832, adopted the rule and it has been adhered to by every succeeding one. To this rule three very feeble Presidents, James K. Polk, Franklin Peirce and James Buchanan, owed their nominations.

—"School teacher (to bright boy)—"What country is directly opposite to us on the other side of the globe?" Boy—"I don't know, sir," Teacher—"Suppose that I should bore a hole clear through the world and drop you into it, and you should go through, where would you come out?" Boy—"Out of the hole, I suppose, sir."

—A few nights ago, as a young man stood in the New York gospel tent busily taking notes, Dr. Tyng came up, and laying his hand upon the other's shoulder, suddenly asked, "My friend, are you a Christian?" "No, sir," answered the startled note taker, "I'm—I'm only a reporter."

—A Worcester mother, having occasion to reprove her seven-year-old daughter for playing with some rude children, received for a reply, "Well, ma, some folks don't like bad company, but I always did."

—A Philadelphia wag, who jostled a turbaned Mussulman distributing circulars on Chestnut street a few days ago, was horrified at the exclamation: "Blast yer sowl! do yiz take me for a rale Turruk?"

—A small boy threw a stone through the window of a train near Enfield, recently, and the Springfield Republican tries to make him feel sorry by calling him an unregenerate Connecticut catapult.

—She was very particular, and when the dealer informed her that all his ice was gathered winter before last, she wouldn't give her order, saying he couldn't palm off his stale ice on her.

—Local Magnate (of very high Church tendencies:) "Mackenzie, are any of those foreign sailors Christians?" Mackenzie: "No wan, sir. They're all either Hindoos or Episcopalians."

—A man narrowly escaped losing his scalp last week. He had intended to go to the Black Hills, but was taken sick, and died two days before the day he intended to start.

—"You can't convince a woman by argument," says an experienced benedict, "but can modify her views for the time being, if you get hold of the boot-jack first."

—An Iowa farmer cut open an old hornet's nest, just to examine the inside arrangement. He says he thinks he will be able to see his barn in about two weeks.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

The Charter Amendments.

We printed in full, Monday, the bill introduced in the legislature to re-ward the city, and have no fear in challenging the closest scrutiny on the part of all who believe in honest elections between it and the bill passed by the democratic legislature of 1875. As to the arrangement of the wards we know nothing more than the bill contains; but we may presume that the wards have not been laid out with special reference to giving the democrats any more advantage than they sought to gain by their gerrymander of 1874. The proposed wards certainly look much better than the old ones on the map, and we are also certain that no such unscrupulous advantage has been sought by the republicans as was aimed at by the democrats.

In regard to maintaining the purity of elections no two measures could differ more widely than the proposed amendment and the democratic one. The democrats found one rule in force which was unquestionably in the interest of good order and honest dealing at the polls, and that rule they hastened to throw aside as being unfavorable to the democratic party; we allude to the law closing the polls at a reasonable hour. The object of the democrats in repealing that judicious and salutary law was to give to the back-slums and low drinking-saloons undue weight in deciding the political complexion of the city government, — which end was effectually accomplished by that action,—and there was not even a pretence that any citizen was deprived of his rights by the closing of the polls at an early, fixed hour. How serviceable the power to keep the polls open indefinitely was to the democrats in enabling them to rake the gutters until midnight for votes, and finally to count in their candidate for Mayor on at least one occasion, is fresh in the memory of most of our citizens.

The objectionable (to the democrats) early-closing rule was abolished in 1874, but no attempt whatever was made to increase the protection of the ballot-box from fraud; if the democrats found the election laws loose, they certainly did not try to make them any more stringent. And here is where the difference between the democratic measure and the proposed republican one is most striking. The latter provides for a board of sworn officials (elected in the several wards) to make up and revise the check-lists for all the wards, such inspectors to swear that only the names of legal voters are on the lists; the polls must be closed at six o'clock in the evening; and the ballots cast are to be deposited with the clerk of the board of inspectors within an hour of the closing of the polls, to be sealed up and preserved for six months. These provisions must go far toward preventing election frauds; there will be no danger of getting a voter's name on the check-lists of two or more wards; the publication of a man's residence will give his political opponents a chance to find out all about his claims to be a voter, if there is doubt on the subject; and the closing of the polls by daylight, and prompt delivery of the ballots to the board of inspectors, will make it difficult if not impossible to tamper with the returns after the polls are closed, as each party in this city has repeatedly charged the other with doing. Cemeteries and lumber yards will no longer be considered legal places of abode for voters; and if this bill passes, as it no doubt will do, we may confidently expect that our next election will be the most honest one for years.

Sagamore Lodge, No. 258, Knights of Honor, at their regular meeting, Monday evening, elected the following officers to serve until January, 1877:

Dictator, Geo. H. Griffing; Vice-Dictator, Clarence B. Mason; Asst. Dictator, R. H. Perkins; Chaplain, Samuel Dodge; Guide, Jas. Van Vranken; Reporter, Geo. A. Perkins; Financial Reporter, Wm. O. Sides; Treasurer, Sam. C. Whittier; Guardian, Alfred Stavers; Sentinel, E. H. Leslie; Past Dictators, M. T. Betton, Jos. H. Gardiner, E. G. Peirce, Jr.; Trustees, E. G. Peirce, Jr., J. H. Gardiner, Washington Freeman.

The officers are to be installed on Monday night, July 10th.

Jottings.

Our faith in the prompt answering of the prayer of the righteous is somewhat shaken. The leather-butcher who wakes us up mornings with his hideous groanings on the trombone is not dead yet, though we have had several thunder-storms lately.

The usual semi-annual dividend on the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad stock will be paid at the office of Col. William H. Hackett on Thursday, June 29th.

The Reform Club on Monday evening voted to accept the invitation extended to them to participate in the mass State temperance rally at Concord on Thursday.

The official adjusters of the loss by fire at A. F. Craig's new house on the evening of the 20th, have made a thorough inspection of the premises and unanimously agreed that the fire was caused by a leaky gas-pipe, and have settled the loss in full.

George William Bartlett, of this city, was awarded one of the Clarke prizes ($10) by the faculty of Dartmouth College, at the prize speaking on Monday evening.

The Supreme Court has admitted the supposed Raymond wife poisoner, Magoon, to five thousand dollars bail. He is reported to be in very poor health.

A meeting of the Woman's Temperance League and the Reform Club of this city will be held at the Temple this (Wednesday) evening; the former having purchased a banner which is to be presented to the club. Miss Carrie Randall will in behalf of the League present the standard and the response will be made by the President of the club, John S. Treat, Esq. An address will be delivered by Mr. Charles W. Gardner, followed by short speeches from one or two others, Miss Flanders, whose reputation as a singer is too well known here to need any commendation, has kindly consented to lend her talent to the occasion, and she will be assisted by a quartette of fine voices. It is expected that the exercises will be entertaining. An admission fee of five cents will be charged.

An Englishman in Philadelphia.

The bold Britisher who is writing to the London Times about Philadelphia and the Exhibition, says of that city:

The houses are, indeed, in such good taste and style that, despite its distracting regularly, the city must be considered anything but plain. But it is like a beauty with fine complexion and regular features, but no expression. If ever there was a place which looked thoroughly self-satisfied and self-contained, the beatific abode of a peculiar people who neither had, nor wished to have, anything to do with strangers and outer Philistines, it is Philadelphia.

But appearances are not always to be trusted, and the "City of Houses," happens also to be a stronghold of hospitality. The natives thoroughly understand and appreciate the graceful art of entertaining strangers, and have made prodigious efforts to find ample accommodation for the enormous crowds whom they expect to see this year at their Exhibition. Not only have the old hotels enlarged their borders, but with an enterprise genuinely American, seven new hotels—seven is, I believe, the exact number—have been run up expressly for the occasion. Their construction displays in some instances no less American ingenuity.

Most of the hotels are conducted on the usual American system, by which you pay so much for your bed and board, no deduction being made for meals you do not take at the hotel. En revanche you may, I am told—I have not myself yet tried the experiment—take a seat at any and every meal, and as eating of some sort is going on all day nearly, a man cursed or blessed with an appetite capable of rising to the occasion would get considerably more than his money's worth. The food, after a fashion somewhat typical of the country, is given in such vast profusion and variety that, in detail, it occasionally wants finish. I counted on one bill of fare over forty dishes, exclusive of sauces, relishes, and dessert, which made up conjointly almost as many more. Many of them are quite strange to the Briton, such as "little-necked clams," boiled striped bass, cold slaw, "scrapple," "hominy," "skirred," or they are old friends under new-fangled names. He screws up his courage to try "pecans," and is almost as much hurt as surprised at being brought nothing more novel than the common nut; or, if a Scotchman, has his patriotic susceptibilities wounded by being given porridge under the strange disguise of "Irish oatmeal mush." I heard a bewildered Englishman —a new-comer—shock the waiters, who are all, to a negro, colored Chesterfields, by declaring that "in his country such oranges were given to pigs," and then in desperation, he fell back upon eggs, and what he called "British breakfast tea." The Americans, who know exactly what dishes to their taste they can pick out of the miscellaneous masses, get on better. They have a singular habit of ordering everything they want, or feel at the beginning of the meal that they may possibly want before the end of it, to be brought to them at once, and it is a great sight to watch a hungry man, completely blockaded by dishes, steadily raising the siege by eating his way through them.

Some of the hotels, however, are conducted on what is called the European principle, though really a great improvement on it. In these you take a bedroom and pay separately for everything you order, though without being bound to order anything. These were only wanted for six months, and yet during that time were bound to furnish unusually extensive accommodation. It was obviously a difficult matter to do this without incurring greater outlay than so short a period would repay. The problem was solved by taking two rows of houses or cottages, which will have a permanent value, and connecting them temporarily by central or cross erections of light and comparatively inexpensive construction, so that they altogether form one huge establishment. When the exhibition is over the temporary buildings can be removed without any injury to the permanent. One of these novel establishments is said to be capable of holding nearly 5000 people, who, in return for low rates will put up with close packing. Seasoned excursionists who are not too proud to sleep three in a room, each having his own bed, can get supper, bed, and breakfast for less than ten shillings; a very moderate charge when American prices are considered. Those who want a room to themselves will naturally have to pay more, though very little more than they would have to pay at an ordinary season in America. The Philadelphia hotel keepers have, to their credit, resolved not to take advantage of the Exhibition, as was done at some other exhibitions, notably that of Vienna, to raise the terms, and so far they have honorably adhered to their resolution. At the largest and best-known hotel in the city a fairly good bedroom, with entire board—so far as solids go —may be had for about 18s. a day.

A Corpse on a Spree.

There is in Leavenworth a tall, blonde youth, Henry Arnold Green, who, by the free use of his little pistol and his wild, drunken spees, made himself famous in this city about a year ago. He is part owner of the Leavenworth Appeal. He receives regularly a large income from his English estate, which he devotes to the gratification of his whims. On Monday last Green felt more than usually funny. He had seen a funeral procession, and it pleased him to have a little funeral all to himself. Having first secured the services of a hackman, he directed him to drive to an undertaking establishment, and there he ordered a hearse and horses and an empty coffin.

The coffin was put into the vehicle, but before the doors were closed the Englishman said that it was his pleasure to "get in there himself." After instructing the hackman to follow a certain line of procession at a given distance from the hearse, he crawled inside, and, lying down beside the coffin, lighted a cigar. The procession then moved off to Cherokee street, at a funeral pace, the hearse in front and the hack following. As they went down Cherokee street toward the river, the knight of black plumes produced two bottles of whiskey, which he placed along side of the coffin, and proceeded to wind up the two days' spree. Presently they came in contact with a large crowd, who were on their way to attend a festival, and who made comments on the strange funeral procession. The English corpse, becoming anxious to know by what authority he was delayed on the highway, called loudly for the driver to stop, and while so doing turned over in his narrow apartment and, with a loud crash, forced a portion of his body through one of the large oval panes of glass on the side of the hearse. The crowd couldn't stand a corpse breaking out of its coffin, jumping through the side of the hearse and calling for the driver to stop further proceedings. They fled in all directions. After once more getting inside the author of the adventure was driven to Shawnee street, and then he returned the hearse and coffin to their owner.—Kansas City Times.

—He waltzed out of a Liberty street front door recently, followed by a washboard and two bars of Babbitt's soap; and as he straightened himself and walked firmly down the street, he remarked: "A man must draw the line somewhere or he can't be boss of the house; and I'll be hanged if I'll pump more than one barrel of water for no washing, and there ain't no woman can make me do it, unless she locks me in."—Rome Sentinel.

—Ideas of pluck differ in different States. In Michigan a woman who killed a bear was presented with a nice snow shovel. In Iowa a girl who threw pepper into her father's eyes was given a full set of coral jewelry.

Keep the Liver Active.

The above is a sound health maxim. In order that the functions of digestion, evacuation and secretion shall be discharged with that degree of regularity and vigor which is essential to the well being of both body and mind, the liver, upon whose activity they are dependent for their due performance, must be kept in good working order. Calomel and blue pills, besides being hurtful mineral drugs, only partially and temperarily rectify disorders or sluggishness of the great biliary gland. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the contrary, accomplish thoroughly what the above medicines fail in doing, and are besides a safe as well as potent remedy for disorders of the stomach, bowels and organs of urination, as well as an unequalled general invigorant. They are, moreover, a sterling antidote to malaria.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

To Neutralize Offensiveness.

In many forms we use disinfecting agents. Impure breath, caused by bad teeth, tobacco, spirits, or catarrh, is neutralized by SOZODONT. 'Tis a healthful beautifier, and a great luxury as a dentifrice. The repulsive breath is by its use rendered as fragrant as a rose, and coldness by friends or lovers will no longer be noticed.

Spalding's Glue mends everything.

Adam was the first man, and Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is the first and only remedy that cures coughs and colds every time.

Pyle's Dietetic Saleratus.—Universally acknowledged the best in use. Each pound bears the name of JAMES PYLE. None genuine without. tj676

☞ That yellow tinge of the complexion is a sure indication of bile in the blood. It is effectually removed by using GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all modern improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

"SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

Catching a Bear.

"When we were in camp on the northwestern frontier," said Joe Ryan, "we enjoyed life pretty well; game was plenty and each man took his turn in hunting, to provide meat for the crowd. But there was one fellow John Barth, or 'Long John,' as we called him—who was actually too lazy to hunt. Three weeks passed, and he had done nothing toward bringing in meat, when the fellows crowded him so hard on the subject that he took his gun and set off early one morning. Nothing was seen of him till dusk. All of us had come in and were gathering round the fire just wondering where John was, when a quick crackling and crashing were heard in the neighboring thicket, and before we could speak, into the cabin rushed John, closely followed by a large black bear, John exclaiming just as he reached the door, 'Here we come! with meat enough to last a month!' There was a hasty snatching of fire arms and scrabbling upon bunks and high places, and in an instant a half a dozen shots quieted Bruin. Long John said that he traveled all day without seeing anything to shoot at, till just as he was nearing the camp he scared up the bear, but his first shot only slightly wounded him, so he 'went for' his assailant."

—The daughter of the sheriff of Waupaca, Wis., while playing croquet in the jail-yard, noticed a prisoner attempting to escape, and nonchalantly lifting her mallet she hit him on the head, just as if he had been her brother caught cheating, and stunned him till the guard came up and captured him.

—The court put it up very carefully when he said to a prisoner who was receiving a death sentence, "Prisoner at the bar, you will soon have to appear before another, and perhaps a better Judge."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for three years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of m neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty; but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship in the field. I shall send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the great good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no purpose. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of your Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and spent a large fortune in vain. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for nine years, and have tried every thing, yeling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mazlie, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if you have the Pills you can cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Shorrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted; they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend the Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall carry them or cause them to be thrown into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time therein named; and in case such owner or occupier shall neglect or refuse having been given to him, or left at his place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the Mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and remove said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be buried or destroyed.

SEC. 16. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or shall be erected, kept or continued, upon any pond or stream of water, any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

SOLOMON RAY.

A hard, close man was Solomon Ray,
Nothing of value he gave away;
He hoarded and saved,
He pinched and shaved,
And the more he had the more he craved.

The hard earned dollars he toiled to gain
Brought him little but care and pain;
For little he spent,
For all he lent
He made it bring him twenty per cent.

Such was the life of Solomon Ray;
The years went by and his hair grew gray;
His checks grew thin,
And his soul within
Grew hard as the dollars he worked to win.

But he died one day, as all men must,
For life is fleeting, and naught but dust;
The heirs were gay
That laid him away,
And that was the end of Solomon Ray.

They quarreled now, who had little cared
For Solomon Ray while his life was spared;
His lands were sold,
And his hard-earned gold
All went to the lawyers, I am told.

Yet men will cheat and pinch and save
Nor carry their treasures beyond the grave.
All the gold some day
Will melt away,
Like the selfish savings of Soloman Ray.

What Shall We Do With John?

The population of Ireland is, in round numbers, about 5,000,000, that of China is nearly 500,000,009. The petty immigration from Ireland to the Atlantic coast has produced serious political complications. What will be the outcome of the Chinese immigration to the Pacific coast? Already the Chinese are estimated as constituting a fifth of the California population. And the end is not yet. When such a reservoir begins to overrun its banks, no one can tell from the size of the rivulet at first how large the stream will become.

Moreover, John differs from Pat in some very important particulars. He has an intense and very narrow patriotism. He has no idea of ever becoming an American. This is not his hive; he comes here simply to gather honey. He has no notion of remaining here, still less of leaving his children here after him. He retains his customs, his habits of thought, his civilization, his religion. He wears the same dress, unless our American barbarianism compel him to change it; he eats the same rice; he brings hither his temple; he worships Joss. His supreme self-conceit is not in the least abated by a comparison of his junks with our American marine, nor by his inspection of our railroads and telegraphs. He publishes a newspaper in San Francisco, and habitually calls us "barbarians" and his own countrymen "Celestials." As yet the nineteenth century does not appear to have thawed out his intense national prejudices in the slightest. His habits are not over cleanly; his quarters are of a kind to breed pestilence; his vices are the more deadly because the less outbreaking in flagrant forms of disorder, and he luxuriates on wages on which an American laborer would starve to death.

We do not wonder that our Pacific-coast brethren are perplexed by the problem, What shall we do with him? But 500,000,000 is a large population; a very respectable fraction of that population will have to cross the Pacific Ocean before wages are equalized in the two countries. Water does not more surely seek its level than wages; and there is not the least assurance that the Chinese wave will stop at the foot of the Sierras, or yet of the Rocky Mountains, or even in the valley of the Mississippi. The question, "What shall we do with John?" may very soon, if it does not already, concern all the people of the United States.

First—Evidently we cannot turn him back. It may be well doubted whether we have the right to do so. The descendants of the European Pilgrims of the seventeenth century have no charter right from the Most High to refuse a home on their shores to the Asiatic pilgrims of the nineteenth. But if we had the right we have not the power. These great migratory movements are not amenable to acts of Congress. The legislature might quite as well attempt to prohibit the autumnal flight of the ducks from the Hudson to the Delaware. The legislation which some Californian politicians are clamoring for would be no more efficacious than Mrs. Partington's broom against the Atlantic.

Second—We can, however, so treat the Chinese, when they do come, as to embitter their prejudices and intensify their hate. We can justify their judgment of us "barbarians." We can teach them to abhor the very name of Christian. They are already reserved. We can drive them yet more in upon themselves. They are disinclined to mingle with Occidentals. We can compel them to herd in Chinese communities. We can be as exclusive as they are and as self-conceited, and, ignoring their virtues, borrow only their vices. And we do not need to be very active for this purpose. It is quite sufficient if Christians leave the Chinese to the tender mercies of our "barbarians." It is not difficult to see that this policy will petrify them in their heathenism, intensify their prejudices, convince them that we are indeed "barbarians," and if it is pursued long enough, will give us an immense population foreign in thought, hostile in feeling, pagan in religion.

Third—The only other course is that of assimilation. It may be very inconvenient to have such an incongruous population on our shores, but it cannot be helped. Wisdom and philanthropy say, Make the best of it. This means, first, a just and equal legislation; a condign punishment of every blow levelled at a Chinaman, of every insult flung at a Chinese woman; a rigorous enforcement of the laws; a strict license of opium selling, or better yet, a prohibitory law; an inflexible execution of sanitary measures, for the protection of health and decency. It means, secondly, faith among Christian people that God made man in his own image; that Christ died for the human race; that the divine love embraces Mongolian as well as Anglo-Saxon, Chinamen as well as American. It means faith showing itself by works. It means Christian schools and missions for the "heathen Chinee;" a literature prepared for him; a press at work for him. It means more men laboring for his elevation through the gospel with the enthusiasm of consecration which Drs. Williams and Doolittle and Nevins carried into their work in China. It means a broad and generous support to those forms of home missionary work which are endeavoring to provide a gospel for this people, and which are impeded far more by Anglo-Saxon barbarism and Christian apathy than by either paganism or stolidity among the Chinese themselves. We are never very weary of hearing sung the praises of this wonderful age. But it is a wonderfully recreant age if, after all the experience of the past of gospel power in heathen lands, we sit down in despair before heathenism in our own.—Christian Union.

Daily Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JUNE 29, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Partisan Legislation.

During the hot canvass which ended with the sweeping republican victory in March last, the most effective arguments of the republicans were based on the recklessly unjust partisan legislation of the democrats in 1874,—their wholesale removal of officials for political reasons alone, the fearful and wonderful manner in which they gerrymandered cities and Senatorial and Councillor districts, their disfranchising of students and removal of wholesome restrictions on naturalization, and their adopting of a cumbrous and unsatisfactory (and in part unconstitutional) judicial system for no other purpose than to secure a partisan bench, which they certainly did secure.

The unscrupulous partisanship of the democratic legislature having furnished the republicans with such effective ammunition, it was but reasonable to suppose that the republicans would take warning by their example and their overthow, and in undoing the trickery of the democrats would pay some regard to the justice and fair play so openly ignored by the followers of Bingham, Sinclair and Hatch; and so far in the session they have done so. Some of the opposition papers, in and out of the State, have given us a little of the stereotyped indignation about "gerrymandering," etc.; but a comparison of what the republicans propose to do with what the democrats did will show the injustice of their charges.

Take the Senatorial districts, for instance: The democrats, in their eagerness to gain partisan advantage, not only made the most straddle-bug looking districts ever invented, as shown on the State map, but entirely disregarded the constitutional requirement that the districts shall be constructed as nearly as possible upon a basis of equal valuation; one district, No. 4, paying $97.75 of every $1000 of the State tax, while No. 12 paid but $71.52, a difference of $26.23. As laid out by the republicans the districts are compact and make a good showing on the map; and (leaving out the city of Manchester, which is a district in itself and pays $91.07 of each $1000 of State tax,) the greatest difference in the amounts paid by any two districts is $4.16, between Nos. 7 and 10, the former paying $84.18 and the latter $80.02.

The Councillor districts, too, as arranged by the democrats and as the republicans propose to arrange them, are worthy comparison by those who talk of the re-districting the State as a "gerrymander." We have not at hand any table of the relative amount of taxes paid by, or the number of ratable polls in, each of the districts as arranged by the democrats; but the official declaration of the vote at the last election shows that while the republican majority in two districts was 3,739 and the republican plurality in the same districts within thirty votes of 4,000, the republican majority in the State on the governor vote being 2,831, a change of 96 votes in two districts would have given the democrats three of the five Councilors! Under the new arrangement the districts are constructed upon a basis of valuation and ratable polls. The proportion of each $1000 of the State tax paid by each of the new districts is as follows: No. 1, $209.87; No. 2, $192.54; No. 3, $229.78; No. 4, $208.90; No. 5, $158.82. The number of ratable polls in each district last March was as follows: No. 1, 19,056; No. 2, 19,975; No. 3, 19,329; No. 4, 19,005; No. 5, 21,508. And a map of these districts is a strong argument in their favor.

As to the re-warding of cities we know but little. This city we know was found by the democrats, in 1874, with the ward lines almost exactly where their own party put them when the city was first chartered; and we know that they gerrymandered it most villainously, and removed every possible obstacle they could to illegal voting. If the democrats can show that the republican scheme is as bad as theirs they may do it; we are satisfied it is far more just than theirs and far more lenient than they had any right to expect. As to Dover, Foster's Democrat says the republicans may try all summer and then they can't make a more ridiculous looking map of the city than that existing; and in Manchester, which the democrats found unjustly divided and which they divided still more unjustly, we believe the proposed arrangement of wards the most honest one that city has ever had.

As to the wholesale removal of officials for political reasons only, we have never believed in it, and when the republicans regained control of the State after the democratic victory of 1871, we squarely advocated the retention in office of certain democrats whom we knew to be good officials. We are not yet satisfied that there is any partisan advantage, even, to be gained by it; but under the peculiar provocation given by the democrats we do not feel like fighting very hard in opposition to a general removal, should it be decided upon by the republicans in the legislature. When the republicans resumed control of the State in 1872-73, they found many democrats in office, and they left them there; but the democrats in 1874 made a clean sweep and turned out nearly every republican official in the State,—and some of the democratic papers, like the Boston Post, which now loudly denounce removals for political reasons, then talked loftily about "the expressed will of the people," and sneeringly of "the whining of the office-holders' organs," when the republican papers told the democratic legislators they were doing poor work for their party. How even the most conservative republicans feel on this subject is indicated by the following extract from the Nashua Telegraph, which paper sturdily advocated a truce in the matter of political guillotining, in 1872 and '73:

"The defiant and reckless democracy of 1874 are powerless. The offices that they seized with such greedy avidity in 1874 have slipped from their reach and are at the disposal of the party whose magnanimity in 1872-3 they held so cheaply in 1874. Under these circumstances the republicans are justified in restoring the old order of things. The democratic leaders of this State have proved that they cannot be trusted to pursue any sort of a moderate course. Every democratic official in the State, so far as we know, has approved and sustained the high-handed and unconstitutional measures adopted by his party leaders during the last year. They have no reason to expect and should be ashamed to ask republican leniency. Their very course has entirely disarmed those republicans who have heretofore labored for a truce in the policy of indiscriminate removals."

The Legislature.

On the 27th the Senate and House met in convention to elect State officers, with the following result:

SECRETARY OF STATE.

Whole number of votes,	376
Necessary for a choice,	189
Charles A. Jewell of Plymouth, had	166
Benjamin F. Prescott of Epping,	210

And Benjamin F. Prescott of Epping, was declared elected Secretary of State for the ensuing year.

STATE TREASURER.

Whole number of votes,	375
Necessary for a choice,	188
Al B. Thompson, had	1
Josiah G. Dearborn of Manchester, had	165
Solon A. Carter of Keene,	208

And Solon A. Carter of Keene, was declared elected State Treasurer for the ensuing year.

STATE PRINTER.

Whole number of votes,	363
Necessary for a choice,	182
George J. Manson, had	3
Charles C. Pearson,	158
Edward A. Jenks,	202

And Edward A. Jenks was declared elected State Printer for the ensuing year.

COMMISSARY GENERAL.

Whole number of votes,	358
Necessary for a choice,	180
W. H. Cook, had	1
Leonard C. Brown,	1
George J. Manson,	1
Hanson C. Canney of Manchster,	155
Frank W. Miller of Portsmouth,	200

And Frank W. Miller of Portsmouth, was declared elected Commissary General for the ensuing year.

The Democratic Convention.

After much wrangling, and some little pistol-shooting between the Tammany roughs who under "Boss" Kelley opposed Tilden's nomination and the anti-Tammany roughs who under John Morrissey advocated Tilden's nomination, the democratic National convention was called to order at St. Louis at noon on Tuesday. Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, was made temporary president. Committees were appointed, and a recess then taken till 5 o'clock P. M. The Tilden men were then claiming the nomination of the great "reformer" on the second or third ballot; but no ballot could be taken Tuesday.

Gen. McClernand, of Illinois, was appointed permanent president, and the rules of the last convention, including the "two-thirds rule," were adopted. Watterson, temporary chairman, Gen. McClernand, Augustus Schell and others made speeches, and the convention then adjourned to Wednesday at 10 o'clock A. M., with the prospect of John Morrissey's candidate securing the nomination apparently good.

On Wednesday, President McClernand called the convention to order at 11 o'clock.

Father Brady offered prayer.

Then a motion was made that the convention proceed to ballot, counter-motions that no balloting be had until the platform be adopted being offered. Confusion became worse confounded, until at last the band had to play "Dixie" to quiet the uproar. It was announced that two reports on finance from the committee on resolutions were inevitable; the hard money men were willing to give up much, but the soft money men were standing out for everything. No balloting took place in time for the result to reach this city in the evening, and probably a ballot was not reached.

News and Notes.

Secretary Chandler has notified the democratic members of the Appropriation Committee that he shall lock the door of the Interior Department at midnight, June 30, if the appropriation bills are not passed. Postmaster General Jewell has notified them that in the same event not a mail will be dispatched in any part of the country after June 30.

Assistant U. S. Treasurer A. H. Wyman, of Wisconsin, is to be Treasurer, vice New, resigned.

Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury is chairman of the democratic city committee of Boston. That committee won't blunder so much this year as it has sometimes in the past.

John A. Jordan, accused of killing an unknown man in a closet of the Albany depot in Boston, has confessed that he stabbed the man, but tells a straightforward story to the effect that he was attacked by the stranger and killed him in self-defence.

Hon. James G. Blaine left Washington for Augusta, Me., in a special car, at 1:30 P. M. on the 27th. His health is very much impaired, and absolute rest (mental and physical,) is necessary.

William Kinsley tried to kill his wife, but failed, at Mount Pleasant, R. I., on the 27th. He then tried to kill himself, and succeeded.

The report now is that Montenegro and Servia will make a combined attack on Turkey immediately.

Political.

The New England democratic newspapers speak of those New Yorkers who support Tilden at St. Louis as statesmen, and all those who oppose him as bummers. Prominent among the former is John Morrissey; among the latter, the democratic leaders in Congress, Sunset Cox and August Belmont. —Traveller.

The anti-Tilden men most prominent at St. Louis were a gang of Tammany roughs led by John Kelley; the ablest workers for Tilden at St. Louis were a gang of roughs but a little if any better than the Tammany bruisers and pistoliers, led by the prize-fighter and gambler, John Morrissey. Both these factions favor "reform"—as viewed from a democratic stand point. Nice reform party! But John Kelley and his roughs are in goodly company, for Sunset Cox, August Belmont and almost the entire delegation of New York in Congress oppose Tilden's nomination, on the ground that he is unfit for the office of President; and they ought to—and no doubt do—know what they are talking about.

—Giordano Bruno, the Italian mathematician, for whom a monument is to be erected, was at one time a victim, like Galileo, of the Roman inquisition, for maintaining that the earth revolved around the sun. One of the questions asked him was "Do you not know that Joshua arrested the course of the sun?" "Precisely," replied Bruno, "and the sun has remained immovable ever since that time."

—An officer advising his general to capture a post remarked, "It will only cost a few men." "Well," said the general, will you make one of the few men?"

Mr. Goss' Address.

PORTSMOUTH, June 3, 1876.

Rev. J. A. Goss:—In behalf of Rebekah Lodge, No. 3, I. O. O. F., we, the undersigned, earnestly solicit for publication a copy of your able and eloquent address delivered in Langdon Park on the 25th ult.

MOSES H. TILTON,
JOSEPH PETTIGREW,
MARY A. BLAISDELL,
SUSIE P. HOLBROOK.

PORTSMOUTH, June 21, 1876.

Brothers and Sisters:—Your letter of June 3d, requesting a copy of my brief address before the Union Rebekah Lodge, No. 3, I. O. O. F., at the dedication of Langdon Park, has been received. In compliance with your request, I place at your disposal the address referred to.

Yours in Friendship, Love and Truth,

JOHN A. GOSS.

The origin of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows is far more ancient than our own loved country. Odd Fellowship has been traced back by some writers to the 4th century; was established in Spain in the 5th century and in France in the 12th, and was carried from France to England by some Knights who formed there a "Loyal Grand Lodge of Honor," which in the 18th century was changed into the Order of Odd Fellows. Other writers, yet more fanciful, and with a love and veneration for old things, have ascribed its origin to the Roman soldiers in the time of Nero, and its name to the Emperor Titus, who, it is said, gave them the name Odd Fellows, because they were so odd that he could find no better name. Still another class of writers, anxious to make sure of the greatest possible antiquity, ascribe the origin of the Order to Adam, and an emblem procured from an English lodge in 1826, now in possession of the Grand Lodge of the United States, represents the father of mankind in the act of laying the foundation of a Lodge.

I hardly think, however, that Adam was an Odd Fellow; for if he had been, he would not have eaten the forbidden fruit, and most certainly after having done it he would not have thrown the blame upon his wife,—for every Odd Fellow has more respect for his wife than that. These fables, however, have been totally discarded of late years, by the authorities of the Order, and have been pronounced absurd by the Grand Lodge of the United States.

It is stated on good authority that in the latter part of the 18th century Lodges or Societies of mechanics existed in London calling themselves "Ancient and Honorable Loyal Odd Fellows." Their meetings were held weekly, and each member contributed a penny to form a fund for the relief of the poor, and to assist in funeral expenses, and to provide for widows and orphans. In 1788 James Montgomery wrote for one of these London Lodges a song still in use, beginning:

"Where friendship, love and truth abound
Among a band of brothers."

The order extended into Liverpool and other English cities, and in 1813 a convention was held in Manchester and a re-organization took place, and they formed what is now called all over the world the "Independent Order of Odd Fellows." The first Lodge of Odd Fellows organized in this country was in April, 1819, by Thomas Wildey and four other associates. The Lodge was formed in Baltimore, and was called Washington Lodge, No. 1. Soon after its organization the members obtained a charter from Manchester Unity, as the Grand Lodge of Maryland and of the United States. From this beginning the Order has extended far and wide, and to-day,—the first centennial of our government,—we number our members by hundreds of thousands.

In its early years, like every other organization,—"the Church not excepted,"—it met with much opposition. This opposition, however, gradually wore away as its objects and principles became more generally known. We have a way in this age of the world, of judging things by their worth. Many, therefore, now rejoice in Odd Fellowship as one of the best and most humane institutions in the world. The principles of the Order are friendship, love and truth. We recognize the "Brotherhood of Man," and throw around each other the arms of protection.

The Odd Fellow is cared for not only in life, but in sickness and in death. Some time ago a Brother of the Order died one hundred and eighty-seven miles from his Lodge, and was buried there. His wife was unable to have the body brought to her home, that in death she might lay by his side. But his brethren were not satisfied to leave his remains in an unknown and neglected spot. It was in one of the far Western States, where transportation is not so easy as in New England. They took three mules, made the long trip, placed the coffin containing the body on two of the animals, and over rough mountainous passes and rocky roads, in cold, pitiless weather, brought him home and laid him to rest in the family grave-yard, and dropped the evergreen upon him.

In 1870 we numbered, in this country [illegible] Lodges, with membership of 348,898. Possibly increased since those figures were given to a total membership of 425,000.

We gather to-day in this Park to assist in its dedication as a public place of resort. We gather as Odd Fellows, and Daughters of Rebekah, around these trees planted by our hands. They may live for years, and after we are dead offer shelter and comfort to others that shall come after us; but like all things of earth, they will die and pass away. But the principles represented by our Order are as enduring as the everlasting hills, and will endure from generation to generation until they shall embrace the whole "Brotherhood of Man."

Lightning.

During the shower on the afternoon of the 27th, the telegraph wires alongside the Concord Railroad were struck by lightning near the Creek, and melted for a considerable distance, some half-dozen poles being also badly splintered. A man whose name we have not learned was struck senseless while at work in a field back of Col. Jerome C. Butler's residence, and had not fully recovered from the effects of the shock next morning.

The Baptist church at Rye was struck, and the steeple and front considerably damaged. The church was also set on fire, but the flames were put out before any great damage was done.

Station agent Huntington, at Newmarket, had his right thumb taken short off while operating the telegraph.

Miss Haseltine, the operator at Exeter depot, received a heavy shock, producing deafness in one ear. The report was like a rifle shot, and paper and plastering were scattered about.

Four houses were struck in Manchester, a horse killed and several ladies stunned. Damage to buildings $1000.

At Keene two houses and two trees were struck, and a republican banner torn down.

At Candia two cows and a valuable bull were killed, and while their owner, Mr. Jeremiah Lane, formerly of Hampton Falls, was endeavoring to resuscitate them, he fell dead. He was 76 years old.

Suicide.

Messrs. Ralph and Thomas Davidson, of Newcastle, while returning from fishing at noon on the 28th, discovered near Wood Island a boat adrift. On examination it was found to belong to James Anderson, of this city, who was formerly the keeper of the Government Quarantine Station in this harbor. On the stern sheets was written, "I am gone forever. J. J. Anderson." In the bottom was found a pocket book containing about two dollars. Charles Huntress of Eliot, who was out fishing, saw Anderson in the boat about a half-hour previous, and saw a splash alongside of the boat, but was some distance off. He thinks Anderson tied a grapnel around his body and jumped overboard. His body has not been recovered.

Jottings.

In the list of graduates at Darthmouth this year we find the names of W. H. Gardiner and E. C. Stimson of this city.

The coupons of the city of Portsmouth due July 1st will be paid at the Hide and Leather National Bank of Boston.

The famous "Georgia Minstrels" are to give one of their popular entertainments on the evening of the Fourth of July, at the Temple, when they will present a special minstrel bill, new and appropriate to the great centennial holiday. Rather a bad evening for a show, but Callender's minstrels will draw a house if any show can.

Cham, the French Caricaturist.

The greatest caricaturist in France is the Comte Amadee de Noe, better known as "Cham." He was born in 1819, and of most aristocratic lineage, for his father, the Comte de Noe, was a peer of France. His mother was, however, English, and young Amadee having been brought up entirely by her, acquired a British accent, which he retains to this day. Very tall, thin, and upright, scrupulously correct and English in his attire, of manners externally cold and polished, he thoroughly realizes the Parisian idea of the Londoner; the more so as, like the sailor in Gilbert's ballad, he never laughs and he never smiles, though he is one of the most practical jokers in existence. On an occasion, going into a restaurant, where he was unknown, he settled into a corner seat which happened to be generally reserved for a stock broker who dined in the house every evening. The waiter said nothing; but the stock broker coming in, felt wroth at the usurpation, and was about to complain of it, when he recognized the familiar features of the caricaturist. He thought he would have a joke at the expense of Cham, and, calling the landlord aside, asked him if he knew who was that tall, thin, most solemn stranger. No, the landlord had never seen him before "Ah, well then, I advise you to order him out as quickly as possible, else he will scare away all your other customers," whispered the stock broker. "It is Heidenrich, the executioner." The landlord gave a jump; but without on instant's loss of time walked up to Cham and begged him to depart, adding that he would not ask him to pay for what he had eaten, and would, indeed, not consent to touch his money at any price. Cham's features betrayed not the slightest surprise at this communication. "May I ask who revealed to you that I am headman?" he said in his gravest tones. "It is that gentleman yonder." "Ah, quite so," answered Cham, imperturably; "he ought to know me, for I flogged and branded him at Toulon not two years ago." It is alleged that the stockbroker recorded a vow never to play tricks on Cham again, and similar resolutions are generally made by those who measure wit with the nimble caricaturist.

—In our report of the visit of Dom Pedro, the Brazilian Emperor, to West Point, we noted the fact that the Empress and her lady friend, Dona Josefina da Fonseco, Visconde de Bom Retiro, and Chevalier de Masedo, did not cross the river at Garrison's to inspect the United States Military Post, pleading fatigue and desiring needed rest from long journeyings. Hardly had His Majesty the Emperor reached General Ruger's head-quarters when the Empress and Dona Josefina with their male friends alighted from the Wagner drawing-room car and made their way leisurely to the nearest grocery. Now, there was nothing very peculiar in a Brazilian Empress approaching an American grocery, but when Her Majesty the Empress of Brazil seated herself upon the steps of the aforesaid grocery, with Dona Josefina by her side, and the male attendants called for lager for four, then came that true inwardness of feeling which always surrounds a merry group gathered for a festive round or two of the famed Teutonic beverage.—Poughkeepsie (N. Y.) Eagle.

—The Albermarle Club, of London, admits both sexes to membership, and the records of the institution bear this observation: "Women have no real appreciation of good eating, and they will sip the vilest wine with the placid satisfaction of a connoisseur enjoying the best."

—A forgeman of Warrington, England, lately sold his wife to a friend for half a gallon of ale. Number two was so delighted with his bargain that he stood another pint, and then the young wife, who was equally pleased with it, stood another half gallon.

—In a pool across a road, in Ireland, is stuck up a pole, having affixed to it a board with this inscription: "Take notice, that when the water is over this board, the road is impassable."

—A woman in Westfield, Mass., fought with her husband until the noise aroused the neighborhood, because he would not let her go to church and be confirmed.

—A young colored lawyer of Washington has been dismissed from a Baptist church for the heinous offence of playing croquet.

Answers to Correspondents.

In answer to "Alphabetical," in your last issue, for a remedy for consumption in its first stages, I can recommend Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," if taken according to directions, for it has been thoroughly tried in my family, and the results were glorious. "Alphabetical" must not expect one bottle to do the work—my wife took three bottles before she could discover any change, but after the the third bottle every dose seemed to strengthen her lungs, and now she is well and hearty. If "Alphabetical" will write to me I will get witnesses to the above.

Keep the Liver Active.

The above is a sound health maxim. In order that the functions of digestion, evacuation and secretion shall be discharged with that degree of regularity and vigor which is essential to the well being of both body and mind, the liver, upon whose activity they are dependent for their due performance, must be kept in good working order. Calomel and blue pills, besides being hurtful mineral drugs, only partially and temporarily rectify disorders or sluggishness of the great biliary gland. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the contrary, accomplish thoroughly what the above medicines fail in doing, and are besides a safe as well as potent remedy for disorders of the stomach, bowels and organs of nutrition, as well as an unequalled general invigorant. They are, moreover, a sterling antidote to malaria.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,
Newburyport, Mass.

In justice to myself, and that those who prefer

PEARSON'S FAMILY PILOT BREAD

may obtain what is desired, I shall occasionally publish the names of those who keep it for sale in Portsmouth, as follows:

No fees for making preliminary examinations. No additional fees for obtaining and conducting a rehearing. Special attention given to Interference Cases before the Patent Office. Extensions before Congress, Infringement Suits in different States, and all litigation appertaining to Inventions or Patents. SEND STAMP TO GILMORE & CO. FOR PAMPHLET OF SIXTY PAGES.

Old Bounty Land Warrants.

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 2,897,500 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO., pay cash for them. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply, after examination, will be given you free.

Pensions.

All OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & CO. Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it.

Daily Chronicle.

—Nathan Wilson's wife long ago disappeared from Chazy, New York, and the next thing he knew of her was when her corpse came home by express. She had eloped, lived awhile in Canada, been poisoned, and the man with whom she had gone away had sent back her body.

—At Fair Oaks, while standing in a very tempest of death, with his sword uplifted in command, General O. O. Howard had his right arm carried away. That night, after Howard had suffered amputation and was lying spent and racked with pain in a box car which was to take him to Washington, Gen. Kearney drew near, and, looking into the car, said: "Howard, old boy, I'm sorry for you—sorry with all my heart; but Howard, I have just thought of something. When you get to Washington buy a pair of gloves, send me the right and keep the left for yourself, and I will divide the cost with you; and hereafter we will get along more economically." And turning away Kearney muttered, "That's better for him than praying, and then Howard can beat me praying anyway."

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.'
"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. DR. QUAIN'S
CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:
Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.
WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past two years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I ever had. I sleep well, eat and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.25.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
—USE—
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
—USE—
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or other animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6 No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause the nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the thill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

SHE WOULDN'T HEED.

In the ladies' waiting room at one of the depots, might have been seen, recently, two women: one young and handsome; the other old and ugly. The various trains rushed in and rolled out, the last passenger train for some hours had departed, but still they sat, these two women.

The day faded into the night. The lamps were lighted. The agent went home, and the many laborers went home. Minutes dragged slowly by, and hours seemed to crawl. The silence was unbroken in the room. Every few moments would the young woman look up at the clock. Finally the old woman broke the silence.

"Goin' away?"

"Yes."

One remark led to another, until they were chatting quite confidentially. The old woman said she was going to "Shicagey," and told many things. The young woman, in turn, became communicative, and said her lover was coming in on the midnight train, and that she was going with him to the next station to be married.

"Been engaged long?"

"Three years."

"Your lover in business?"

"Yes."

"Railroader?"

"No."

"Well, I'm glad on it. Never marry a railroader."

"Is he a soldier?"

"No."

"Well, I'm glad on it. Never marry a soldier."

"Hotel keeper?"

"No."

"Well, I'm glad on it. Never marry a hotel keeper."

"Travelin' man?"

"No."

"Well, I'm glad on it. Never marry a travelin' man."

"Steam boater?"

"No."

"Well, I'm glad on it. Never marry a steam boater."

"Dry goods man?"

"No."

"Well I'm glad on it. Never marry a counter jumper."

"Grocery man?"

"No."

"Well, I'm glad on it. Never marry a peanut vender."

"Who would you marry?" asked the young woman.

"Well, child, never marry a railroader for he is liable to get killed most any time. Besides, he has such a nice chance to flirt.

Never marry a military man, for he's liable to go to war and git shot. Besides, his gorgeous clothes attract the attention of the women.

Never marry a hotel keeper. My first husband was a hotel keeper and fell through the elevator opening and broke his darned skull. It riles me when I think of that man.

Never marry a travelling man, for he's always away from hum. Nobody knows what these men are up to when they're away from hum!

Never marry a steam-boater. My second husband was a steam-boat captain and got blowed into 4,000,000 pieces, blast him. I always git terrible mad when I think of that man!

Never marry a dry goods man. Dyes in clothes is so injurious. They never live half their days.

Never marry a grocer. They have such dirty hands. My third husband was a grocer and such hands as he'd have was 'nuf to sicken a body. He was killed by a molasses barrel fallin' on him. When I think of him I'm completely disgusted.

Never marry a carpenter. My fourth husband was a carpenter and fell off a scaffold and was mashed into jelly. May his old soul sleep in peace!

Never marry a machinest. My fifth husband was a machinest. I'll never forget the day when he was brought hum on a board. I didn't recognize him. A belt had come off a pulley and hit him plum in the face, and spread his nose all over his countenance. I promised him on his dyin' bed that I'd never marry another machinest."

Just here the train rolled in, and the old lady asked:

"Child, what business is your lover in?"

"Insurance business."

"Oh, mercy! You don't mean to marry him! My sixth husband was an insurance—"

But the young woman had gone to meet her lover.

Romance in Real Life.

One of the most frequent habitues of Fifth avenue is an old Polish Count who has taken his daily stroll there for over twenty years. His story is as strange as any that the novelists invent. Twenty-eight years ago he was cast into prison for taking part in the Polish insurrection. He was betrothed to a young woman, and she visited him frequently in prison and cheered him with hopes of speedy release. Finally she proposed a measure that would insure his freedom. Money would be necessary, a great deal of it. He possessed considerable wealth, but owing to his situation could not command it. She suggested that if it were in her hands she could use it to get him out of prison. They would then leave the country together, marry, and be happy. His faith in her is strong. The property that was his became hers. Her influential friends were at work, she said, and he would be released very soon. One day her usual visit was not made. Another day passed, and another, and she did not come. A week passed, and the lonely prisoner then learned that he had been deceived. His beautiful intended bride had turned his property into cash and eloped with a man whom he had always regarded as a friend. A year afterward his prison doors opened, and he walked forth to freedom. A few brief inquiries satisfied him that the woman and her accomplice had made their way across the ocean. He determined to follow them, and came to New York. It was months before he got any trace of them. He then learned that they had gone westward, and went to St. Louis in pursuit. They had gone to New Orleans; he followed them. For over a year he continued the chase, visiting in turn almost every city in the United States, but never overtaking them. At last he returned to New York, and in less than a week he met them face to face in Broadway. He upbraided the woman and fiercely threatened the man. The upshot of all was a proposal from the latter that so shocked the Count that he turned away speechless. Said the scoundrel, in substance: "Take her now and marry her if you wish to. I don't want her any longer." The Count never saw them again. Two years later he heard of the woman's death by suicide, and he procured a decent burial for the body. What became of her companion he neither knew nor cared.—Buffalo Courier.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JUNE 30, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The Democratic Convention.

The platform adopted demands the unconditional repeal of the resumption act, and the adoption of such "a judicious system of preparation by public economies, by official retrenchments, and by wise finance, which shall enable the nation soon to assure the whole world of its perfect readiness to meet any of its promises at the call of the creditor entitled to payment." The hard-money men declare this a hard-money plank. Free trade is demanded, and "such legislation by Congress as shall prevent the further immigration or importation of the Mongolian race." [The Chinese-investigation plank in the republican platform savored strongly of demagogism, as an appeal to race prejudice for furthering political ends, but the democrats "saw" the republicans and went them ever-so-many better.] The platform also demands reform in the civil service, and that offices shall not "be a brief reward of party zeal instead of posts of honor assigned for proved competency and held for fidelity in the public employ." [Just the theory on which the democratic party has always acted, from the time of Andrew Jackson, of "To the victors belong the spoils" memory, down to the present democratic House of Representatives, which retained in office the competent and faithful incumbents found these, instead of replacing them with men whose only qualifications were that they had served "the party" well as confederate soldiers in the South or at caucuses in the North, and were anxious to make a little money. See cases of Fitzhugh, journal clerk Smith, and others.] The last plank in the platform is devoted to denunciation of official corruption, quite a number of republicans being referred to; but we fail to find any direct allusion to Sam. Randall, Fernando Wood, Schumaker, or other democrats. As a whole the platform is a brilliant example of how to talk loudly and earnestly without saying anything in particular, and might easily have been condensed as follows: "We are in favor of a return to specie payments but opposed to taking any measures to secure that end; we demand a tariff for revenue only, that American labor may be put on the same footing as the pauper labor of Europe; we demand that a Chinese wall shall be built around the United States—in the hope that our making such a demand will gain us votes on the Pacific coast; we denounce the republican party as being wholly corrupt, and frankly acknowledge that we, the democratic party, are patriotic, pure and entirely worthy of confidence."

A ballot was reached at a late hour, and the first vote showed that Tilden would be nominated. The second ballot was as follows:

Whole number of votes	738
Necessary to a choice	492
Tilden had	534
Hendricks	60
Allen	54
Parker	18
Hancock	59
Bayard	11
Thurman	2

And Tilden was declared the nominee of the convention. As it was after 8 o'clock P. M. when the decision was reached the convention adjourned to Thursday forenoon, when the ticket was completed by the choice of Mr. Hendricks as candidate for Vice President; so Tilden and Hendricks is the ticket which Hayes and Wheeler will have to run down. The democrats seem to be well satisfied with it, thinking—or professing to think—they can carry it to victory; and the republicans are satisfied with it, knowing they can beat it much more easily than they could have one with Gen. Hancock at its head. The Presidential campaign may now be considered fairly begun.

Political.

Morrissey is said to have been Tilden's ablest worker at St. Louis, and he and other Tilden men denounced the anti-Tilden men of New York as being of the Tweed and canal-ring class. The anti-Tildenites retorted by showing that the entire Brooklyn ring favored Tilden, two at least of the Tilden delegates being under indictment at the present time; while such men as Judge Sanford E. Church, Augustus Schell, Gov. Beach, Gen. Slocum, Erastus Corning and Chanceller Pruyn opposed Tilden on the ground that he is not a fitting man to be President. "It's a very pretty quarrel as it stands."

If Gov. Hayes, republican nominee for President, is such an insignificant person as some of the democratic papers affirm, who in heaven's name are Geo. H. Pendleton, Allen G. Thurman and William Allen? all of whom were defeated by him in a contest before the people.—Newburyport Herald.

Even the Springfield Republican seems to be going into the "bloody-shirt" business. It says there can be no doubt that politics in some Mississippi counties have run altogether too much to bullying, flogging, house burning and murder. Making all possible allowance for exaggeration, the disgraceful and deplorable fact remains that citizens, white and black, have been outraged, and in some cases killed, for their political opinions. As a rule, these criminal acts have been perpetrated by young men, barely out of their teens—with the sympathy, if not at the instigation, of a few old planters, whose losses have made them bitter and vindictive.

It is surprising how regularly it is "unknown parties from Mississippi" who hang negroes and shoot white republicans in Louisiana.

The Jewish Messenger sees in the Cincinnati nominations a hope for the nation. They give a new definition of availability to suit the times. The available man to-day is not the merely insignificant personage who is too contemptible to have open enemies, but the positively honest and upright statesman who has been tried and found faithful.

The attention of people who consider Samuel J. Tilden a sham reformer is invited to the following extract from an account given by a Post correspondent of what transpired at Mr. Tilden's residence when the news that he was nominated was received: "The Governor then drew four or five of those present about him, and in a tone scarcely above a whisper said: 'I can tell you what has been done. This nomination was not made by the leaders of the party; it was the people who made it; they want reform; they have wanted it a long while, and in looking about they have become convinced that it is to be found here' —pointing to himself."

Sunset Cox, in his speech to the delegates at St. Louis, said "the democratic party have no common contest in meeting the ticket of Hayes and Wheeler." He was right that time; but the contest will have the common ending of democratic contests against republican National tickets—the defeat of the democratic party.

It is an open question which contributed most toward the nomination of Tilden—his own efforts in the advertising line; the efforts of Hon. John Morrissey, gambling-hell proprietor, in favor of Tilden and true reform; or the bullying ruffianism of John Kelley and his crowd of Tammany roughs, in opposition. The democratic convention did a good thing in sitting down on Tammany, anyway; and in spite of its fierce resistance to Tilden's nomination, that infamously famous organization will no doubt promptly wheel into line to his support.

The republicans of the first Maine district nominated Hon. Thomas B. Reed of Portland for candidate for Representative to Congress on Thursday. Reed had 134 votes, Burleigh 113, Stone 8. The Burleigh men refused to make the nomination unanimous.

If all Gov. Cheney's appointments are so fortunate as is the selection of Hon. Charles H. Burns for Solicitor of Merrimack County there will be little if any cause for complaint. Mr. Burns is popular and able, and will conscientiously discharge the duties of the position. He is one of New Hampshire's coming men.

Surprise is a childish emotion. One who has watched the perditionward course of events in this country during the past fifteen years can be surprised at nothing. So we take the Cincinnati nominations for the head-thief-ship and second-fiddle villiancy of our republic as a matter of course, with no slinging-up of hands or popping out of eyes. Not the ticket we expected; neither man anticipated by the great masses who are to do the voting and pay the bills. Blaine, Morton, Conkling, Grant, any or all of them seemed more likely to be put forward than the two rather obscure and insignificant individuals upon whom the choice of the great bummer and rapscallion conventicle fell. And yet it will be a strong ticket, and hard to defeat, strong in its very obscurity; for prominence of late has only meant celebrity in crime, distinction in infamy. The post of honor has been the private station, and the very fact of a man's being unknown in public life argues him passably honest and decent. Rutherford B. Hayes, the white nigger nominee for Grant's old boots and dog-kennels, was born in Ohio in 1822. Began the practice of law in 1855. Commanded a brigade during the nigger-freeing crusade of Abrahamus Africanus. Served two terms in Congress without distinction. Beat Allen G. Thurman for Governor of Ohio, in 1867; Georgie Pendleton, in 1869; and Olebillallen in 1875. He was a brave soldier, whose record, so far as we have been able to ascertain, was stained by no brutalities or outrages; and he has made a very respectable Buckeye Governor, guilty of no penitentiary-meriting rascalities.—Danville (Va.) News.

The St. Louis correspondent of the New York Times gives the following graphic sketch of the assembled representatives of the democratic party at St. Louis: "Of course there are delegates here from Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine and other Eastern States, but they evidently feel ashamed of the company in which they find themselves, and they keep quietly within their own rooms, taking but little part in the disgraceful scenes which are being enacted by the representative democrats from the sections named. Could any fair-minded and unprejudiced man witness those scenes he would go away resolving to oppose everything democratic as the only means of preserving the respectability and upholding the honor of his country. Could there be some glass great enough and strong enough to let the people of the whole country see St. Louis as it is to-day there can be no doubt that there would not be fifty thousand respectable votes cast for the democratic ticket in the coming election. Much has been said in all parts of the world of the disorderly conduct of some of the negro legislatures of the South. It is true that some of the proceedings of the bodies referred to cannot be denounced too strongly, but it is equally true that even the worst of the negro assemblies of the South are quiet, orderly people and dignified compared to the meetings of the men who are now here attempting to nominate a man who, they profess to believe, can be elected to the Presidency of the United States."

Tilden's Platform.

"This nomination was not made by the leaders of the party. It was the people who made it. They want reform; they have wanted it a long while, and in looking about they have become convinced that it is to be found here" (pointing at himself.)

1776 OFFICIAL PROGRAMME. 1876

Celebration of the One Hundredth Anniversary of our National Independence, by the Citizens of Portsmouth,

JULY 4, 1876.

For the benefit of the people in this city and vicinity who are compelled to make arrangements for the approaching Fourth of July the General Committee now announce the following

PROGRAMME!

At 12 A. M., The Day will be ushered in by a huge bonfire of tar barrels on Market Square.

At sunrise the bells will be rung one hour and a national salute will be fired at the same time by the Portsmouth Light Artillery.

At 8:30 A. M.,

Grand Military, Civic and Firemen's

PROCESSION,

In Three Divisions,

Under command of Col. Jerome C. Butler as Chief Marshal, with Major M. T. Betton as Chief of Staff, Eldridge G. Pierce, Jr., Samuel C. Whittier and Charles A. Hazlett as Assistant Marshals, each having four mounted aids. The procession will form on Market Square promptly at 8:30 o'clock and be ready to march at 9, sharp. The procession promises to be an imposing one, and the organizations participating therein will be speedily announced by Chief Marshal Butler. The following is the

ROUTE OF THE PROCESSION.

Form on Market Square, right resting on Market Street; through Market, Deer, Vaughan, Congress, Islington, Union, Middle, to Haymarket Square, countermarch around the reservoir, thence to Austin, Cabot, State, Middle, Court, Pleasant, to South, countermarch around the flag-staff to Water, State, Middle and Congress streets to the Parade, where a hollow square will be formed.

At 10:30 (or about that time) the

Literary Exercises

Will take place from the decorated stand on the Square; James P. Bartlett acting as Master of Ceremonies, and will be in the following order:

Prayer.—Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D.

Reading of the Declaration of Independence.—R. H. Perkins, Principal of the Haven School.

Oration.—Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury.

Singing of "America" (first verse) by the people, led by the Bands.

Benediction.—Rev. Chas. A. Holbrook.

Immediately after the close of the exercises there will be ringing of bells and firing salutes for one hour.

At 12 o'clock, noon,

GRAND ROWING REGATTA

Under the direction of the Regatta Committee, will take place on the Piscataqua river. There will be races as follows:

1ST RACE. Four and Six-oared Boats, first prize $17; second prize $15.

For this contest the following entries have been made:

U. S. Receiving Ship "Sabine"—gig, six-oared, A. Schreiter, coxswain; commodore's barge, six-oared, John Pierce, coxswain. Crest, four-oared, Leiap boat-crew of Portsmouth.

2D RACE. Single scull, prize $10.

The following entrees have been made for this race:

"M. A. C.," entered by Arther W. Walker; "Snowflake," entered by Appleton Tredick.

3D RACE. Tub Race, Prize $10.

The books for this race are now open.

All the contests except the tub race will be from the Judge's stand off Concord Railroad Wharf to the stone beacon and return; distance, two miles. Boats in rounding the beacon will pass from starboard to port, and in returning pass between the Judges' stand and Concord Railroad Wharf. Any boat taking another boat's water, thereby causing a collision, will be ruled out. The rulings of the judges on all points will be final.

All entrees are free, and may be made to Charles A. Hazlett, Chairman Regatta Committee. The contestants already entered are so nearly matched that exciting contests are anticipated. One of the bands will be stationed on board a large launch moored in the river, and especially reserved for them.

At 3:30 P. M.,

GRAND Balloon Ascension,

From the field adjoining the Universalist Church. [Subject, if necessary, to change of location, which will be announced before July 4th.]

Mr. George S. Peduzzi of Brooklyn, N. Y., a son of Portsmouth, who has had long and practical experience in making ascensions will be the aeronaut, who will use his new and large Balloon City of Portsmouth, named in honor of his beloved home. This aerial ship requires 17,000 feet of gas to inflate it, which operation will be an additional attraction for the multitude present to witness.

The balloon ascension and all its attendant features will, if the weather permits be a great attraction of the occasion.

At 5:30 P. M., another clanging of bells and salvos of artillery, continuing one hour.

At 7 P. M.,

Grand Military Review

AND DRESS PARADE, on Market Square

and Congress Street, participated in by the United States Marine Corps, two full companies of Boys from the U. S. Instruction Ship "Sabine," Portsmouth Heavy Artillery, Portsmouth Light Artillery, City Guard, the Veterans, and all the other organizations including the musical corps which took part in the morning parade.

GRAND BAND CONCERTS,

At 8 P. M.

to be participated in by the Marine Band, stationed on the Parade, Rye Cornet Band, stationed at Franklin Hall, Kearsarge Drum Corps near City Rooms.

The concert will be under the musical direction of Mr. Henry L. Harlow, the organizations playing alternately.

At 9 P. M., Grand Finale, in a

Display of Fireworks,

from a tall stand on Market Square. There will be a fine illumination of the Square with Bengolas and Colored Fires, repeated at intervals.

No. 1, Star and Sun;
2, Cascade;
3, Motto with Halo;
4, Palm Tree;
5, Yew Tree;
6, Japanese Glory;
7, Chinese Fan;
8, Polka Dance;

NOTICE.

Having my warehouse (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work, to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of

Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!

I also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

Daily Chronicle.

A PRAYER.

[It is probably not generally known that the familiar hymn given below at first appeared in the Gospel Messenger, March, 1776, just one hundred years ago. The author, Augustus Montague Toplady, was the editor of the Messenger and son of Richard Toplady, a major in the British Army. He was born in 1740, took orders in 1762, and was vicar of Bradhambury from 1768 till his death in 1778. The hymn is appropriate from its merits as well as the accident of its age for centennial occasions:]

Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee!
Let the water and the blood,
From Thy riven side which flow'd,
Be of sin the double cure,
Cleanse me from its guilt and power.

Not the labor of my hands
Can fulfil Thy law's demands;
Could my zeal no respite know,
Could my tears forever flow,
All for sin could not atone,—
Thou must save, and Thou alone.

Nothing in my hand I bring;
Simply to Thy cross I cling;
Naked, come to Thee for dress;
Helpless, look to Thee for grace;
Foul, I to the Fountain fly,—
Wash me, Saviour, or I die.

Whilst I draw this fleeting breath;
When my eyelids close in death;*
When I soar through tracks unknown,
See Thee on Thy judgment throne,—
Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee!

*Originally, "When my eye-strings break in death."

Answers to Correspondents.

In answer to "Alphabetical," in your last issue, for a remedy for consumption in its first stages, I can recommend Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," if taken according to directions, for it has been thoroughly tried in my family, and the results were glorious. "Alphabetical" must not expect one bottle to do the work—my wife took three bottles before she could discover any change, but after the third bottle every dose seemed to strengthen the lungs, and now she is well and hearty. If "Alphabetical" will write to me I will get witnesses to the above.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

MAGIC
CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and write you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 19, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism now in his joints. Would him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was too far gone to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMONICE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMONICE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England;

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not know ing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

—AND—

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Jottings.

In the year 1631, Humphrey Chadborn built a house near the bank of the river, and about three miles from its mouth. The site of this house is what is now known as the southeast corner of Court and Water streets. This house was also a part of Mason's property, and was the second house built in New Hampshire. It may also be called the commencement of Portsmouth. The site of the house, and building thereon, are now owned by Mr. Jeremiah D. Goodrich.

The official programme for the celebration of the Fourth of July is printed in another column. A good time is arranged for and if the weather is favorable will no doubt be had. The balloon ascension will be a novelty to many, and will draw a big crowd of spectators.

The Portsmouth CHRONICLE is sorely vexed because the steamer Mystic is to engage in business for Dover parties without being compelled to unship and reship cargoes at Portsmouth for the benefit of the stagnant business of that city as has been the practice heretofore. In the future our coal will be shipped straight through to Dover without paying wharfage fees and other exorbitant charges to Portsmouth.—Dover Democrat.

The democrats of this city fired a salute over the nomination of Hon. John Morrissey's candidate for President, Thursday night. They also had a bonfire on Market Square. There was a good deal of gunfiring, cheering and "spontaneous" enthusiasm generally, when Greely and Brown were nominated; but we have forgotten all about what jollification followed their inauguration.

Workmen were engaged in preparations for setting up a drinking fountain in front of the Post-office, Thursday. It is not often the suggestion of a needed improvement is so quickly followed by the want being supplied, in this city.

P. T. Barnum's "new and greatest show on earth" will appear here Friday, July 14th. Mr. Barnum's palace advertising car will be here to-day with a corps of bill posters to illuminate the show boards. Mr. Charles Stow, the general press agent, is a veteran in the newspaper line.

One of our democratic citizens of the Irish persuasion enthused so copiously over the nomination of Mr. Morrissey's candidate that he threw his coat and hat in the bonfire on Market square, Thursday evening.

A fine double arch across Congress street, from Betton & Co's to Preston's, will be one of the attractions of the Fourth. It will be paid for entirely by private subscriptions among the storekeepers of the immediate vicinity.

There was a runaway and smash-up on State street, Thursday, by which a buggy and picket fence were somewhat demoralized. Nobody hurt but the horse, and he not badly.

The banner presentation, Wednesday evening, to the Portsmouth Reform Club by the Woman's Temperance League, was a very interesting occasion. The banner, which was made in Boston, is a very elegant affair.

The celebrated Georgia Minstrels will present, on the 4th of July, at the Temple, the same programme which was recently listened to in Philadelphia by the Centennial Commissioners from Sweden, Spain, France and Japan, and many other eminent persons. This is the company that has been so liberally commended by Garrison, Barnum, Holmes and others.

Capt. Frank D. Mudd, of Hampton, master of the schooner "Little Dorritt," owned in that town, came near losing his life at Hampton Beach, Wednesday. He was out in a dory and when about a half-mile from shore his boat capsized, throwing him into the water. He was seen to make several attempts to grasp the boat, but was unable to do so. A boat put off to his rescue, and reached the spot just in season to catch him as he was going down for the third time. He was insensible and remained so for a considerable time after being conveyed to the land.

A fire at Kittery Point, Thursday morning, destroyed the house of Mr. Thomas J. Billings, together with its contents, only a sewing machine being saved. Loss about $3000. The house was insured $1000. Mr. Billings is a watchman at the navy yard, and was there on duty at the time. The residence of Mr. Safford, adjoining, was scorched a little. The cause of the fire is unknown.

News and Notes.

Marshall Mitchell was killed and Deputy Turner fatally wounded at Huntington, West Virginia, June 27th, while attempting to arrest a horse thief. The latter was subsequently arrested, and the citizens were threatening lynch law.

Harriett Martineau, the authoress, died on June 27th at "The Knoll," Ambleside, Westmoreland county, England, aged 74 years.

The stockholders of the Underhill Edge Tool Company of Nashua have elected the following officers: Directors, N. M. Goodrich, G. W. Underhill, J. L. Pierce, J. G. Kimball, Nashua; R. A. Richards, Boston; Clerk and Treasurer, C. B. Hill.

Four cows were struck dead by lightning on the farm of P. J. Cogger of Pelham, while grazing under a tree, June 28th. A subscription is being raised to make his loss good.

Two bills have been introduced in the Legislature, and ordered to a second reading, which are of a similar import, and which provide for a revision of the Constitution of the State. The convention for said revision is to be composed of delegates who are to be elected in the several cities and towns on the day of the Presidential election. The Convention is expected to sit at Concord on the first Wednesday in December.

The house, barn and outbuildings of J. L. Chamberlin in Derry, were struck by lightning June 28, and entirely destroyed by fire; fully insured; loss about $3000.

The farm buildings of Samuel Maxfield, situated in Springfield, together with their contents, were destroyed by fire June 28. Loss not reported; insured in a Vermont company.

Friday a Lucky Day.

Mr. Hayes has reason to congratulate himself upon the day of the week on which he was nominated. Friday is regarded by some vulgar people as an unlucky day, whereas—for Americans, at least—it has proved itself to be the most fortunate of the seven. It was on Friday, the 3d day of August, 1492, that Columbus sailed from the harbor of Palos for the New World. It was on Friday, the 12th of October, 1492, that he first saw the land, after sixty-five days of navigation. It was on Friday, the 4th day of January, 1493, that he started on his return to Spain, to announce to their Catholic Majesties the glorious result of his expedition, and on Friday, the 15th of March, 1493, that he disembarked in Andalusia. It was on Friday, the 13th of June, 1494, that he discovered the American Continent. On Friday, March 5, 1497, Henry VII., of England, gave to John Cabot his despatch for the voyage which resulted in the discovery of the continent of North America. On Friday, September 6, 1565, Mendez founded St. Augustine, the oldest town in the United States. On Friday, November 10, 1620, the Mayflower first disembarked a few emigrants on American soil at Provincetown, and on Friday, December 22, 1620, her passengers finally landed at Plymouth Rock. It was on Friday, February 22, 1732, that George Washington was born. It was on Friday, June 16, 1775, that the battle of Bunker Hill was fought, and on Friday, Oct 7, 1777, that the surrender of Saratoga took place, which event decided France to give her aid to the Americans. The treason of Arnold was discovered on Friday. Yorktown surrendered on Friday, and on Friday, June 7, 1776, Richard Henry Lee read the Declaration of Independence to the Continental Congress. It will be seen that Mr. Hayes has no reason to fear ill-luck in his canvass on account of the day of his nomination. On the contrary, he could not have selected a day for the event which could promise so auspiciously for the issue of the campaign.—Chicago Times.

A Judge's Refresher.

A good story, and a true one, is told of the venerable judicial mill, Judge Humphreys. The other day, holding the Circuit Court, old Pump grew weary of the endless tongues of attorneys, and calling to a bailiff, said, huskily, "Go over to the Hole in-the-Wall and bring me a drink of whiskey."

The bailiff disappeared and reappeared shortly with an inch and a half of corn-juice in a glass, enough for any Christian man, but not a sufficiency for an Alabama judiciary system.

"Go back," trebled the Judge, "go back and tell Hagerty to send me a drink—a drink of whisky."

The bailiff disappeared again, and reappeared a second time with a tumbler brimming full.

"Ah!" said the wearer of ermine, "that now is a drink. But what," wiping his lips with the cuff of his coat, "what did he say?"

"Oh, he didn't say anything, your Honor," answered the bailiff, blushing.

"Oh, yes, he must have made some remark; now what did he say?"

"Well, I don't like to tell you, sah, your Honor."

"Go on and tell me exactly what he said," demanded old Pump.

"Well, sah, your Honor, he said, I sent him a drink of whisky at first; I didn't know that the cussed old fool wanted to take a bath!"

"Hem, hem, go on with the examination of your witness," sighed the Judge to the attorney for the plaintiff, and the bailiff slunk into the back room and butted his head against the wall till he knocked a dollar's worth of plaster off.—Pittsburgh Leader.

—"And Sheridan twenty miles away," sang Philip, at an early hour one morning, holding the baby closely and rocking pretty good time to the music. Just then the baby squalled, and Philip paused and nervously remarked, looking ferociously at the little thing, "By Jove! I wish I was."

—Two sharpers on 'change were discussing the merits of a third. "Yes," said one of them, winding up the conversation, "he'd rather lie on sixty days' time than tell the truth for cash."

—A lazy fellow, falling a distance of fifty feet and escaping with only a few scratches, a bystander remarked that he was "too slow to fall fast enough to hurt himself."

—A Black Hills refu[illegible] came dashing in to Fort Laramie recent[illegible] a hatchet sticking into [illegible] the soldiers broke the h[illegible] it out.

—A man has invented a shoe sole that will not squeak. It is made of dried apples, and in wet weather it gets thicker on its own account.

—How can a man who has no wings be said to be "winged" in an "affair of honor?" Because in going to fight a duel he makes a goose of himself.

Keep the Liver Active.

The above is a sound health maxim. In order that the functions of digestion, evacuation and secretion shall be discharged with that degree of regularity and vigor which is essential to the well being of both body and mind, the liver, upon whose activity they are dependent for their due performance, must be kept in good working order. Calomel and blue pills, besides being hurtful mineral drugs, only partially and temporarily rectify disorders or sluggishness of the great biliary gland. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the contrary, accomplish thoroughly what the above medicines fail in doing, and are besides a safe as well as potent remedy for disorders of the stomach, bowels and organs of urination, as well as an unequalled general invigorant. They are, moreover, a sterling antidote to malaria.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of house, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or th ow them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contes of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stoves over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any seller of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall [illegible] any person within [illegible] small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 12. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen or the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flats or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a cuelbated English receipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

A QUAKER'S FIGHT.

Early in the summer of 1754, the good ship Grampus left the harbor of Nantucket, bound for London, with a cargo of oil. She was a new ship, built after the most improved models, staunch and trim, and, for those days, of great speed. Her owner, Jethro Coffin, a near relative of the English Admiral of that name, was on board; and she was commanded by Seth Macy, a friend and companion of Jethro from boyhood. These two men, as well as most of the crew, were Quakers. But the greater part of Seth's life had been spent on the high seas, and his experience in ill-governed Spanish ports and among savage islanders had taught him that though non-resistance did very well on Nantucket, it was neither a safe nor easy road to travel anywhere else; and while the Grampus was loading for her voyage he had urged Jethro to arm her with six-pounders; for England was at the time at war with France, and of course the colonies were dragged into it also. But Jethro, true to his principles, rejected the proposal with righteous indignation, and they set sail, much to Seth's disgust, armed only with lances and harpoons for warfare with whales, in search of which they were to proceed, after disposing of their cargo in London.

They had accomplished about two-thirds of their voyage, and the ship being under easy sail, some of the men were lounging about the deck, and some were gathered on the forecastle listening to a yarn from a man-of-war's-man who had been in the English navy.

"Forward, there!" shouted the first mate, who had been sweeping the horizon with his glass.

"Ay, ay!" answered the men readily; and the marvelous story was cut short.

"Jump aloft, one of you who has good eyes," continued he, "and tell me what you make out of that craft with such a raking look on our weather bow!"

"Ay, ay," and several men sprang aloft.

"Main-top-gallant, there!" hailed the mate.

"Ay, ay," replied the man with the glass. (The Quakers did not use the affix, sir, in addressing their officers; every man, high or low, was called by his given name, and titles of all kinds were eschewed from religious principle.)

"What sort of a craft is to windward, and how is she standing?" cried the mate.

"It is a small, black schooner, all legs and arms," replied the sailor; "and she is bearing down for us under a press of sail! Now she runs up a flag, and by the flash and smoke she spits she has just fired a gun."

A dull, heavy report came booming on the breeze, and a thundering sound echoed against the ship's side. The mate's glass was bent upon the schooner, whose hull was not yet visible, but the flag was found to be French.

"Steward! call the captain!" cried the mate in alarm. "Forward there! call all hands on deck—stand by to put the ship about!"

"Ay, ay," responded the well-trained sailors, and every man stood at his post ready for prompt action. Both Macy and Coffin appeared upon deck, wondering at being sent for, and surprised to find every man ready for the word of command to change the course of the ship.

"What does this mean?" asked the captain; "why dost thou change the ship's course?"

"I don't intend to without thy orders," said the mate, "but I thought best to have everything ready for maneuvering. We have a suspicious-looking craft on our weather bow, and she shows French colors. By the rake of her masts and her general rig, I think she's a clipper, with a long-tom amidships; she has given us a gun already."

"Rather a dangerous neighbor for us," said the captain, "and I think she will prove one of those piratical rascals that cut up the commerce of these seas; but keep the ship away," continued he, "and see if she follows us."

Away went the Grampus, with a free wind and the rush of a race-horse, turning the spray from her bows handsomely, on her altered course. The Frenchman changed also, and gained steadily upon her. The ship was deeply laden with oil, and would be a prize of great value, and, as Seth thought, was eminently worth preserving, though the Frenchman was determined she should change owners. They managed their little craft with great skill, altering their course with Macy's and gaining all the time. The breeze was only brisk, but it just suited the schooner, while the ship, though the fleetest of her class, couldn't show her heels to advantage unless in a stronger wind. Macy tried her on every tack, but escape he could not; the wedge-like schooner gained upon him at every turn.

"Now, I would give half our cargo for a few guns to speak to that saucy rascal in his own language," said Macy, turning bitterly to Jethro. "Now is the time for those six-pounders I urged thee about before we left port; I fear thou will pay dearly for not taking my advice. Ah! there comes salute number two."

A gun was again fired by the Frenchman across the bow of the Grampus, warning her to heave to. Macy paced the deck in an agony of spirit, muttering words as he [illegible] sounded much like oaths. He [illegible] Grampus to be swung off two of [illegible] points, and a fo[illegible] sail set, but, in the hurry [illegible] by some mishap the tack [illegible] above. A couple of hands were ordered aloft to rig in the boom and reeve the tack anew.

Isaac Coffin, son of Jethro, who had smuggled himself on board against his father's express orders, and who had hardly made his peace with him yet, heard the orders, and seizing the end of the rope with his teeth, ran up the fore-shrouds like a monkey, and then out on the bare boom. But before he had half done his task, the Frenchmen brought their long-tom, charged with small shot, to bear upon the yard, and let fly at Isaac, thinking, probably, the additional sail might enable the Grampus to escape. Young Coffin was unharmed, though the balls whistled about him like hail, and he went fearlessly on with his work.

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1861, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The Platforms.

The platforms adopted at Cincinnati and St. Louis both contain more words than are necessary; but while the republican platform talks directly at most of the subjects referred to the democratic platform skillfully talks all around most of them. Thus the republican platform plainly declares that the United States are a nation; while the democratic one, though it contains a mass of hifalutin phrases regarding the devotion of the democratic party to the Constitution with its amendments, and speaks of the Union as having been "happily rescued from the danger of a secession of States," contains nothing to conflict with the most ultra State rights theory. Possibly anything stronger would have been hardly courteous to the temporary president of the convention, Col. Henry Watterson, late of the rebel army.

On "reform" the democrats do certainly come out strong; but a platform has need to be strong in that part when a "reformer" who owes his nomination very largely to John Morrissey and Ben Wood—aided somewhat by judicious and persistent advertising—is to stand upon it.

In denunciation of their opponents the democrats are far ahead of the republicans; but that was to have been expected, for the republicans had no need to say anything at all against the democratic party—its own record condemned it long ago.

On the financial question the republican platform is for advancing toward specie payments; the democratic one is for advancing in the same direction by going the other way,—demands the repeal of the resumption act, has over a lot of high-sounding but meaningless twaddle,—and that is all their financial plank amounts to.

The demagogue was around in both conventions when the Chinese question was considered, but the democrats surrendered to him unconditionally while the republicans fought comparatively shy of him—not being so used to having him in their councils as the democrats are. The republicans decided that John Chinaman should be inquired about, as to his incomings and outgoings; the democrats squarely demanded that Congress "prevent the further importation or immigration of the Mongolian race." The mild squint of the republican convention toward demagogism in this matter excited the ire (it disgusted us) of the democratic press of this section, and led every democratic paper in this State, we believe, to publish the following items:

Then.

"All men are created free and equal."—[Declaration of Independence, Philadelphia, July 5th, 1776.]

Now.

Resolved, That the Heathen Chinee have no rights which the American people are bound to respect.—(National republican convention, Cincinnati, June 15th, 1876.)

As the democratic convention at St. Louis boldly asserted much more than the republican convention even hinted at on the subject, we suggest to our democratic brethren that it would be a good thing if they would republish the above extracts, and add whatever they think proper concerning their own party's ideas of the Heathen Chinee!

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 28.

The indifference observed here relative to the action of the St. Louis convention.—the Tilden wing led by that unique reformer, John Morrissey, who it is generally believed has bought up several State delegations in the interests of reform and with a view to the purification of politics, and the anti-Tilden wing under the leadership of "Boss" Kelly, autocrat of Tammany, which has produced such specimens of honest statesmen as Tweed, Connolley, Sweeny, Garvey, Genett, Watson and scores of others of that type,—is probably due to the g[illegible] ing of unbelief in a dem[illegible] Fall, and because the [illegible] woman and child, sufficiently old to interest itself in State matters, are absorbed by a contemplation of the perils now threatening the nation through a failure of the appropriations necessary to continue the functions of the Government, and to the peculiarly distressing effect such a failure will have upon most of the residents of this District.

The cheering assurances last week from semi-authoritative sources that a compromise upon the appropriation bills was almost assured, have given place to an apparently well-founded belief that the House has stubbornly determined to neither recede one particle from the arrogant position taken, nor to act favorably upon the suggestions of the President relative to the passage of a joint resolution continuing in force the present appropriations until such time as an adjustment of the present deadlock between the House and Senate should render available the proposed appropriations for the next fiscal year. The Senate has manifested a disposition to accede to the reductions of force proposed by the House, when they have appeared compatible with the best interests of the Government, and in other ways shown its desire to co-operate in the interests of economy. But the House declares by its action that unless all the unjust reductions of force and pay, and all the irrelevent, absurd and in many cases nationally hostile legislation that has been tacked on to the various appropriation bills are concurred in by the Senate, no appropriations at all shall be granted. It is well to remember another feature of the matter, showing quite as convincingly the spirit of rebel democratic hate and revenge, animating these ex-confederates and their abettors in their determination to cripple and to finally seize the Government. Seven months have elapsed since the assembling of Congress, and all that time up to a very recent period, the appropriation bills have been delayed and held back, and then sent to the Senate only a few days before the close of the year,—allowing only a few days for the consideration and disposition of bills that have engaged the attention of the House for a hundred and fifty or two hundred days!

Reports of disagreement from most of the conference committees having the bills under consideration, have been made within a day or two, and new committees appointed, but there is very little expectation now that the appropriations will be available on the first of July; and the important business of a whole session, which has been crowded into the two weeks preceding the close of the year, has been deserted by many of the democratic Representatives and Senators, who are absent at St. Louis plotting a partisan victory next November and a distribution of the "swag" for which they have wrought so zealously the present session.

The army bill has passed the Senate, so amended as to provide for the present force, —25,000, as against 22,000 proposed by the House,—and for the restoration of officers' pay to the old rates. It increases the appropriation about $3,000,000—to about the figures named in Secreatary Taft's amended estimate.

Mr. McCrary of Iowa has introduced a resolution into the House which fittingly inquires if private telegrams were recently brought here by the thousands from a New York junk shop on the order of a democratic committee. It was done with the hope that they might contain evidence upon which to convict some republican official. A more indecent disregard of the rights of private citizens has not been furnished by our reformers this winter, than was presented by this seizure.

Several vain attempts to repeal the resumption act have been made during the week past; but further efforts in that direction will now depend upon the action of the St. Louis convention. MAXWELL.

Political.

"I owe my success to judicious and persistent advertising."—Samuel J. Tilden.

Tilden and Hendricks seem to "take" fairly with the democrats in the Eastern States—where the democratic party won't get an electoral vote—but the nominations fall terribly flat in the West. Dan. Voorhees, who denounced Tilden as "a railroad pirate and jobber and mock reformer" before the convention, don't hanker after boiled crow, but can make out to eat it. Congressman Landers is so mad that he threatens to take the stump in Indiana against Tilden. "Boss" Kelly, of Tammany Hall, will co-operate with John Morrissey, gambling-hell proprietor and apostle of true "reform," to elect the latter's nominee. The democrats of Ohio concede that State to the republicans by a majority anywhere from twenty to fifty thousand.

The Worcester Spy reminds voters who are inclined to be independent, that this is the same Tilden who was Chairman of the New York democratic State Committee during the whole of Tweed's shameless career of political fraud and personal corruption, who accepted and gave receipts to his "dear Tweed" for thousands of dollars which he knew had been stolen, and used the money for party purposes by methods as corrupt as the source from which it came.

Mr. Hendricks, the democratic candidate for Vice President, is a hard-money man; but his hard-money principles were not hard enough to keep him from stumping Ohio for Olbillallen and inflation during the campaign in which Allen had the honor of being beaten by the next President of the United States. The Worcester Spy expresses it, "Hendricks is a man who has cultivated assiduously the art of sitting on a fence with grace, and of saying nothing with eloquence."

The real strength of Tilden lies out of sight. It is his shrewdness and indefatigability as a political worker. He leaves not a stone unturned, not a wire unpulled, to [illegible] his ends, and unless his advantage [illegible] his way is taken into account, all political calculations will be very faulty. His strength, however, is probably rated today at at least its full value by both parties. Worcester Press.

The Boston Globe says of Tilden: We have heretofore expressed the opinion, based on his past record, that he is a reformer not from character or principle, but from expediency.

Tilden is a true reformer—says so himself.

The republicans of Boston held a large and enthusiastic ratification meeting in Faneuil Hall on Thursday evening. Dana, Hoar, Chadbourne, Loring, Clarke and others addressed the meeting. Judge Hoar said that with all the excitement at Cincinnati he did not hear an unkind word spoken nor see a drunken man, and wondered whether the St. Louis delegates could truthfully say the same.

"The democratic Cincinnati Enquirer says: The nomination will fall heavily upon Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and other Western States. There will be a revulsion all along the centre; for the party in its wisdom has virtually abandoned these States. We prefer Tilden to Hayes, and shall advise the democratic organizations to stand by the nominees." The Enquirer strongly opposed Tilden's nomination, and before it was made published a number of articles very damaging to his reputation as a genuine reformer, —some of which will no doubt be reprinted now by the republican papers.

"He who by his biz would rise, must either bust or advertise."—S. J. Tilden.

The "Boss" Hesing of Chicago, who has been sentenced to pay a fine of $5,000 and to be imprisoned in jail for two years for conspiring with certain distillers to defraud the Government, is a "Liberal Reformer." He went off with Carl Schurz in 1872, and contributed all he could to the purification of the republican party, by leaving it.

We are happy to say that the rumor that B. Gratz Brown had come out in favor of Hayes and Wheeler is unfounded. We wish we could say the same of Warmoth, the liberal-republican-democratic reformer of Louisiana; but unfortunately he has flopped over once more.

Prof. Seelye says: On the whole I don't think Tilden can win. There are many considerations to be taken into account. It is perfectly well known that he was hand-in-glove with Boss Tweed in his political corruption, and that he profited by his association with Tweed. I think that the anti-Roman-Catholic sentiment is going to have a great deal of influence upon this campaign. It is a question how this will affect Mr. Tilden. In Ohio last year the free schools agitation was the real cause of Mr. Hayes' success, and it is likely that the same influence will work strongly in his favor as a presidential candidate. Mr. Tilden signed the "Gray Nuns' bill" in New York two years ago, which was so unpopular a measure that he was obliged to go in for its repeal this year to save his party from defeat. John Kelly is the leader of the Roman Catholic element in New York, and may do Tilden great damage.

Gen. Tom Ewing is terribly disgruntled at Tilden's nomination, and declares that Hayes can beat him "without sitting upright." Dan Voorhees declared before the convention that he would stump Indiana for the republicans if Tilden was nominated; he hasn't commenced it yet, and probably won't; the "tall sycamore of the Wabash" knows what it is to eat crow.

OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.

Celebration of the One Hundredth Anniversary of our National Independence, by the Citizens of Portsmouth,

JULY 4, 1876.

For the benefit of the people in this city and vicinity who are compelled to make arrangements for the approaching Fourth of July the General Committee now announce the following

PROGRAMME.

At 12 A. M., The Day will be ushered in by a huge bonfire of tar barrels on Market Square.

At sunrise the bells will be rung one hour and a national salute will be fired at the same time by the Portsmouth Light Artillery.

At 8:30 A. M.,

Grand Military, Civic and Firemen's

PROCESSIO[illegible],

In Three Divisions,

Under command of Col. Jerome C. Butler as Chief Marshal, with Major M. T. Betton as Chief of Staff, Elbridge G. Pierce, Jr., Samuel C. Whittier and Charles A. Hazlett as Assistant Marshals, each having four mounted aides. The procession will form on Market Square promptly at 8:30 o'clock and be ready to march at 9, sharp. The procession promises to be an imposing one, and the organizations participating therein will be speedily announced by Chief Marshal Butler. The following is the

ROUTE OF THE PROCESSION.

Form on Market Square, right resting on Market Street; through Market, Deer, Vaughan, Congress, Islington, Union, Middle, to Haymarket Square, countermarch around the reservoir, thence main, Pabot, State, Middle, Court, Pleasant, to Bath, countermarch around the flag-staff to Water, state, Middle and Congress streets to the Parade, where a hollow square will be formed.

At 10:30 (or about that time) the

Literary Exercises

Will take place from the decorated stand on the Square; James P. Bartlett acting as Master of ceremonies, and will be in the following order:

Prayer,—Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D.
Reading of the Declaration of Independence,—R. H. Perkins, Principal of the Haven School.
Oration,—Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury.
Singing of "America" (first verse) by the people, led by the Bands.
Benediction,—Rev. Chas. A. Holbrook.

Immediately after the close of the exercises there will be ringing of bells and firing salutes for one hour.

At 12 o'clock, noon,

GRAND ROWING REGATTA

Under the direction of the Regatta Committee will take place on the Piscataqua river. There will be races as follows:

1ST RACE. Four and Six-oared Boats, first prize $17; second prize $15.

For this contest the following entries have been made:

U. S. Receiving Ship "Sabine"—gig, sixoared, A. Schreiter, coxswain; commodore's barge, six-oared, John Pierce, coxswain. Crest, fourared, Lelap boat-crew of Portsmouth.

2D RACE. Single scull, prize $10.

The following entrees have been made for this race:

"M. A. C.," entered by Arther W. Walker; "Snowflake," entered by Appleton Tredick.

3D RACE. Tub Race, Prize $10.

The books for this race are now open.

All the contests except the tub race will start from the Judge's stand off Concord Railroad wharf to the stone beacon and return; distance, two miles. Boats in rounding the beacon will pass from starboard to port, and in returning pass between the judges' stand and Concord Railroad Wharf. Any boat taking another boat's water, thereby using a collision, will be ruled out. The ruling of the judges on all points will be final.

All entrees are free, and may be made to Charles A. Hazlett, Chairman Regatta Committee. The contestants already entered are so nearly matched that exciting contests are anticipated. One of the bands will be stationed on board a large launch moored in the river, and especially reserved for them.

At 3:30 P. M.,

GRAND Balloon Ascension,

From the field adjoining the Universalist Church. [Subject, if necessary, to change of location which will be announced before July 4th.]

Mr. George S. Feduzzi of Brooklyn, N. Y., a son of Portsmouth, who has had long and practical experience in making ascensions with balloons, aeronaut, who will use his new and large balloon The City of Portsmouth, named in honor of his native home. This aerial ship requires 17,000 feet of gas to inflate it, which operation will be an additional attraction for the multitude present to witness.

The balloon ascension and all its attendant features will, if the weather permits be a great attraction of the occasion.

At 5:30 P. M., another clanging of bells and salvos of artillery, continuing one hour.

At 7 P. M.,

Grand Military Review

AND DRESS PARADE, on Market Square and Congress Street, participated in by the United States Marine Corps, two full companies of [illegible] from the U. S. NOTICE.

Having my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work, to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of

The members of the Reform Club who went from this city to Concord on the 29th, to take part in the grand temperance mass meeting, returned strongly enthused. Wendell Phillips, John B. Gough and J. K. Osgood made eloquent and telling speeches. A bad concert took place in the evening from 7 o'clock to 8, and at 8 o'clock there was a torchlight procession in which the different reform clubs joined. The procession marched through the principal streets of the city to State House park, where a brilliant display of fireworks took place and the ball was dismissed. In the business portion of the city the principal buildings were brilliantly illuminated, as were many of the private dwellings along the route of the procession. A dense crowd of spectators lined the sidewalks, and the passage of the procession through Main street was the continuous ovation, rockets and Roman candles being freely discharged and adding brilliancy to the scene. The club returned home at a late hour by special train.

The saw yell shuts down to-day.

The Reform Club will hold its regular praise meeting on Sunday morning at Rockabill Hall, to which all are invited. On Sunday evening, a crowded hall is expected. The speaking will be from local speakers, full of inspiration gathered from the fire of Phillips and Gough at Concord on Thursday. But few (comparatively) of the Club attended the temperance mass meeting at Concord, but those who did go were affected as camp-meeting followers are filled with the fervor and spirit of their annual gatherings.

Services appropriate to the National Anniversary will be held at the South Parish on Sunday morning.

News and Notes.

The House on Friday,—the last day of the fiscal year,—unanimously passed the bill authorizing the use of the unexpected balances to pay bounties days from July 1.

The American Linen Company's mill at Fall River was damaged by fire to the amount of $250,000 or more, Thursday evening. The attic and upper two floors were destroyed and great damage done by water. The mills insured to the amount of $400,000. One thousand working people were thrown out of employment by the fire.

Eliza J. Page, the Chelsea, Me., wife murderer, who was committed to the insane hospital at Augusta on a plea of insanity, was drowned on Thursday while trying to escape from a hay field in which he was working, by swimming the Kennebec river. The doctor of the hospital is satisfied Page was sane.

Thomas Scally, sixteen years old, died in Manchester Thursday night from the effects of drinking iced water.

The centennial of the battle of Fort Moultrie was celebrated at Charleston, S. C., on the 28th with a grand military parade, speeches, bouquets, etc. A company of soldiers from Massachusetts was in the line.

Cholera is reported as having commenced war with Turkey. The Bulgarian insurgents have issued a declaration of independence. Herzegovina and Bosnia are defiant as ever. A general war is apparently inevitable.

A man has pleaded guilty to sending through the mails circulars offering to sell counterfeit fractional currency, before a United States court at Bangor, Me. Two men are to be tried for sending money in answer to his circular.

Milo Peas, a prominent citizen of Newton, Mass., and a church member, has been complained of for horsewhipping his eighteen-year-old daughter most brutally, about the head, face and neck. The girl's mother is dead, but her father has a second wife, and this is said to have caused the trouble.

Magnanimous Conqueror.

We cannot give any authority for the truth of the following story, neither can we tell the name of the king whose valor and generosity are so strikingly illustrated. It is a pity that the possessor of such sterling qualities could not have his name recorded in the annals of fame. Long ages ago, says the story, in times so remote that history does not fix the epoch, a dreadful war was waged between the King of Cornwall and the King of Scotland. Scottish valor prevailed, and the King of Cornwall was defeated. The Scottish monarch, elated by success, sent for his prime minister, Lord Alexander. "Weel, Sandy," said he, "is there ae thing we can conquer noo?" "An' please your Majesty, I ken but o' one king that your Majesty canna vanquish." "And whaur is he, Sandy?" Lord Alexander, reverently looking up, said, "The King of Heaven." "The King of whaur, Sandy?" "The King of Heaven." The Scottish king did not understand, but was unwilling to display any ignorance. "Just sang yer ways, Sandy, and tell the King o' Heaven to gie up his dominions, or I'll come mysel' and ding him oot of them; and Sandy, Sandy, ye inna come back till us until ye hae done our bidden." Lord Alexander retired much perplexed, but met a priest, and reassured, returned and presented himself. "Weel, Sandy," said the King, "hae ye seen the King of Heaven, and what says he to our bidden?" "And it please your Majesty, I hae no seen the King himself, but I hae seen one of his accredited ministers." "Weel, and what says he?" "He says your Majesty may o'en hae his kingdom for the asking o't." "Was he sae civil?" says the king, warmed to magnanimity. "Just gang yer ways back, Sandy, and tell the King of Heaven that for his civility the de'il a Scotsman shall ever set foot in his kingdom!"—Scottish American Journal.

Keep the Liver Active.

The above is a sound health maxim. In order that the functions of digestion, evacuation and secretion shall be discharged with that degree of regularity and vigor which is essential to the well being of both body and mind, the liver, upon whose activity they are dependent for their due performance, must be kept in good working order. Calomel and blue pills, besides being hurtful mineral drugs, only partially and temporarily rectify disorders or sluggishness of the great biliary gland. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the contrary, accomplish thoroughly what the above medicines fail in doing, and are besides a safe as well as potent remedy for disorders of the stomach, bowels and organs of urination, as well as an unequalled general invigorant. They are, moreover, a sterling antidote to malaria.

Pyle's Dietetic Saleratus.—Universally acknowledged the best in use. Each pound bears the name of JAMES PYLE. None genuine without. tjo76

☞ That yellow tinge of the complexion is a sure indication of bile in the blood. It is effectually removed by using GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawtf277

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

Daily Chronicle.

—Judge Grant was in Little Rock, Ark., a couple of weeks ago, in attendance at the United States Court. One morning he saw a farmer with a slouch hat and a genuine butternut suit, trying to sell a cow in the market there. It was a large, long-horned animal, and the planter was informing a man that the cow would give four quarts of milk a day, if fed well. Up stepped the Judge. "What do you ask for that cow?" "About $30. She'll give five quarts of milk a day, if you feed her well," replied the planter, and he proceeded to describe her good qualities. Said the Judge, "I have cows on my farm, not much more than half as big as your cow, which give twenty to twenty-five quarts of milk a day." The planter eyed the Judge sharply for a moment, as if trying to remember whether he had ever seen him before or not, and then asked: "Stranger, where do you live?" "My home is in Iowa." "Yes, stranger, I don't dispute it. Stranger, there was heaps of solders from Iowa, down here during the war, and, stranger, they were the darnedest liars in the whole Yankee army. Stranger, may be you mought be an officer in some of them regiments?" The Judge slid for the Court House.—Davenport Gazette.

Answers to Correspondents.

In answer to "Alphabetical," in your last issue, for a remedy for consumption in its first stages, I can recommend Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," if taken according to directions, for it has been thoroughly tried in my family, and the results were glorious. "Alphabetical" must not expect one bottle to do the work—my wife took three bottles before she could discover any change, but after the the third bottle every dose seemed to strengthen the lungs, and now she is well and hearty. If "Alphabetical" will write to me I will get witnesses to the above.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them illy to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. R. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

MAGIC

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gentle stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is audorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley of dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6 No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that a person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisances or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so near that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties of Massachusetts.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

A QUAKER'S FIGHT.

Concluded from Saturday.

"They are charging again!" shouted Jethro. "Come down, my boy! Creep in! creep in! Catch the halyards and come down by the run!"

"Ay, ay!" cried Isaac as he finished reeving the tack; and gathering a few fathoms in his hand, threw the coil down on the forecastle, and the men then hoisted the sail instantly. The Frenchman fired again, but Isaac was descending like a flash, and as he reached the deck the sailors fairly hugged him in their joy and admiration of his bravery.

The hasty strides of Seth were again arrested by another shot which passed through the sail over his head. He then clenched his hands and looked up at the torn sail.

"By heavens!" said he, "I will not part with so fine a ship and cargo without a deadly struggle."

"Swear not!" said Jethro, "it will not help us in our strait. We had better yield quietly to the necessity. Put down thy helm, Seth, and bring the ship to."

"Yield quietly, didst thou say? Did I understand thee aright when thou bid me bring the ship to!" The eyes of Seth glared upon Jethro, and his nostrils distended like a bull at bay. "Put down the helm, indeed! Jethro Coffin, who is commander of the Grampus, thou or I?" demanded Macy, in the heat of passion.

Jethro answered calmly, "Thou surely art her captain. Save the ship if thou canst, but thou canst not. We have no means of defence, and if we had it would not be justifiable to oppose with arms."

"Jethro, I will save this ship or sink in her. What! yield to that little gadfly—a gallinipper that is scarcely larger than our long-boat?"

Another shot, better directed, splintered the mainmast a little and wounded two men.

"There, Jethro! that is some of the tender mercy of the French pirate—a foretaste of what we may expect if taken."

"Yield, Seth! the longer thou delay, the more hazard to the lives of our people. Yield, he is a man-of-war!"

"Go thou below, Jethro! I command here! Yield, indeed!" he muttered, as Jethro began to descend. "I will sink first!"

"Stand by there, men!" he shouted, in a voice which made every sailor start. It was evident that Seth had put off the Quaker, and the men responded heartily to it. "Get the long-boat ready to be launched at a moment's warning; clear away the quarter boats, and see all is clear to lower them in an instant. Mate, take in all the small sail at once."

Macy's voice and manner were resolute, peremptory, and the men executed the orders promptly, and were ready for the next, though wondering what the captain meant to do. The Frenchman was also at a loss, taking the maneuvering of Seth for an intention to give up the ship, and hove the schooner to, and awaited the lowering of a boat from the Grampus. In rounding to, as Seth had calculated, the Frenchman had given the advantage of the wind to the ship, and while his men stood agape at the management of the larger vessel which they looked upon as a prize, Seth seized the helm in his brawny hand. The men scarcely needed the word, but anticipated his intentions as he put the helm hard up, and in a suppressed, but concentrated voice, which was heard distinctly from stern to stern, he said: "Let go all the braces and bowlines, slack off sheets and tacks, and square the yards, quick!"

It was done in a twinkling, and Macy shaped his course as though he would bring his ship under the lee quarter of the privateer. This feint completely deceived the enemy, when Seth suddenly changed her course, and brought her to head directly upon the hull of the Frenchman. Her crew discovered now, but too late, the design of the Grampus, and dire confusion ensued upon her crowded decks.

"If thou dost intend to run her down," said Jethro to Seth, hurriedly, projecting his head for a moment from the cabin gangway, "if—nay, hear me, Seth, for the sake of humanity—if thou art determined to run her down, ease thy helm a little and give them a chance for their lives."

"Stand by to lower the boats," thundered Seth, stamping furiously upon the deck. A groan of horror escaped his own crew, for not till this moment had they really seen the design of their captain; and the swarthiest cheek grew a shade paler, but it was for themselves and they knew it. The schooner lay to in the trough of the sea, her decks covered with confusion, and the huge bulk of the Grampus poising on the last high wave above her.

"Misericorde!" a wild yell of despair, heard far above the dashing of the ship and rushing of the waters, burst from the doomed Frenchman. An instant—and down came the Grampus foaming and thundering upon the privateer; her plunging bow striking her just amidships, cut the small vessel directly in two, and her heavy armament, together with the tremendous force of the severing blow, sent her beneath the waves to rise no more, and her ill-fated crew, of one hundred and fifty souls, went under with her. A few struggled a moment in the mighty vortex, but were soon carried down, and the next wave effaced every bubble of human life, so terribly and instantly quenched.

"Down with the boats from the quarter! Launch the long-boat!"

The command, though it could not have been uttered or executed sooner with safety, came too late. The aim of Seth had been too fatally sure. His own boat narrowly escaped being sucked into the whirlpool made by the sinking schooner, and not one of the Frenchman's crew rose in the eddies or again saw the face of day. Seth entered the cabin, and walking up to Jethro, said: "The Grampus is saved, but it had been less costly if thou had been wiser at Nantucket. Hereafter, in times like these, arm thy ships; the best way to be at peace is to show thyself ready for war!"

Bowing his head upon his hand, Jethro answered nothing.

Daily Chronicle.

MONDAY, JULY 3, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The Legislature.

In the House, Friday forenoon, the address for the removal of certain officials in Rockingham County was called up, the question being as to the passage of so much of the address as referred to the removal of Joseph Wiggin, Judge of Probate. Mr. Hatch spoke against the measure, and was reminded several times that when he was Speaker of the House he had not a word to say against the indiscriminate removal of republican officials, although the republican legislatures of the two previous years had refrained from removing the democratic officials they found in office. Mr. Hatch said if he had done wrong in a previous year it should not be an argument in favor of doing wrong now. After a long debate Wiggin was removed.

In the afternoon an amendment to the charter of the Portsmouth Trust and Guarantee Company was passed. The bill to restore the ward lines of Nashua to the position in which they were before the democratic gerrymander of 1874 was discussed, but the House adjourned before any conclusion was reached on the bill.

Correspondence.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 28.

The Woman's Pavilion is directly opposite the United States Government Building. It is neat in design and simply constructed, consisting of two naves intersecting each other, and each being 192 feet in length by 64 feet in width, with a porch at each end with steps leading to the different avenues. The building is entirely of wood, with a cupola in the centre, 25 feet high, measuring from the roof. The interior of the building has four supporting columns and is trussed over from the outside walls. The inscription "Let her works praise her in the gates," is in English on one side of the entrance, the corresponding panel having the same in Spanish. A great deal of attention is given by visitors to the Woman's Art Gallery. One of its most prominent features is a plaster cast of "Eve," executed by Miss Blanche Nevin of Philadelphia. The pose is natural and the attitude graceful as she stands with one arm shielding her face, her hair hanging down her back in waves. There is also a figure of "Cinderella" by the same lady. On the opposite side is a group representing "St. Christopher and the Infant Christ." The saint is kneeling at the feet of the Savior with an expression of devotion and adoration carefully portrayed on his countenance. Contributions of oil paintings from Sarah Clark, Emily Sartain, Miss Mary Preble, and beautiful flower paintings from the celebrated Eliza Greatoreaux are on exhibition. Miss Helen Wright of Massachusetts contributes a water color picture of flowers with a whitewood frame so skilfully cut with a fret saw that it is almost impossible to distinguish it from carved work. Lace work, ornamented China, designs for wall paper, carpets and other articles are shown. The ladies of the Cincinnati School of Design have sent a large collection of specimens of wood carving, artistically done, which does credit to the women of America. Miss Fanny Banks shows an organ with a case carved by herself. The following couplet in old English letters is carved on a scroll on the back of the case, "She sings of love as the flowers would sing, if love could lend their leaves a tongue." Morning glories and wild roses surround the scroll work and upon the panels are passion flowers and leaves. Hattie and Mary Johnson of Cincinnati exhibit a bed-stead, carved on the head-board and on the panels are creepers and trumpet flowers beautifully cut. Morning glories, painted on slate, are set in the head, and a poppy and lily are on each post. This elaborately-worked bedstead is valued at $500. A magnificent piano, carved by Mrs. and Miss Pitman is shown. The seasons are represented by flowers and grain. Spring has buttercups morning glories; Autumn, nettle blossoms and oats, and Winter has holly and mistletoe. Flowers also ornament the legs. Ladies are very much attracted by the rich display of lace and needle work, specimens of which are contributed by the Royal School of Art, London. The Royal Family have sent embroidery, some of it worked by the Princesses Beatrice, Helen and Alice. Queen Victoria displays a napkin from flax spun by herself. One case contains lace exhibits wrought by American and foreign ladies. The American goods compare favorably with those of foreign make; yet the prices are much more reasonable. A parasol cover, marked £300 in gold, is among the foreign laces. An exquisite pocket handkerchief of lace and embroidery, made by a lady eighty-two years old, is shown. Canada ladies have contributed embroideries upon silk, satin velvet and canvas, all of which are rich and neatly done. The needlework and embroidery of Spanish and Brazilian ladies are magnificent specimens of lace work. Belgium has the largest case and the finest specimens of lace in the building.

While Dom Pedro, the Empress and suite, and Prince Oscar of Sweden were at the fair grounds on Sunday, a fire broke out in Agricultural Hall and entirely destroyed the pavilion covered with raw cotton. It was being repaired by filling with cotton the holes made by visitors, when one of the workmen accidentally stepped on a parlor match, igniting it, and the curious structure was wrapped in flames in less time than it takes me to write of it. The fire department responded quickly and prevented a serious conflagration. Coffee and some of the other exhibits were very much damaged by water. The heat is excessive and visitors are beginning to leave for the summer resorts. Very few, however, will go to a great distance, preferring to remain within easy distance of this city. Atlantic City offers great inducements on the seashore, as it is very accessible to this city. An excursion trip on the express train was given as a trial and ninety minutes were consumed in running the distance. AMICUS.

Salary Grabbers.

An exchange says: "It is generally noticeable that the bigger the lie the more emphatic and persistent is the liar." The course of the witnesses summoned before the democratic investigating committees to blacken the characters of republicans, and the course of the democratic papers in dealing with the "facts" brought out by such witnesses before such committees, proves that statement correct. But a still better illustration is found in the pertinacity with which the republican candidates for President and Vice President are stigmatised as "salary-grabbers" by the democratic papers, not one of which, probably, is ignorant that the charge is a flat-footed lie in the case of both Gov. Hayes and Mr. Wheeler. Mr. Wheeler voted against the back-pay grab at every stage and on its final passage, and after the bill passed and while some few republicans and nearly all the democrats in Congress were stuffing the back pay into their pockets, and before the storm of public indignation had had time to burst upon the grabbers, M. Wheeler drew his back pay, bought United States bonds with the entire amount and turned them into the Treasury to be cancelled. As to Gov. Hayes, he had not been in Congress for years at the time of the back-pay steal. He was there seven years before, at the time the pay of Congressmen was raised from $3500 to $5000—a reasonable increase which neither party ever found any fault with, or had reason to; but when the democratic papers say "Gov. Hayes, when in Congress, voted for and took the increase of salary," with the evident purpose of conveying the impression that he voted for and profited by the only salary increase the people ever objected to, they are guilty of a more contemptible falsification and slander than they would be if their statement were not literally true. A lie by insinuation is the meanest of all lies.

News and Notes.

Robert Clarke & Co., Cincinnati, have in press, for publication, "The Life, Public Services, and Select Speeches of Rutherford B. Hayes;" by J. Q. Howard. Mr. Howard is a gentleman well known in Ohio, and particularly at Columbus, as a republican journalist, having been some years associated with General Comly, in the conduct of the Ohio State Journal, of which he more recently served as a Washington correspondent. His political knowledge is extensive, his judgment careful, his literary ability good, and there is no reason to doubt that the work which he has undertaken will be in every way worthy of its subject and the cause represented.

First-class people always stop at a first-class hotel, which is one reason why the Westminster Hotel, of 16th street and Irving place, New York, has so many guests of the celebrities both of Europe and America. The Westminster is, without doubt, the most celebrated and best kept of the European-plan houses. Its quiet, central and most convenient location, renders it the best place to stop. Visitors to the Centennial by the way of New York, will find it to their interest to stop at the Westminster. While the Westminster is probably the most famous of the New York Hotels, its prices for superior accommodations are no higher than at other first-class hotels.

The eight-oared race between Harvard and Yale, at Springfield, Mass., was easily won by Yale, beating Harvard by eight lengths. Yale pulled the four miles in twenty-two minutes and two seconds.

A Bangor man named Cowan, suspecting one J. W. Curtis of undue familiarity with his wife, had a wordy quarrel with him some time ago. On Tuesday, June 22d, two men were seen to drive up to Curtis' home after dark, and Curtis was not seen afterward for more than a week, when he feet tied. He was also gagged, and had been brutally beaten. He was taken to his sister's house, where he lies at the point of death. Cowan is under arrest.

In a dispute in Dayton, O., a man named Malambre was attacked by two others, father and son, named Maxwell. He was stabbed by the father, and drew a revolver in defense, shooting the younger Maxwell and fatally wounding him.

The Dutch steamer Lieut. General Kroesen, from Acheen for Batavia, was wrecked while entering the Straits of Sunda. It is supposed twenty-five passengers were lost.

Mr. Blaine's family physician considers his nervous prostration more severe than has been supposed. He prescribes absolute rest, forbidding him even to write a letter. He gives no encouragement that he will be able to take any part in the coming campaign.

Henry Colby, of Goffstown, while attempting to draw a log with some mules into the run of Parker's saw-mill at New Boston, was kicked by one of the animals in the forehead, tearing the top of the skull nearly off.

A little girl, daughter of James Carter of North Conway, while climbing over a stone wall in search of strawberries, fell and fractured her arm very badly.

Rogues Caught.

The Bangor Whig, in a report of a recent sitting of the U. S. District Court in that city, says: "a most interesting case against A. R. Simmons, of Gardiner, was brought up. He was indicted for violation of section 5480 of Revised Statutes, which provides against sending fraudulent matter through the mail. The respondent issued circulars to different parties offering to sell them counterfeit fractional currency, and for every dollar received he would return five dollars in counterfeit. This circular was accompanied with a sample of twenty-five cent scrip, which, however, was genuine. He signed himself A. S. Rutherford, and directed all letters to be sent to box 1623, Portland, Me. He had a friend in Portland who remailed all the letters to Simmons at Gardiner. One of these circulars was sent to a man in Hallowell, who handed it to the postmaster in that place with the statement that he was not that kind of a man. The postmaster at Hallowell forwarded the letter to Judge Goddard, postmaster at Portland, where it was supposed that the letter had been mailed; but it was put into the postal car on the road. Judge Goddard handed the letter to District Attorney Webb, who in turn sent it to J. Horace Kent, of the Secret Service. Mr. Kent, with the aid of Mr. W. H. Bigelow, special agent of the Post-office department, and a detective, worked up the matter very carefully and succeeded in arresting Simmons in Gardiner, May 8, with a large number of letters."

In the same paper is a report of the case United States vs. Rufus B. Vose, assistant postmaster at Freedom, Me., who was arrested upon complaint of Col. Kent, whose attention had been directed to the loss of money, etc., by many irregularities of the mail service existing at the Freedom post-office, and examination was made into the same with W. H. Bigelow, Esq., special agent of the Post-office department. The complaint charges the respondent with stealing certain letters and packages from the U. S. Mail. Vose has made a full and complete confession to the officers.

A Hotel Yarn.

A story is told of a San Francisco house, but as it is not localized we cannot possibly saddle it on any one of them. A man boarding there thought it prudent to settle terms beforehand, to be sure that his money would hold out. Two dollars a day. He stayed two months and sent for his bill. Carramba! The two dollars a day for board was only a small part of the items charged. Sixty dollars for fire loomed up conspicuously. Boarder demurred.

"Can't help it," says the landlord; "we can't afford to furnish fuel and a man to attend to it for less than a dollar a day."

"All right," says the boarder, "I'm willing to pay you a dollar a day for fire, but don't want to pay for any more than I've had. Now, out of all the time I've been here, it's impossible that I could have had a fire more than half a dozen days in the whole sixty."

"Well," says landlord, "that's not our fault; the fuel was there, and a man to attend it: you might have used it if you had been a mind to."

But the boarder remonstrated still further. "Now, if you'll come up and look at my room, I think I can convince you that there has never been any fuel there, and what is more," continued he, rising to the sublimity of the situation, "there's no place to put it, if it were there. There is no fire-place in the room, and no stove. There's not even a chimney in the room for smoke to go out at, nor a stove-pipe, nor a hole to put a stove-pipe around."

The landlord "went down in his boots." Helena Star.

Will leave TREDICK'S WHARF on TUESDAY JULY 4th, at 10 o'clock, for the Shoals and return. $1 for the trip, chowder included.

—Nothing will make a woman so mad as to have her husband pull a straw out of a brand new broom to clean his pipe with.

—A man who had little talent for conundrums, in attempting to get off one at a tea party at his own house, got exceedingly mixed. He intended to ask the old question, "Why is a woman like ivy?" the familiar but gallant answer to which is, "Because the more you're ruined the closer she clings." But he put it, "Why is ivy like a woman?" which none of the ladies could tell, and so the unfortunate man himself told them it was "Because the closer it clings the more you're ruined."

OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.

Celebration of the One Hundredth Anniversary of our National Independence, by the Citizens of Portsmouth,

JULY 4, 1876.

For the benefit of the people in this city and vicinity who are compelled to make arrangements for the approaching Fourth of July the General Committee now announce the following

PROGRAMME.

At 12 A. M., The Day will be ushered in by a huge bonfire of tar barrels on Market Square.

At sunrise the bells will be rung one hour and a national salute will be fired at the same time by the Portsmouth Light Artillery.

At 8:30 A. M.,

Grand Military, Civic and Firemen's

PROCESSION,

In Three Divisions,

Under command of Col. Jerome C. Butler as Chief Marshal, with Major M. T. Betton as Chief of Staff, Elbridge G. Pierce, Jr., Samuel C. Whittier and Charles A. Hazlett as Assistant Marshals, each having four mounted aids. The procession will form on Market Square promptly at 8:30 o'clock and be ready to march at 9, sharp. The procession promises to be an imposing one, and the organizations participating therein will be speedily announced by Chief Marshal Butler. The following is the

ROUTE OF THE PROCESSION.

Form on Market Square, right resting on Market Street; through Market, Deer, Vaughan, Congress, Islington, Union, Middle, to Haymarket Square, countermarch around the reservoir, thence to Austin, Cabot, State, Middle, Court, Pleasant, to South, countermarch around the flag-staff to Water, State, Middle and Congress streets to the Parade, where a hollow square will be formed.

At 10:30 (or about that time) the

Literary Exercises

Will take place from the decorated stand on the Square; James P. Bartlett acting as Master of Ceremonies, and will be in the following order:

Prayer,—Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D.

Reading of the Declaration of Independence,—R. H. Perkins, Principal of the Haven School.

Oration,—Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury.

Singing of "America" (first verse) by the people, led by the Bands.

Benediction,—Rev. Chas. A. Holbrook.

Immediately after the close of the exercises there will be ringing of bells and firing salutes for one hour.

At 12 o'clock, noon,

GRAND ROWING REGATTA

Under the direction of the Regatta Committee, will take place on the Piscataqua river. There will be races as follows:

1ST RACE. Four and Six-oared Boats, first prize $17; second prize $15.

For this contest the following entries have been made:

U. S. Receiving Ship "Sabine"—gig, six-oared, A. Schreiter, coxswain; commodore's barge, six-oared, John Pierce, coxswain. Crest, four-oared, Leiap boat-crew of Portsmouth.

2D RACE. Single scull, prize $10.

The following entrees have been made for this race:

"M. A. C.," entered by Arther W. Walker; "Snowflake," entered by Appleton Tredick.

3D RACE. Tub Race, Prize $10.

The books for this race are now open.

All the contests except the tub race will be from the Judge's stand off Concord Railroad Wharf to the stone beacon and return; distance, two miles. Boats in rounding the beacon will pass from starboard to port, and in returning pass between the judges' stand and Concord Railroad Wharf. Any boat taking another boat's water, thereby causing a collision, will be ruled out. The rulings of the judges on all points will be final.

All entrees are free, and may be made to Charles A. Hazlett, Chairman Regatta Committee. The contestants already entered are so nearly matched that exciting contests are anticipated. One of the bands will be stationed on board a large launch moored in the river, and especially reserved for them.

At 3:30 P. M.,

GRAND

Balloon Ascension,

From the field adjoining the Universalist Church. [Subject, if necessary, to change of location, which will be announced before July 4th.]

Mr. George S. Peduzzi of Brooklyn, N. Y., a son of Portsmouth, who has had long and practical experience in making ascensions will be the aeronaut, who will use his new and large Balloon City of Portsmouth, named in honor of his beloved home. This aerial ship requires 17,000 feet of gas to inflate it, which operation will be an additional attraction for the multitude present to witness.

The balloon ascension and all its attendant features will, if the weather permits be a great attraction of the occasion.

At 5:30 P. M., another clanging of bells and salvos of artillery, continuing one hour.

At 7 P. M.,

Grand Military Review

AND DRESS PARADE, on Market Square

and Congress Street, participated in by the United States Marine Corps, two full companies of Boys from the U. S. Instruction Ship "Sabine," Portsmouth Heavy Artillery, Portsmouth Light Artillery, City Guard, the Veterans, and all the other organizations including the musical corps which took part in the morning parade.

GRAND BAND CONCERTS,

At 8 P. M.

to be participated in by the Marine Band, stationed on the Parade, Rye Cornet Band, stationed at Franklin Hall, Kearsarge Drum Corps near City Rooms.

The concert will be under the musical direction of Mr. Henry L. Harlow, the organizations playing alternately.

At 9 P. M., Grand Finale, in a

Display of Fireworks,

from a tall stand on Market Square. There will be a fine illumination of the Square with Bengolas and Colored Fires, repeated at intervals.

No. 1, Star and Sun;
2, Cascade;
3, Motto with Halo;
4, Palm Tree;
5, Yew Tree;
6, Japanese Glory;
7, Chinese Fan;
8, Polka Dance;
9, Revolving Globe;
10, Motto for July 4th, 1876;
11, U. S. Flag in Colors;
12, Liberty Tree of 1776.
13, Star of America.

These fine display or "set" pieces will be interspersed with a very large exhibition of Rockets, 2 to 4 lb each, assorted, and very handsome in color and effect, Large Torbillions, assorted Large Bengolas, red, blue and green, assorted Large Bombs; the effect of all being pleasing and grand. And a generous number of other most attractive and brilliant pieces.

Per Order of the General Committee on Celebration.

Jottings.

Entries for the tub race to-morrow must be made previous to 10 o'clock, A. M., this day, Monday, to C. A. Hazlett, Chairman of Regatta Committee.

The construction of three first-class houses between Richards and Miller avenues, has begun.

The dividend on the shares in the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad was promptly paid at the Treasurer's office on Market street, Saturday.

Our M. C. is in town.

The Rockingham National Bank paid a dividend of four and one-half per cent. on Saturday, and the New Hampshire National paid three per cent.

A big flag was raised by the democrats on Saturday at the corner of Islington and Albany streets, Hon Frank Jones, Mr. Wm. Alton and others being among the contributors toward the object,—which is to advocate the election of the hard and soft money candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency.

Winnicut Lodge, F. and A. M., at Greenland, have taken possession of their new hall, which is neatly and substantially furnished. The following officers have been elected for the ensuing term: W. M., Herbert C. Taft; S. W., Edgar S. Taft; J. W., Wm. C. Jenkins; Treasurer, W. H. L. Brackett; Secretary, John H. Brackett; S. D., Nathaniel P. Ordway; J. D., Carmi Norton; S. S., Frank Holmes; J. S., John W. Weeks; Chaplain, James E. Bean; Tyler, Lorenzo C. Dourty.

Schooner Grace Choate, Capt. Peter Anderson, arrived from the Western Banks on Friday with 25,000 lbs. cod. Schooner Mary S. Hontvet, Hontvet, arrived Friday afternoon from her first trip to the Grand Banks with about 800 qls. cod.

Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury finding it impossible to be here on the Fourth, the committee have invited Rev. A. J. Patterson, D. D., of Boston Highlands, to deliver the address on that day. He has accepted the invitation. Cap. George W. Towle has consented to conduct the military parade and review on Market Square at 7 o'clock P. M. Citizens are invited to decorate their buildings, and furnish ice-water along the route of the procession. The tub-race takes place immediately after the regatta; there are several entries for this contest.

Political.

Remark of a delegate as he left St. Louis: "Hayes is a lucky man, and yesterday was the luckiest of all his lucky days."

The "Great Reformer" is not at all backward in blowing his own horn.

Mulligan denies that he "ever under any circumstances or to anybody, at any place, asserted that ex-Speaker Blaine did not correctly read the Warren-Fisher letters. On the contrary, he admits that he read every syllable in them."

Seven of the Ohio democratic Congressmen declare that they will not support the St. Louis ticket. Jesse M. Bright, the leader of the Tennessee democracy, talks of a third ticket. One of the Louisiana delegates declares that twenty thousand democrats of his State will support Peter Cooper in preference to Tilden. Landers, of Indiana, says that State is lost to the democracy and that his party will not elect more than two members of Congress next November.—New Haven Union.

Tilden's whispered speech to four or five of his friends, upon the receipt of the news, moves the Hartford Courant to remark as follows: "Whatever else may be charged against Mr. Tilden, no man will hereafter accuse him of egotism. His language and gestures are those of a modest man. He does not, it will be observed, claim superior intelligence, but only pride himself upon being the very incarnation of reform. He possesses it all—that is, all there is in the country. There may be some left in scattered spots beyond the jurisdiction of the United States, but whatever there is of it within the limits of the American Union is concentrated in him. Less modest men would have claimed it all, taking in the whole wide world; Mr. Tilden, wearing no smile, and in the silent presence of his friends, is liberal and only claims his own."

Senator Booth says Tilden is a weak man on the Pacific coast, and cannot carry California.

The Ohio democratic Congressmen give it up with Tilden, and four of them give up their districts. Hayes, they say, will carry Ohio by 50,000.

The Indiana democrats in Congress are down in the mouth. They say that the party cannot get more than two Congressmen in that State with Tilden.

The Albany Journal says of Gov. Tilden's nomination: "Welcome the issue! We of New York know Mr. Tilden through and through—known his facutious strength and real weakness—known his flaring mask and his hollow substance—and we are ready for the fight! We pressed him last year from the splendid majority of fifty thousand down to the narrow margin of a bare and barren success. We have pressed him through the unbroken contest of the succeeding months into an undoubted minority. Our adversaries have chosen to stake everything on New York; they have given us the' antagonist whose points we best understand; and we eagerly and confidently enter upon the battle."

De Witt C. Littlejohn, a New York delegate to St. Louis, said: "Put up Governor Tilden for President and Hayes and Wheeler will carry the Empire State by 40,000."

Erastus Corning, a leading New York democrat said: "If Tilden is nominated, New York State will go republican by 30,000."

John V. L. Pruyn, a prominent New York democrat, asserted that the "The nomination of Gov. Tilden for the Presidency would be most unwise. He would certainly lose New York by at least 25,000."

When our democratic friends are making their boasts of the purity of the public service under democratic administrations, it will be well to call their attention to that statement they recently called out from the Treasury Department, showing the balance due from public officers no longer in the service. The statement covers a period of forty-one years, and the total amount of such defalcation foots up $7,225,000. This is an average of fifty-one cents per one thousand dollars of funds collected. But in the period from 1834 to 1861—during which the democrats were almost continuously in power—the average defalcation rises to $2.09 per $1,000, while from 1861 to 1875, under republican rule, it drops to 34 cents for each one thousand dollars. In the disbursements the showing is equally damaging to the democracy. From 1834 to 1861 the defaults or losses in paying out averaged $9.02 to the thousand; and only seventy-eight cents per thousand since 1861. Now that the same old democratic party is asking to be restored to power it will not be amiss to keep these facts in mind. The exhibit is so terribly damaging to the democrats that it is not likely the departments will be troubled to make any more comparisons at their request.

Didn't Want the 'Scription.

He was an old man, and he had a bit of conductor's pasteboard stuck in his hat. He walked into the drug store and inquired: "Have you got any good whisky?"

"Yes, sir," replied the gentlemanly druggist.

"Gimme half a pint?"

"Have you got a doctor's prescription?"

"No."

"Can't sell it, then, sir. Jury in session, must be strict."

"Where can I get a doctor?" sadly inquired the aged inebriate.

"I'm a physician, sir," winningly responded the druggist.

"Can't you give that—what you call it, 'scription?"

"Well, I might." And the Doctor wrote out a prescription blank, calling for so many ounces of spiritus frumenti. He filled a snug looking bottle with the article, pasted a label on it, numbered to correspond with the paper, and presenting the bottle to the venerable roysterer, remarked, in the most business-like way imaginable: "A dollar and a half, sir."

"A dollar and a half!" gasped the astonished customer. "Ain't that pretty high, mister?"

It's our price—a dollar for the prescription and fifty cents for the medecine."

"Yes, well," slowly replied the wicked old duffer, as he slowly buttoned up the half pint in his overcoat pocket; "I guess, boss, that I don't want the 'scription. Here's your half a dollar," and he stuck his tongue in one side of his mouth, winked ironically at him of the mortar and pestle, and walked out.—Worcester Press.

Putting on the Wrong Coat.

A great many years ago a foreign nobleman of considerable renown, and close upon three-score-and-ten, led to the altar a fading damsel almost as old. The marriage ceremony was performed in the church, after which the clergyman ascended to the pulpit, where he announced as his text for the afternoon's discourse—"Father, forgive them, for they not what they do." The nobleman not only left the church in a towering passion, but complained to a court of bishops of the insult that had been offered him, nor was he content until the clergyman had proved that the offending text had been announced to his congregation a full week before the marriage.

Within the memory of many of us it was formerly the almost universal custom for persons who had lost near and dear friends by death, to send up to the clergyman, on the Sabbath, a request for the sympathy and prayers of the congregation. On a certain occasion a worthy man, who was very sensitive and shrinking, and who had lost his wife by death, privately requested that he might be remembered in the minister's morning prayer from the pulpit, and asked that his name might not be mentioned. On that Sabbath morning the good minister prayed most eloquently for "our aged brother upon whom the heavy hand of sore affliction hath so lately fallen!" At this point an elderly man, whom the minister had married to a very young wife during the week last past, arose with a bounce, and stamped down the aisle, muttering loud enough to be heard half over the house: "It may be an affliction, but I'm blessed if I want to be prayed for in that fashion."—N. Y. Ledger.

—It is not pleasant to hear a person continually remark that he owes no man a cent. It creates a suspicion that no man will trust him.

—"We'll tell you a story of Bill Johnson's dory which tried to cross the Atlantic; if the dory'd been stronger this story'd been longer, but it wouldn't have been half so romantic."—N. Y. Graphic.

Keep the Liver Active.

The above is a sound health maxim. In order that the functions of digestion, evacuation and secretion shall be discharged with that degree of regularity and vigor which is essential to the well being of both body and mind, the liver, upon whose activity they are dependent for their due performance, must be kept in good working order. Calomel and blue pills, besides being hurtful mineral drugs, only partially and temperarily rectify disorders or sluggishness of the great biliary gland. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the contrary, accomplish thoroughly what the above mentioned pills fail in doing, and are besides a safe as well as potent remedy for disorders of the stomach, bowels and organs of urination, as well as an unequalled general invigorant. They are, moreover, a sterling antidote to malaria.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,
Newburyport, Mass.

In justice to myself, and that those who prefer

PEARSON'S FAMILY PILOT BREAD

may obtain what is desired, I shall occasionally publish the names of those who keep it for sale in Portsmouth, as follows:

CHILDLESS.

My neighbor's house is not so high
Nor half so nice as mine;
I often see the blinds ajar,
And though the curtain's fine,
It's only muslin, and the steps
Are not of stone at all—
And yet I long for her small home
To give mine all in all.

Her lawn is never left to grow—
The children tread it down,
And when the father comes at night
I hear them clatter down
The gravel walk; and such a noise
Comes to my quiet ears,
As my sad heart's been waiting for
So many silent years.

Sometimes I peep to see them seize
His coat and hand and knees—
All three so anxious to be first;
And hear her call, "Don't teaze
Papa"—the baby springs—
And then the low brown door
Shuts out their happiness, and I
Sit wishing, as before.—

That my neighbor's little cottage
And the jewels of her crown
Had been my own; my mansion,
With its front of granite brown,
Its damask, and its Honiton—
It's lawn so green and bright—
How gladly would I give them
For her motherhood to-night.

—The First Lord of the Admiralty on his first voyage downthe Thames, in rather a leaky vessel, observed the men working the pumps. "Dear me!" he said, "I did not know you had a well on board, captain, but I am really very glad, as I do detest river water."

Answers to Correspondents.

In answer to "Alphabetical," in your last issue, for a remedy for consumption in its first stages, I can recommend Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," if taken according to directions, for it has been thoroughly tried in my family, and the results were glorious. "Alphabetical" must not expect one bottle to do the work—my wife took three bottles before she could discover any change, but after the the third bottle every dose seemed to strengthen the lungs, and now she is well and hearty. If "Alphabetical" will write to me I will get witnesses to the above.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful prosecutors with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.'
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

MAGIC
CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effects. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.
MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I base it, for I hand to his head, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.
THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

s no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
— USE —
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or so dispose of them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall carefully bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Wall Street Speculation.
THE reliable house of ALEX. FROTHINGHAM & CO., No. 12 Wall Street, New York, publish a hand some eight page weekly paper, called the Weekly Financial Report, which they send free to any address. In addition to a large number of able editorials on financial and business topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of every bond, stock and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & CO. are very extensive brokers, of large experience and tried integrity. In addition to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are termed "Privileges," or "Puts and Calls," now one of the favorite methods of legitimate speculation. Their advice is very valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—New York Metropolis.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties round Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

The Vikings.

The Northmen, in the seventh, eighth and ninth centuries after the birth of Our Lord, inhabited the great peninsula of Norway and Sweden, with branches established in Denmark, Finland, the Faroe Islands, and all about the coasts of Northern Europe. They were a wild, rough tumultuous race, so given to roving and adventure that they made their appearance at one time or another in their history, in every part of Europe which could be reached by sea. They certainly visited the shores of the Mediterranean, and they once held such complete possession of a part of France that their name is still preserved in the title of the province of Normandy. Before the time of King Alfred, they ravaged England continually. These people, who have left their names all over Europe, were never welcome anywhere. Even at home, they quarreled among themselves. And it would seem that when things grew uncomfortable for them in their own country, they took ship and sailed the sea, carrying destruction and terror wherever they went. The chiefs were called Jalis or Earls, and the sons of chiefs to whom were given maritime command were called Vikings. These were usually the younger sons, who were driven out by the contentions at home, and by their own fierce desires, to find plunder and occupation in ravaging the coasts of the rich Southlands. In course of time, these wild sea-rovers were masters of the seas of Europe. Their captains came to be known generally as the Vikings. In these days we should call them pirates. Such a man was Flokko, who, in the ninth century, discovered Iceland. Pirate he may have been, but he took with him families, cattle and tools, as if intending to live like an honest man.—St. Nicholas for July.

—A witness in a late Philadelphia lawsuit, when directed to kiss the bible on being sworn, touched his lips to the book without smacking them, and the opposing lawyer insisted upon a genuine kiss, a downright smack, as though he meant it. But Patrick McNichol, the witness, did not put that vim into his osculatory pledge which the opposing counsel thought consistent with the majesty of the law. "Do you want me to open my mouth and swallow it?" asked Pat. "Kiss it as you would your wife," said the lawyer. Whereupon McNichol, with a shameless mendacity which should have forever impeached him as a witness, declared that he had never kissed anybody, and didn't know how. Then the judge, who appears to have been uncommonly credulous as well as surprisingly obliging, actually illustrated how the kissing ought to be done, and the witness imitated him. The spectacle of a mummified Philadelphia judge teaching a live Irishman how to kiss, is one which it has taken America a hundred years to produce.

—When Dr. Nathan Smith began his career as a medical professor (at Dartmouth,) certain individuals planned a practical joke which it was expected would entirely demoralize the young instructor. A messenger summoned him to set a broken limb, but on reaching the house the doctor found the patient was a goose, whose leg had been broken by some sharp-shooting gaming. The "friends" of the "patient" looked to see the doctor beat a hasty retreat; but he gravely examined the fracture, opened his case, set and bound the limb, promised to call the next day, and bade them good evening. The doctor duly appeared in the morning and for several days, till he pronounced the "patient" in a fair way of recovery. At his last visit, Dr. Smith produced a bill of considerable dimensions, and the "family" found that their little joke cost them dearly. The level-headed professor escaped further intrusion.—Scribner's.

—An indignant writer thus throws a brick at the article of male head-gear variously known as "chimney-pot," "bell-topper," "keg," "stove-pipe," "plug," etc.: We know of nothing that can be said in favor of the article which we are forced to wear on our heads. It is hot in summer; it is not warm in winter; it does not shade us from the sun; it does not shelter us from the rain; it is ugly and expensive; you cannot wear it in a railway carriage; it is always in your way in a drawing-room; if you sit upon it, you crush it, yet it will not save your skull in a fall from your horse; it will not go into a portmanteau; you are sure to forget it when suspended from the straps of a carriage roof; it is too hard too roll up, too soft to stand upon; it rusts with the sea air, and spots with the rain; if it is good, you are sure to have it taken by mistake at a soiree; if it is bad, you are set down for a swindler.

The hammer with which the murderer Piper killed Mary Tynan is carefully preserved in Boston as "an illustration of the compact material inorganism which necessarily becomes an irresponsible agent in the transmission of life-eliminating force on occasions when the mysteriously desirable condition of mammal equipoise departs and a morbid idiosyncrasy induces the seemingly inexcusable perpetration of bloody deeds."

—A Holyoke man had his revenge on an enemy. He tied a rock to a cat's tail and anchored her in the back yard for an all night serenade.

Daily Chronicle.

TUESDAY, JULY 4, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Democratic Testimony.

The New Haven Union, a democratic soft-money paper, has been very severe in its attacks on Tilden since his nomination; and having been taken to task by other democratic authorities for the bitterness of its attacks, retorts that the charges it so persistently makes did not originate with the Union, but with the democratic papers which now support Tilden. Says the Union: "The New York World, under Manton Marble's management in 1871, when that paper was defending Tweed, was the first to publicly charge that he (Tilden) was a 'tricky railroad lawyer.' Upon investigation it was ascertained that he had amassed his whole fortune in the service of the great railway monopolists of the country. This is a well-established fact, and his biographers all admit it. Horace Greeley, the democratic candidate for President in 1872, charged Tilden with being a mere tool of Tweed, and his paper established the fact that when Tilden was chairman of the New York Democratic State Committee he used Tweed's stolen money in the interest of the party, and assisted the Tweed ring in the election frauds of 1868 in New York city. Since his election as Governor he has been accused of treachery and double dealing by such eminent democrats as Chief Justice Sanford E. Church, ex-Speaker McGuire, Allen C. Beach, Augustus Schell, J. V. L. Pruyn, DeWitt C. Littlejohn, John Kelly, and a hundred others of like prominence. Since his candidacy for the nomination at St. Louis began there has been no end to the attacks upon his character in some of the leading democratic papers of New York State and in the country at large. The New York Express, about two weeks ago filled its columns with records from the courts to show that Tilden was accused of having robbed stockholders of the St. Louis, Terre Haute and Alton railroad to the extent of one hundred thousand dollars. It also raked over several other transactions of his in railroad matters of a like character, and editorially charged that he had amassed his great fortune by sharp practise and questionable bargains as a railroad attorney. The Albany Times, Brooklyn Argus and Rochester Union have been equally severe in their assaults. None of these charges have been denied or explained away, and in the case of the St. Louis, Terre Haute and Alton railroad Tilden does not seem at all anxious to have the suit come to trial, and attempts have been made to compromise the case. The fact that Tilden has advertised his claims for the Presidency like a dealer in quack medicines, cannot be disputed."

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.

The hide-bound Bourbons here,—the class of men who to this day believe human slavery to be of divine origin; who were ardent sympathizers with the slaveholders' rebellion and are always ready with apologies for the atrocities perpetrated upon disarmed Union soldiers in Southern prison pens; who believed and acted with Tilden in 1864, when he declared it as the sense of his party that the war for the preservation of the Union was a failure, and who even at this distance from those troublous times, habitually refer to every member of the republican party as a "d—d Yankee,"—are boiling over with the happiness brought to them by the announcement of Tilden's nomination; and they would regard his election next November as the tardy triumph of the cause submitted to the arbitrament of the sword in 1861, and "subjugated but not conquered" in 1865 under the apple tree at Appomattox Court House. But to another class here—more progressive, and who have learned something by experience,—the intelligence from St. Louis brought many misgivings and was regarded as ominous of disaster. With them Hancock was the Moses to lead them out of the land of captivity.

To-night at twelve o'clock, unless the House acts upon the suggestion made to it by the President and which the Senate favorably acted upon yesterday, the functions of many departments of the Government cease for an indefinite time—from a blow administered to it by the House majority, actuated by its confederate wrath thereto. The progress of legislation has been necessarily slow and spasmodic during the week, because of the absence of many democratic members of Congress at St. Louis, and the absorption of those remaining in the contest there between those two "reform" leaders, Morrissy and Kelly, who engineered the Tilden and anti-Tilden wings.

The disgraceful act of the House in sending its detective, Thompson, to a New York junk shop for evidence of republican corruption, and of the telegraph company which sold the confidence of its patrons, was properly rebuked the other day by the introduction into both Houses of measures calculated to protect the rights of those similarly circumstanced in the future.

The two silver bills passed by the House have been before the Senate, and after discussion were again referred to the finance committee. A new bill, free from the crudities and objectionable features of those referred, will probably be reported. The naval appropriation bill has finally been compromised and passed. All the other more important bills are before conference committees, with very little prospect, last evening, of any immediate adjustment.

It is now considered more than doubtful if Senator Morrill accepts the place at the head of the Treasury Department; Mr. New is strongly urged in case it is finally declined by Mr. Morrill. Mr. Blaine's friends have been much pained to hear of his prostrated condition on his arrival at his home in Augusta, Maine; and the hope is almost universally expressed that the cooler air of the North and his exemption from all disquieting causes may rapidly hasten his convalescence.

The people of our city, and especially the clerks and other employees of the Departments, are in a feverish state of unrest because of the uncertainty as to the appropriations and the consequent jeopardy to their means of living. These contemplated measures of "reform"—the cutting off of the appropriations—will fall with peculiar weight on the National Capitol.

MAXWELL.

News and Notes.

We have in this State a league organized for the better protection of game birds and fish; yet when a bill for the better protection of woodcock, (to prevent the shooting of these birds in the months of July and August, thus doing away with the killing of half-grown birds, and driving them from their breeding grounds,) had been read twice and referred to the committee on agriculture, certain members of the league from Manchester went before the committee and defeated the passage of the bill. A valuable assistance these members, to the preservation of game birds.

The graduating exercises of the Dover High School took place Friday at the City Hall. There was a class reception in the evening.

Section B, First New Hampshire Battery, thirty men, Capt, S. S. Piper, started from Manchester for Philadelphia Saturday afternoon.

A Sheffield, Eng., firm of steel manufacturers has failed, with liabilities of $725,000.

Montenegro has declared war against Turkey. Servian forces have invaded Turkey. England, Germany and Austria have notified the Porte that they will not interfere; Russia refuses to pledge herself to non-intervention. Greece will keep neutral.

Amos Marshall, a Boston fireman who was injured during the great fire, fell into a culvert in Manchester, Saturday night, and was suffocated.

Allen, alias Johnson, the horse thief who recently killed two men who were trying to arrest him, was hung by lynchers at Barboursville, W. Va., on Saturday.

The business portion of St. Johnsbury, Vt., was destroyed by fire on Saturday.

The republicans of Lebanon erected a new one hundred and forty feet liberty pole Saturday, the main shaft of which is said to be one hundred years old.

Elisha E. Brown, cashier of the Strafford National Bank at Dover, was badly, though not seriously, injured Sunday morning by a kicking horse.

Gen. Marshall Lefferts, in command of the Seventh Regiment of New York, on its way to the Centennial, died suddenly in the depot at Newark, N. J., Monday. The regiment immediately returned to New York. Gen. Lefferts commanded the regiment during the war.

The city government of Lynn, Mass., having refused to make an appropriation for the celebration of the Fourth, several of the aggrieved citizens conceived the project of holding funeral obsequies on the morning of that day. The Lynn Reporter published the following programme: "In accordance with this proposition, a procession will be formed in Market Square at five o'clock, in the following order: Drum Major; Police; Grave Diggers; Canaan Brass Band (sixty pieces;) Military; Drum Corps; Aids; Hearse, containing the appropriation that was made by the city government; Aids; Mourners, from sister cities, in carriages. The procession will move through the streets to the beach, where the remains will be decently interred or cremated, as may be then and there decided. Should the weather be rainy or very hot, the route may be cut short at the extreme ends."

Political.

Ex-Gov. Harriman has received an invitation from the Chairman of the Ohio republican State Committee to stump that State for the coming election. He will accept the invitation.

The Republic says Mr. Bogy, a democratic Senator from Missouri, is understood to have remarked in a conversation that the sweeping reduction in the salaries of the public servants and from the estimates are simply intended for political effect and not to accomplish any reform. "It will cripple the Government; but when the democratic party comes into power we will soon put things to rights and restore the salaries to the proper figures." The democratic schemes were well enough understood before Bogy spoke.

Over six hundred millions of dollars of the national debt paid off under republican rule may be a small item in the line of economical administration, but it is more satisfactory than sixty millions added to the debt of the city of New York during the same period under democratic rule.—Republic.

New York republican Congressmen say that they have reason to believe that the opposition of John Kelly, the Tammany sachem at St. Louis, was the result of an arrangement between Tilden and Kelly. They argue that the Tammany delegates were admitted by the Tilden majority to the State convention while the Morrissey and Tilden delegation was excluded; that forty Tammany delegates sat in the St. Louis convention and voted for Tilden while their chief and sachem, John Kelly, loudly opposed him outside. These gentlemen, who have carefully studied Tammany workings, say the forty delegates in the convention would never have dared to vote for Tilden if they had not known John Kelly was at heart in favor of him. It is known, moreover, that had it been apparent that Tammany was openly for Tilden it would have insured his defeat. This is a specimen of Tilden's management.

Revive the Drooping Energies.

When the physical energies droop, revive them with that safest and most active of tonics, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. By a timely use of this salutary and agreeable medicine you will save yourself from positive disease; for, be assured that the languor and loss of strength and appetite which troubles you is in fact the precursor of some malady of, perhaps, a serious nature. Appetite, tranquility of the nervous system, and pristine vigor, will assuredly be restored if the Bitters are used systematically, and the alimentary disturbance, which, in slow cases out of ten gives rise to debility and nervousness, be entirely removed. Regularity of the bowels, active biliary secretion, the expulsion of impurities from the blood through the kidneys, are also among the beneficent effects of this admirable restorative.

There is on exhibition at the Centennial a family Cooking Range, named after the renowned New York restaurateur—Delmonico.

The name suggests good cooking. As there is much in a name, we consider the "Delmonico" range quite fortunate in this respect.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.

Celebration of the One Hundredth Anniversary of our National Independence, by the Citizens of Portsmouth,

JULY 4, 1876.

For the benefit of the people in this city and vicinity who are compelled to make arrangements for the approaching Fourth of July the General Committee now announce the following

PROGRAMME.

At 12 A. M., The Day will be ushered in by a huge bonfire of tar barrels on Market Square.

At sunrise the bells will be rung one hour and a national salute will be fired at the same time by the Portsmouth Light Artillery.

At 8:30 A. M.,

Grand Military, Civic and Firemen's

PROCESSION,

In Three Divisions,

Under command of Col. Jerome C. Butler as Chief Marshal, with Major M. T. Betton as Chief of Staff, Elbridge G. Pierce, Jr., Samuel C. Whittier and Charles A. Hazlett as Assistant Marshals, each having four mounted aids. The procession will form on Market Square promptly at 8:30 o'clock and be ready to march at 9, sharp. The procession promises to be an imposing one, and the organizations participating therein will be speedily announced by Chief Marshal Butler. The following is the

ROUTE OF THE PROCESSION.

Form on Market Square, right resting on Market Street; through Market, Deer, Vaughan, Congress, Islington, Union, Middle, to Haymarket Square, countermarch around the reservoir, thence to Austin, Cabot, State, Middle, Court, Pleasant, to South, countermarch around the flag-staff to Water, State, Middle and Congress streets to the Parade, where a hollow square will be formed.

At 10:30 (or about that time) the

Literary Exercises

Will take place from the decorated stand on the Square; James P. Bartlett acting as Master of Ceremonies, and will be in the following order:

Prayer,—Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D.

Reading of the Declaration of Independence,—R. H. Perkins, Principal of the Haven School.

Oration,—Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury.

Singing of "America" (first verse) by the people, led by the Bands.

Benediction,—Rev. Chas. A. Holbrook.

Immediately after the close of the exercises there will be ringing of bells and firing salutes for one hour.

At 12 o'clock, noon,

GRAND ROWING REGATTA

Under the direction of the Regatta Committee, will take place on the Piscataqua river. There will be races as follows:

1ST RACE. Four and Six-oared Boats, first prize $17; second prize $15.

For this contest the following entries have been made:

The books for this race are now open.

All the contests except the tub race will be from the Judge's stand off Concord Railroad Wharf to the stone beacon and return; distance, two miles. Boats in rounding the beacon will pass from starboard to port, and in returning pass between the judges' stand and Concord Railroad Wharf. Any boat making another boat's water, thereby causing a collision, will be ruled out. The rulings of the judges on all points will be final.

All entrees are free, and may be made to Charles A. Hazlett, Chairman Regatta Committee. The contestants already entered are so nearly matched that exciting contests are anticipated. One of the bands will be stationed on board a large launch moored in the river, and especially reserved for them.

At 3:30 P. M.,

GRAND

Balloon Ascension,

From the field adjoining the Universalist Church. [Subject, if necessary, to change of location, which will be announced before July 4th.]

Mr. George S. Peduzzi of Brooklyn, N. Y., a son of Portsmouth, who has had long and practical experience in making ascensions will be the aeronaut, who will use his new and large Balloon City of Portsmouth, named in honor of his beloved home. This aerial ship requires 17,000 feet of gas to inflate it, which operation will be an additional attraction for the multitude present to witness.

The balloon ascension and all its attendant features will, if the weather permits be a great attraction of the occasion.

At 5:30 P. M., another clanging of bells and salvos of artillery, continuing one hour.

At 7 P. M.,

Grand Military Review

AND DRESS PARADE, on Market Square and Congress Street, participated in by the United States Marine Corps, two full companies of Boys from the U. S. Instruction Ship "Sabine," Portsmouth Heavy Artillery, Portsmouth Light Artillery, City Guard, the Veterans, and all the other organizations including the musical corps which took part in the morning parade.

GRAND BAND CONCERTS,

At 8 P. M.

to be participated in by the Marine Band, stationed on the Parade, Rye Cornet Band, stationed at Franklin Hall, Kearsarge Drum Corps near City Rooms.

The concert will be under the musical direction of Mr. Henry L. Harlow, the organizations playing alternately.

At 9 P. M., Grand Finale, in a

Display of Fireworks,

from a tall stand on Market Square. There will be a fine illumination of the Square with Bengolas and Colored Fires, repeated at intervals.

No. 1, Star and Sun;
2, Cascade;
7, Motto with Halo;
4, Palm Tree;
5, Yew Tree;
6, Japanese Glory;
7, Chinese Fan;

Jottings.

No CHRONICLE to-morrow.

Fourth of July, to-day. For full details of the day's proceedings, see the official programme in another column; also, see City Marshal's notice concerning cracker and pistol firing, etc., at certain hours of the day.

Mr. James H. Dow will be starter and time-keeper, at the boat-races to-day; Dr. James R. May, referee; Messrs. Lyman D. Spalding, Wm. A. Ashe, George E. Hanson and John Wells, judges.

The balloon ascension will take place from the field near the Universalist church, as per previous announcement.

During the literary exercises in the forenoon, from 10:30 A. M., to 12 M., and after seven o'clock P. M., during the dress parade and fireworks, Market square will be roped off to teams from Rockingham Bank across to Moses' store, Daniel street at Penhallow, Market street at Ladd, Church street at Warren, and Congress at Joy's store across to Congress Hall.

The notice of City Marshal Marden in another column prohibiting the use of firearms and other like disturbing noises during certain hours of the day, is made at the request of a large number of our citizens. The boys will have plenty of time to enthuse patriotically before and after the hours designated.

The course for the the tub-race is from the judges' stand to a point in direct line from Fernald's wharf to the Baptist church in Kittery. The boat-races will be as advertised.

The Summer arrangement of the Eastern and Maine Central Railroad went into operation on Monday. By this arrangement a train leaves Boston for this city at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, and one leaves this city for Boston at 6 o'clock Sunday evening. The changes in and additions to the time-table will be found in the advertisement.

Certain correspondents may evince their dislike to street singing as much as pleases them, but we are ever ready to listen to the harmonious melodies whose "gentle whisperings" awoke us on Friday evening. We hope the ladies and gentlemen whose voices blended so finely on that occasion will continue to give their parting songs in the immediate vicinity of Islington and Dover streets.

At the High School on Saturday forty-one candidates for admission were examined. Of these thirty-seven were admitted unconditionally, and the remaining four were conditioned in arithmetic. The class are unusually well fitted, and show the fidelity of their late teachers, as well as the good effects of the rigid examination to which the candidates of last year were subjected. As only eleven graduate from the High School this year, the school will be larger in number next September than for some three or four years past.

The new steam fire engine "Moses H. Goodrich" is to arrive Wednesday, and will be tested in the evening.

The stylish teams from the seaside resorts, seen on our streets, indicate that the season at Rye has fairly set in.

People at the Capital now regard Portsmouth as the most military city in the State.

The Manchester Mirror speaks of Representative Hatch being "ready to give his time-honored speech on the purity of elections, and exhibit his well worn navy yard ballot."

Persons who predicted that raising the grade of the sidewalks on Richards avenue would destroy the trees, are happy to note that none of the fine elms that grace either side of this beautiful avenue are at all impaired by the change in the grade.

Mr. Magoon, an old gentleman from Raymond, thinks if Sheriff Rowe is to be removed he shall show his resentment by leaving the jail where he is confined upon a charge of wife poisoning, and the Supreme Court Judges say he can leave if he will furnish bail in the sum of five thousand dollars. Mr. Conner, Clerk of the Court, is to come here this week and receive the recognizances. Jacob S. James, Esq., late democratic candidate for County commissioner, it is said will become one of his sureties.

Callender's Georgia Minstrels, undoubtedly the best "slave troup" that ever travelled, appear at the Temple this evening, in a new "Centennial programme." A worse evening could not be selected for an indoor entertainment, as the free outside attractions will operate powerfully against it; but those who attend will get their money's worth.

Messrs. J. E. Ham & Co. have removed to No. 27 Market street, (next door to the Ten Cents Savings Bank,) where they will continue the tailoring business in all its branches. They have a large stock of cloths, summer goods, furnishings, etc., for sale cheap.

A Kittery apple tree which is fairly loaded down with apples as big as large marbles, on the 1st instant thought proper to celebrate by opening out a lot of blossoms on one of its topmost limbs. The most reasonable explanation of such eccentric conduct is that the limb was frost-bitten and nearly killed during the winter, and started into tardy activity by the recent hot weather.

The Old Ladies' Home.

Editors Chronicle: I deeply regret that a misapprehension exists in the minds of many Christian people of this city with regard to the purposes to which this institution is to be devoted. It is for the sole use of aged, virtuous Protestant females of good character, and, though originally intended for the poor and friendless, others who are possessed of something of this world's goods will be admitted.

I am happy to say that thus far God has prospered the endeavors of the noble-hearted Christians who have so generously sustained me in my labors. Many articles of furniture and other necessaries have been received, among them the desk at which the late Rev. Dr. Bouroughs officiated for many years at St. John's Church, which, with some slight modifications, will be admirably suited for the chapel of the Home.

The Training Ship.

That the United States ship "Sabine" is located at this naval station as a training ship for boys is pretty well known; but few persons outside the navy have any definite idea of the ends aimed to be accomplished through the instrumentality of school ships, or the means employed to transform the youthful raw recruits into suitable material to make able seamen and first-class petty officers of. Before describing briefly the routine of a school ship, as exemplified on board the "Sabine," we will correct a very prevalent error as to the class of boys enlisted, the impression being very general that a naval training ship is a kind of floating reform school, where boys so hopelessly bad that their parents can do nothing with them are taken in to be reformed—a sort of a compromise between liberty and the State Prison, to which youths too bad to be entitled to enjoy the one and not quite bad enough to deserve the other, are sent to be made into decent men if possible, by naval discipline. No idea could be more wholly incorrect than this. The object of the training ships is to provide superior men for the naval service, and boys of bad character are exactly the kind not wanted. Nowhere can a petty pilferer do more mischief, and nowhere is he more heartily despised, than on board ship; and boys of drunken habits are not likely to make steady, reliable seamen. The first enquiry concerning a proposed recruit is as to his moral character; he must be either well known or properly vouched for; and if anything is found against him which would make a merchant hesitate to take him into the counting-room he is instantly rejected, no matter what his mental or physical qualifications may be. Thus the boys on a training ship, instead of being a precious lot of young scamps sent there to keep them from the House of Correction, are in reality young men of good character, carefully selected with sole reference to their future usefulness as naval seamen.

Once enlisted, the first lesson the embryo sailor is set to learn is to keep himself clean and tidy. Not that these boys are not as neat in their habits as other boys; but the rigid purity of person and clothing necessary for the preservation of health in a densely-populated man-of-war is something to astonish the average lands man. It is easy enough for the young man on shore, when he can get a hot bath with all the fixings for a trifle, and put on clean shirts as often as he likes, to be clean; yet any old passenger-ship captain will say that of a hundred such at sea, passengers, where conveniences they have been accustomed to are wanting, not one in a dozen will keep himself clean enough to pass muster on board a man-of-war; and we have heard a gentleman, who commanded a regiment of soldiers during the late war say the hardest job he had to do (and he saw a good deal of warm work, too,) was to make his men keep themselves clean. For the first month the enlisted boy is in the tailor's class, where he is taught to mend and make his clothes, wash, etc.,—the boys being "sorted out" into classes according to their proficiency in drill, and for convenience of instruction.

The daily routine is as follows: at 5 o'clock A. M., reveille and "all hands;" 8 o'clock, breakfast; 9:30, quarters; 9:40 to 10:00, great gun exercise, pivot gun exercise, sending yards up and down (by different classes); 10:40 to 11:45, studies (including reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar, history, etc.); noon, dinner; 1:10 to 2 P. M., knotting and splicing, and signals; 2:10 to 3:15, excercises aloft, and boats; 3:30 to 4:45, infantry drill, howitzer, single-sticks, and Gattling gun; 5 o'clock, supper. Monday and Friday mornings are sacred as washing days; on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, upper yards are crossed and sent down; on Wednesday, fire stations, boat exercise and battalion drill are in order; and Wednesday afternoon after 1:10 o'clock, and all Saturday afternoon are devoted to liberty and recreation. Boys of the first class, who show a commendable eagerness to excel and do not break their leave, are allowed to go on shore in the evening whenever they desire; and as there is no chaplain attached to the ship all the boys are allowed on Sunday to attend the several churches they prefer.

On a recent visit to the "Sabine" we found one class, numbering seventeen, (a gun's crew,) exercising with an eleven-inch Rodman gun—rather a heavy plaything for boys to handle; another class was in the tailor's charge; two classes were at study in the school-room; others were at work sailmaking, splicing, etc., and eight or ten were on the foot-ropes of a light yard crossed on the ship's foremast some twenty feet from the deck, gaining a practical knowledge of how to reef and furl a sail under the instruction of an officer within easy speaking distance. The scene was a quietly busy one, and we came away satisfied that the training ship plan, if carried out to the extent it should be, would in a few years result in manning the navy with a better and more efficient set of seamen than ever before. A boy of good natural abilities, on leaving the "Sabine" after a year's study and drill, will have something more than a smattering knowledge of theoretical and practical seamanship, including signaling and boating; he will know much of the theory and practice of gunnery, including howitzer exercise afloat and ashore, of infantry drill, pistol practice and broadsword exercise; he will know something about draughting sails; and he will probably know how to swim,—for that is one of the studies, too. The maximum number of boys allowed the "Sabine" is one hundred, the number at present on board being about eighty; of these thirty-four are shortly to be transferred to the U. S. S. "Adams."

The officers of the "Sabine" evidently take a deep interest in their work, and spare no exertion in their endeavors to turn out classes of well drilled and capable seamen, to be a credit to themselves and a valuable addition, morally and physically, to the strength of the navy. The discipline, though of course somewhat strict, is judiciously enforced; the punishments inflicted for minor wrong-doings are light, the moral effect of example, in teaching the boys to respect themselves that they may be respected by others, being more relied on than harsh measures of repression. Quite a library has been gathered by the officers for the use of the boys, who are thus encouraged to cultivate a taste for reading; and they are allowed to go on shore on the island near the ship every evening to play ball or indulge in any other harmless and healthful recreation. The list of officers is as follows:

Commander A. R. Yates, commanding; Lieut. Comdr. F. A. Cook, executive officer; Lieutenants, W. W. Rhoades, A. Dunlap, F. H. Delano; Paymaster, G. H. Griffing; Surgeon, F. M. Dearborne; Asst. Surgeon, R. C. Persons; Boatswain, F. A. Dran; Gunner, Jas. Thayer; Carpenter, W. A. Barry; Sailmaker, H. Hanson; Captain's Clerk, F. H. Holbrook; Paymaster's Clerk, J. Vanrankin.

The boys now on the "Sabine" are from the following places: Amesbury, Bridgewater, Boston, Chelsea, Granville, Lawrence, Malden, Middleboro', Natick, Lowell,—in Massachusetts; Rochester, Manchester, Great Falls, Newmarket, Hampton, Tilton,—in this State; Kittery, Eliot, Kennebunk, Portland,—in Maine; and St. Albans, Vermont.

Applications for enlistment are made to the chief of the Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting, or to the commanding officers of the training ships.

Since the foregoing was in type we have received the following item of news: Orders were received at the navy yard from Washington, on Monday, to put the training ship "Sabine" and the relief steamer "Speedwell" out of commission. The boys on the training ship are to be transferred to the "Wabash," at Boston.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

Daily Chronicle.

—There was a big row going on inside of the saloon, and a patient-looking policeman was standing in front of the door. "Why don't you go in and arrest him?" inquired the crowd. "It's his birthday, and he pays taxes on $40,000 worth of property; but if he flings one more glass and gives one more whoop, out he comes," replied the considerate policeman. Just then there was a jingling of glasses and a yell that would have turned a Comanche's head gray in a minute, and in less than a minute that policeman was pushing a bare-headed, but well dressed gentleman toward the lock-up, at a rate of speed that hardly gave his friends a chance to rally with an appearance bond, before he was under lock and key.—San Antonio (Cal.) Herald.

—In the civil courts of the District of Columbia, custom requires the winner of a suit to give the jury two dollars. The usage has come down from the old Maryland law requiring the payment of a dollar and sixty cents to the jury, that being their only remuneration. Recently the verdict of a dollar displeased a contestant, and he refused to honor the custom until directed to do so by Judge Humphreys. The jury usually spend the money in drinks.

—Dom Pedro asked Longfellow why it was that in America people built their fences alongside of currant bushes. Longfellow said he couldn't tell.

Answers to Correspondents.

In answer to "Alphabetical," in your last issue, for a remedy for consumption in its first stages, I can recommend Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," if taken according to directions, for it has been thoroughly tried in my family, and the results were glorious. "Alphabetical" must not expect one bottle to do the work—my wife took three bottles before she could discover any change, but after the the third bottle every dose seemed to strengthen the lungs, and now she is well and hearty. If "Alphabetical" will write to me I will get witnesses to the above.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World,"

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 19, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Wha helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

MAGIC

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-frying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 19, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any state meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any scliers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the said ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

A. B. SHERBURNE, M. D., JOHN J. GROGAN, CHARLES J. MASON, Health Officers.

INCREASES THE QUANTITY, IMPROVES THE QUALITY ARMSTRONG'S LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER. Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round. BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES. Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia. In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also brings the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, cocoa shells, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it. 35 Cents Per Package. WHOLESALE DEPOT: 106 MARKET ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

—A writer in one of the magazines says "Nemesis is swifter than a sleuth hound; no man can escape her." That seems to indicate that Nemesis can strike a pretty good gait. We never had much experience with sleuth hounds ourselves, but if they can get over the ground between the front door and the fence any faster than an impassioned bull pup, we are willing to climb a tree and look on. We regret that the writer neglects to say whether Nemesis can climb. If she can, however, it looks as if a man's only safety was in going under the bed.—Norwich Bulletin.

—She had been fishing for trout very long and patiently without catching any, when her husband espied her, and asked her what sort of flies she used. "Oh," she answered, "some nice ones that I bought in Paris on purpose." "But," exclaimed the husband, pulling out her line and looking at the flies, "these flies will never catch trout. Who ever heard of anybody fishing for trout with flies of this color?" "Why," replied the wife, "they are all right—they match my dress, you see!"

—"You never saw my hands as dirty as that," said a petulent mother to her little girl. "No, but your ma did, I'll bet," was the reply.

ESTABLISHED IN 1835. THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL —IN THE— UNITED STATES. No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y. SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES. Dr. YOUNG, SUCCESSOR TO Dr. TELLER, DECEASED. The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the institution. Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office. LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accomodation and entirely private. YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor. Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid. TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichot's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box. DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Motte's celebrated Galvanic Belts. Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to DR. S. Y. R. YOUNG, 9 Beaver St., Albany, N. Y. Office Hours—Daily from 8 A. M., to 8 P. M. Daily Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JULY 6, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The Centennial Fourth

Was celebrated throughout the country on a scale never before attempted, and which probably will not be attempted again for years to come—possibly not before the close of another century of the Nation's independent existence. In many places the celebration commenced on the 3d. In Philadelphia, New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City and other places there were immense torch-light processions, and illuminations surpassing anything ever seen in those cities before. San Francisco commenced a three days' celebration on Monday, with a grand military review and sham fight, the burning of a fireship in the bay, and a cannonade by the fleet in which over two hundred heavy shot and shell were fired. At midnight huge fires were kindled, cannons fired and bells rung in nearly every hamlet in the land; and hardly a village but had some kind of a special celebration during the day.

At Laconia, in this State, the republicans commenced the celebration on the evening of the 3d by raising a huge Hayes and Wheeler campaign flag, the streets being thronged and bands of music adding inspiration to the occasion.

In Washington the only celebration of the day, beyond the firing of salutes and ringing of bells, was by the Society of Old Inhabitants and volunteer militia, a large proportion of the inhabitants having been absent for the day in Philadelphia.

As the celebration was on so much more extensive a scale and the consumption of gunpowder so much greater than ever before, the list of accidents will probably when completed be longer than ever before. The first fatal accident reported was in New York, where an explosion of fireworks in a cigar store killed a clerk, Francis Lent, 17 years old.

Augustus Webster was killed at Kennebunk, Me., and Charles Sawyer at Holyoke, by the premature discharge of cannon. Similar accidents tore off one man's arm at Greenfield, Mass., and a hand each from two men at Deerfield; and John Burke was badly hurt at Concord, and Herbert Bartlett at Woonsocket, in the same way. Five men were killed in Philadelphia by a fireworks explosion. Fires occurred in many places, but none yet reported were very destructive.

Democratic Testimony.

A private letter just received from New York, from a gentleman of fairness and intelligence, says: "I had a good opinion of Tilden until I come among those that know him, but I find they all agree that his show of reform is a humbug.'" The recent Albany conference is corroborative of all this testimony. The controlling politicians, as well as the masses of the people in the democratic party in New York, who can draw a dividing line between an honest man and a Bengal tiger or a hypocrite, are alike well aware that Tilden cannot carry his own State, should he, by the wrath of God, be nominated for the Presidency. If there are potent reasons why the democracy of Tilden's own State are opposed to his nomination, there are more, and greater reasons, why the democracy of the West and the South should be intelligent and honorable enough to resist his bribes and defeat his nomination. We do not apprehend his nomination, but we are not insensible to the power of money and management. There are a few facts concerning Sam. Tilden, which, we trust, will sink into the minds of Western and Southern democrats.

1. He cannot carry his own State in November.

2. He cannot carry any Northern State.

3. He is a hypocrite, a political swindle, has long been a public plunderer, and is really the only disreputable candidate prominently named on the democratic side.

4. He did what he could to defeat the democratic party of Ohio in 1875, expending his money, and subsidizing the Eastern democratic press to that end, knowing that Ohio's victory was his defeat, and loving Tilden more than the democratic party. He has earned the enmity of the West and South.

5. He has sought this high office by methods so unprecedentedly shameless and disreputable that it would be an everlasting stigma upon a democratic convention to nominate him, and a reproach upon the American people to elect him if nominated.

6. Upon the foremost question of the hour he is a most pitiless foe of the interests of the West and Sourh. He is the unscrupulous oppressor of the great, struggling industries of the vast producing sections of the country. No republican Administration could be more hostile to them than would his.

7. Should "God's Providence, seeming estranged," permit his nomination, by whom and what would he be nominated? By the servile, conscienceless tools that money can purchase; by the most corrupt influence that ever entered into a Presidential nomination; by the system on which all other quack medicines are sold—advertising—and even respectable medical associations read out of the profession the "Doctors" that will advertise. It would seem that the democratic party should have as high a respect for the good name of the party and the Government as the venders of pills have for their craft. It could not but be that a man educated in cunning, in hypocrisy, in iniquity, nominated in corruption and shameless effrontery, even though his millions could elect him, would give us the most corrupt Administration the country has ever known. "Neither imperial dignities, nor the gloom of solitude," said Tacitus, "could save Tiberius from himself." And Tilden could not rise above himself, or above the sources of his power. Cincin. Enquirer, June 5, 1876.

Political.

Hendricks was among the few United States Senators who voted against the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Constitutional Amendments on their final passage.

"Tilden was in every sense of the word, the machine candidate. He was supported from the first by all the political wire-pullers and tricksters and by the railroad corporations and great monopolies of the country. They all recognized in him a kindred spirit, and consequently they made him their candidate. Tilden's friends took St. Louis by storm. They showered the great reformer's money right and left. They engaged all the parlors in the hotels; hired shop windows in which to place the portrait of their favorite; hung banners bearing his name from almost every house, and sounded his praises through nearly every democratic newspaper for miles around. The power of a perfect organization, and above everything else the power of an endless purse was never before in the history of American politics so well exemplified as it has been here."—St. Louis Correspondent N. Y. Times.

The Chicago Times supports Tilden, but a few days before the nomination was made it declared that "Hayes would beat Tilden as easily as Grant defeated Greeley." That is pretty strong crow to be obliged to eat.

The mixed aspect of the democratic ticket is rather hard on the rank and file of the party, as is indicated by this item from a Western exchange: "Podunk is all ablaze for Heldon and Tildricks. Hard-money and greenbacks is the rallying cry of the excited population."

Washington is full of Confederate army any navy officers, many of them West Pointers, who deserted to the enemy in the war, all engineering for the reduction of both branches of the service. Everybody knows that the reduction, if forced by the House of Representatives, will be temporary. The best officers, those who are at a time of life when they can enter upon new employments, those whose education, training, and capacity make them most valuable to the country, will be the first to go. And when the army and navy are again filled up to the necessities of the service, the Confederate officers hope that they will fill the places. Everybody who has given attention to the matter, knows that if we are to take ordinary care of the fortifications, if we are to give any armed support to the civil authority, in cases of sudden emergency, if we are to protect the frontier from the tomahawk and scalping knife, we must have an army at least as large as that now on foot; that if we are to give any show of protection to our commerce, if we are to preserve the organization of a navy fitted to command the respect of foreign powers, and preserve our flag from the insult of every petty State, we must have a navy equal to that now afloat. To reduce either now will be a measure of false economy for which the treasury will have to pay dearly, and which may involve the country in difficulties more serious than the cost in money. But economy, true or false, has nothing to do with the exertions of the Confederate officers who are seeking only their own return to the flag which they have insulted and rebelled against, and who are ready, should the occasion offer, to violate their military oath and engage in the revival of the lost cause.—Providence Journal.

Judge David Davis, one of the prominent candidates for the democratic nomination for the presidency, is said to have come out for Hayes and Wheeler.

—William Kerr, Superintendent of Schools in Hamilton, Gratiot county, Michigan, was recently fined $15 for disturbing a school. The school ma'am says he sat with his feet on top of the desks and across the aisle, creating a laugh among the scholars, and then demanded order in school. The teacher told him to behave himself first, and then she could keep order. He replied, "You are getting pretty big, ain't you? If you are too big for your shoes I will get you a new pair." She dismissed the school, and the Superintendent annulled her certificate.

—A frontiersman was requested by the sheriff to come to the jail to identify an inmate who was charged with a heinous offence. "I'll go and look at him, but I'm not going to be familiar with him until he apologizes for shooting my brother-in-law last fall," was the naive reply of the guileless child of the flower-bespangled prairies.

—A member of a New York jury, in a case where $100,000 were involved, recently asked the judge to oblige him by explaining the meaning of two words which had been used a good deal during the trial—the words plaintiff and defendant. A member of another jury admitted that he did not know what was meant by a "conveyance."

Revive the Drooping Energies.

When the physical energies droop, revive them with that safest and most active of tonics, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. By a timely use of this salutary and agreeable medicine you will save yourself from positive disease; for, be assured that the languor and loss of strength and appetite which troubles you is in fact the precursor of some malady or, perhaps, a serious nature. Appetite, tranquility of the nervous system, and pristine vigor, will assuredly be restored if the Bitters are used systematically, and the alimentary disturbance, which, in nine cases out of ten gives rise to debility and nervousness, be entirely removed. Regularity of the bowels, active biliary secretion, the expulsion of impurities from the blood through the kidneys, are also among the beneficent effects of this admirable restorative.

There is on exhibition at the Centennial a family Cooking Range, named after the renowned New York restaurateur—Delmonico.

The name suggests good cooking. As there is much in a name, we consider the "Delmonico" range quite fortunate in this respect.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

A Fragrant Breath and Pearly Teeth Are easily attained, and those who fail to avail themselves of the means, should not complain when accused of gross neglect. The SOZODONT will speedily eradicate the cause of a foul breath, beautifying and preserving the teeth to the oldest age.

Spalding's Glue is useful in every house.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam has effected a greater number of remarkable cures than all other cough remedies in the world combined. Try it.

☞ That yellow tinge of the complexion is a sure indication of bile in the blood. It is effectually removed by using GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over $50 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

Centaur Liniments.

The Quickest, Surest and Cheapest Remedies.

Physicians recommend, and Farriers declare that no such remedies have ever before been in use. Words are cheap, but the proprietors of these articles will present trial bottles to medical men, gratis, as a guarantee of what they say.

The Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper, will cure Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Sore Nipples, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, Swellings, Sprains, and any ordinary

FLESH, BONE OR MUSCLE AILMENT.

We make no pretense that this article will cure Cancer, restore lost bones, or give health to a whiskey soaked carcass. But it will always reduce inflammation and allay pain.

It will extract the poison of bites and stings, and heal burns or scalds without a scar. Palsy, weak Back, Caked Breasts, Earache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions readily yield to its treatment.

Henry Black, of Ada, Hardin Co., Ohio, says: "My wife has had rheumatism for five years—no rest, no sleep—could scarcely walk across the floor. She is now completely cured by the use of Centaur Liniment. We all feel thankful to you, and recommend your wonderful medicine to all our friends.'

James Hurd, of Zanesville, O., says: "The Centaur Liniment cured my Neuralgia."

Alfred Tush, of Newark, writes: "Send me one dozen bottles by express. The Liniment has saved my leg. I want to distribute it, &c."

The sale of this Liniment is increasing rapidly‡

THE YELLOW CENTAUR LINIMENT

is for the tough skin, flesh and muscles of

HORSES, MULES AND ANIMALS.

We have never yet seen a case of Spavin, Sweeny, Ring-bone, Wind-gall, Scratches or Poll-Evil, which this Liniment would not speedily benefit, and we never saw but a few cases which it would not cure. It will cure when anything can. It is folly to spend $20, for a Farrier, when one dollars' worth of Centaur Liniment will do better. The following is a sample of the testimony produced:

W. P. Hopkins, Postmaster, Piqua, O., says:

"Centaur Liniment can't be beat. It cures every time."

YELVERTON, O., March 2, 1874.

"The Centaur Liniments are the best selling medicines we have ever had. The demand is very great for it, and we cannot afford to be without it.

"P. H. HISEY & SON."

JEFFERSON, MO., March 10, 1873.

"Some time ago I was shipping hosres to St. Louis. I got one badly crippled in the car. With great difficulty I got him to the stable. The stable-keeper gave me a bottle of your Centaur Liniment, which I used with such success that in two days the horse was active and nearly well. I have been a veterinary surgeon for thirty years, but your Liniment beats anything I ever used.

"A. J. M'CARTY, Veterinary Surgeon."

For a postage stamp we will mail a Centaur Almanac, containing hundreds of certificates, from every State in the Union. These Liniments are now sold by all dealers in the country.

Castoria.

Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Hyannis, Mass., experimented in his private practice for twenty years to produce a combination that would have the properties of CASTOR OIL without its unpleasant taste and griping effect.

His preparation was sent for, near and far, till finally he gave it the name of Castoria, and put it up for sale. It is very wonderful in its effects, particularly with the disordered stomachs and bowels of children. It assimilates the food, cures sour stomach and wind colic, regulates the bowels, expels worms, and may be relied upon in croup.

As a pleasant, effective and perfectly safe cathartic remedy it is superior to Castor Oil, Cordials and Syrups. It does not contain alchohol, and is adapted to any age.

By regulating the stomach and bowels of cross and sickly children they become good-natured and healthy. They can enjoy sleep and mothers have rest. The Castoria is put up at the Laboratory of J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey Street, New York.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

The Glorious Fourth,

Notwithstanding the strong likelihood at one time that it would pass without any public recognition in this city, was very creditably observed after all, thanks to the earnest efforts of the members of the committee having the matter in charge, and the liberality of the citizens. At an early hour on the evening of the third the boys, young and old, commenced business with pistols, blunderbusses, crackers, tin horns and all other noise producing implements they could secure, and with which they succeeded in creating a tremendous racket, which was pretty well kept up throughout the night. At midnight a big pile of tar-barrels was set on fire on Market Square, and made a splendid blaze; the fire was kept up for some hours, according to the usual custom, by the voluntary contributions of barrels, boxes, etc., by the boys. At sunrise a national salute was fired by the Light Artillery, and the bells were rung for an hour. Shortly after 9 o'clock the procession started, in the following order:

City Marshal, mounted;

Chief Marshal of the day, Col. Jerome C. Butler, with Messrs. M. T. Betton, Oliver S. Loomis, George E. Hanson and Samuel Dodge, aids.

FIRST DIVISION.

Marshal, Capt. E. G. Peirce, Jr., with Messrs. C. B. Mason, J. Vanrankin, H. W. Waldron and Horace Moses, aids.

Naval Band, H. L. Harlow leader.

Battalion from United States training ship "Sabine," Comdr. A. R. Yates, U. S. N., commanding: 1st Co., Lieut. A. Dunlap; 2d Co., Lieut. F. H. Delano.

Portsmouth Heavy Artillery, Lieut. David Urch.

Portsmouth Light Artillery, (with field pieces, handsomely trimmed,) Capt. Thomas E. O. Marvin.

SECOND DIVISION.

Marshall, Dr. S. C. Whittier, with Messrs. Oliver M. Knight, Henry H. Ham, Jr., Plumer D. Norton and O. D. Bryant, aids.

Rye Cornet Band, ——— Rand leader.

Mt. Sinai Encampment, I. O. O. F., S. Falkner, C. P.

Strawberry Bank Encampment, I. O. O. F., J. E. Colcord, C. P.

Master of exercises, Orator of the day, City Government, U. S. Naval officers and others, in carriages.

THIRD DIVISION.

Marshal, C. A. Hazlett, Esq., with Messrs. C. C. Akerman, J. S. Perry, C. O. Walker and H. Wendell, aids.

Kearsarge Drum and Fife Band, A. Kay leader.

Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, with Assistants.

Dearborn S. F. Engine, No. 1.
Sagamore S. F. Engine, No. 2.

Moses H. Goodrich S. F. Engine Company, No. 4.
Extinguisher Company No. 5.
Extinguisher Company No. 6.
Citizens in carriages.

The Veteran Artillery Association did not appear in the procession, as owing to the late date at which an invitation to participate was received a considerable number of the members had made arrangements to appear with other organizations. Dirigo Encampment, I. O. O. F., of Kittery, was represented by a delegation in the ranks of the Portsmouth Encampments. Kearsarge S. F. Engine, No. 3, and her company, were held in reserve at the engine house; Dearborn No. 1 has no company, her men having been transferred to the new machine, Moses H. Goodrich, No. 4,—and by way of celebrating the Fourth and their reception of a new engine, this company appeared in an entirely new uniform, hats and all, and made a very creditable appearance. The Heavy Artillery, under First Lieut. David Urch, kept up their high reputation for steadiness in marching and proficiency in drill. The Light Artillery, Capt. T. E. O. Marvin, appeared for the first time in their uniform,—light blue pants, red coats, and very handsome helmets with red plumes,—and attracted much attention. The battalion of sailor boys from the training ship "Sabine," composed of two companies under Lieutenants Dunlap and Delano, the battalion being commanded by Comdr. A. R. Yates, exhibited a proficiency in drill surprising to any one not personally aware of the earnest attention to their duty of the officers of the ship. The flag carried by the Second N. H. Regiment during the war was borne at the head of the procession. As a whole the procession was good—better than could reasonably have been anticipated considering the brief period between the time the committee got fairly to work and the Fourth, and the intense heat of the day.

The route was through Market, Deer, Vaughan, Congress, Islington, Union and Middle streets to Haymarket Square, around the reservoir and back Middle street, through Austin, Cabot, State, Middle, Court, Pleasant, South, Water, State, Middle and Congress streets to Market Square, where the procession was massed by division, and then dismissed.

During the march one of the Light Artillery, Mr. Thomas A. Prior, and two members of the Naval Band, were overcome by the heat and compelled to fall out of the procession, but we do not learn that they were seriously affected.

After the procession was dismissed the literary exercises were in order, and took place at a stand in front of the Athenæum. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Alden, and Mr. R. H. Perkins, Principal of the Haven School, after a few very appropriate introductory remarks, read the Declaration of Independence. The Orator of the Day, Rev. A. J. Patterson, D. D., of Boston Highlands, was then introduced by James P. Bartlett, Esq., and made an earnest, patriotic and interesting address, which was enjoyed by all who could find shade under the neighboring trees, or their umbrellas. On the conclusion of the address the bells struck up for another hour's ringing, and the crowd made for the wharves to see the regatta.

The regatta was a most pleasing feature. A half hour after noon found the wharves lined with spectators, the river dotted with hundreds of sail and row boats, the judges' stand at Dover Railroad wharf alive with excitement, the Naval Band being present and discoursing some of its finest music. A fine start was made by three crews: the Lelaps, in the four-oared shell "Crest;" the Commodore's barge from the navy yard, John Pierce, coxswain; and the gig from the Receiving Ship Sabine, A. Schreiter, coxswain. The shell drew the inside position, the barge being next. The course was straight-away to the stone beacon, which was rounded from west to east, and return—distance two-and-a-half miles. The "Crest" took the lead from the start, but the race while nearing the beacon was a handsome one, the "Crest" rounding it first with the barge immediately at her stern. Up to Long Wharf, there was another well-pulled race, the crew of the barge endeavoring by a well-timed spurt to collar their opponents. The "Lelaps," however, responded in kind and soon increased their lead to several boat-lengths, which they held to the close, the gig being the last boat in. The time of the winning boat was 15 minutes and 30 seconds. The tub race was a laughable affair, there being three entries, as follows: Daniel Crowley, Daniel McCarty, and William Jones. All the contestants were capsized in their eagerness to win, and were lifted into their tubs, bailed them out with the buckets they had for seats and went in for success again with renewed vigor and zeal. The race afforded lots of fun to the gazing thousands. The course was from the Judges' stand to the Spring Market and the winner was Wm. Jones. Crowley being second.

There were but two entries for the single-scull race, Messrs. Arthur W. Walker and Shirley B. Cunningham being the contestants. Both had endured the fatigue of the exhausting march of the procession and Mr. Walker had just successfully pulled in the winning boat of the first race. Mr. Walker won the inside position and pulled a very direct course to the beacon, while Mr. Cunningham took a course that led him into opposing eddies and lengthened his route considerably. Mr. Walker was an easy winner in 22 minutes and 30 seconds.

Prizes were awarded as follows: Crest, $17; Commodore's barge, $15. Tub-race—Jones, $10; Crowley, $5. Single-scull race—Walker, $10.

Mr. James H. Dow acted as starter, Dr. James R. May as referee, Geo. E. Hansen, John H. Wells, Lieut. Lyman D. Spalding, U. S. N., and Wm. A. Ashe as judges, the last two being stationed at the stone beacon. The details of the regatta were in charge of C. A. Hazlett and James H. Dow, and the promptness and success of all the arrangements showed that they were entrusted to thoroughly competent hands.

The balloon ascension appointed for the afternoon was postponed until half-past 2 o'clock on the afternoon of the 5th, as the wind was blowing from such a quarter that the voyager would have been carried out to sea had he ascended. The dress parade on Market square in the evening was also given up, on account of the heavy rain which fell shortly before the time set for the parade.

The band concert by the Naval, Drum and Fife and Rye Cornet bands was given from the stand used by the speakers during the forenoon, the bands alternately occupying it and furnishing music liberal in quantity and excellent in quality until a late hour. The fireworks were fine, and were set off without many delays and without accident; and at about 11 o'clock the somewhat noisy yet good-natured crowds that had filled Market square up to that hour dispersed to their homes.

Salutes were fired at the navy yard at sunrise, noon and sunset, and morning and evening by the Light Artillery; and the bells were rung as usual on the Fourth.

Residents along the route of the procession provided an abundance of iced-water, at short intervals. At the junction of Deer and Vaughan streets Mr. John S. Treat, the active President of the Reform Club, had a hogshead set up and filled with iced-water, with a faucet and drinking vessels on each street, the hogsheads being decorated with evergreen and the motto, "Ho, ye that thirstetb, come, take a drink." The hogshead was entirely emptied during the day.

No serious accidents have been reported. The residence of Mr. George Green, on High street, took fire on the roof shortly after noon, causing a partial alarm of fire; a few buckets of water put the fire out. At about five o'clock, a small boy named Eaton was run over by a buggy, on Congress street, and rendered insensible, but we are informed he was not seriously injured. Several boys were more or less burned by powder explosion, but nothing serious occurred in that line.

Two youngsters had purchased blank cartridges for pistol firing, and amused themselves during the day making all the noise possible. This monotonous state of things began to pall upon them as the sun entered upon its downward course, and one not knowing that a ball cartridge had accidentally been purchased with the blank ones, remarked as his companion finished loading the pistol: "Here, ——, you may just fire at this," pointing at a portion of his body where the bones are not prominent. No sane boy could resist such temptation. The pistol was discharged and a surgeon probed the wound for five inches before the ball was found. The wounded hero now sleeps on his stomach.

Jottings.

Messrs. Hickey and McCarthy of the Portsmouth Light Artillery Company, gave an exhibition drill at the City Hall, Newburyport, on the evening of July 4th, and were each presented with a specimen of Newburyport silver in the shape of a very fine medal on which is the following inscription: "Presented to (name inserted) by his numerous friends of Newburyport, Mass., July 4th, 1876."

The balloon ascension, Wednesday afternoon, was entirely successful, a large crowd being present to see the "machine" go up. On being liberated it ascended rapidly some hundreds of feet, and sailed over the city to the northward, attracting the attention of pretty nearly everybody. The aeronaut, Mr. George S. Peduzzi, soon threw out ballast and went up higher, where he met a current that commenced taking him to the eastward; not wanting to go to go to sea, probably, he came down from his giddy elevation, a short distance, and then sailed away to the north and west out of sight. The balloon descended safely near Bartlett's Hill, in Eliot, and Mr. Peduzzi returned to this city at about half-past five o'clock.

The squall on the afternoon of the 4th was severely felt along the line of territory lying between Rye Centre and the Lafayette road. Limbs were twisted off, trees uprooted, and considerable damage done along the pathway of the storm. The new dwelling house recently erected near the residence of Mr. Thomas Lang was blown from its foundations and completely demolished. The track of the severest part of the squall appears to have been about a mile wide. The shower was also very heavy in Stratham and Greenland.

News and Notes.

Servia has a regular army of 12,000 men, and an organized reserve force of about 150,000 men, She enters the war under a young prince barely twenty-two years of age, and with a universal approval of the war by the people. Her lands are fertile, producing the food crops abundantly; her manufactures are sufficient for all home purposes; and her heavily-wooded hills are easy of defence. If it were certain that Servia and her insurgent allies are to be left free to contend with Turkey alone, their prospects of success would be very fair; but nothing is certain with respect to this Eastern question, except that by declaring war, Servia distinctly opens it for solution. What solution the vexed problem is to receive, and what collision between great powers are to be brought about or avoided by diplomacy before the end shall be reached, can only be guessed vaguely even by the best informed and most sagacious of European statemen.—N. Y. Post.

The Worcester Gazette says that several farmers in its vicinity have discovered that quick-lime is equally efficacious with Paris green, and much more safe, in the extermination of potato bugs. If this be true —and the test is easily and cheaply made —the fact should be widely known, since the late very general use of a poison so deadly as Paris green, has been, and can hardly fail to be, productive of much mischief.

Mr. Henry A. Marsh, a lieutenant in the Third Regiment N. H. Volunteers during the war, has been appointed postmaster of Nashua.

The search for the five millions of treasure lost in the British frigate Hussar, sunk near Hell Gate in 1780, has been resumed.

Senator Morrill has accepted the Treasury appointment, and entered upon the duties of the office.

The Servians have been defeated by the Turks, losing 2000 men, killed and prisoners.

REASONS WHY FARMERS should purchase
The Halladay Wind-Mill!

It is the first reliable self-regulating Windy Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

Liver Complaint.

By R. V. Pierce, M. D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," etc., etc.

The Liver is the great depurating (purifying) organ of the system, and has very appropriately been termed the "housekeeper" of our health. I have observed in the dissecting-room, and also in making post-mortem examinations of the bodies of those who have died of different diseases, that in a large proportion of cases, the liver has given evidence of having at some time been diseased. Liver affections are equally prevalent in beasts. Every butcher knows that the livers of cattle, sheep, and swine, are ten times as frequently diseased as any other organ. A healthy liver each day secretes about two and a half pounds of bile. When it becomes torpid, congested, or if, from any cause, it be disabled in the performance of its duties, it is evident that the elements of the bile must remain in the blood, thus irritating, poisoning, and perverting, every vital process. Nature attempts to rid the system of these noxious materials by means of other organs, as the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., which become overtaxed in performing their additional labor, and are unable to withstand the pressure.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, becomes overstimulated with unhealthy blood, and fails to normally perform its functions. Hence there is dullness, headache, impairment of the memory, dizziness, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. When the blood is diseased, the skin manifests discolored spots, pimples, blotches, boils, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach and bowels, sooner or later, become affected, and constipation, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, or diarrhœa is the inevitable result.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

A sallow color of the skin, or yellowish brown spots on the face and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness, with frequent headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in the mouth, dryness of the throat, internal heat; palpitation of the heart, a dry, teasing cough, unsteady appetite, sour stomach, raising of the food, and a choking sensation in the throat; sickness and vomiting, distress, heaviness, and a bloated, or full feeling about the stomach and sides; aggravating pains in the sides, back or breast, and about the shoulders; colic pains and soreness through the bowels; constipation, alternating with diarrhœa; piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of the extremities, rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy; numbness of the limbs (especially at night,) and chills, alternating with hot flashes; kidney and other urinary difficulties, dullness, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of these symptoms will be likely to be present in any case at one time.

Treatment.—Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with small doses of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which act as an alterative on the liver. For Liver Complaint and the various affections caused by a diseased liver, these remedies are unsurpassed. The Golden Medical Discovery does not simply palliate the disease, but it produces a lasting effect. By its use, the liver and stomach are changed to an active, healthy state, the appetite is regulated, the blood purified and enriched, and the entire system renovated and restored to health.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

DR. QUAIN'S

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused by exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I had to try them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

— AND —

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 96, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or fit ow them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contes of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6 No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall exist, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 18. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by one of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter is much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

A Hearty Recommend.

The following letter, written by a western citizen to the officers of an eastern surgical institute, says the Hartford Courant, explains the cause of its writing as it is read, and with all of its peculiarities is positively genuine. It being certainly a real letter and not a joke we give a copy of it for the benefit of young people who need guidance either in spelling or in the art of forcible expression:—

———, Arkansas.

Gent.: I received your note requesting a Statement of my Infirmity Treatment and Improvement if I was Improveing. I am Cured and dooing regular days works paying my debts that I made in the last two years and suporteing my Family and I Hartily thank you Gentleman for your Sciantific Skill and Magnanimous and Generous Treatment of my case. I cannot finde in all the Drugstores in this town in the meny Patent Almanacks and Advertisements of Patent Nostrams a Certificate of a Crooked legg cured that I can copy, but Gents you cured me if that is what you want. You done it and I can whip the man that says you did not. Whip him worse than the Liberals did the Republican party in Ohio and Indiana. Lam him so his Motherinlaw would not recognize him to give him a Lecture. I am well through your liberality and I like you you are white you are liberal so is H. W. Beecher I would like to Join his Church now that I am well I like his Stile Two years ago I was taken with Spinal Come and Gett us and they got me tha did they crooked my left legg at rite angles Backwards I tride all the M. D's in the country tride Fish worm olle Bairs Greas Skunks Oil Snake Oil and all the Patent oils to relax the Cords but this did not relax worth a cent. I went to ——— and got one of your stretchers and Gentleman them old cords did Stretch you bet your Hi Muck a Muck and Gents I am well and if this suits you use it and if it dont write one yourself Put it up strong put in lots of Big words Latin words and tip a little slang for the Boys and I'll put my John Hancock to it and Send it back by return Mail.

Yours Truly.

—When the young ladies hand you a card now-a-days with the cabalistic letters Y. M. C. A. it means "you may call again."

—A youngster who had had several teeth extracted was comforted by the dentist with the assurance that they would come again. With an eye to the immediate future, little Johnie inquired, "Will they come again before dinner!"

—They sat in the parlor and he squeezed her hand. "Oh, would this hand were mine," he sighed. "Why?" simpered she. "Because if it were mine, I could knock a bullock down with it better than with a sledge hammer." The last seen of that young man he was trying to climb on the top of the house by means of the water-spout.

—John Paul has invaded Paris, and the impressions he gets of men and things are altogether pleasing. The Frenchman, he tells us, is not a big feeder. He breaks his fast in the morning with a little coffee and a good deal of bread and butter. Along toward noon, if ravenously hungry, he seizes on a radish or perhaps the hind legs of a sparrow; but for dinner—ye gods, what a gorging is there! Two spoonfuls of soup, the backbone of a smelt, a morsel of meat the size of a saddle-rock oyster, a mushroom, an onion, a clove of garlic, a smell of cheese, a gallon of red wine, and he's ready for an opera or the theatre. The Frenchman can cook a dinner, but when it comes to eating one, why, bless your soul, an Englishman can eat all around him.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

he Indian War.

Despatches from Montana report a terrible battle on Little Horn river between Gen. Custer's command and the Indians; Gen. Custer, his two brothers, nephew and brother-in-law, were killed. Gen. Custer took five companies and charged the thickest portion of the Indian camp. Nothing is known of the operations of this detachment only as they trace it by the dead. Two hundred and seven men were buried in one place, and the killed are estimated at 300, with only 31 wounded. Gen. Reno at the same time attacked the camp at another point with seven companies, but was repulsed. The Indians surrounded Gen. Reno's command and held them one day in the hills, cut from water, until Gibbons' command came in sight, when they broke camp in the night and left. The Indian loss cannot be estimated, as they bore off and cached most of their killed. The Indians got all the arms of the killed soldiers. There were fifteen commissioned officers killed. The whole Custer family died at the head of their column. The exact loss is not known. The Indian camp was from three to four miles long and was twenty miles up the Little Horn from its mouth. A later account says the battle was fought June 25th, that the Indians numbered between 2500 and 4000, and the number of troops killed was 315. Every man of the five companies that charged with Gen. Custer was killed. Lieut. Crittenden, son of Gen. Crittenden, was killed.

The Legislature.

In the House, on the forenoon of the 5th, the committee on judiciary reported a bill to establish a State Board of Health, with amendment, giving Secretary $1,000 salary instead of $500. Recommitted.

By unanimous consent a bill to annex portions of Wards 4 and 7 to Ward 5, in Concord, was introduced, read second and third times under suspension of the rules, and passed.

Bill in relation to tax on Savings Banks was amended, to make the tax one per cent., instead of three-quarters per cent., as recommended by committee on banking; also, to exempt from taxation loans on real estate in this State, where no more than 6 per cent. is charged. The bill as amended was ordered to a third reading.

Mr. Stevens of Nashua called up unfinished business, it being the address for the removal of certain officers in Rockingham county. Upon the question of the passage of so much of the address as related to the removal of William M. Hunnewell, Register of Probate, a division showed 139 yeas, 93 nays, and the address failed, not two-thirds of the whole membership of the House voting, such being necessary to carry an address. Mr. Stevens of Nashua, called for the yeas and nays. The negative of the question prevailed, the vote standing: 138 yeas, 104 nays.

In the afternoon the bill to reorganize and equalize the Councillor districts was passed, 159 to 100.

The act of 1874, relating to the taxation of students, and their right to vote, was repealed.

The bill to amend the charter of the city of Keene, (changing time of municipal election to March,) was passed; also a joint resolution providing for the pay ($200) of electors of President and Vice President.

The bill to reorganize and equalize the Senatorial districts was ordered to a third reading.

The bill to amend the charter of the city of Nashua was passed, 189 to 118.

Mr. Moore of Nashua called up the address for the removal of certain officers in Rockingham county, the question being as to the passage of so much as related to William M. Hunnewell, Register of Probate. Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth, claimed that that part of the address was lost, (by the action of the House in the morning,) as the requisite two-thirds of those present, not two-thirds of the House being in attendance, did not vote for it. The Speaker ruled that the case was the same as if no quorum voted. Mr. Hatch dissented, and the Speaker read from the constitution, and the journal of the session of 1874, (when Mr. Hatch was Speaker of the House and in a similar case ruled as Speaker Sanborn did in this one,) which sustained him in his decision, there being as was stated, more than one precedent shown for the decision. The Speaker's remarks were applauded, and Mr. Hatch's discomfiture laughed at, by the House. The question of Mr. Hunnewell's removal was then voted upon, the yeas and nays being demanded by Mr. Hatch. The result was, 185 yeas, 112 nays; so Mr. Hunnewell was removed.

Mr. Langdon, of Portsmouth, moved to adjourn. Lost, on a division, 161 to 67.

On that portion of the address relating to the removal of Calvin Page, Police Justice of Portsmouth, the vote (taken after an appeal for the official's retention by Mr. Hatch, who also called for the yeas and nays) resulted in 185 yeas, 102 nays.

The remainder of the address, referring to John G. Moses, Richard Walden and Enoch G. Adams, Pilot Commissioners of Portsmouth, was next in order, and Mr. Sise, of Portsmouth, moved to amend by striking out the word Enoch and inserting the word Ebenezer.

Mr. Hiland of Manchester, moved to adjourn. Lost, on a division, 148 to 109. Messrs. O'Connor and Hiland, both of Manchester, demanded the yeas and nays. The call resulted: 74 yeas, 174 nays; so the House refused to adjourn.

After some time spent in discussion, the House, on motion of Mr. Topliff of Manchester, at 6:35 voted to adjourn.

News and Notes.

Jonathan Pearl, 70 years old, committed suicide in Rochester on the night of the 4th.

The loss of the Dutch steamer Lieut. Gen. Kroesen in the straits of Sunda, with 230 lives, is confirmed.

A Paris evening paper has announced the approaching marriage of the ex-Empress Eugenie and Lord "Dutland," who, however, does not appear in the Peerage.

On the 4th, at St. Louis, the Boston base ball club beat the St. Louis in a twelve-innings game, 4 to 3; at Chicago the Hartfords white-washed the Chicagos, scoring 3 runs; at Louisville the Louisvilles beat the Mutuals, 4 to 0, and at Cincinnati the Athletics beat the Cincinnatis in a ten-innings game, 6 to 3.

Wilkes, in his famous oration in the British House of Commons, in 1775, on the motion of Lord North to declare the province of Massachusetts in a state of rebellion, thus prophecied: "The Americans will triumph—the whole continent of North America will be dismembered from Great Britain, and the wide arch of raised empire fall. Within a few years the independent Americans will celebrate this glorious era of their revolution of 1775 as we do that of 1688. They will have their jubilees and centeneries."

Leland's new and palatial Rossmore Hotel, at Broadway and 42d street, New York, is a magnificent success, and is the great resort for first-class people visiting New York on business or pleasure, or going to the Centennial by the way of New York city. The "aristocratic" Clarendon, of Saratoga, which is also one of Mr. Leland's hotels, is receiving a large patronage, and will have a brilliant season. The first families, both of Europe and America, patronize this excellent hotel, which, by the way, is without doubt the most delightfully located and best kept hotel at the Springs.

Charles Trask, aged twenty-eight, died of heart disease on the Manchester fair grounds, on the night of the 4th.

The reported defeat of the Servians by the Turks near Nessa, is confirmed,—according to some accounts. The Servians deny the report, and claim to have defeated the Turks near Belina and to have burned the town. Romania is said to be ready to attack Turkey.

On the 5th the United States Senate unanimously adopted a joint resolution that the Washington monument shall be completed at the National expense.

The post-office appropriation bill has been passed. The amount appropriated is $2,000,000 less than the estimates.

Thursday afternoon, when the Portland train over the Boston & Maine Railroad, going West, was passing Durham, the freight and passenger depots, a large quantity of wood, and buildings of Gen. Alfred Hoyt, were burning. The heat was intense and the car windows had to be closed to permit the train to pass.

The village of Rochdale, six miles from Dubuque, Iowa, was swept away by a flood from a broken dam, July 4th, and 42 persons drowned. A tremendous fall of rain, accompanied by a tornado which blew down many buildings, was what caused the dam to give way.

The impeachment trial of ex-Secretary Belknap commenced on the 6th.

Political.

Carl Schurz indicates in an article in his St. Louis paper, over his own signature, that he supports the republican ticket.

The republican State convention of Louisiana nominated S. B. Packard for governor, C. C. Antoine for lieutenant-governor, and W. G. Brown for superintendent of public instruction.

If an average loss of 26 cents on every $1,000 disbursed under President Grant's administration is called corruption, what would the loss under Van Buren's administration be called? The losses under his rule amounted to $21.15 on every $1,000 disbursed! The percentage of defalcations under President Grant has been smaller than under any President since 1834. This statement is based on the accounts of the Treasury. It may not be a crusher to democracy, but it will grow sufficiently heavy before the campaign closes.

Brick Pomeroy says, "I can not support Tilden, for the same reason that I could not and would not support his instructor, Tweed." This is a bad position for Brick to take, for Tilden has been a liberal advertiser. It is hoped the New York-Lacrosse-Chicago Democrat will not come out in favor of Hayes. There is Peter Cooper, now, old and tough, and on a platform that no one can injure. Please go to him, Pom. N. O. Repub.

The opposition to Tilden among the democrats of Virginia is showing itself. Four papers so far have refused to support him—the Alexandria Sentinel, Staunton Virginian, Norfolk Day Book and the Petersburg Citizen—two daily and two weekly. The Alexandria Sentinel runs up the flag of Hayes and Wheeler.

—Probably about one in a hundred of those who fancy that they are drinking a cup of genuine coffee really do drink one. The adulteration of this widely-used beverage is carried on to an almost unlimited extent, and especially in the United States where the laws in regard to the adulteration of food are neither very strict nor well enforced. Sham coffee is made from tough dough, squeezed through little moulds which give it the exact shape of the berry, and baked until the color becomes dark enough to deceive the eye. Real coffee berries, when small and worthless, are improved in color and appearance by rolling them about with leaden bullets in a cask. The poor green berries also are treated with a coloring matter. In coffee sold ready ground the difficulty of detecting adulterations is greatly increased; beans, beet-root, carrots and many other substances are roasted and mixed in large quantities with the genuine article. In the South of Europe, especially in the provinces of Austria, figs are roasted in enormous numbers, ground and sold as coffee.

—The Austrian Government has just contracted in Dublin for the manufacture of the most costly telescope ever made. It is to be mounted in the new Vienna Observatory. It will be thirty-two feet in length, with an object glass twenty-six inches in diameter; while the large brass case, weighing eight tons, will contain a chamber twelve feet in length by four-and-a-half feet in diameter. The tube is to be entirely of the finest steel and all friction of the axes will be carefully avoided. The workmanship throughout must be of the highest possible character, and the contracting firm is allowed until the end of 1878 to finish its task.

—Two ladies were admitted this year to the class in Roman law at University College, London, and at a late examination one of them stood first and the other third in the class. The first mentioned had already distinguished herself in political economy and jurisprudence.

—It is difficult to explain some of the great problems of nature. It is estimated that it takes eighteen centuries to form a foot of coal, but it is a well known fact that a ton left out on the sidewalk, will usually shrink fifty per cent. or more in a single night.—Norwich Bulletin.

Centaur Liniments.

The Quickest, Surest and Cheapest Remedies.

Physicians recommend, and Farriers declare that no such remedies have ever before been in use. Words are cheap, but the proprietors of these articles will present trial bottles to medical men, gratis, as a guarantee of what they say.

The Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper, will cure Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Sore Nipples, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, Swellings, Sprains, and any ordinary

FLESH, BONE OR MUSCLE AILMENT.

We make no pretense that this article will cure Cancer, restore lost bones, or give health to a whiskey soaked carcass. But it will always reduce inflammation and allay pain.

It will extract the poison of bites and stings, and heal burns or scalds without a scar. Palsy, weak back, Caked Breasts, Earache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions readily yield to its treatment.

Henry Black, of Ada, Hardin Co., Ohio, says: "My wife has had rheumatism for five years—no rest, no sleep—could scarcely walk across the floor. She is now completely cured by the use of Centaur Liniment. We all feel thankful to you, and recommend your wonderful medicine to all our friends."

James Hurd, of Zanesville, O., says: "The Centaur Liniment cured my Neuralgia."

Alfred Tush, of Newark, writes: "Send me one dozen bottles by express. The Liniment has saved my leg. I want to distribute it, &c."

The sale of this Liniment is increasing rapidly!

THE YELLOW CENTAUR LINIMENT

is for the tough skin, flesh and muscles of

HORSES, MULES AND ANIMALS.

We have never yet seen a case of Spavin, Sweeny, Ring-bone, Wind-gall, Scratches or Poll-Evil, which this Liniment would not speedily benefit, and we never saw but a few cases which it would not cure. It will cure when anything can. It is folly to spend $50, for a Farrier, when one dollars' worth of Centaur Liniment will do better. The following is a sample of the testimony produced:

W. P. Hopkins, Postmaster, Piqua, O., says:

"Centaur Liniment can't be beat. It cures every time."

YELVERTON, O., March 2, 1874.

"The Centaur Liniments are the best selling medicines we have ever had. The demand is very great for it, and we cannot afford to be without it.

"P. H. HISEY & SON."

JEFFERSON, MO., March 10, 1873.

"Some time ago I was shipping horses to St. Louis. I got one badly crippled in the car. With great difficulty I got him to the stable. The stable-keeper gave me a bottle of your Centaur Liniment, which I used with such success that in two days the horse was active and nearly well. I have been a veterinary surgeon for thirty years, but your Liniment beats anything I ever used.

"A. J. MCARTY, Veterinary Surgeon."

For a postage stamp we will mail a Centaur Almanac, containing hundreds of certificates, from every State in the Union. These Liniments are now sold by all dealers in the country.

Castoria.

Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Hyannis, Mass., experimented in his private practice for twenty years to produce a combination that would have the properties of CASTOR OIL without its unpleasant taste and griping effect.

His preparation was sent for, near and far, till finally he gave it the name of Castoria, and put it up for sale. It is very wonderful in its effects, particularly with the disordered stomachs and bowels of children. It assimilates the food, cures sour stomach and wind colic, regulates the bowels, expels worms, and may be relied upon in croup.

As a pleasant, effective and perfectly safe cathartic remedy it is superior to Castor Oil, Cordials and Syrups. It does not contain alcohol, and is adapted to any age.

By regulating the stomach and bowels of cross and sickly children they become good-natured and healthy. They can enjoy sleep and mothers have rest. The Castoria is put up at the Laboratory of J. B. ROSE & Co., 46 Dey Street, New York.

The Halladay Wind-Mill!

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use s extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

NOTICE.

Having my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, to have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work, to call before purchasing elsewhere. My assortment consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of Musical.

PORTSMOUTH, July 5.

Eds. Chronicle: The glorious Centennial 4th is past and allow me to say a few words about one of the features of the celebration: I allude to the so-called "Drum Corps." When I saw it announced that they were to take part in the evening concert, I thought it would be a deafening performance; but on hearing them I was so agreeably disappointed that words fail to express my delight. I have heard many first-class players of this and other countries, but seldom have heard anything that pleased me more than the performance of the "Drum Corps" last evening. Their rendering of selections was almost perfect. They made a fine appearance in their "natty" uniform, and the boys may rest assured that they more than gave satisfaction during the entire day. Portsmouth ought to feel proud of them. Boston has no organization like them, and New York has none superior. There is one suggestion I would make to them, and that is, not to call themselves a "Drum Corps;" it is a slander on their beautiful music,—the name suggests the rattle and bang of the snare drum; why not call themselves what they really are, a Flute Corps? I trust that in the future they will be more liberally patronized than I understand they have been in the past. Wishing them the success they richly deserve, I remain,

A LOOKER-ON.

We believe every one who can distinguish good music from poor,—or music from noise,—and who heard the performances of the "Fife and Drum Band" on the evening of the Fourth, will appreciate our unknown correspondents enthusiastic praise of their exquisite rendering of beautiful selections, and heartily echo his (or her) wish that the band may receive the recognition they so worthily merit, in the shape of liberal public patronage and hard-money (or even greenback) encouragement.

The Rye Cornet Band, too, deserves at least an encouraging word. No fair comparison, of course, can be drawn between the Naval Band, with its members all selected from among the skilled performers of many places, and its constant practice, and a country band, with its members all gathered in a limited district, many of them hardly knowing the difference between a trombone and a cornet before commencing study with the band, and with little opportunity for practice excepting in hours taken from other pursuits—courting, for instance, if the member happens to be a single man. It was a pretty severe trial, therefore, for the rural musicians, to take the stand just vacated by the Naval Band, and make music on the ears accustomed to the finished playing of the latter; but they stood the test surprisingly well, and won many commendatory words for the quality of the music furnished, as well as the liberal quantity. The band is a good one.

Jottings.

Count Hoyos, of the Hungarian Legation, is stopping at the Farragut House, Rye Beach.

The "Piscataquatico Chowderheads" are to have one of their unique excursions to Gerrish's "Grove" about the 18th, at which time the "Grove" will be "dedicated."

Among the finest decorations of the Fourth of July were those at the residence of Mr. John Stokell & Co. on Islington street—prepared by Mr. D. Webster Barnabee, whose fine taste was generally commended by hundreds of people who viewed his handiwork.

Among the arrivals by the overland train from San Francisco on the 2d inst. we notice the name of our former townsman, Dr. A. P. Stevens. Since then we have been informed the Doctor is sojourning with his friends in Dover, much improved in health, and that he intends returning to the golden State with his family in September or October next.

A man whose name we have not learned had two fingers of his hand badly lacerated, an arm ditto, and his coat torn to shreds by a dog owned on Water street, on the Fourth.

See auction notice of silver-plated goods, cutlery, etc., in another column.

The Marine Band were discharged Wednesday afternoon, much to general regret, we think.

The Rye Cornet Band, which made such good music during the day and evening on the 4th, were disappointed in not receiving their new uniform to wear on that occasion, as they had expected.

Mr. Frank W. Rice, who for years has kept the cigar, fruit and candy store on Market square, near the bank building, has purchased the oyster saloon formerly occupied by the late Arad Tibbetts, next the North church, and now personally conducts the business of the saloon,—where he will be pleased to wait upon its former patrons and all others who may favor him with a call, and proposes to merit a fair share of public patronage by furnishing the best articles to be procured in the market, at reasonable rates. Mr. Rice will provide thirsty souls with lager, ale, pop beer, etc., but will adhere to the rule he has always maintained at his other place of business, to sell no distilled liquors.

Shrewd Tommy Sawyer.

Sawyer, having offended his sole guardian, Aunt Polly, is by that sternly affectionate dame punished by being set to white-wash the fence in front of the garden. The world seemed a hollow mockery to Tom, who had planned fun for that day, and who knew that he would be the laughing-stock of all the boys as they came past and saw him set to work like a "nigger." But a great inspiration burst upon him, and he went tranquilly to work. What that inspiration was will appear from what follows. One of the boys, Ben Rogers, comes by and pauses, eating a particularly fine apple. Tom does not see him. Ben stared a moment, and then said:

"Hi-yi! You're up a stump, ain't you?"

No answer. Tom surveyed his last touch with the eye of an artist, then he gave another gentle sweep and surveyed the result, as before. Ben ranged up alongside of him. Tom's mouth watered for the apple, but he stuck to his work. Ben said:

"Hello, old chap; you got to work hey?"

"Why, it's you, Ben; I wasn't noticing."

"Say, I'm going in a-swimming, I am. Don't you wish you could? But, of course, you'd druther work, wouldn't you? Course you would!"

Tom contemplated the boy a bit, and said:

"What do you call work?"

"Why, ain't that work?"

Tom resumed his whitewashing, and answered carelessly:

"Well, maybe it is, and maybe it ain't. All I know is, it suits Tom Sawyer."

"Oh, come now, you don't mean to let on that you like it?"

The brush continued to move.

"Like it? Well, I don't see why I oughtn't to like it. Does a boy get a chance to whitewash a fence every day?"

That put the thing in a new light. Ben stopped rubbing his apple. Tom swept his brush daintily back and forth—stepped back to note the effect—added a touch here and there—criticised the effect again,—Ben watching every move, and getting more and more interested, more and more absorbed. Presently he said:

"Say, Tom, let me whitewash a little."

Tom considered; was about to consent; but he altered his mind: "No, no; I reckon it wouldn't hardly do, Ben. You see, Aunt Polly's awful particular about this fence,—right here on the street, you know—but if it was the back fence I wouldn't mind and she wouldn't. Yes, she's awful particular about this fence; it's got to be done very careful; I reckon there ain't one boy in a thousand, maybe two thousand, that can do it the way it's got to be done."

"No—is that so? Oh, come now; lemme just try, only just a little. I'd let you if you was me, Tom."

"Ben, I'd like to, honest Injun; but Aunt Polly—well, Jim wanted to do it, but she wouldn't let him. Sid wanted to do it, but she wouldn't let Sid. Now, don't you see how I'm fixed? If you was to tackle this fence, and anything was to happen to it—"

"Oh, shucks! I'll be just as careful. Now, lemme try. Say—I'll give you the core of my apple."

"Well, here. No, Ben; now don't; I'm afeared"—

"I'll give you all of it!"

Tom gave up the brush with reluctance in his face but alacrity in his heart. And, while Ben worked and sweated in the sun, the retired artist sat on a barrel in the shade close by, dangling his legs, munched his apple and planned the slaughter of more innocents. There was no lack of material; boys happened along every little while. They came to jeer, but remained to whitewash. By the time Ben was fagged out, Tom had traded the next chance to Billy Fisher for a kite in good repair; and when he played out, Johnny Miller bought in for a dead rat and a string to swing it with; and so on, hour after hour. And when the middle of the afternoon came, from being a poor, poverty-stricken boy in the morning, Tom was literally rolling in wealth. He had, besides the things I have mentioned, twelve marbles, part of a jewsharp, a piece of blue bottle-glass to look through, a spool cannon, a key that wouldn't unlock anything, a fragment of chalk, a glass stopper of a decanter, a tin soldier, a couple of tadpoles, six firecrackers, a kitten with only one eye, a brass door-knob, a dog-collar—but no dog—the handle of a knife, four pieces of orange-peel, and a dilapidated old window-sash. He had had a nice, good, idle time all the while—plenty of company—and the fence had three coats of white-wash on it! If he hadn't run out of white-wash, he would have bankrupted every boy in the village.

Tom said to himself that it was not such a hollow world after all. He had discovered a great law of human nature without knowing it, namely: that, in order to make a thing popular he had only to make the thing difficult to attain. If he had been a great and wise philosopher, like the writer of this book, he would now have comprehended that work consists of whatever a body is obliged to do, and that play consists of whatever a body is not obliged to do. And this would help him to understand why constructing artificial flowers or performing on a treadmill is work, whilst rolling nine-pins or climbing Mont Blanc is only amusement. There are wealthy gentlemen in England who drive four-horse passenger-coaches twenty or thirty miles on a daily line, in the summer, because the privilege costs them considerable money; but, if they were offered wages for the service, that would turn it into work, and then they would resign.—Mark Twain's new book.

"Editing" in the Far West.

Yesterday afternoon, as the editor of this paper was quietly attending to his business, L. A. Buckner came in and excitedly asked, "Are you the editor of this paper?" We answered, "Yes." He then drew a whistler and pointing it in our vicinity, snapped it. We instantly threw him down, the stove going over at the same time. We stooped down and began to wipe the floor with his cowardly carcass, not noticing the pistol which he was trying to use. A printer jumped in and took the pistol from Buckner, when we allowed him to get up, and ordered him to go out doors. He picked up a bar of steel about twenty inches long, and undertook to strike us with it, but was prevented by our gentle grip on' his windpipe. In shoving him toward the door we shoved him through the glass, a fragment of which cut a small gash in the editorial scalp. The article we suppose the superannuated old fool took offense at called no names, and was a matter of common street talk, and was published as an item of news. We shall continue to publish all news items we can come across, regardless of who it hits, and hereafter be prepared to defend ourselves against whoever comes to assassinate us. We detract nothing, nor are we sorry for the mercy shown an "old man." "Lay on, Macduff! And damned be he who first cries, 'Hold, enough!'" The "old man" left his howitzer on the field of battle, and can have the same by calling, proving property, paying damages and apologizing for his cowardly attempt at assassination.—Winnemucca (Neb.) Register.

—Mrs. Woodhull gives a practical illustration of reform. She has suspended the publication of her paper.

The War Against Disease.

The war waged against disease by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters goes bravely on. Dispatches are constantly received from the cured indicating the decisive nature of the advantage obtained by the great botanic cordial over its formidable adversary. Malarial fevers, constipation, torpidity of the liver and kidneys, general debility, nervousness and rheumatic ailments invariably yield to this conqueror and preventive of disease. For the infirmities incident to the decline of life it is also an excellent specific. It hastens convalescence and repairs the ravages of ill health by facilitating the conversion of food into blood of a rich and nourishing quality. The appetite is improved by it, and in cases of nervous disease it tranquilizes that great sensorium, the brain, far more effectually than any mineral sedative.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

Daily Chronicle.

—The United States now have 74,183 miles of railroad, while all Europe, has but 88,745 miles; in Europe, Germany has 17,372 miles; Great Britain has 16,969; France, 13,414; Russia, 11,525 and Austria 10,792. Greece has the least mileage of any European country, possessing only 7 miles. In North America, Canada comes next to the United States, with 4,887 miles, while Mexico has but 377. In South America the Argentine Republic stands at the head with 987 miles, Brazil having 831, Peru 962, and Chili 618. The United States built, in 1875, 1,545 miles, while Germany, which came nearest to these figures, constructed only 1,493 miles. Of the total railroad mileage of the world, our own country owns over forty per cent.

Liver Complaint.

By R. V. Pierce, M. D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," etc., etc.

The Liver is the great depurating (purifying) organ of the system, and has very appropriately been termed the "housekeeper" of our health. I have observed in the dissecting-room, and also in making post-mortem examinations of the bodies of those who have died of different diseases, that in a large proportion of cases, the liver has given evidence of having at some time been diseased. Liver affections are equally prevalent in beasts. Every butcher knows that the livers of cattle, sheep, and swine, are ten times as frequently diseased as any other organ. A healthy liver each day secretes about two and a half pounds of bile. When it becomes torpid, congested, or if, from any cause, it be disabled in the performance of its duties, it is evident that the elements of the bile must remain in the blood, thus irritating, poisoning, and perverting, every vital process. Nature attempts to rid the system of these noxious materials by means of other organs, as the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., which become overtaxed in performing their additional labor, and are unable to withstand the pressure.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, becomes overstimulated with unhealthy blood, and fails to normally perform its functions. Hence there is dullness, headache, impairment of the memory, dizziness, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. When the blood is diseased, the skin manifests discolored spots, pimples, blotches, boils, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach and bowels, sooner or later, become affected, and constipation, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, or diarrhœa is the inevitable result.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

A sallow color of the skin, or yellowish brown spots on the face and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness, with frequent headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in the mouth, dryness of the throat, internal heat; palpitation of the heart, a dry, teasing cough, unsteady appetite, sour stomach, raising of the food, and a choking sensation in the throat; sickness and vomiting, distress, heaviness, and a bloated, or full feeling about the stomach and sides; aggravating pains in the sides, back or breast, and about the shoulders; colic pains and soreness through the bowels; constipation, alternating with diarrhœa; piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of the extremities, rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy; numbness of the limbs (especially at night,) and chills, alternating with hot flashes; kidney and other urinary difficulties, dullness, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of these symptoms will be likely to be present in any case at one time.

Treatment.—Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with small doses of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which act as an alterative on the liver. For Liver Complaint and the various affections caused by a diseased liver, these remedies are unsurpassed. The Golden Medical Discovery does not simply palliate the disease, but it produces a lasting effect. By its use, the liver and stomach are changed to an active, healthy state, the appetite is regulated, the blood purified and enriched, and the entire system renovated and restored to health.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. DR. QUAIN'S

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A few days ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

MAGIC

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-[illegible]ring climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vendor of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

The Great Blow-Up.

Gen. John Newton of the Engineer Corps, in charge of the Hell Gate operations, states that the explosion at Hallett's Point certainly will not take place until Sept. 1, at the earliest. Although the work of excavation is completed, the contracts for explosive materials have not yet been filled. The battery for exploding the charges will be placed near the edge of the pit; the operating room will be about 350 feet from it. The explosive materials used will be nitro-glycerine and its various compounds, in charges not exceeding ten pounds each, and placed at points where they will be most effective, differing in this respect from the explosion in San Francisco harbor, where the powder was massed together. Gen. Newton explained that the water not only would act as a tamping or covering, preventing by its weight an intense report and shock, but that the enormous amount of heat generated from the liberated gases would spend its force in vaporizing the water, thus lessening the chances of marked agitation on the surface. It is not expected that much if any rock will be thrown above the water, except where the bed rock may have weak spots or seams. In such cases the explosion will have more effect and throw the rock some distance in the air. The object of dispersing the nitro-glycerine is to effect a rending of the rock, so that it can be more effectually broken up by after blasts. The works cover three acres, and the amount of debris which will have to be removed is estimated to be not less than 30,000 cubic yards, requiring about two years further work.

Gen. Newton expressed as his opinion that the scientific delegations which have applied for privilege of making determinations in reference to the rapidity at which sound travels in earth, air and water, will be disappointed in the results of very many of their calculations, especially those which propose taking stations at some distance from the work. He anticipates no remarkable report or violent concussion, owing to the distribution of nitro-glycerine through so large an area and in such small quantities. The effect of the blast, to use the General's own words, will sound very much like "an explosion in a tub of mush." The only work being done at the present time is pumping the water out as fast as it drains into the tunnels.—N. Y. Tribune.

—It was rather annoying, to say the least, when the new clerk of a Boston merchant, who had just been initiated into the mysteries of the trade mark, inquired in a loud voice as a customer demurred to the price, "What shall I sell this for? FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The Legislature.

In the Senate, on the 6th, acts in relation to the Portsmouth Trust and Guarantee Company; in addition to the charter of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad; to repeal an act relative to the right of students to vote and their taxation, passed at June session 1874; in amendment of the charter of the city of Keene; to reorganize and equalize the Councillor Districts; to amend the charter of the City of Nashua; and to sever certain tracts of land from Wards 4 and 7, and annex the same to Ward 5 in the city of Concord, were passed.

In the House, the petition of W. H. Y. Hackett and others, for repeal of an act incorporating Newcastle Bridge was referred to committee on roads, bridges and canals.

A petition for the repeal of all laws for the protection of pickerel was referred to committee on fisheries.

A bill to amend chapter 99 of the General Statutes in relation to the sale of spirituous liquors, (prohibiting "drummers," and also railroads and express companies from transporting liquors.) was passed. Also a bill to remove the disabilities of married women.

Mr. Stevens of Nashua, called for the unfinished business, it being the remainder of the address for the removal of certain officers in Rockingham county. The amendment of Mr. Sise of Portsmouth, to change the word Enoch to Ebenezer, was carried, and Mr. Hodgdon of Ward 4, Portsmouth, called for a division of the address. On the question of the passage of so much of the address as related to the removal of John G. Moses, one of the pilot commissioners of Portsmouth, the vote on division was, 174 yeas, 113 nays. Mr. Langdon of Portsmouth called for the yeas and nays, and the roll call resulted: 173 yeas, 117 nays, so that part of the address passed.

Next came the question of the passage of that part of the address relating to Richard Walden, also pilot commissioner. Mr. Langdon of Portsmouth, called for a division, and was informed by the Speaker that the address couldn't be divided any finer. (Laughter.) On the question a division showed 177 yeas, 124 nays. Mr. Hodgdon of Ward 4, Portsmouth, called for the yeas and nays. The vote resulted: 187 yeas, 150 nays, so Mr. Walden retires from official life.

The remainder of the address, which is to cut off Capt. Adams' head, was not considered, the general orders of the day coming up.

The act to reorganize and equalize the Senatorial Districts came up, upon the question of its passage; a division was called for, and the vote was declared: 179 yeas, 121 nays. Mr. O'Connor of Manchester, called for the yeas and nays, and the bill was passed by 196 yeas, 129 nays. Adjourned.

Democratic Testimony.

As the friends of Gov. Tilden from New York are industriously circulating a report among the delegates to the convention from other States that the opposition in the State of New York to his nomination emanates from parties either without personal character, or having no political influence, it is proper that the facts should be laid before the delegates assembled, that they may be enabled to judge in an intelligent and impartial manner of the truth of these statements, and shape their actions accordingly. The following partial and very incomplete list of prominent New York democrats who oppose Mr. Tilden's nomination on the ground that he cannot carry his own State or the country, is the best answer to these statements, and is all the evidence it is deemed necessary to furnish, viz.:

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.

The general state of uneasiness and disgust over the seeming indifference of the Confederates in the House relative to the passage of the appropriation bills has been temporarily allayed by the action of both Houses during the last hours of the fiscal year, in adopting the President's suggestion by extending the provisions of last year's appropriation bills for ten days. It is hoped that before the expiration of that time the bills now in dispute before conference committees may have been adjusted, and the interests of the country relieved from the perils threatened by a final failure to get them through. It is currently rumored and very generally believed that Randall and his committee have been appealed to by New York democrats to hasten their passage, as the doubt and delay attending their discussion in Congress was reacting very damagingly on Tilden's cause in the commercial communities of the country. A determined effort was made by the Tilden-Hendricks repudiationists last Saturday, in the House, to repeal the resumption act; but the republican minority, by fillibustering, defeated the move. It is said that Hendricks has made the repeal a condition precedent to his acceptance. The Senate has refused to concur in the House amendment of the silver bill as amended by it (the Senate), and it is now before a conference committee. The naval appropriation bill has become a law; but the Senate has refused to pass the army bill with the provision for transferring the Indian Bureau to the War Department. It is believed that the Post Office bill will go through without any further material changes.

To-morrow (the 6th) was designated for resuming Belknap's trial, and notwithstanding the intensely hot weather, it is thought that a majority of the Senate has heroically resolved to push it to a conclusion before an adjournment is consented to, which will grieve many members of the other House, up for re-election, and who regard their personal attention in their districts as imperatively necessary to their success.

Plans for the campaign are being quietly matured by the managers of the two great political parties, but the terribly hot weather tends to delay either a Union or Confederate advance; but the arrogant speech of Tilden, a few days since, has had its effect in arousing the loyal sentiment of the country to the dangers menacing the reconstructed Union; and his ill-timed bravado and boasting will bear unexpected fruit.

Many expressions of regret are heard among the representative men of the nation who come here from time to time, at the prospect of a war in Europe, which now appears inevitable and which may ultimately involve the whole of Europe. Its consequences cannot be foretold; but it would undoubtedly favorably affect the United States, by creating a demand for our surplus products of the farm and manufactory,—would stimulate the carrying trade and aid in restoring the ascendency of our mercantile marine. MAXWELL.

News and Notes.

There is naturally much excitement in military circles and at the far West over the Custer massacre. Gen. O'Connor and George R. Maxwell have telegraphed an offer from Salt Lake City to furnish 1200 volunteers, mostly old Indian fighters and all well armed and equipped, in five days, if required.

The diamond necklace and ear-rings sent by the Khedive to Mrs. Minnie Sherman-Fitch have been taken from the vaults of the Treasury and sent to the acting Secretary of the Treasury, at Washington, who will deliver them to General Sherman, in accordance with the resolution of Congress.

Gen. Custer leaves a wife, a niece of Senator Christiancy of Michigan, but no children.

At Dover, Mass., on the 4th, Samuel Sullivan took his daughter, five years old, to ride with him as he was mowing with a machine. The horses ran away and threw both persons beneath the cutter-bar. Mr. Sullivan receiving some twenty flesh wounds, while the child's right hand was cut off and she was otherwise so much injured that she cannot live.

At a recent celebration at Lynn, Mass., one of the speakers said "the one great religious feeling in Lynn is 'Love God and hate the Eastern Railroad!'"

Besides Gen. Custer, captains Keagley, Yates, Cook and Custer, eight lieutenants and over 300 soldiers, were killed in the massacre at Little Big Horn river. The Commissioner of Indian Affairs is of opinion that this victory will have a disastrous effect on the agency Indians, who will be attracted to the battle-field by the glory the warriors have won. Gen. Terry is of opinion that Custer struck Sitting Bull's main force, of well nigh 10,000 warriors, a portion only of which was struck and defeated by Gen. Crook some weeks ago, at Rosebud.

Base ball on the 6th; at St. Louis, the Bostons beat the St. Louis club, 5 to 4; at Chicago, the Hartfords beat the Chicagos, 6 to 2; at Cincinnati, the Cincinnatis beat the Athletics, 5 to 2; at Louisville, the Louisvilles beat the Mutuals, 7 to 1.

Thirty-one bodies of persons drowned at Rochdale, Iowa, by the destruction of that town by a flood on the 4th, had been recovered up to the evening of the 6th. The storm extended over most of central Iowa and was terrific in its effect. In Warren and Madison counties fifteen persons were killed and great damage was done to live stock and crops.

General George A. Custer, recently killed in Montana with his entire immediate command, in a fight with the Indians, graduated from the military academy at West Point in 1861, and was commissioned as second lieutenant in the cavalry service. He mounted step by step to the rank of major general of volunteers, distinguishing himself especially during the campaign under Grant, when Lee was driven slowly back into the fortifications of Richmond. On the 13th of April, 1865, four days after Lee's surrender, General Custer received the brevet rank of major general for gallant service in the closing scenes of the war. He was born in Ohio.

The dory "Centennial," Capt. Johnsen, from Gloucester for Europe, was seen July 2d in latitude 41.37, longitude 62.23—all right—and wanted no assistance, except to obtain the longitude.

The body of Thomas Thane, about thirty years old, was found in Faulkner & Colony's mill pond at Loudon on the 6th. He is supposed to have fallen in on the night of the Fourth.

Political.

Republicans in California and Nevada desire their States to be taken out of the "doubtful" column and ranged with those conceded to Hayes and Wheeler.

The Sangamon County (Illinois) Monitor, democratic, says: "Tilden's nomination was bought."

The Milford (Delaware) News believes that with a strong candidate for Congress in the field, the republicans can carry that State for Hayes and Wheeler.

Says the Milwaukee Sentinel: "The disgust of the hard-money democracy over the platform is equalled only by the disgust of the soft money democrats over the candidate."

The democrats of Dayton, Ohio, were called together on Saturday evening last to ratify the St. Louis nominations. Hon. G. W. Houck, one of the delegates to St. Louis, was the first speaker, and he repudiated the platform and nominees vigorously. He was cheered to the echo, and when the machine politicians and spoilsmen followed by an effort to smooth over the bargain and sale, they were greeted with storms of hisses. And this is the headway "Tilden and reform" makes in the Buckeye State.—New Haven Union.

Mr. Tilden made a speech to a serenading party Thursday evening, in which he drew a most gloomy picture of the condition of the country, and attributed to the republicans the origin of all the scandals connected with governmental affairs in the country. He seems to have forgotten that his reputation as a reformer, such as it is, is based upon the blows he has given to rings in New York composed almost wholly of democrats. Hartford Post.

The Signal Service Office in this city has used up the last of its stock of paper on which it has been printing the daily weather probabilities and distributing them through seven hundred New England Post-offices, and orders have been received from Washington to suspend their publication in future. The crippling of the Signal Service was one of the first examples of democratic saving at the spigot in appropriations. An outlay of a few hundred dollars for the training of observers (whose pay, as they are enlisted men in the army, is already provided for,) was cut out of the bills, while as many millions were allowed for the improvement of wild and unnavigable Southern and Western rivers. The Weather Bureau of the Signal Service has saved the people untold millions of dollars every year in giving warning of threatening dangers to crops and shipping, and its expenses have been a mere trifle in the sum total of public expenditure. Yet this trifle excites the jealous regard of the enlightened politicians ruling the House, and must be reduced to a mere nothing, cutting off the training of observers and assistants, and withdrawing the present limited means of the invaluable bureau of publishing their daily reports.—Boston Transcript.

A democratic exchange says: "There has been no disorder in any Southern State, under democratic supremacy, to equal that which has prevailed for nearly two years, at intervals of months at a time, in republican Pennsylvania." We have never heard of wholesale massacres like those in Mississippi, or at Colfax, Coushatta and Feliciana in Louisiana, taking place in Pennsylvania. True, there are mining counties in the latter State where murder and terrorism have been rampant for years; but it is equally true that those counties are almost solidly democratic, and that the "Molly Maguires,"—the gangs of desperadoes who have given those counties such an evil reputation,—are composed wholly of Irish democrats, only Roman Catholic Irishmen being admitted to membership in the organization.

The editor of the democratic organ in Governor Hayes's town says bluntly that he doesn't believe in him politically and shan't vote for him, but adds frankly that he's a square man, and if elected will make an honest President.

The Burlington (Iowa) Gazette, democratic, had hoped for the election of two or three democratic Congressmen from that State, but now says in despair: "The nomination of Tilden will defeat us in every Congressional district of the State."

Says the Nashville (Tennessee) Banner: "There are democrats in Nashville, we regret to say, who openly announce that they will vote for Hayes in preference to Tilden, and leave nothing undone to secure the defeat of the latter."

—Mr. George W. Whitten, an eccentric man about 70 years old, went to Biddeford recently on horseback in the military attire of the time when he was a young man and took part in the trainings of those days. Some boys threw stones at the horse and Mr. Whitten was thrown to the ground, receiving injuries from which he died soon after. But boys must have their fun.

—The Intelligent Compositor driven from these shores has hung up his coat in the Parliamentary printing office at London, and made a witness before a committee, who tried to say that his father was "a partner in the Low Moor Iron Works," declare that the author of his being was "a pauper in the Low Moor Work-house."

A New Weapon.

Mr. John S. Sides has shown us a new-fangled repeating and breech-loading rifle, called "Evans' Magazine Rifle," which we should consider the most objectionable weapon we ever saw if it was in the hands of an enemy. The magazine holds thirty-four charges of fixed ammunition, making, with one in the barrel, thirty-five shots that can be fired much quicker than the same number could be from a lot of ready-loaded revolvers. One motion of a lever beneath the lock throws the empty shell out of the barrel, the return motion putting in a fresh cartridge and closing the aperture from which the shell is ejected, and if desired firing the fresh charge at the same time. With a little practise we should suppose a man could pump bullets from this rifle fast enough to keep thirty-five in the air about all the time. If the magazine is exhausted and there is no time to replenish it, the rifle can be used as an ordinary breech-loader, being nearly (if not quite) as handy for that purpose as the Remington. Mr. Sides, who should know what a gun is, whether he does or not, having burned powder in them on many sporting fields and on more than one field where the "sport" was not so prominent, assures us that the mechanism of this rifle is very simple, there being but four working parts to it, and that there is hardly a possibility of its getting out of order. If this is so—as we do not question—we can see but one thing to detract from its value as a military weapon, and that is that each rifleman would have to have an ammunition train all to himself, in a protracted battle.

False Economy.

The wretchedly false "economy" of the Confederate House of Representatives is well illustrated by the abolition of the training-ship plan of recruiting for the navy. It is notorious that it is almost impossible to keep the complement of naval seamen, low as the number is fixed, filled with good men; the merchant navy is no longer a never-failing depot from which to draw skilled seamen, and much of the material offering itself for service in the navy is of the poorest quality and largely from foreign countries. The training-ship scheme was a judicious—and would undoubtedly have proved a successful—attempt to secure for service in the navy a larger proportion of Americans,—young, active, intelligent men, who would take a patriotic pride in the efficiency of the service and be able and willing to contribute their share toward it. The amount of money saved by giving up the system is infinitesimal; the ships required for schools are already built, are not needed for cruisers, (if indeed they are fitted for cruising, in the present condition of the navies of the world,) and would suffer less deterioration if used as school-ships than if laid up as hulks at the navy yards; and nearly all the instructors were regular naval officers, who are not discharged from the service by being detached from their special duty on the training-ships. Some idea of the prospective value of the system to the navy can be drawn from the proficiency in infantry drill of the battalion of boys from the school-ship "Sabine," (now out of commission, by order of the rebel brigadiers in Congress,) as exhibited on our streets on Memorial Day and the Fourth of July; and it must be remembered that infantry drill is but an incidental in the naval seaman's training, the principal object being to make him thoroughly efficient, aloft or on deck, on board ship. By giving up the training-ships the Confederate Congress has saved a few—and mighty few—dollars of present expense, and destroyed a system which in a few years would have resulted in putting into the navy what it once did but now decidedly does not possess, the best body of seamen to be found in any navy in the world, in proportion to their numbers.

Jottings.

The alarm of fire at about 5 o'clock Friday morning was occasioned by the burning of a building on Hancock street, occupied by John Stokell & Co. as a stable. Most of the contents of any value was got out. Loss about $1500; no insurance.

Elder J. Couch of Boston, editor of the World's Crisis, will preach on Sunday in the Advent Chapel on Hanover street. The public cordially invited.

Mr. Charles E. Batchelder, who recently removed from this city to Boston, was admitted to practise as Attorney and Counsellor at Law in all the courts of the Commonwealth, at Boston, on the 5th of July, after examination. He will remain in the office of Hon. William Gaston, 13 Sears Building. Mr. Batchelder was one of nine who underwent a thorough examination of five hours, and but five of the nine passed. We believe he applied for admission to the bar of New Hampshire, at a session of court held not long before he left this city for Boston, his application being denied on some frivolous technical objection, his reputation and abilities being unquestioned.

A friend has called our attention to a paragraph in the Journal of a week or two ago, which seems to reflect unjustly upon Mr. Horace W. Waldron, agent of the Concord Railroad, though we do not imagine anything of the kind was intended. Mr. Waldron is a democrat, but he has certainly a right to hold his own political opinions—that is, if there can be anything right about democratic opinions—and we are not aware of his making any improper or oppressive use of his position for partisan purposes. In fact, we think him a pretty good kind of a man—altogether too good to be so much of a democrat as he is, though he is not a bitter partisan by any means.

On Monday, the 3d inst., the democrats stretched a flag across the South mill bridge, having for a heading the names of the democratic nominees for President and Vice President. On Tuesday morning it was found partly twisted around one of the poles which supported it, and when the young hurricane passed over the city in the afternoon, with a frantic effort it tore itself from the heading, leaving the names of Tilden and Hendricks with no flag. That flag wouldn't wave for the man who declared the war for its preservation "a failure."

Directions for Restoring Persons Apparently Dead from Drowning.

I. Lose no time. Carry out these directions on the spot.

II. Remove the froth and mucous from the mouth and nostrils.

III. Hold the body, for a few seconds only, with the head hanging down, so that the water may run out of the lungs and windpipe.

IV. Loosen all tight articles of clothing about the neck and chest.

V. See that the tongue is pulled forward if it falls back into the throat. By taking hold of it with a handkerchief it will not slip.

VI. If the breathing has ceased, or nearly so, it must be stimulated by pressure of the chest with the hands, in imitation of the natural breathing; forcibly expelling the air from the lungs, and allowing it to re-enter and expand them by the elasticity of the ribs. Remember that this is the most important step of all. To do it readily, lay the person on his back, with a cushion, pillow, or some firm substance, under the shoulders; then press with the flat of the hands over the lower part of the breast-bone and the upper part of the abdomen, keeping up a regular repetition and relaxation of pressure; twenty or thirty pounds may be applied with safety to a grown person.

VII. Rub the limbs with the hands, or with dry cloths, constantly, to aid the circulation and keep the body warm.

VIII. As soon as the person can swallow, give a table-spoonful of spirits in hot water, or some warm tea or coffee.

IX. Work deliberately. Do not give up too quickly. Success has rewarded the efforts of hours.

Not That Kind of a Man.

Rev. Dr. P. found a pack of playing cards in the possession of his oldest boy, and after giving the lad a thrashing for owning such engines of Satan, the doctor placed the cards in his own pocket, intending to destroy them at the first opportunity. But he forgot about them, and subsequently, while on the cars on the way to the city, pulled out his handkerchief, and the cards came out with it and fell upon the floor. The doctor gathered them up, with a very red face, and while he was arranging them in his hand, he saw a rough-looking man in the seat opposite to him wink at him. He turned his head away, but upon looking around a moment later, the man winked at him again. Then he winked several times, and finally he came over, and sitting down by the side of the doctor, he said:

"I say, pardner, what's your little game?"

"I don't understand you, sir," replied the doctor.

"Oh, you needn't mind me," said the man. "I'm doing a little at that thing myself. Now, how do you work it?"

"What do you mean? How do I work what?"

"Oh, you know well enough. What do you skin 'em on?"

"Skin them! Skin who? Really, sir, your remarks are incomprehensible to me."

"Now, see here. I understand the whole thing. You're hunting up somebody to play seven-up with, and you intend to beat them out of their money. Now, don't you?"

"You don't know who you are talking to."

"Now, I'll tell you what I'll do. There's no man on this earth that kin turn jacks faster'n I kin; and less you and me start up a game on some of these fellers, and I'll run three or four jacks up my sleeve, with a couple of aces maybe, and when we get to town we'll divide the profits and go down and get roaring drunk at the tavern. Is it a bargain?"

"You are a scoundrel, sir!" exclaimed the doctor. "Let me change my seat, if you please."

"Won't do it? Won't club in with me and try a few games?"

"Certainly not, sir."

"Won't lend me them jacks to put in my sleeve?"

"You seem to forget that I am a clergyman, sir."

"A cler—Oh, no. You don't mean to say that—that—you ain't a preacher; now honest, are you?"

"Yes, sir; I am Rev. Dr. P."

"Too bad! too bad! Believe me, if I didn't think you were one of those fellows who play cards on the cars to gouge greenhorns out of their money. You look like one anyway, now don't you? And what are you doing with that pack, old man, hey? Would you mind if I showed you how to run 'em over so's when you play they can't fool you? I'll do it for nothing."

Then Dr. Potts went into the hind car and got off at the next station. When he got home he gave that boy of his a couple of extra floggings in order to ease his feelings.—Philadelphia Post.

P. T. Barnum's Culminating Triumph.

As agile as a youth of twenty, P. T. Barnum steps again to the front this season, and bears away the first premium, as the best Centennial illustration of American enterprise, liberality and resource. It is well known that the great showman does not take to stimulants, nor does he require stimulating to keep him a century or so in advance of other managers, and yet the memorable national anniversary which we all feel disposed to celebrate, in one way or another, seems to have inspired him with still vaster ideas and even more ambitious purposes. These have assumed tangible form in the huge and novel exhibition, which he advertises to bring to Portsmouth on Friday the 14th inst. It is an enterprise far exceeding any of his previous and unparalleled amusement triumphs, and combines a bewildering number of distinguished features, the half of which one sees for nothing, while the other half is worth ten times the price charged. In fact, how Barnum can afford to show so much for so little is a conundrum, the practical solution of which others are content to leave to him, while they enjoy the results of his far-reaching acquisitiveness and ceaselessly active brain.

And Mr. Barnum is patriotic as well as public-spirited. Not only has he provided a show so immense that three monster special trains of solid steel cars are required to move it, and put a $25,000 live hippopotamus in its crown its wonders, but with it elaborately planned a stupendous free Commemorative Centennial Celebration, with the roar of cannon, the pealing of bells, the singing in grand chorus of our national anthems, brilliant fireworks, and other old-fashioned Fourth of July features. The latest feature added by Mr. Barnum is the tattooed Greek Albanian, who has created a furore in Boston and is pronounced by Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes and the leading physicians a human wonder without a parallel.

—The time when a man shall be set up at the head of his grave as his own monument appears to be at hand. A French chemist has invented a process by which human bodies can be changed into a substance resembling ivory.

—The longest periods in a boy's life are those between meals.

The War Against Disease.

The war waged against disease by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters goes bravely on. Dispatches are constantly received from the cured indicating the decisive nature of the advantages obtained by the great botanic cordial over its formidable adversary. Malarial fevers, constipation, torpidity of the liver and kidneys, general debility, nervousness and rheumatic ailments invariably yield to this conqueror and preventive of disease. For the infirmities incident to the decline of life it is also an excellent specific. It hastens convalescence and repairs the ravages of ill health by facilitating the conversion of food into blood of a rich and nourishing quality. The appetite is improved by it, and in cases of nervous disease it tranquilizes that great sensorium, the brain, far more effectually than any mineral sedative.

DIED.

PUTNAM. In Bath, Me., June 30, Hon. Israel Putnam, aged 70 years, 9 months.

[Dr. Putnam was born in Sutton, Mass., and was a graduate of Brown University and Bowdoin Medical College. He settled in Bath about 1838, and has ever since been prominent as a physician and a public-spirited and honored citizen. In 1850, he was chosen Mayor of Bath and filled the position with eminent ability and success for eight years. His administration covered the entire period of the war of the rebellion, in which he proved himself the soldier's friend, and the watchful guardian of the city's interest as well. Dr. Putnam leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter, the latter married and living in New York; his oldest son is Hon. W. L. Putnam, ex-Mayor of Portland; the youngest is Paymaster Edwin Putnam, U. S. N. The Bath Times says of Dr. Putnam: "Few men have passed through so long and active a life—continuously before the public, as taking an active part in all political movements and as a public officer—with having made so very, very few enemies on the way. To such a result not only his genial disposition and personal magnetism, but his downright honesty and open straightforward purposes have contributed. While by no means a graceful orator, he was a forcible speaker, cogent in argument, never on any occasion allowing himself the use of offensive personalities, in debate or discussion. The city's War Mayor is gone. The city council we doubt not will see to it that fitting honor is paid to his memory."]

WOOD FOR SALE.

THE subscriber has on hand is constantly receiving the best quality of Hard & Pine Wood, for sale on commission, Sawed and Split when required, at his Wood Yard on Vaughan Street, near Eastern R. R. Orders may be left at my house, No. 2 Elm Street. F. W. ROGERS.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but as price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,
Newburyport, Mass.

In justice to myself, and that those who prefer

PEARSON'S FAMILY PILOT BREAD

may obtain what is desired, I shall occasionally publish the names of those who keep it for sale in Portsmouth, as follows:

No fees for making preliminary examinations. No additional fees for obtaining and conducting a rehearing. Special attention given to Interference Cases before the Patent Office, Extensions before Congress, Infringement Suits in different States, and all litigation appertaining to Inventions or Patents. SEND STAMP TO GILMORE & CO. FOR PAMPHLET OF SIXTY PAGES.

Old Bounty Land Warrants.

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 2,897,500 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO., possess the best means for prosecuting claims of this kind. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply, after examination, will be given you free.

Pensions.

All OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & CO.

Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department is on a business basis, the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. ADDRESS

A Powerful Ship.

Germany, for some years the foremost military power on land, is rapidly becoming the most formidable of naval powers. England, France, Italy and Austria now have fleets at Salonica, but the display made by Germany, including, as it does, half a dozen iron-clads of the first-class—sea-monsters of immense force—eclipses that made by any rival nation, in spite of the fact that she is the most distant by the sea-route from the place of rendezvous. Germany also possesses the two strongest torpedo vessels afloat—the "Ziethen" and the "Uhlan." The latter was built in one of her own navy yards and cost nearly $300,000. It carries immediately under its bows a torpedo which is intended to explode within the vessel at which it is directed. The force of the charge of dynamite which will be exploded by the collision, is calculated to be sufficient to blow the opposing vessel to atoms, although the torpedo proper is no bigger than a foot-ball. Measures have been taken to protect the "Uhlan" itself from being destroyed by the explosion. The power of the engines, when compared with the size of the vessel, are enormous. They are of one thousand horse power when at high pressure, and occupy so much room that there is scarcely sufficient space left for the coal-bunks and the berths of the officers and seamen. The unusual proportion of steam-power is designed to give the vessel great speed. When the "Uhlan" is about to enter into action for the purpose of breaking the line of battle formed by the ironclads of the enemy, divers will attach to her bulkhead fulminating cartridges and her speed will be increased to its highest point, the crew having in the meantime lowered and embarked upon a life-raft which is kept on board for the purpose. It is supposed that three or four such vessels will destroy the largest fleet which it is possible for any nation to send out.

Wisconsin's War Eagle.

One of the Maine editorial party at the Centennial writes this about "Old Abe," the eagle carried all through the war as a standard, by the 8th Wisconsin regiment. He says:

"When the battle raged the fiercest his piercing eyes would glisten and at times his screech would be heard above the din of battle. Remember, he was not drafted or tied, but was a willing volunteer. His presence was hailed by the whole army as an omen of victory, for the Wisconsin 8th were never whipped. In one battle they went in over nine hundred strong, and came out with only eighty-five unharmed. At the battle of Corinth, old Abe had his leg broken and it still troubles him. He left his perch then for about five minutes, soared aloft, and then came back. We feel cold thrills run over us, as we write about that bird who has gone through twenty-five fierce battles and as many skirmishes."

The bird was taken from the nest when fifteen days old, and is now fifteen years old. Barnum has offered $25,000 for him, but he is owned by the State of Wisconsin, and is not for sale. The man who carried him a year and a half in the war is with him—John Hill, a native of Milltown, in the State of Maine.—Bangor Whig.

—To the demonstration of Professor Huxley that the horse is an evolution from the archippus, the Buffalo Express very pointedly responds: "No reputation is safe in these days. This scandal would never have come out if the horse hadn't been running for something."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for such refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 17. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other warehouse or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the dairy counties of Massachusetts.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

—After the lapse of three years work has been resumed on the wreck of the sunken frigate Hussar in the East river, near New York, to obtain the treasure, amounting to $4,800,000, buried in the vessel. A general survey of the wreck by the diver, Mr. Cook of San Francisco, who has gained a great reputation on the Pacific coast, revealed but little of the old frigate left. There remain the worm-eaten keelson, the knees and planking below the copper line, all of which is covered with a thick deposit of sand and mud. The money is supposed to be in the ship's treasury in the run of the vessel. Over this is a solid mass of kentledge and shingle ballast, which, by the action of the water, have become so conglomerated that it is as hard as iron, and has to be drilled or blasted through. The Hussar arrived with the frigate Murcury at New York on November 23, 1780. The vessels carried the money to pay off the British troops, but on arriving here the money, amounting to $4,800,000, was all transferred to the Hussar, which also took on board seventy American prisoners and set sail for New London, Conn. The commander determined to make a passage through Hell Gate, but failed. The vessel struck heavily on Pot Rock, and the swift current drifted her helplessly along past Randall's Island. When she became manageable the captain decided to beach her in a marshy curve below Port Morris. With the assistance of some farmers the vessel was run ashore on high tide and fastened by hawsers to some trees; the tide receded the strain forced the cables to part, some of the trees were pulled up, and the vessel with a sudden lurch went over the ledge and sunk in 100 feet of water. Here she has been ever since. The British Government sent over two tugs in 1794, and they labored for two summers to recover the money. One of them sunk and the other was driven off by the American Government. In 1819 a company was formed and work was begun, but no progress was made. Owens undertook the work, but failed. Over $50,000 was expended in a coffer dam, which could not resist the strong current. About twenty years ago a company was formed, with Mr. Horace Barnes as Superintendent, at Worcester, Mass., known as the New England Submarine Company, and they have prosecuted the enterprise ever since. The company is now known as the Frigate Hussar Company, and they hope by the aid of improved machinery to get at the rich mine.

—The City Marshal of Attica, Ind., has devised a new means of punishing wife-whippers who will not pay their fines and refuse to work on the streets. He chains them to lamp-posts or fastens them to chairs which are mounted on dry-goods boxes, and adorns them with the placard: "He whipped his wife." A heavy punishment, surely.

—Mr. Gladstone, the distinguished English statesman, said, in a recent address, that hand labor is better paid in England than head labor. Same thing over here, William. A prize-fighter will make more money pounding his fellow-men black and blue than a goat can by butting them clear across the street five or six times a day.

—The use of the editorial "we" prevails in the South, as will be seen by the following remark in the Paris (Tenn.,) Intelligencer: "If we escape the hog cholera this season, there will be a large surplus of pork next Winter."

—The Scotchman who said that "kindness canna be bought for gear" ought to see the young wife sit down by her husband's side and tickle him out of the price of a new bonnet.

The Massacre.

Further details of the Indian massacre, together with official despatches, make it certain that the unfortunate Custer was the victim of his own rashness. Unhappily his whole command suffered by his mistake. Either from a desire to reap all the glory of destroying the camp of the Indians or from sheer heedlessness, he violated, or at least exceeded his instructions, and made the attack without proper reconnoitering or waiting for re-inforcements. A battery of Gatling guns offered him before he started, he refused in order to gain in speed, although it does not appear that anything like a forced march was desired. His rush into the ravine was contrary to all rules of Indian warfare. It was an unexpected fate for the gallant, reckless young soldier. He went through the war, taking part in every battle of consequence except Fredericksburg, only to be killed at last by an Indian bullet, in the wilds of the West.

Concerning the causes which led to the massacre of Custer and his men, a Washington correspondent of the Globe, after referring to the Black Hills expedition as the primary cause of the war, says:

"If there had been a post at the head of navigation on the Yellowstone, the expedition (Terry's) would doubtless have proceeded thence against the Indians in one invincible column. The policy of sending three converging columns so many hundred miles against such brave and skillful soldiers as the Sioux has been the cause of some uneasiness here among the few who have taken the trouble to think about the facts and prospects. The Sioux seem to have understood clearly the plan of attack, and threw themselves with their whole force first against General Crook's column and now against Custer's, and both times inflicted serious disaster. The campaign was undertaken under disadvantages which should not have been disregarded or overlooked. There were no posts on the upper Yellowstone River, as Congress failed to pass the appropriation necessary for their maintenance. General Sherman and General Sheridan both asked for these posts, which, in case of anticipated troubles would give the troops a base of supplies about 400 miles nearer the hostile country than they could otherwise have. The posts desired would have been accessible by steamboats on the Yellowstone, which would have conveyed men and supplies. The House committee on military affairs unanimously recommended their establishment, but the committee on appropriations refused to provide in their bills the necessary means. This is regarded as the immediate cause of the disaster."

A letter from a banker in Salt Lake City to his sister in New York, written on the departure of troops from the former place to take part in the Sioux war, is published, and from it we extract the following:

"Poor fellows, I'm real sorry for them, for it is more than probable that many of them will lose their scalps before this miserable war is over. It is reported that General Crook is having a big fight with the Sioux, and that his troops have been very severely handled. I am afraid it is true, too, for the miserable economy of our Government only gave Crook 1500 men to fight 5000 Sioux, the fiercest warriors on the continent. They are beginning to see the folly of sending such a handful into that wild country, and troops are being ordered there from all directions. If anybody but Crook had the command every scalp would be raised before the reinforcements arrived; fortunately, however, he is the best Indian fighter in the army, and will probably hold his own until more troops arrive. These miserable papers who have been yelling, 'Reduce, reduce the army,' will have to change their tune now, for there are hardly men enough in the whole army to whip these Sioux. I suppose that you folks in the East don't pay much attention to the Indian war, but when one sees men leaving their families and starting out to fight these red devils, and knows that the chances are even whether they come back or not, it is almost impossible to keep from worrying about them as much as if they were kin."

Gen. Custer's old comrades in arms pay eloquent tributes to the memory of the dead hero. He was brave, even to recklessness, as the manner of his death showed. He was a bold, dashing officer, who did not know what fear, and not always what discretion, was. His success was a rule without exceptions, and his progress an advance almost without pauses. He was the youngest Brigadier and the youngest Major-General in the army. "He never lost a gun or a color," and "captured more guns, flags and prisoners than any other general not an army commander," and these guns and flags "were all taken in action and field service." His personal appearance was singular. Col. Newhall describes him thus: "Custer of the golden locks, his broad sombrero turned up from his hard-bronzed face, the ends of his crimson cravat floating over his shoulders, gold galore spangling his jacket sleeves, a pistol in his boot, jangling spurs on his heels, and a ponderous claymore swinging at his side, a wild dare-devil of a general, and a prince of advance guards, quick to see and act." While he fought brilliantly and bravely he does not seem to have been a soldier capable of real generalship. "The truth about Custer," says an officer of distinction, "is that he was a pet soldier who had risen not above his merit but higher than men of equal merit. He fought with Sheridan, and through the patronage of Sheridan he rose, but while Sheridan liked his valor and his dash he never trusted his judgment. He was to Sheridan what Murat was to Napoleon. While Sheridan is always cool, Custer was always aflame. He was like a thermometer. He had a touch of romance about him, and when the war broke out he used to go about dressed like one of Bryon's pirates in the Archipelago, with waving, shining locks and a broad, flapping sombrero. Rising to high command early in life he lost the repose necessary to success in high command. As a commanding officer he was greatly beloved by his troops, who followed his daring lead on hundreds of battle-fields. It was his wont during the rebellion to place himself in front of the line of battle just before the beginning of an engagement, and order up the band to inspire his men with the music of the "Star-Spangled Banner," "Hail Columbia," or some other inspiring National air. His wife, a niece of Senator Christiancy, survives him, but he leaves no children. His contributions to the magazines continued up to the present. His book entitled "My Life on the Plains" appeared this year, and the last number of the Galaxy contained an article giving his experience with the Sioux in the Yellowstone expedition of 1873.

How It Was Done.

The Nashua Telegraph prints a portion of the evidence on which Nathan C. Jameson, democratic member of the legislature from Antrim, was unseated, the seat being given to David H. Goodall, the republican contestant. Jameson was declared elected by the democratic selectmen, by sixteen majority; but the committee on elections, after two weeks' examination, decided that eighteen fraudulent votes were cast for Jameson,—and the following extracts from the minutes of the committee show the committee were right in the decision. As some of the democratic spouters have talked about the Antrim case decision being a "high-handed outrage," we give the evidence as follows:

Frank E. Thayer.—Is twenty-two years of age; lived in Antrim from the time he was eight years old until he was nineteen; then went to Manchester, where his father resides, and has resided there with his wife and father ever since, and has been in Antrim but two or three times a year. Intends to go South next winter.

George F. Dodge.—Formerly kept a livery stable at Antrim, but sold out and moved to Ellenburg, N. Y., in the Spring of 1875. He is married and his wife and goods are now in Ellenburg. His father testified that the son had no home at his house in Antrim.

Elias B. Smith.—Sold his homestead in Antrim in Sept. 1875, and moved to Stoddard, where he has been keeping house ever since.

James Richardson.—Voted in Hillsborough in 1875. Lived and kept house in Hillsborough until April 1876. Based his right to vote on the fact that he notified the selectmen of Antrim last fall that he had bought a farm there.

Charles W. Roach.—Has not lived in Antrim for four years. Is keeping house and doing business in Salem, Mass. Owns a house in Antrim, which he rents. Did not vote in Antrim in 1875. Has not been there since election day.

Clarence A. Brackett.—Is married and lives with his wife in Chelsea, Mass. Has not resided in Antrim for three years. Kept house and paid taxes in Stoughton, Mass., from Oct. 20, 1874, to Oct. 20, 1875. Then moved to Chelsea, where he now resides. Went up to Antrim and left a trunk there last Sept. (This was trunk man No. 1 that voted.)

Albert N. Coolidge.—Lived two summers with Andrew D. White in Antrim. Was married last Christmas and went to live with his wife in Washington. Has not lived in Antrim since and has not been there since election.

Jeremiah S. Atwood.—His son is a county pauper at the county farm.

Charles Ellsworth.—Went to work for William Stacy, in Antrim, Sept. 1875; worked there about two weeks, then went to work at Hillsborough Bridge and worked there until town meeting; went to Antrim election day and voted; left the same night; parents live in Deering; voted in Hillsborough in 1875; name on Hillsborough checklist in 1874. (Trunk man No. 2.)

J. L. Whipple.—Single man; was in Antrim from May, 1875, to Oct. 1875; then went to Gardner, Mass., and has remained there ever since; never voted in Antrim until last March. (Trunk man No. 3.)

David D. Bagley.—Worked for one of the selectmen in Antrim from Sept. 11, until November, then went to Bradford; went back to Antrim in about four weeks; staid there six weeks; then returned to Bradford; went to Antrim and voted and staid about a week; has not been there since. A single man; parents reside in Bradford. (Trunk man No. 4.)

George Case.—Lived in Deering last fifteen years; carried a trunk to Antrim last September, but never staid there over night; returned election morning and voted, and has not been there since. (Trunk man No. 5.)

Charles Cutter.—Thoroughbred tramp from Hillsborough. His mother lives in Stoddard. He hired out to one Lovering, at Antrim, Sept. 1. Worked about three weeks. Then returned to Hillsborough, where he remained with his brother until February. Voted in Stoddard in 1874, in Hillsborough in 1875, and in Antrim in 1876; has been there all of a week since. (Trunk man No. 6.)

Dow Abbott.—Single man; parents live in Hillsborough. Went to Antrim Sept. 13, 1875, and dropped in upon one Moody McIlvain, and asked him if he could make his home there. Moody said he could, though that was the first time he ever saw him. He stopped one night, worked the next day and left. McIlvain asked him no questions, and has not seen him since the election. (Trunk man No. 7.)

Charles McAlister.—Is 21 years of age; parents live in Deering; worked in Antrim from April to November during his minority; then took his trunk and went back to Deering; returned to Antrim a week before election and voted there. (Trunk man No. 8.)

William Roach.—Sold his farm in Bennington three years ago, and went to live with his son in Deering; lived there until the summer of 1875; then moved a trunk to his brother's in Antrim, stopped two weeks, then went to his daughter's in Somerville, Mass., and has lived there ever since. (Trunk man No. 9.)

William Hewlett.—Josiah G. Lovering testified that Hewlett came to his house in Antrim in Sept., and asked to make it his home there. Lovering never saw him before, but took him in. He had a bundle which he left, and which is at Lovering's still, (the contents are unknown,) Lovering did not see him again until election day, when he appeared before the selectmen to have his name put upon the list. It was put on and he voted, although he swore when questioned that he had been in town but four hours. (Trunk man No. 10.)

Edward J. Pollard.—This was another man who, when in search of a home in Sept., called at Moody McIlvain's and asked to be taken in. Moody said he was full, but that the stranger might leave his trunk; and he did so and returned to town in March, and voted. (Trunk man No. 11.)

Buchu Helmbold recently escaped from the Philadelphia Lunatic Asylum and went to Long Branch, where he is now enjoying his liberty. He appears perfectly sane.

On Friday evening, as Prof. Prentice of Wesleyan College, of Middleton, Conn., and wife, were making a tour of Purgatory, in Sutton, Mrs. Prentice slipped and fell over a precipice, striking on her head on the rocks 70 feet below. Her skull and breast bone were terribly fractured by the fall, but at 8 o'clock that evening she was still living, though without possibility of recovery.

The Legislature.

In the House, Friday, on motion of Mr. Sise of Portsmouth, the bill in relation to the equalization of taxation was referred to the next legislature.

The bill in amendment of the charter of the city of Manchester was passed.

A bill was reported in accordance with the resolution of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of Portsmouth, in relation to the taking of land for sanitary purposes, and was ordered to a second reading.

Mr. Moore of Nashua, called up the unfinished business, it being the question of the removal of Ebenezer G. Adams, pilot commissioner of Portsmouth Harbor. Upon a divison the vote was 170 yeas, 130 nays. Mr. Sinclair of Bethlehem called for the yeas and nays. The roll call resulted: 190 yeas, 131 nays.

The following removals were made, the yeas and nays being demanded in each case:

Thomas J. Smith, Solicitor of Strafford County—yeas 197, nays 161;

John J. Jewell, Sheriff—yeas 197, nays 132;

Moses C. Russell, Judge of Probate—yeas 189; nays 116;

George E. Durgin, Register of Probate—yeas 179, nays 77.

Daniel S. Ward, Police Justice of Dover—yeas 189, nays 122;

Frank Emerson, Police Justice of Farmington—yeas 181, nays 104;

Silas Hussey, Police Justice of Rochester yeas 175, nays 91;

Daniel J. Parson, Special Justice of Rochester—yeas 189, nays 84;

Benjamin E. Thurston, Sheriff of Belknap County—yeas 184, nays 86.

Charles C. Rogers, Solicitor—yeas 181, nays 83;

Geo. W. M. Pitman, Judge of Probate of Carroll County—yeas 187, nays 83;

Levi T. Haley, Sheriff—yeas 179, nays 92.

Paul Wentworth, Solicitor, was removed without a division.

Adjourned to Monday at 11 A. M.

Fifty Years Ago.

At a Fourth of July celebration in Lebanon, in 1826, among the regular toasts offered were the following, as printed in the N. H. Patriot and State Gazette for July 17 of that year:

Congress—A body concentrating the power and wisdom designed to move and guide, not obstruct or burden the wheels of government.

African Slavery—The inhuman hearts that originated it must have been a shade darker than the sable skins of their sunburnt victims. May the generous liberality of our countrymen soon wipe this black, infernal stain from the fair face of this land of Freedom.

Among the volunteer toasts offered was the following by Mr. Alpheus Baker:

The Fourth of July Fifty Years Hence—May it be celebrated by thirty millions of freemen with as much joy as it is this day.

—The mother of two sons, twins, met, a cotemporary relates, one of the brothers in a field one morning. "Which of you two boys am I speaking to?" asked the mother; "is it you, or your brother?" "Why do you ask?" inquired the lad, prudently. "Because, if it's your brother, I will box his ears." "It is not my brother, it is I." "Then your brother is wearing your coat, for your's had a hole in it." "No, mother, I am wearing my own coat." "Good heavens!" cried the mother, looking at him intently, "you are your brother, after all!"

—A cow owned by G. D. Bisbee, of Buckfield, Maine, distinguished herself lately by devouring a pocket book containg notes, receipts and $158 in bank notes. A powerful emetic was administered without any effect. The pocket book was owned by a man who hung his vest containing it on a post within reach of the cow.

—Central Pennsylvania has potato bugs, and as the worthy husbandman in drab wanders about his garden he remarks feelingly to his wife, "Verily, Martha, the spirit almost moves me to eject with vehemence sundry of the quaint phrases common with the lost ones of the world's people."

—There are but two regiments of soldiers in the British service permitted to wear shirt collars—the Seventh hussars and the Forty-third infantry. In the king of Abyssinia's army there are several regiments which wear shirt collars only.

HAVING my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can underset me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of

Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!

I also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

John S. Treat,

Corner of Deer and Vaughan Streets.

N. B. It is not so troublesome as it is to show dry goods; we show our goods gladly to those who may come, whether we sell to him or not.

High School Reunion.

Franklin Hall has been secured for the second Reunion of the Portsmouth High School Association and the reception of the graduating class of 1876, for Thursday evening of this week. Hon. William H. Y. Hackett, President of the Association, will preside. Five minute speeches will be made, commencing at fifteen minutes before eight o'clock. At nine o'clock, the seats on the lower floor will be removed and dancing commenced, with Mr. Charles A. Hazlett as floor manager, assisted by a committee of six from the graduating class and as many from the alumni.

Jottings.

The Marine band will give their last concert this evening, on Haymarket square, from quarter past six until 8.

Mr. Eduardo de Anguera, the piano tuner, will be in town in a few days, when he will attend to all orders that may be left at Preston's drug store. See advertisement.

Lieutenant-Commander George E. Wingate is detached from the Ajax and ordered to proceed home and wait orders.

The auction sale of silver ware, watches, chains, and cutlery, at Wendell's auction store, continues this afternoon and evening.

The Board of Assessors will meet at the city rooms at 7:30 on every Tuesday and Thursday evening during the month of July.

News and Notes.

We haven't any sort of doubt that the orator who, a hundred years hence, shall dare to speak more than thirty minutes continuously, will be taken from the rostrum and ducked in the nearest pond. This age of gab must be succeeded by one of silence.—Monitor.

Davenport, Iowa, was last week filled with tramps, over a thousand being in and about the city. They took possession of two railroad trains on Friday. The police and firemen of the town were armed, and a company of troops held in readiness to quell any riot.

The Servian government is issuing paper money. The Servian general Tchernayeff, reported killed with his entire command at Nissa (or Nisch), is advancing on the Turks, and is reported to have effected a junction with the Bulgarian insurgents. Egypt has forwarded troops to Turkey, and Tunis will follow suit; the Turks have gained some successes. The Roumanian Government has sent artillery to the frontier to prevent Turkish gunboats from ascending the Servian and Roumanian waters.

John S. Barron, a newspaper man, fired a pistol at Hon. Halsey S. Boardman in the latter's office in Boston on Friday, but did not hit him. Barron was arrested.

Ex-President Santa Anna, of Mexico, died June 27, aged 84 years. He was a daring soldier and able general, and the most noted man in modern Mexican history.

Mr. Blaine has now been home nearly two weeks, but so far there has been no special change in his case. The malarial features of the desease are made very manifest by the fact of his being decidedly worse every alternate day; nervous prostration is still the marked characteristic of his case. He is not able to leave his room, and is almost entirely confined to his bed. His physician thinks it will be many weeks before he will resume active work. A European trip is strongly recommended, as soon as his strength is sufficient, by good medical authorities who have been consulted.

Gen. Butler's yacht, the famous "America," struck on Brigantine Shoals, off the Jersey coast, at two o'clock Friday morning, but came off at 4 o'clock, leaking badly. Gen. Butler was on board.

The Governor and Council have appointed Rev. Charles A. Downs, of Lebanon, Superintendent of Public Instruction, to succeed J. W. Simonds, whose term of office closes July 10th.

Charles S. Marble, of Northampton, Mass., was gored to death by a bull on the 5th while crossing a field.

About two weeks ago a party of Lakeville, Mass., desperadoes went to the house of a man named Wilkie, and in a short time the neighbors heard a terrible noise and struggle going on. The man Wilkie has not been seen or heard of since, and as he was alone in the house foul play is suspected.

The city of Newport R. I., has granted to Mr. Geo. H. Norman the exclusive right of constructing water works in said city for the supply of water for domestic and public use for the term of fifty years, and voted to him all the city rights in Easton's pond and in land around said pond. The works are to cost not less than $600,000, and to be commenced within six months. Mr. Norman is well known, having constructed most of the water works in New England. The passage of the grant by the Newport Council was greeted with the ringing of bells and firing of cannon by the citizens.

Prof. Ezekiel Webster Dimond, of the New Hampshire College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, died at Hanover, at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, of an affection of the brain, from which he had been suffering for a long time. He was professor of chemistry, and has been connected with the college about eight years, rendering it very important service.

Political.

There isn't a smarter nor a more widely circulated newspaper in the West than the Chicago Times.—Post.

"Hayes would beat Tilden as easily as Grant beat Greeley."—Chicago Times.

At a democratic caucus of York County (Me.) republicans who are dissatisfied with the nomination for Congress of Mr. Reed of Portland, held at Biddeford last week, one of the speakers, Judge Tapley, said he "thought the interests of the district would be quite as safe in the hands of a good democrat, if not more so, than in the hands of such a man as the Portland nominee." We have heard the same remark made by many republicans of the First District of Maine concerning Hon. John H. Burleigh, during the past two years.

The Mississippi investigating committee have returned from that State. Mr. Boutwell, the chairman, says the committee worked very hard, with two short hand writers, during the entire time of its absence. Fifteen days were spent at Jacksonville and two at Aberdeen, near the Alabama border. They examined over 120 witnesses. Mr. Redpath, who accompanied the committee, says the only point on which the republicans and democrats of the committee agree is, that not one of them would live in Mississippi if they received a legal title to the whole State as an inducement. The evidence shows that the Bourbon democracy, who managed her last elections,—the white voters of the State who drove Mississippi into secession against the wishes of the better classes of the State,—now control its politics, and that they hesitated neither at fraud nor assassination and the wholesale massacre of negroes to carry the last elections. It is a ghastly record. The outrages in Kansas, which created the republican party, were mere boys' quarrels in comparison to the acts of the Bourbon democratic leaders in Mississippi. Mr. Redpath adds that the negroes are so thoroughly intimidated that the State will go democratic next fall unless the Government affords them protection. If protection is given them, Mississippi will go republican by from thirty to forty thousand majority.

The Cincinnati Enquirer (dem.) says of the St. Louis platform: "It leaves both the greenback and hard-money wings of the democratic party free to advocate their respective views and measures, without being at variance with the national platform." That, certainly, is a partisan advantage which cannot be claimed for the Cincinnati platform. It means hard money only, and it says it.

Tilden's candidacy practically abandons the West, and rests all hope upon the united South and upon New York. The patriots of the country cannot afford to have a President with that backing. — Albany Journal.

The difference between Governor Hayes and Governor Tilden was strikingly exemplified in the way each received the news of his nomination for the Presidency. Governor Hayes behaved like a modest gentleman, Governor Tilden like a mountebank who had just received a large order for his quack medicines. The people wanted reform, said Mr. Tilden, and they have come to the right shop for it. I am the only patentee of the original article, warranted to cure the most desperate cases.—New Haven Palladium.

Tilden should now rise and explain why the sheriff who allowed Tweed to escape has not been removed from office.

The Cincinnati platform favors free schools; the St. Louis platform demands an unrestricted liquor traffic.

"Tilden and Hendricks"—so reads the democratic ticket for the Presidency. It is an utter impossibility to compress within the space of four syllables an act more perfidious to all principle—for who or whatever the name of Tilden may be, or imply, he is made to be, and it means that he is the open representative of the very opposite of that miserable policy of which as the stubborn spokesman for years, Thomas A. Hendrick of Indiana, has been rendered so notorious. We wish to emphasize the fact that Mr. Hendricks is one of the most prominent leaders and loudest of spokesmen of paper swindlers, and as such was their candidate for the first place on the democractic ticket, but he now has been put off with the second place. Humbug, thy name is democratic Reform. Gold and paper contraction and inflation, reform and swindle, let us have it all. How many men of sense will be found to join this absurd chorus? Evidently the nomination of Hendricks was a matter concerted beforehand, a bargain and sale, bare of all honor and full of shame, a blow in the very face of all who saw in Tilden the embodiment of honest reform. For the time being there is an end to all honest reform on the democratic side, and the truly independent citizens, who do not believe they can serve two masters, will have to look in another direction and centre their hopes elsewhere.—Westliche Post (Carl Schurz' paper).

—Lord Mandeville's name is frequently heard among the gossips. He was sent over here by his family to get him away from a noted Italian countess, a woman of greater beauty than virtue, and he was consigned to the friendly care of the lady who is now his mother-in-law. She had been in England, the guest of the Manchesters. Could this lady have shown a greater zeal in his welfare than to have given him her daughter, Consuelo? And this, too, after a very short courtship, and when she knew that this noble boy had no ready cash for a wedding journey and bridal gifts, that all his expenses are paid (or unpaid) by loans from his generous friends belonging to the polo and racket clubs. Grundy says that not one of my lord's relatives attended his marriage, that the bride is unrecognized by his family, and that even the bridal tour to Pelham bridge was made in Colonel Jay's coach, and that the hotel bill for one night's entertainment of $150 is half unpaid. But Consuelo will be a duchess some day, and the golden youths who lend my lord money now will by and by be paid with interest in being the guest of one of the oldest and proudest families (on the husband's side) in England. At present, Lord and Lady Mandeville are living in a furnished house on Fifth avenue, which was taken for two months by papa and the youthful couple. If polo, racket, yachting, etc., can make a honeymoon pleasant, the Mandevilles are having a glorious time.—N. Y. cor. St. Louis Repub.

—A Louisville man during the war went to Washington and asked the pardon of a young Kentuckian, who had returned from the rebel army to visit his sweetheart, had been captured by the Union forces, tried as a spy, and sentenced to be hanged. Mr. Lincoln listened attentively to the recital of the facts, and then said, as if determined to be merciful against his convictions: "Well, if a man had as many lives as a cat, I think I would take one of this young fellow's by hanging him; but, as he has but one life, he cannot be restored if he is hung once, no matter how sorry we might be. So, although I think a moderate hanging would do him good and be a good example, I will pardon him."

The War Against Disease.

The war waged against disease by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters goes bravely on. Dispatches are constantly received from the cured indicating the decisive nature of the advantages obtained by the great botanic cordial over its formidable adversary. Malarial fevers, constipation, torpidity of the liver and kidneys, general debility, nervousness and rheumatic ailments invariably yield to this conqueror and preventive of disease. For the infirmities incident to the decline of life it is also an excellent specific. It hastens convalescence and repairs the ravages of ill health by facilitating the conversion of food into blood of a rich and nourishing quality. The appetite is improved by it, and in cases of nervous disease it tranquilizes that great sensorium, the brain, far more effectually than any mineral sedative.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

Daily Chronicle.

—"I'm saddest when I sing," exclaimed a Sunday evening warbler. "And so is the neighborhood," sighed a voice from the street.

—In a recent trial of a man in New Orleans for carrying concealed weapons, the proof being positive, everybody was astonished at a verdict of "not guilty," until it leaked out that every member of the jury was armed in the same way.

—A new Centennial game has been introduced in town. It is played at small parties, the chief feature being for every man to kiss one of the girls a hundred times during the evening. It was very popular at first, but the girls seem to be dissatisfied with it now and are trying to get up a bicentennial game.—Norwich Bulletin.

—Andrew Jackson was once making a stump speech out West, in a small village. Just as he was concluding, Amos Kendall, who sat behind him, whispered, "Tip 'em a little Latin, General. They won't be content without it." Jackson instantly thought of a few phrases he knew, and in a voice of thunder wound up his speech by exclaiming, "E pluribus unum—sine qua non—ne plus ultra—multum in parvo!" The effect was tremendous, and the shouts could be heard for many miles.

Liver Complaint.

By R. V. Pierce, M. D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," etc., etc.

The Liver is the great depurating (purifying) organ of the system, and has very appropriately been termed the "housekeeper" of our health. I have observed in the dissecting-room, and also in making post-mortem examinations of the bodies of those who have died of different diseases, that in a large proportion of cases, the liver has given evidence of having at some time been diseased. Liver affections are equally prevalent in beasts. Every butcher knows that the livers of cattle, sheep, and swine, are ten times as frequently diseased as any other organ. A healthy liver each day secretes about two and a half pounds of bile. When it becomes torpid, congested, or if, from any cause, it be disabled in the performance of its duties, it is evident that the elements of the bile must remain in the blood, thus irritating, poisoning, and perverting, every vital process. Nature attempts to rid the system of these noxious materials by means of other organs, as the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., which become overtaxed in performing their additional labor, and are unable to withstand the pressure.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, becomes overstimulated with unhealthy blood, and fails to normally perform its functions. Hence there is dullness, headache, impairment of the memory, dizziness, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. When the blood is diseased, the skin manifests discolored spots, pimples, blotches, boils, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach and bowels, sooner or later, become affected, and constipation, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, or diarrhœa is the inevitable result.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

A sallow color of the skin, or yellowish brown spots on the face and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness, with frequent headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in the mouth, dryness of the throat, internal heat; palpitation of the heart, a dry, teasing cough, unsteady appetite, sour stomach, raising of the food, and a choking sensation in the throat; sickness and vomiting; distress, heaviness, and a bloated, or full feeling about the stomach and sides; aggravating pains in the sides, back or breast, and about the shoulders; colic pains and soreness through the bowels; constipation, alternating with diarrhœa; piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of the extremities, rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy; numbness of the limbs (especially at night,) and chills, alternating with hot flashes; kidney and other urinary difficulties, dullness, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of these symptoms will be likely to be present in any case at one time.

Treatment.—Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with small doses of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which act as an alterative on the liver. For Liver Complaint and the various affections caused by a diseased liver, these remedies are unsurpassed. The Golden Medical Discovery does not simply palliate the disease, but it produces a lasting effect. By its use, the liver and stomach are changed to an active, healthy state, the appetite is regulated, the blood purified and enriched, and the entire system renovated and restored to health.

REASONS WHY FARMERS should purchase

The Halladay Wind-Mill!

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

So Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

DR. QUAIN'S

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the root of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Shirrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any state meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Louisiana Politics.

So complete is the reign of terror created by the bulldozing Regulators of East Feliciana and East Baton Rouge, that half of the inhuman brutalities practiced on innocent colored men will never be told. There is a spirit of lawlessness abroad, encouraged by democratic politicians of the worst sort for selfish ends, a devilishness so terrible that it cannot be put down now by well disposed citizens, and worse is to come. The hanging of five colored men at Mount Pleasant, near Port Hudson, a week since, is but a sample. Except for self-defense there can be no excuse for murder. The white Regulators do murder with the greatest relish, and seldom seek for an excuse until the murders have been committed. They killed John Gair, and they hung his sister while in the custody of the sheriff, because these two persons were suspected of poisoning a white citizen. The white citizen is alive and well enough to-day; but it is not well enough with the dead victims of the mad men, and it is not well enough with the bulldozing community whose stained and bloody hands will never be clean, and which hands are yet ready to do further deeds of violence.

As in the case of the Gair murder, there was no excuse for the quintupled murder at Mount Pleasant. It is alleged, according to Major Bascom's apology for the murderers, that one James Ellis, colored, was shot by a band of colored Regulators. Ellis was known in his neighborhood as a bad man. A few nights previous to the night on which Ellis was shot he had attempted the life of one of his fellows. It was a cowardly and wicked act to shoot Ellis, and the man who did the deed, be he white or black, should be punished according to his deserts. The bulldozing Regulators hung five men for the murder of Ellis, men said to belong to a secret society organized for mutual protection in a parish where Regulators are allowed to ride, and where human life is held as worthless. There are several good reasons why the five men should not have been hung for the murder of Ellis. The first is, they were hung by strangers, who had no business to be there, and without an investigation by officers of the law; it is certain that five men were not guilty of killing one man, though four out of five might have been accessories; there is nothing to show that Ellis was not shot by white men, one of the strangers who did the deed for the very purpose of bringing about the after result of negro murdering called a riot and retribution; the most important reason why the five men should not have been hung for the murder of Ellis, is the fact that Ellis is not dead! He was wounded, as we have been informed, but survives. That is a small matter, however, in the opinion of the White League Regulators. They rode out to kill; they rode out to break up the prosperous colony of colored planters at Mount Pleasant; they brought terror to the neighborhood they visited; they rioted and murdered, and rode back to their officers to receive congratulations and brevets for brave and meritorious conduct while obeying orders.—N. O. Republican.

—Mr. Conway in a letter from London tells the following story of Dean Stanley: Once upon a time, the Dean of Westminster, going to the Abbey, put his gloves into his hat. On returning home after his discourse he said to his wife: "Somehow the congregation seemed to gaze upon me to-day with a peculiar interest while I was preaching." "I do not wonder," replied Lady Stanley, "for during your entire sermon your gloves rested on the top of your head."

—The Burlington Hawkeye tells of a surgical operation in which a man had to be amputated to save his ear.

Daily Chronicle.

TUESDAY, JULY 11, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Salary-Grabbers.

When Hayes and Wheeler were first nominated the democratic papers hastened to announce that they were "salary-grabbers,"—not being able then (nor since) to find anything else to say against either of them. The slander, so far as Mr. Wheeler was concerned, was instantly set at rest (or at least refuted—for the refutation of a slander does not by any means prevent its persistent repetition by the democratic press,) by the simple publication of his record on the subject, which shows that he voted against the "grab" at every stage and on its final passage,—and after it passed, immediately bought bonds with his share of the back pay and handed the bonds into the Treasury to be cancelled, he being the first man to put the back-pay where it belonged.

Gov. Hayes was not in Congress at all when the back-pay scramble took place; but he was in Congress some years before, when the pay of Congressmen was raised, and we were under the impression that the democrats, in charging him with having "voted for the increase of salary when he was in Congress," were telling the truth in words though a most contemptible lie in fact—for they of course sought to convey the impression that he was a participant in the salary-grab so successfully advocated by Fernando Wood and Sam Randall. But the Cincinnati Times of a recent date says Gov. Hayes voted even against the first increase of pay, which has never been found fault with by the people, and we copy its statement, as follows:

He was not in Congress when the act was passed which gave such offense to the country, and the only one ever stigmatized as a Congressional salary-grab. The act passed in 1866—not at the close of a Congress, but during the first session, and before the members of the next Congress were elected—increasing the annual salary of members, and decreasing their mileage, was voted against by Governor Hayes, first, last and all the time. It was voted for by Senator Hendricks, now the democratic candidate for Vice President. Every member of both Houses took the increased salary after that act became a law. There was no general complaint about this law, and there is nothing to be made out of the case, so far as the Presidential canvass is concerned, unless against the democratic ticket, which bears the name of Hendricks.

Taking into consideration the fact that a majority of the democrats in both branches of Congress voted for the back-salary-grab, and a majority of the republicans in both branches voted against it—though the democratic majority in its favor was larger than the republican majority against it—and that neither Hayes or Wheeler ever voted for an increase of pay for Congressmen, we don't see how the democrats can make much political capital out of the salary-grab, in this campaign.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 7.

The alleged purchase of several State delegations to St. Louis by the reformer Morrissey, and the juidicious and effective disbursement of the "barrel of money" there, are regarded by many democrats here as the modest beginnings of well matured plans to secure the success of the democratic party next November by the wholesale corruption of voters. Indeed, the indiscreet boast has more than once been made in this city since Tilden's nomination that millions of dollars are already available for that purpose.

The St. Louis nominations were last night ratified at the city hall. The decorations and display of fireworks were tasty and brilliant, and the attendance quite large—but did not approach that of the republican meeting held about two weeks since, either in point of numbers, the individual respectability of most of the participants or the spontaneous enthusiasm manifested. The applause last evening was confined almost exclusively to those immediately surrounding the stand and the members of the few ward associations present. Among the speakers were Randolph Tucker and Harris of Virginia, two extreme "State Right" men and open defenders of the rebellion and the rebel atrocities practiced upon disarmed prisoners of war; Magruder and McCreery, of Kentucky; Tarbox, just convalescing from the terrible shock received in the House a few weeks since; Eaton of Connecticut, and Randall. They were unanimous as to their estimation of the sinful character of the republican party and the pressing necessity of destroying it root and branch. The peaceful, harmonious condition of the country under democratic rule was feelingly, almost tearfully, alluded to. "Reform" of the civil service,—the ousting of eighty or ninety thousand republican officials and installing more than that number of famished, hollow-eyed, gaunt democrats, appeared to excite unbounded enthusiasm and enlist the hearty sympathy of the unwashed throng. The feelings of the salary-grabbing Randall almost overpowered him when he came to his own pet theme—economy.

The massacre of Custer and his command, now only too well authenticated, has directed the attention of the country very generally to the proposed reductions of the army—proposed by our Confederate economists at a time when our few remaining regiments are being wiped out, one by one, by the disaffected Indian tribes in the West. Just what has happened to Crook and Custer has been often predicted in the House and Senate during this session by men having long experience in legislating for the interests of the Government, but without appreciable effect upon the indiscriminate cutting and slashing of the appropriations. The murder of those men is one of the bitter fruits of a partial restoration of democracy to national power.

Secretary Chandler's inopportune discovery of the ante-war method of investing public funds has created quite a stir of consternation among the reformers of the House and Senate. An act of the present Congress required him (Chandler) to turn over to the Secretary of the Treasury the Indian trust funds; and while taking an inventory of them it was discovered that frauds had been perpetrated by officials under democratic administrations prior to the war, which now amount, including the accrued interest, to between four and five million dollars. What line of defense will be adopted by their present apologists in Congress, has not yet been developed.

The dismissal of Yaryan was at first eagerly seized as another evidence that President Grant was wholly "given over to hardness of heart and reprobate of mind;" but subsequent inquiry into his antecedents and character caused him to be as hastily dropped.

The dead lock upon the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill continues. It was confidently announced and generally believed that a compromise had been made upon all the bills now before conference committees; but the inability of the committee to agree upon the bill named dissipated the premature conclusion that all would be plain sailing now to the close of the session. It is however believed that a way will be found to surmount all existing obstacles to an immediate passage of the bills now in dispute.

The committee charged with the consideration of the resumption act with a view to its repeal has not yet reported its conclusion to the House. The alleged bargain made with Hendricks before the meeting (or during the session) of the St. Louis convention, to the effect that he should have the nomination in 1880 regardless of the result in November, and his unanimous nomination to the second place on the ticket, have rendered the inflationists more than usually aggressive and uncompromising in their demands.

The weather is unusually hot and dry, and is severely felt at the Capitol; but the Senate nevertheless manifests an earnest purpose to go through with Belknap's trial (resumed yesterday) and reach a decision before an adjournment is consented to.

News and Notes.

Castle Garden, once the fashionable opera and concert hall of New York, but for years past the emigrant depot, was burned Saturday evening. Loss $40,000; insured. There were 300 emigrants lodged in the building at the time it took fire, but they all escaped, saving a large part of their effects.

Frank Cowan, recently arrested in Portland for horribly beating, tying and leaving in a swamp one J. W. Curtis, whom he accused of improper intimacy with his wife, has been discharged, the evidence showing Curtis to be a big fraud and able-bodied liar.

The loss of life by the tordado and freshet in Iowa is now put at 50, and the loss of property at $1,000,000.

Four deaths have occurred at the quarantine station at Staten Island from yellow fever, and there are six more cases.

Milo Lucas, of Newton, Mass., was on Friday fined $25 and costs for brutally beating his daughter Nellie, a young lady of eighteen, with a whip. The father is a prominent citizen of Newton.

A man named Reed, and Mrs. Dudley Pray, of Boston, a summer boarder at Littleton, were killed on Saturday while trying to cross the track of the Nashua, Acton and Boston Railroad at East Littleton, by a passing train.

Sheldon & Company announce for early publication a complete Life of Gen. Geo. A. Custer, embracing his Indian and Army Campaigns. The book will also embrace General Custer's War Memoirs, as written by himself, and published in the Galaxy. The publishers of the Galaxy received from General Custer the last of these articles after his death, it having been written and sent while on the march in his last campaign.

At Newburg, N. Y., Eliza Armour, aged 49, was burned to death Friday night. She had wrapped herself in garments saturated with kerosene, as a cure for rheumatism, and her clothing caught fire from a lamp, roasting her alive. A daughter of Mrs. Armour in trying to save her mother's life, was fatally burned.

A train on the Missouri Pacific Railroad was captured by fifteen masked desperadoes on Friday night, and $16,000 stolen from the express car.

Base ball, Saturday: St. Louis 9, Bostons 5, Louisvilles 5, Mutuals 5,—fifteen innings; Chicagoes 9, Hartfords 3; Cincinnatis 7, Athletics 5. The Chicago club stood at the head of the list on Saturday, with 26 games won and 6 lost.

The recent accident to Gen. Butler's yacht "America" was occasioned by her striking the wreck of steamer "Cassandra," on Brigantine Shoals. The yacht was towed to Staten Island by a wrecking steamer.

By a fire-damp explosion in a French colliery, on the 8th, 42 persons were killed and 47 badly injured.

Heavy defeats for the Servians are reported, and the Servian cause is said to be hopeless.

The House of Correction at Fitchburg, Mass., was burned Saturday morning. Loss $75,000.

At New Richmond, Ohio, on the 6th, a man giving the name of George Williams and claiming to be from Lexington, Ky., called at the house of a Mr. Hooper and engaged his daughter to work for him, saying he lived a few miles above New Richmond. They started for Williams' place together that evening on foot. Next day Williams returned and engaged another lady, named Miss Abbott, upon the same conditions, and they left the town together. Late in the evening Miss Abbott returned and reported that Williams had ravished her and attempted to kill her, leaving her in the woods insensible. Search was immediately made for Mr. Hooper's daughter, but she was not to be found. Williams was arrested and jailed. On Saturday night a crowd surrounded the jail, overpowered the jailer, took Williams out and hanged him. The dead body of Mrs. Bennett, Mr. Hooper's daughter, was found in the woods on Sunday.

The propeller St. Clair has been burned on Lake Superior, and 27 lives lost thereby.

The publishers of Scribner's propose as their special contribution to "the glories of the Centennial year," the publication of the most beautiful number of a popular magazine ever issued in the world. The ambition is a laudable one, the promise is made in good faith, and the power to fulfil the promise will hardly be doubted by those who have watched the history and progress of the Scribner Magazines. This special number of Scribner's Monthly, which will be entitled "The Midsummer Holiday Number," will comprise one hundred and sixty pages, contributed by the most eminent writers; among these are Bryant, Stoddard, "H. H.," Sidney Lanier, Bret Harte, E. E. Hale, Col. Waring, John Burroughs, T. B. Aldrich, Celia Thaxter, Tourgueneff, the Russian novelist, Gail Hamilton, Henry James, Jr., and others only less distinguished. The illustrations will be profuse in number, and specially notable as specimens of the designer's, engraver's and printer's arts. All that culture and skill, developed by a fruitful experience, can do to make this number of the magazine attractive, will be done. The edition will be 75,000 copies. The contents of the Midsummer Holiday number will be light, as midsummer reading generally should be, but some of the contributions will be extraordinary. Mr. Bryant's poem of one hundred and sixty lines, produced at his advanced age, will fairly dispute the claim to eminence with some of his earlier and best known poems. Stoddard's "Hospes Civitatis" is the longest, most ambitious, and best poem he has written for many years. Mrs. Burnett begins her serial, "That Lass o' Lowrie's," and Bret Harte ends "Gabriel Conroy." "Hide-and-Seek Town," by "H. H.," is a notable sketch, with lavish wealth of illustration, and Miss Bridges makes her first appearance as an illustrator in Mr. Burroughs' characteristic article on Birds. "The Midsummer Holiday Nunber of Scribner's Monthly" will be issued about the 20th of July, and cannot fail to attract very wide attention, not only from our own people, but from intelligent visitors from the other side of the water. Dealers should send in their orders at once.

Political.

In the suit of the St. Louis and Terre Haute Railroad Company against Samuel J. Tilden, Charles Butler and others, in the United States Circuit Court, the time for the defendants to put in their answer as a demurrer has been extended until the first Monday in next October. The great "reformer" does not seem over-anxious to be bothered with that law-suit until after the Presidential election is decided at the polls. It will be an easy matter to get it put off another month on some legal quibble.

Referring to Tilden's and Tweed's circular of 1868, in which was deliberately laid down a plan to carry the State of New York for Seymour and Blair by fraud—a plan which Horace Greeley exposed in all its matchless infamy—the Worcester Spy says: "That the democrats should nominate a man with such a record as their candidate for the Presidency is not strange, but that any man professing not to be a democrat should support him, believing him to be a genuine reformer, is incomprehensible."

And now it appears that Sham Tilden was an original approver of the Credit Mobilier ring, which was exposed through the open investigation of a republican committee on the demand of Hon. James G. Blaine. Oakes Ames, whose little memorandum book and memory have been universally accepted by the democrats as unimpeachable evidence for the destruction of republican reputations, testified before the investigating committee that Samuel J. Tilden pronounced the ring legal and advised its formation! It is not denied that Tilden has amassed immense wealth as a railroad lawyer; it would be interesting to know what his fee was for helping start the Credit Mobilier.

The small drove of donkeys of whom Proctor Knott is chief have demanded of Ex-Secretary Bristow that he tell all about his relations with the President while a cabinet minister. Mr. Bristow replies—and in taking this stand he will have the cordial support of every honorable man in the country, without distinction of party—that no matter what may or may not have passed between them, the communications between a President and his cabinet officers are and must of necessity be in the highest degree confidential. So Mr. Bristow declines to allow himself to be used as a shovel by Knott and his gutter-rakers.

—Susan Holmes, of Providence, acts like a boy, talks like a boy, has been to sea and driven on a coal-cart like a boy, dresses like a boy, and finally got arrested for disorderly conduct like a very naughty boy, instead of a girl of eighteen.

Fire at Lincoln Hill.

During the severe thunder shower of Monday afternoon, about five o'clock, the lightning struck the stable of Ex-Mayor Frank W. Miller, setting the loft, which was filled with hay, on fire. Mr. Miller and Mr. Thomas Sheridan had finished getting in all the hay they had cut, just as the shower came up, and were rejoicing at their success, while standing in the stable doorway when the flash descended. Mr. Miller describes the report as the loudest he ever heard, but did not know the building was struck. He turned from the doorway and went into the house, Mr. Sheridan starting to feed the horses. The latter discovered a dense smoke in the loft and gave the alarm to the family. The men rescued the horses and pigs and with the help of neighbors removed everything movable from the burning stable, which was connected directly with the house by a covered passage way.

The smoke was soon seen from the city, an alarm was promptly given and the Fire Department rallied with alacrity, Chief Engineer Ira C. Seymour assuming charge. The fire laddies worked like beavers and exposed themselves to the intense heat like as many salamanders. The fire extinguishers did great service and the steamers drafted water from the Union Street and Miller Avenue reservoirs and the well at the rear of the burning stable. The house was finally saved by the good management of Chief Seymour and the strenuous endeavors of his assistants. The burning building was pulled down by the Hook & Ladder Company, and the firemen rested upon their well won laurels.

The loss by fire was about $5000, the house and stable being jointly insured. The carriages and tools were all saved, Mr. Miller's presence being especially fortunate. There were about six tons of hay in the loft. Several fan-tail pigeons, old and young, were burned, four of their mates coolly assembling on the adjoining house to gaze upon the destruction of their home and families.

Suicide.

On Monday afternoon, shortly before 5 o'clock, Mr. Samuel R. Preston went into the attic of his residence on State street; he was followed in a few minutes by his wife, who found him hanging to the stairs, gave the alarm and hurried to procure a pair of shears, with which she had succeeded in nearly severing the fatal cord before help arrived, by which time the unfortunate man was past recovery. Mr. Preston was a native of Beverly Farms, Mass., but had lived here some six years, having been a member of the Naval Band nearly ever since it was organized. He was a quiet, inoffensive man and good citizen; but his associates in the band have for some five or six months past noticed in him a strong tendency to melancholy and gloomy forebodings, and some two months ago a medical man of this city told one of the band that Mr. Preston's mind was affected and it was not at all improbable he would at some time take his own life in one of his spells of melancholy.

Jottings.

The U. S. S. "Congress," Capt. Earl English, has been ordered from Philadelphia to this naval station to be paid off. We understand that Capt. English is ordered to the position of captain of the yard—an appointment that will give abundant satisfaction to all parties in this section.

The ticket office of the Eastern Railroad was broken open between 6 and 7 o'clock, Monday evening, and $15 in scrip stolen.

In the usual place will be found the announcement of the death of Mr. Thomas B. Wiggin, formerly of this city, who died at Newburyport on Monday, at the early age of twenty-five. Mr. Wiggin was well known and popular among the Portsmouth people residing in Boston, having lived there for a number of years; for two years he was with Theodore Harris, Esq., druggist, and for about the same length of time with Mr. Choate, who keeps the drug store under the Revere House. His funeral takes place at 3:30 this afternoon, at the Unitarian church. The cause of his death was consumption.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Manchester have an excursion to the Shoals on the 19th.

Geo. Spinney, of Eliot, has been missing from his home for nearly a week, and as he had previously exhibited symptoms of mental aberration, with suicidal tendencies, it it is feared he may have made away with himself.

The dwelling and woodhouse of Richard Jenness, at Rye, were burned Sunday morning.

Gov. Hayes' Letter.

Gov. Hayes' letter, accepting the nomination for President, was published on Monday. It is a straight-forward, outspoken document, worthy the well-earned reputation of the man, and meets the unqualified approbation of the republican and most of the "independent" press; what the democratic papers think of it does not matter. The Boston Globe, a paper not open to a charge of undue leniency to republican faults or gushing opprobation of republican virtues, speaks of the letter as follows:

It can be said without hesitation that its tone is admirable. The several questions at issue in the campaign are met squarely, and in a manner to please particularly the independent voter. First of all Mr. Hayes expresses his views on the civil service question, and takes the most radical ground, which we have no doubt will surprise while it gratifies thousands of his readers. He declares for "a thorough, radical and complete reform," a return to the principles and practice of the founders of the Government, who neither expected nor desired from the public officer any partisan service, and who meant that the officer should be secured in his tenure as long as his personal character remained untarnished and the performance of his duties satisfactory. The old and the true rule, that honesty, capacity and fidelity constitute the only real qualification for office, and that there is no other claim, must be adopted, he says; and he concludes this section of his letter with this pledge: "If elected, I shall conduct the administration of the Government on these principles, and all constitutional powers vested in the Executive will be employed to establish this reform." On the financial question Mr. Hayes is outspoken and decided, as was expected, for the early resumption of specie payments; he endorses the public schools plank of the republican platform, and on the Southern question he declares that there should be an intelligent and honest administration of the Government which will protect all classes in their political and private rights, and bring peace and prosperity to the South, and that his policy, if elected, would be "to wipe out forever the North and South in one common country." It is, on the whole, a good letter, well expressed, and frank and "square" on the leading issues of the campaign. Now for Mr. Tilden's letter. Now that Mr. Hayes has spoken there is all the more impatience to hear from the man of New York.

Their War Records.

It is not denied, or attempted to be, that throughout the war of the rebellion Rutherford B. Hayes did all in his power for the preservation of the Union, bravely risking his life on the battle-field, standing in the track of more than one rebel bullet, and declaring (when urged by his friends to return to electioneer in his Congressional district on his own behalf) that any man who would leave the army to electioneer for Congress at such a time "deserved to be scalped."

At the time the rebellion was on the point of collapsing, in 1864, a National democratic convention was held, of which Samuel J. Tilden was a leading member, and a member of the committee on resolutions. That committee reported and that convention adopted the following: "This convention does explicitly declare, that, after four years of failure to restore the Union by the experiment of war, justice, humanity, liberty, and the public welfare demand a cessation of hostilities."

No wonder the Southern wing of the democracy, which to-day rules the party as absolutely as it did before the war, throws up its hat for the patriot "reformer" and associate of Tweed, and "can't abear" the thought of Rutherford B. Hayes as President of the United States.

The Heat.

The report from the general muster of New Jersey militia at Camp Bell, near Trenton, is that the thermometer stood at 110 in the shade on Saturday, and that 170 persons were prostrated. One man died, and many deaths were expected to follow.

In Washington the thermometer was 102 in the shade. Congressman Parsons, of Kentucky, died suddenly, his death being hastened if not caused by the heat; Senator Davis of West Virginia fainted in the Senate chamber, and Senator West of Louisiana was overcome by the heat.

In Philadelphia several deaths occurred, and many men and horses were prostrated.

In New York nine fatal cases of sunstroke were reported to the police.

Six persons have died in Washington from the heat.

The Eastern War.

Turkey, though considered an effete nation, has a very large and formidable army, estimated all told with reserves at 218,000 infantry, 39,000 cavalry, 26,000 field and fortress artillery, and 3,200 engineers—a total of 286,000. It is even thought that 40,000 can be added. The Turkish navy is also very strong, including twenty ironclads and seventy unarmored steamers. Two of the iron-clads each carry twenty-one guns, twelve throwing 400-pound shot and nine of smaller calibre. The fleet is manned by 30,000 sailors and 4,000 marines, and if effectively commanded will guard Constantinople easily, and give as well as receive blows. In addition to the regular forces, there is a sort of irregular force of 87,000 men more or less attached to the Turkish army, but whose fidelity is not to be depended upon.

To oppose this formidable array, Servia, with a population of less than 1,500,000, has a small standing army of from 4,000 to 6,000 men, and a militia force of about 70,000. To these might be added, by forced levy, 30,000, which would make an unusually heavy drain upon the population, a larger proportion ever than Germany claims to call into the field.

Montenegro, though small, is an extremely quarrelsome neighbor. In the fourteenth century it was a powerful kingdom, stretching from the Euxine sea to the Adriatic, but now its entire population will scarcely muster 130,000. It is a mountainous State, and its inhabitants tough, hardy and aggressive, and the 10,000 or 15,000 men it will send into the field are capable of doing good service against greatly superior forces.

It will thus be seen that the united forces of Servia and Montenegro are utterly insignificant when pitted against the strength of the Ottoman Empire. Unaided, it does not seem possible for their puny forces to contend successfully with the legions of Turkey, and if let alone by outside powers, there is little doubt that the contest would be short and in favor of the stronger nation.

If Greece comes to the assistance of her neighbors, it would add a regular force of 15,000, which can be increased to 50,000, and the national guard, a very inefficient organization of 90,000 more, or a total of 140,000. It is doubtful, however, if Greece could furnish more than 50,000 or 75,000 effective men, and its navy would be a baby in the hands of the powerful Turkish fleet.

Roumania has a larger population than Servia, Montenegro and Greece combined, and a larger regular army. Its population is set down at 4,605,000, and its army at 80,000 effective men, to which can easily be added a well-drilled militia force of 150,000. Should Roumania decide to assist Servia, affairs would take on a different aspect at once, but appearances indicate that it will attempt to remain neutral.

The War Against Disease.

The war waged against disease by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters goes bravely on. Dispatches are constantly received from the secured indicating the decisive nature of the advantages obtained by the great botanic cordial over its formidable adversary. Malarial fevers, constipation, torpidity of the liver and kidneys, general debility, nervousness and rheumatic ailments invariably yield to this conqueror and preventive of disease. For the infirmities incident to the decline of life it is also an excellent specific. It hastens convalescence and repairs the ravages of ill health by facilitating the conversion of food into blood of a rich and nourishing quality. The appetite is improved by it, and in cases of nervous disease it tranquilizes that great sensorium, the brain, far more effectually than any mineral sedative.

Found.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the fifth day of July, 1876, I found on my premises a strayMARE, of bay color, black mane and tail, and a black stripe running along the back. The tail had been considerably trimmed. She appears to be about four years old, and has shoes on her feet. The owner of this horse, is unknown, but he can receive his horse, by proving property and paying charges. MOSES MANN.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has become my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

Patentee, Proprietor and Manufacturer.

Daily Chronicle.

—A stranger desirous of locating in San Antonio, California, endeavored to purchase a residence from one of the prominent citizens, but thought the price too high. "Too high!" yelled the owner, "too high, with three saloons at regular intervals on the road to church, a peach orchard with a fence easy to get over, close at hand, and there has not been a policeman seen in the neighborhood for the last five years? Why, stranger, it doesn't look to me like you was trying to become one of us!"

—The awful implements used by medical men in Chicago, may be guessed at when we read that a Chicago surgeon, called in the night to perform an operation, put the necessary instruments in a bag and started. A policeman stopped him, examined the contents of the bag, refused to believe that they were not burglar's tools, and arrested the surgeon. The patient was doubtless "whole from that hour."

—At one time Daniel Webster had a difficult case to plead, and a verdict was returned against his client. One of the witnesses came to him and said, "Mr. Webster, if I had thought we should have lost the case, I might have testified a good deal more than I did." "It is of no consequence," replied the lawyer; "the jury did not believe a word you said."

Liver Complaint.

By R. V. Pierce, M. D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," etc., etc.

The Liver is the great depurating (purifying) organ of the system, and has very appropriately been termed the "housekeeper" of our health. I have observed in the dissecting-room, and also in making post-mortem examinations of the bodies of those who have died of different diseases, that in a large proportion of cases, the liver has giver evidence of having at some time been diseased. Liver affections are equally prevalent in beasts. Every butcher knows that the livers of cattle, sheep, and swine, are ten times as frequently diseased as any other organ. A healthy liver each day secretes about two and a half pounds of bile. When it becomes torpid, congested, or if, from any cause, it be disabled in the performance of its duties, it is evident that the elements of the bile must remain in the blood, thus irritating, poisoning, and perverting, every vital process. Nature attempts to rid the system of these noxious materials by means of other organs, as the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., which become overtaxed in performing their additional labor, and are unable to withstand the pressure.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, becomes overstimulated with unhealthy blood, and fails to normally perform its functions. Hence there is dullness, headache, impairment of the memory, dizziness, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. When the blood is diseased, the skin manifests discolored spots, pimples, blotches, boils, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach and bowels, sooner or later, become affected, and constipation, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, or diarrhœa is the inevitable result.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

A sallow color of the skin, or yellowish brown spots on the face and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness, with frequent headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in the mouth, dryness of the throat, internal heat; palpitation of the heart, a dry, teasing cough, unsteady appetite, sour stomach, raising of the food, and a choking sensation in the throat; sickness and vomiting, distress, heaviness, and a bloated, or full feeling about the stomach and sides; aggravating pains in the sides, back or breast, and about the shoulders; colic pains and soreness through the bowels; constipation, alternating with diarrhœa; piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of the extremities, rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy; numbness of the limbs (especially at night,) and chills, alternating with hot flashes; kidney and other urinary difficulties, dullness, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of these symptoms will be likely to be present in any case at one time.

Treatment.—Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with small doses of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which act as an alterative on the liver. For Liver Complaint and the various affections caused by a diseased liver, these remedies are unsurpassed. The Golden Medical Discovery does not simply palliate the disease, but it produces a lasting effect. By its use, the liver and stomach are changed to an active, healthy state, the appetite is regulated, the blood purified and enriched, and the entire system renovated and restored to health.

REASONS WHY

FARMERS

should purchase

The Halladay Wind-Mill!

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners, with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

MAGIC

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudoric and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England;

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

AND

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vendor of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Directions for Restoring Persons Apparently Dead from Drowning.

I. Lose no time. Carry out these directions on the spot.

II. Remove the froth and mucous from the mouth and nostrils.

III. Hold the body, for a few seconds only, with the head hanging down, so that the water may run out of the lungs and windpipe.

IV. Loosen all tight articles of clothing about the neck and chest.

V. See that the tongue is pulled forward it it falls back into the throat. By taking hold of it with a handkerchief it will not slip.

VI. If the breathing has ceased, or nearly so, it must be stimulated by pressure of the chest with the hands, in imitation of the natural breathing; forcibly expelling the air from the lungs, and allowing it to re-enter and expand them by the elasticity of the ribs. Remember that this is the most important step of all. To do it readily, lay the person on his back, with a cushion, pillow, or some firm substance, under the shoulders; then press with the flat of the hands over the lower part of the breastbone and the upper part of the abdomen, keeping up a regular repetition and relaxation of pressure; twenty or thirty pounds may be applied with safety to a grown person.

VII. Rub the limbs with the hands, or with dry cloths, constantly, to aid the circulation and keep the body warm.

VIII. As soon as the person can swallow, give a table-spoonful of spirits in hot water, or some warm tea or coffee.

IX. Work deliberately. Do not give up too quickly. Success has rewarded the efforts of hours.

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard, and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—Dr. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichot's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Motte celebrated Cuivanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The Fourth in Washington.

Rev. Dr. Newman, of Washington, D. C., imbued with a patriotic desire to properly celebrate our National birthday, arranged a very interesting programme which was successfully carried out at the Metropolitan church, in the presence of a very fine audience, which was evidently highly entertained with the varied exercises. The pulpit was decorated with a large American flag.

Hon. Thos. L. Tullock, formerly of this city, was called upon to preside, and commenced the exercises with some very appropriate and interesting remarks. He said:

I appear in this presence, in response to an invitation to preside on this auspicious occasion. We have convened to commemorate the centennial year of our National Independence—to recall the virtues and patriotism—the heroic sacrifices and bravery of our fathers—to point with pride and exultation to the work of their hands and to the beneficial results of their military achievements and political sagacity and constancy. Time in its onward and ceaseless career has introduced us to this centennial year of our national existence—one hundred years have terminated since the immortal Declaration of Independence was read to the enthusiastic and thoughtful multitude at Philadelphia—a new century has been ushered into being with all its interests and responsibilities. Its advent affords occasion for thanksgiving—for deep and joyous meditation, and while we contemplate the past may we be profited by its teachings and incited to redoubled vigilance and duty. The opening hours of the new century are welcomed with delight and received with appropriate demonstrations—with emotions of patriotic joy and with determined purposes to perpetuate our free institutions—our civil and religious liberties. Our country has an exalted mission to perform. May it remain the admiration and hope of all who love freedom and desire good government—undefaced by time—unweakened, unsullied by ruthless innovation. Our Nation's first Centennial sounds sweetly in our ears. May it linger in our pleasant memories. We bid a heartfelt welcome to its joyous greetings. May it prove an interesting one in American history. The day we celebrate enlists the attention of the old and young. From the humblest peasant to the highest dignitary the voice of heartfelt thanksgiving is ascending. From the lowly tenement of rude construction to the magnificent temple of exquisite symmetry the voice of national exultation is being uttered and the great multitude of our countrymen rejoice in being permitted to enjoy the benefits resulting from the nation's life.

The names of the illustrious dead who achieved our Independence and secured for us the blessings of a Republican government are inestimably dear to the American heart and abide in the affections of a grateful people. Their memories are treasured in the undying recollections of admiring countrymen. We cannot too highly appreciate their deeds—the renown of which is imperishable. We cherish and venerate their names. They will be remembered with profound gratitude to the latest generations. May constitutional Liberty, good government and our national honor remain a great and undiminishing legacy—to be transmitted unimpaired to that posterity which Webster in glowing and impassioned eloquence, at Plymouth Rock bid welcome "to the healthful skies and verdant fields of New England," and in unison with his beautiful utterances on that memorable occasion, the great heart of the nation this day beats responsively and feelingly with the sentiment: "Advance then, ye future generations; we hail you as you rise in your long succession to fill the places which we now gill, and to taste the blessings of existence, where we are passing and shall soon have passed our own human duration. * * * We greet your accession to the great inheritance which we have enjoyed, we welcome you to the blessings of good government, and of religious liberty, we welcome you to the treasures of science, and the delights of learning. We welcome you to the transcendent sweets of domestic life, to the happiness of kindred, and parents and children. We welcome you to the immeasurable blessings of national existence, to the immortal hope of Christianity and the light of everlasting truth."

We behold on this the natal day of our country's freedom, after the lapse of one hundred eventful years, our Temple of Liberty, a joy of the earth—a beacon light in the world—sublime in its design and destiny—founded upon immutable principles—supported by pillars of unsupassed strength and beauty—adorned with designs of artistic grace and purity—standing pre-eminent among the governmental structures of earth—commanding the admiration of thoughtful statesmen, who, witnessing its symmetry and goodly adaptations look with gratulation at its successful completion and with confidence as to its permanency—foreseeing great results from its beneficial and benign influence in shaping the governments of Earth.

May it endure in its integrity and beneficence to the time when the heavenly acclaim shall be heard "The kingdoms of this world have become the kingdoms of our Lord and His Christ." We look with true thankfulness at the past—with patriotic pride at the present and with buoyant hope to the future. We have received a goodly heritage—an invaluable legacy. May it be transmitted to our children and our children's children to the latest posterity—without one star obliterated or obscured, but rather with additional ones to shine resplendent in our noble galaxy of States. May our national emblem—our glorious flag—revered by every true American and so dear to every patriot's heart continue the object of the nation's pride and solicitude—beloved at home—respected abroad. May our beautiful banner which now waves so gracefully over the mouldering remains of those who devised and loved it, forever be unfurled over a country as free and independent as the zephyr which agitates it.

It will be my pleasure to announce distinguished speakers who will do justice to the theme which I have briefly portrayed, and we shall also be favored with the melody of song. The Declaration of Independence will also be read, and to give additional inspiration to our services one of the "old inhabitants"—our poet-laureate—will recite an original poem he has written for this occasion. I will now call the regular exercises of the day. First, by requesting Rev. Mr. Taylor of Michigan to offer a prayer of invocation and praise to the Great Ruler of Nations—The Mighty God—The Everlasting Father and the Prince of Peace for His inestimable goodness in the blessings vouchsafed in the past, for the joys of the present hour and for the continuance of His favor and Heavenly benediction on our nation's future history.

Rev. George Taylor, offered prayer. Col. R. M. Hall read the Declaration of Independence in splendid style. L. A. Gobright, Esq., read an original poem, which was well received. The hymn, "My Country, 'tis of Thee" was then sung by the congregation with organ accompaniment. Senator Wright, of Iowa, then delivered an oration. The eloquent speaker was frequently interrupted by applause.

Mrs. John C. Tasker of Manchester, then sang as a solo the "Star-spangled Banner," the congregation, under the direction of Professor Burlew, joining in the chorus. The effect was grand and the soloist was loudly applauded. Rev. George Taylor next recited in splendid style an original poem. Gen. Heakle and Hon. Jhon Allison being called upon by the president, Mr. Tullock, made interesting remarks. A collection was here taken up for the Washington Monument, and quite a handsome sum of money was realized.

Rev. Dr. Newman was announced and made some appropriate remarks, in the course of which he referred to the presence of the President and Mrs. Grant, saying that the sword of the former brought our nation the victory of a new life, and that during eight years he has administered our government with wisdom, in justice and with triumphant success; [enthusiastic and prolonged applause;] and that by his side sat that lady, who, with true womanly dignity has graced the Executive Mansion during his administration, and whose thoughtful care has supplied these sweet flowers which to-day add beauty to the scene.

In conclusion the audience joined heartily in singing, "We will crown Him Lord of all," after which the assembly was dismissd with the benediction by Rev. Dr. Newman.

Down With It.

In New Orleans, recently, the Grand Army boys ran out a Union flag from their rooms, whereupon the owners of the building, an insurance company, ordered them to remove the flag or vacate the rooms, legal notice of which was served upon them. The only comment of the Republican is contained in some verses of which this is a specimen:

"That the flag must down is plain.
We shout hurrah for the Southern star,
While we curse the hated tyrant's rag;
We see afar a bonnie blue bar,
And we want and will have no Yankee flag,
For the Gray's on deck again."

At Carlisle, Kentucky, on the 4th of July, the widow of Major Carlisle displayed the American ensign from a window of her residence. A crowd of men surrounded the dwelling and forced the patriotic lady to remove the obnoxious flag, on penalty of having her house burned if she refused. Who says the ex-rebels still hate the Union?

News and Notes.

George W. Nutt's barn in Nashua, was destroyed by lightning on Monday; two houses were badly injured in Laconia; a farm-house at Pembroke was burned; and the house of S. O. Leavitt, of Exeter, was slightly damaged.

On Monday the Mutual base ball club defeated the Louisvilles in a game of sixteen innings, by a score of 8 to 5.

Mr. Robeson, in his examination before the House Committee on Naval Affairs, Monday, produced his bank book with the State bank of Camden, N. J., commencing in September, 1865. He showed that for the thirty-one months before he became Secretary of the Navy his deposits were nearly $20,000 larger than they were for the same period of time since he held that office.

Postmaster General Jewell has resigned.

The Cotton-Masters in Lancashire, England, employing from 50,000 to 60,000 operatives, have decided to adopt short time, run their mills but four days a week, and reduce wages ten per cent. besides; if the operatives resist, the mills will shut down entirely. The wages of colliers having been reduced fifteen per cent. in some of the largest mines, a strike has resulted. John Edward Cooke, stock-broker, of London, has failed, with liabilities of $3,400,000, and assets of $210,000. The depressed state of affairs in England should afford the democrats a text for one of their favorite tirades against the republican party for making hard times in this country.

Proctor Knott's committee have decided to postpone their attempt to connect Hon. James G. Blaine with some dishonorable transaction, until the next session of Congress.

An important victory by the Servians over the Turks is reported.

The unknown man killed in the Albany depot at Boston some weeks since has been identified as John Conway, of Lawrence. He was married, and left a widow and one child.

The Cincinnati Volksblatt, the leading German paper of the West, is out for Hayes and Wheeler.

Fourteen fatal sunstrokes in Baltimore, Monday.

Mrs. Anna Smith Pillsbury of Henniker, mother of Parker Pillsbury, the anti-slavery champion, has been celebrating the ninety-first anniversary of her birthday.

Mrs. Hayes, the wife of the coming President, is a Kentuckian, and emancipated her slaves of her own free will as soon as she had the legal power to do it. That simple fact is as good as a dozen ordinary volumes.

A letter from Oronogo, Mo., says that a large number of rebels there projected a parade for the 4th of July with a rebel flag, which they proposed to raise in the town. The people however, armed, and gave the rebels to understand that the first man who attempted to hoist the rebel flag would be shot. The flag was not hoisted, nor did the procession parade.

A New York policeman saw a well-dressed man sitting on the stoop of an Amity street house. He was breathing heavily. He died in the Mercer street police station shortly afterward. He was recognized as Constant Fauron de Chavigny, the late Emperor Napoleon's head cook. Two months ago he and his wife sailed from France for Montreal. On Thursday last he arrived in New York and was appointed assistant head-cook for the Union Club.

The chronically disgruntled Springfield Republican, the most rapidly dyspeptic paper in New England, cheers up wonderfully at Hayes' letter. It calls it "a great reform victory," and says "it will go far to reconcile reformers and independents to his nomination, and also to insure his election." The New York Sun calls it a "weak" document; reason—Gov. Hayes does not even hint at making Charles A. Dana collector of the port of New York.

A "negro riot" is reported to have taken place at Hamburg, S. C., just across the line from Augusta, Ga. The story as told is that a company of negro militia stopped two white men in the street, and afterward refused to submit to the law when complained of, retreating into a brick house and refusing to surrender. Citizens of Augusta and other towns attacked the house, with a cannon; six negroes were killed and three wounded; one white man was killed and one wounded. It is said that some of the negro prisoners were also shot after being captured. The story may be true, but so many "negro riots" in which many negroes and hardly a white man were killed, just before election, have turned out to be deliberately planned massacres of the freedmen for political ends, that we shall not be surprised if this one turns out to be something very similar.

NOTICE.

Having my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reason, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of

Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!!

I also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

Suicide.

The body of George Spinney, of Eliot, Me., previously reported as being missing under circumstances leading his friends to fear he had committed suicide, was found floating in the water near Freeman's Point by some gondola-men on Tuesday morning. A large stone, weighing thirty-six pounds, was fastened to his neck by a cord, and he had evidently been dead some days. He disappeared from his his home on Monday, the 3d instant. He leaves a wife and one child.

Railroad Meetings.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire was held in this city Tuesday, ex-Gov. Goodwin presiding. An unusually large number of stockholders were in attendance. The ballot for directors shows the following unanimously chosen: Moody Currier of Manchester, Dexter Richards of Newport, Walter Hastings of Boston, Francis Thompson of Boston, Edward L. Giddings of Beverly; a new board throughout. On motion of Mr. Rollins, of Portsmouth, the vote passed uniting this road with the Eastern Railroad Company some years ago was rescinded, and the meeting was dissolved. At the meeting of the Directors, held subsequently, Hon. Moody Currier was elected President, Thomas J. Lee of Brookline, Treasurer, and William H. Hackett, Clerk.

At the meeting of the stockholders of the Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway Railroad, the following were elected Directors: Richabod Goodwin, Portsmouth; W. H. Y. Hackett, Portsmouth; George William Burleigh, Great Falls: Frederick W. Choate, Beverly; Robert W. Hooper, Boston. Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett was subsequently chosen President, and Wallace Hackett, Clerk.

Jottings.

Messrs. O. & C. Laighton, of the Appledore House, Isles of Shoals, having engaged Mr. Albert W. Parsons of this city to furnish music for the hotel during the present season, he has organized a string band of five competent musicians and taken up quarters at the Shoals for the summer.

On Monday afternoon a cow belonging to Mrs. Mary Jane Jones, of Seabrook, was killed by lightning which struck a tree she had sought shelter beneath. Several telegraph poles were shattered by lightning in the same town.

We overheard one man say to another, on the street, recently, "Well, it looks as though Barnum was going to save us the trouble of going to Philadelphia." It certainly does look that way, and better still to the thousands who have not the means to indulge in a trip to the city of Broadbrims, and yet wish to celebrate the Centennial. The most notable event in our amusement annals will be the visit of the greatest of managers, with his greatest of shows and rousing Hundred Year Celebration. So much has already been said and admitted regarding the superiority, size and extraordinary character of his veritable World's Exposition, and so thoroughly and intelligently has printer's ink been utilized to notify everybody of its coming on Friday, July 14, that little need be added to insure the largest congregation of people ever known in this section. The avalanche of concurrent testimony as to the proportions and attractiveness of Barnum's crowning achievement is irresistible, and that it presents many times more of everything worth seeing than was ever before collected in a travelling exhibition, is well known.

Mr. Francis C. Jarvis, the well known woolen manufacturer of this city, died shortly before midnight on Monday.

Members of Piscataqua Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., are notified to meet at the Lodge Room at 1 o'clock this (Wednesday) afternoon, to attend the funeral of the late Francis C. Jarvis. See advertisement.

On Saturday next, at noon, Morse & Ilsley will sell at auction the cottage No. 53 Middle street, with nice garden attached. No reserve.

During the shower on Monday afternoon, lightning struck the chimney of Mr. James M. Jarvis' house on Islington street, knocking off a quantity of bricks.

Mr. Oren Caswell recently caught a 280 lbs. halibut while fishing off shore. It took him two hours to get the fish into a dory, and he narrowly escaped being capsized.

Rev. E. N. Harris, pastor of the Pleasant Street (Christian) Church thirty years ago, is in town.

The Legislature.

On Monday, the Senate passed the act to reorganize and equalize the Senatorial districts.

In the House, a joint resolution for a monument at Dover Point was referred to the next legislature.

Mr. Hodgdon of Portsmouth endeavored to have the pay of heavy artillery companies increased to the amount allowed light infantry. The motion was lost.

A bill to abolish the present judiciary system and establish a new one was tabled.

A bill to repeal the act incorporating the Newcastle Bridge Company was read a second time.

A bill to annex a portion of Laconia to Gilford was passed.

The bill providing for a Constitutional Convention to meet on the first Wednesday of December next was passed.

On motion of Mr. Moore of Nashua, the bill to amend the charter of the city of Portsmouth was taken from the table, it being upon its second reading.

Sundry amendments were proposed by Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth, the first one making the municipal election to occur in September, instead of August, as provided for in the bill. He advocated the amendment and opposed the bill generally in his remarks. He detailed the changes of 1874, and claimed that they were made of necessity, and that the present political status of the city was satisfactory. He went over the old ground of alleged frauds in the navy yard, importations from Maine, etc., and had introduced the amendment under consideration so that the city election might come on the same day as the State election in Maine. During his speech Mr. Hatch made a plea for less partisanship, which, considering the intense amount which is the peculiar characteristic of the speaker, evoked a smile.

Mr. Gilmore of Manchester, replied to what he deemed reflections cast upon the committee by the last speaker. He seemed to convey the idea that the committee had given no hearing upon the bill, which was not correct.

Mr. Sise of Portsmouth, replied to the statements of Mr. Hatch as to frauds in Portsmouth, and made some statements which evoked some spicy comments and sparring between representatives from this city. Mr. Sise claimed justly that the present status of city politics in Portsmouth was not satisfactory at all, notwithstanding the statements of the first speaker, and that the present bill was just what is needed.

Mr. Langdon of Portsmouth, spoke against the bill, and said he didn't think a majority of the people wanted it.

Mr. Stevens of Nashua, said he had not intended to speak upon the bill, except for a letter he had received from a valued friend asking him to give it his attention. He referred to Mr. Hatch's statement that the bill had not been submitted to the people of Portsmouth, and read from a newspaper of 1874 a sketch of the debate upon the bill making changes in this city in that year, and in that paper he couldn't find that the gentleman from Portsmouth supported any such idea at that time; and he also read a sketch of a speech made at that time by the same individual. Mr. Stevens advocated the system of inspectors, as provided for in the bill, and urged the passage of the bll without amendments, which amendments would practically defeat the object for which it was introduced in the House.

Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth replied briefly, and a running fire between him and Mr. Stevens ensued.

Upon the question of the adoption of the amendment, the viva voce vote was evidently in the negative, but the mover called for the yeas and nays. Result: 95 yeas, 164 nays, so the amendment failed of adoption.

Mr. Barton of Newport, moved that when the House adjourn, it be to 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. Carried,—152 to 58.

The same gentleman moved that the House take a recess until 8 o'clock P. M. Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth, hoped that the motion would not prevail, and after his remarks, Mr. Mann of Haverhill, moved to adjourn. Lost, on a division, 12½ to 99.

Mr. Hodgdon, of Portsmouth, called for the yeas and nays. The roll call resulted—61 yeas, 151 nays, so the House refused to adjourn. After the declaration of the vote, Mr. Barton renewed his motion. Mr. Hatch said it was not fair to press matters by physical force, when there were but 212 members present to answer the roll call; Mondays the House was never full, and there were not enough members at hand to do business fairly.

Mr. Barton said there was no attempt to crowd, to use physical force or anything of that kind. He only wanted to forward the business of the session, and if it was asking too much for the members to come in at night, then don't grant it. He wanted it understood that he had only one purpose, and that was to go ahead with the business.

Mr. Sawtelle of Lyme, wanted to know why the hall was so much hotter, and the air so much more oppressive to the minority than to the majority. (Laughter.)

Mr. Moore of Nashua, said it was important to finish the session this week and in order to do this evening sessions were necessary. The majority of the House had conceded too much already to the minority, and if the gentleman from Portsmouth wished to threaten dilatory motions if we have sessions in the evening, we will meet him on that ground, and give him sixteen hours a day, if necessary, to finish up the business of the session.

Mr. Barton of Newport, then withdrew his motion, but Mr. Steveus of Nashua, renewed it, and Mr. Sinclair of Bethlehem, called for a division. Mr. Stevens of Nashua, said the majority were responsible for the length of the session, and henceforth he was going to act independently of leaders in this matter, and try as well as he could to bring the business of the session to a close. He said the mover of the motion had withdrawn it because there was a little sign that the minority would consent to an evening session to-morrow night, but there was no sure thing that it would be so. He was in favor of going ahead to-night, leaders or no leaders.

The Speaker said he had no power to compel the attendance of members, only to cause them to remain in their seats during a roll-call.

The Speaker also ruled that not even a motion to adjourn could be passed.

Mr. Barton of Newport, moved to adjourn, but without entertaining the motion, the Speaker declared the House adjourned to 9 o'clock Tuesday.

The bill to amend the Portsmouth city charter was called up Thursday afternoon. Hatch's amendments were defeated, except one to which the republicans agreed. The bill comes up for final passage this (Wednesday) afternoon, will be passed and sent to the Senate at once, and will probably become a law on Thursday—unless prevented by fillibustering.

The War Against Disease.

The war waged against disease by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters goes bravely on. Dispatches are constantly received from the cured indicating the decisive nature of the advantages obtained by the great botanic cordial over its formidable adversary. Malarial fevers, constipation, debility of the liver and kidneys, general debility, nervousness and rheumatic ailments invariably yield to this conqueror and preventive of disease. For the infirmities incident to the decline of life it is also an excellent specific. It hastens convalescence and repairs the ravages of ill health by facilitating the conversion of food into blood or a rich and nourishing quality. The appetite is improved by it, and in cases of nervous disease it tranquilizes that great sensorium, the brain, far more efficually than any mineral sedative.

I. O. O. F.

THE Members of PISCATAQUA LODGE, No. 5, I. O. O. F., are notified to meet at the Lodge Room, this day (Wednesday) at o'clock P. M., to attend the funeral of our late Brother FRANCIS C. JARVIS. W. W. COTTON, Sec'y.

Found.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the fifth day of July, 1876, I found on my premises a stray MARE, of bay color, black mane and tail, and a black stripe running along the back. The tail had been considerably trimmed. She appears to be about four years old, and has shoes on her feet. The owner of this horse is to me unknown, but he can receive his horse, by proving property and paying charges. MOSES MANN.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,
Newburyport, Mass.

In justice to myself, and that those who prefer

No fees for making preliminary examinations. No additional fees for obtaining and conducting a rehearing. Special attention given to Interference Cases before the Patent Office, Extensions before Congress, Infringement Suits in different States, and all litigation appertaining to Inventions or Patents. SEND STAMP TO GILMORE & CO. FOR PAMPHLET OF SIXTY PAGES.

Old Bounty Land Warrants.

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 4,387,509 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO., pay cash for them. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply, after examination, will be given you free.

Pensions.

All OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & CO. Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. ADDRESS

GILBERT'S
EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES!!

PATENTED DEC. 16, 1873.

Cure Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Cough, Sore Throat, Piles, Rheumatic Affections, Rumors, Headache, Inflammatory Fevers, Sick Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Canker, Loss of Appetite, and the long line of Affections consequent on a diseased state of the Liver.

An Excellent Spring Medicine.

They are purely Vegetable, perfectly safe; can be used by all persons, at any season, and in any climate, and warranted to give entire satisfaction. They cause a healthy action of the Liver, thus promoting flow of bile, giving health and vigor to take the place of Lassitude and Disease.

N. B. Persons afflicted with any of the above affections, and wish to test the merits of this remedy, at no cost, no pay,—will please call at

No. 27 Daniel Street,

Liver Complaint.

By R. V. Pierce, M. D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," etc., etc.

The Liver is the great depurating (purifying) organ of the system, and has very appropriately been termed the "housekeeper" of our health. I have observed in the dissecting-room, and also in making post-mortem examinations of the bodies of those who have died of different diseases, that in a large proportion of cases, the liver has given evidence of having at some time been diseased. Liver affections are equally prevalent in beasts. Every butcher knows that the livers of cattle, sheep, and swine, are ten times as frequently diseased as any other organ. A healthy liver each day secretes about two and a half pounds of bile. When it becomes torpid, congested, or if, from any cause, it be disabled in the performance of its duties, it is evident that the elements of the bile must remain in the blood, thus irritating, poisoning, and perverting, every vital process. Nature attempts to rid the system of these noxious materials by means of other organs, as the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., which become overtaxed in performing their additional labor, and are unable to withstand the pressure.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, becomes overstimulated with unhealthy blood, and fails to normally perform its functions. Hence there is dullness, headache, impairment of the memory, dizziness, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. When the blood is diseased, the skin manifests discolored spots, pimples, blotches, boils, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach and bowels, sooner or later, become affected, and constipation, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, or diarrhœa is the inevitable result.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

A sallow color of the skin, or yellowish brown spots on the face and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness, with frequent headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in the mouth, dryness of the throat, internal heat; palpitation of the heart, a dry, teasing cough, unsteady appetite, sour stomach, raising of the food, and a choking sensation in the throat; sickness and vomiting, distress, heaviness, and a bloated, or full feeling about the stomach and sides; aggravating pains in the sides, back or breast, and about the shoulders; colic pains and soreness through the bowels; constipation, alternating with diarrhœa; piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of the extremities, rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy; numbness of the limbs (especially at night,) and chills, alternating with hot flashes; kidney and other urinary difficulties, dullness, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of these symptoms will be likely to be present in any case at one time.

Treatment.—Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with small doses of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which act as an alterative on the liver. For Liver Complaint and the various affections caused by a diseased liver, these remedies are unsurpassed. The Golden Medical Discovery does not simply palliate the disease, but it produces a lasting effect. By its use, the liver and stomach are changed to an active, healthy state, the appetite is regulated, the blood purified and enriched, and the entire system renovated and restored to health.

REASONS WHY FARMERS should purchase The Halladay Wind-Mill!

Is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., Opposite KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package. JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One lady friend told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

The MOST MEMORABLE of MORTAL MARVELS

CAPT. COSTENTENUS,

A Noble Greek Albanian, TATTOOED FROM HEAD TO FOOT, in China Tartary, as punishment for engaging in rebellion against the King. Read what Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes and other leading Boston Physicians testify of him:

This person is remarkable as combining in one exhibition a picture gallery, a menagerie of strange animals, (in their portraiture) including one not unlike the dodo, and a proof of how much suffering man can inflict or a man can bear, the constitution accommodating itself to conditions which might seem incompatible with health and even with life. It is the most perfect specimen of genuine tattooing which any of us have ever seen.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 5. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or thrown them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vendor of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his premises, or any other place, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc., and the increased quantity of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Gov. Hayes' Letter.

COLUMBUS, O., July 8, 1876.

Hon. Edward McPherson, Hon. William A. Howard, Hon. Joseph H. Rainey, and others of the committee of the republican National convention:

Gentlemen: In reply to your official communication of June 17th, by which I am informed of my nomination for the office of President of the United States by the republican National convention at Cincinnati, I accept the nomination with gratitude, hoping that under Providence I shall be able, if elected, to execute the duties of the high office as a trust for the benefit of all the people.

I do not deem it necessary to enter upon any extended examination of the declaration of principles made by the convention. The resolutions are in accord with my views, and I heartily concur in the principles which they announce. In several of the resolutions, however, questions are considered which are of such importance that I deem it proper to briefly express my convictions in regard to them.

The fifth resolution adopted by the convention is of paramount interest. More than forty years ago a system of making appointments to office grew up, based upon the maxim, "to the victors belong the spoils." The old rule, the true rule, that honesty, capacity and fidelity constitute the real qualifications for office, and that there is no other claim, gave place to the idea that party services were to be chiefly considered. All parties, in practice have adopted this system. It has been essentially modified since its first introduction. It has not, however, been improved. At first the President, either directly or through the heads of departments, made all the appointments; but gradually the appointing power, in many cases, passed into the control of the members of Congress. The offices, in these cases, have become not merely rewards for party services, but rewards for services to party leaders. The system destroys the independence of the separate departments of the Government; it tends directly to extravagance and official incapacity; it is a temptation to dishonesty; it hinders and impairs that careful supervision and strict accountability by which alone faithful and efficient public service can be secured; it obstructs the prompt removal and sure punishment of the unworthy. In every way it degrades the civil service and the character of the Government. It is felt, I am confident, by a large majority of the members of Congress to be an intolerable burden and an unwarrantable hindrance to the proper discharge of their legitimate duties. It ought to be abolished. The reform should be thorough, radical and complete. We should return to the principles and practice of the founders of the Government, supplying, by legislation, when needed, that which was the formerly established custom. They neither expected nor desired from the public officers any partisan service. They meant that public officers should owe their whole service to the Government and to the people. They meant that the officer should be secure in his tenure as long as his personal character remained untarnished and the performance of his duties satisfactory. If elected, I shall conduct the administration of the Government upon these principles, and all Constitutional powers vested in the Executive will be employed to establish this reform.

The declaration of principles by the Cincinnati Convention makes no announcement in favor of a single Presidential term. I do not assume to add that declaration, but, believing that the restoration of the civil service to the system established by Washington and followed by the early Presidents can best be accomplished by an Executive who is under no temptation to use the patronage of his office to promote his own re-election, I desire to perform what I regard as a duty in stating now my inflexible purpose, if elected, not to be a candidate for election to a second term.

On the currency question I have frequently expressed my views in public, and I stand by record on this subject. I regard all the laws of the United States relating to the payment of the public indebtedness, the legal tender notes included, as constituting a pledge and moral obligation of the Government which must in good faith be kept. It is my conviction that the feeling of uncertainty and insecurity from an irredeemable paper currency, with its fluctuations of value, is one of the great obstacles to a revival of confidence and business and to a return to prosperity. That uncertainty can be ended in but one way—the resumption of specie payment; but the longer the instability connected with our present money system is permitted to continue, the greater will be the injury inflicted upon our economical interests and all classes of society. If elected, I shall approve every appropriate measure to accomplish the desired end, and shall oppose any step backward.

The resolution with respect to the public school system is one which should receive the hearty support of the American people. Agitation upon this subject is to be apprehended until, by constitutional amendment, the schools are placed beyond all danger of sectarian control or interference. The republican party is pledged to secure such an amendment.

The resolution of the convention, on the permanent pacification of the country and the complete protection of all its citizens in the free enjoyment of all their constitutional rights, is timely and of great importance. The condition of the Southern States attracts the attention, and commands the sympathy of the people of the whole Union in their progressive recovery from the effects of the war. Their first necessity is an intelligent and honest administration of the Government, which will protect all classes of citizens in all their political and private rights. What the South most needs is "peace," and peace depends upon the supremacy of law. There can be no enduring peace if the Constitutional rights of any portion of the people are habitually disregarded. A division of political parties, resting merely upon distinctions of race, or upon sectional lines, is always unfortunate, and may be disastrous. The welfare of the South, alike with that of every part of the country, depends upon the attractions it can offer to labor, to immigration and to capital; but laborers will not go and capital will not be ventured where the Constitution and the laws are set at defiance, distraction, apprehension and alarm take the place of peace-loving and law-abiding social life. All parts of the Constitution are sacred, and must be sacredly observed—the parts that are new no less than the parts that are old. The moral and material prosperity of the Southern States can be most effectually advanced by a hearty and generous recognition of the rights of all—by all—a recognition without reserve or exception. With such a recognition fully accorded, it will be practicable to promote, by the influence of all legitimate agencies of the General Government, the efforts of the people of those States to obtain for themselves the blessings of honest and capable local government. If elected I shall consider it not only my duty, but it will be my ardent desire, to labor for the attainment of this end. Let me assure my countrymen of the Southern States that if I shall be charged with the duty of organizing an Administration, it will be one which will regard and cherish their truest interests, the interests of the white and of the colored people, both and equally, and which will put forth its best efforts in behalf of a civil policy which will wipe out forever the distinction between the North and South in our common country.

With a civil service organized upon a system which will secure purity, experience, efficiency and economy, a strict regard for the public welfare solely in appointments, and the speedy, thorough and unsparing prosecution and punishment of all public officers who betray official trust; with a sound currency; with education unsectarian and free to all; with simplicity and frugality in public and private affairs, and with a fraternal spirit of harmony pervading the people of all sections and classes, we may reasonably hope that the second century of our existence as a nation will, by the blessing of God, be pre-eminent as an era of good feeling and a period of progress, prosperity and happiness.

Very respectfully, your fellow-citizen,

(Signed) R. B. HAYES.

News and Notes.

Postmaster General Tyner has been confirmed by the Senate.

The American steamer Georgia, from New York for San Francisco, is ashore in the Straits of Magellan and will probably be a total wreck. She is a new vessel, on her first voyage.

The reported outrage on the American flag at St. Domingo turns out to be a trivial affair.

Heavy thunder showers passed over various portions of Massachusetts on the 11th, and lightning struck in many places. Showers were common in Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York on the same day. Many persons were injured, and in Medway, Mass., one was killed, by lightning.

Deaths from sunstroke are reported from all directions—fourteen in Baltimore on the 10th, twelve in Washington between the 8th and 10th, forty-two in New York on the 10th, two in Richmond, Va., on the 11th, many in and around Toronto, Ont., and other places.

De Murska has lately married John Hill, pianist, at Dunedin, N. Z. Mr. Hill succeeds Mr. Anderson, deceased, being the second piano disturber De Murska has endowed with her heart, hand and salary within a year. The marriage portion of the prima donna's performance looks like the work of De Vivo, the shrewd agent, who gets an accompanist on very easy terms.

Visitors to Barnum's show could not have failed to observe the "Happy Family," in one of the centre cages in the animal tent. It was the fortune of the writer to witness an unusual, and a sad, sight in that cage, during the ring performance on Friday last. A raccoon and an ant eater, both of whom have at times shown signs of viciousness, attacked a small, young monkey, and fatally bit him upon the neck and breast. Immediately after their attack they were driven off by their attendant, while the poor wounded and dying victim was attended to; but too late, for the poor little fellow, after an examination of his wounds, shedding tears, folded his hands, and, lying upon his side, died. It was so much like a hurt child in its actions, that the few who saw the death were visibly affected. Of course it was only a brute, but its actions were so human, and its expression that of so much meekness and resignation, yet tinged with a great grief, that the sight will not soon be forgotten by the two or three who happened there to witness it.—Concord Monitor.

Political.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, edited by Convict McKee, says: "Carl Schurz is on our side this time, but we think we can win the fight, nevertheless."—Boston Post.

Boss Hessing, who edits the Chicago Staats Zeitung from the Cook County Penitentiary, cordially supports Tilden. He expects to be pardoned in case the sham reformer is elected. Hessing never does anything without a price.—New Haven Union.

When Mr. Sunset Cox arose in the House and wanted to know where the 25,000 men of our army are, and why some of them are not "released from the throat of the South" to join the "two thousand who are fighting the Sioux," he was guilty of as shallow a piece of demagoguery as he has ever executed. As a matter of fact there are less than 1800 men, all told, in the Military Division of the South, which is less than the force now occupying similar posts in the Division of the Atlantic; while in the Division of the Missouri, Gen. Sheridan commanding, there are 15,000 men, and the rest are scattered over the immense territory west of the Rocky Mountains. Mr. Cox could have answered his own question, and spared himself a painful exhibition of ignorant partisanship by consulting the official reports of General Sherman and Adjutant General Townsend.

The Boston Post announces that the vote of New Hampshire "is to be counted for Tilden in November." According to the same authority New Hampshire's vote was sure for Greeley and Brown, four years ago, and for Daniel Marcy last Spring. The democratic papers are trying almost as hard to make it appear that there is an immense "spontaneous enthusiasm" for Tilden as they did for Greeley, but they are not making out half so well at it. Try to disguise it as they may, the nomination of the great centennial advertising agent falls flat.

Not very many years ago a railroad suit was tried before Judge Davis, of the United States Supreme Court, in which Mr. Tilden was one of the principal actors in perpetrating a swindle upon parties holding bonds and stocks. In pronouncing judgment the court said: "Finally, those stockholders of the Galena and Chicago Union Railroad Company who have exchanged their stock in ignorance of their rights can now be restored, and the bondholders saved from impending ruin, by joining in the efforts which are now being made to set aside the pretended consolidation which was consummated by trickery and fraud, while the public can be rescued from the despotism of the most gigantic and heartless monopoly ever attempted to be fastened upon a free people, by making proper efforts to sustain those who are now engaged in contending against this self-constituted monopoly!"

The Albany Times, a good democratic sheet, had an opinion of Tilden, which, just before his nomination, it expressed in the following unmistakable manner: "It is preposterous to suppose that the democratic party are so ignorant and weak-headed as not to see through the shams and pretenses of Mr. Tilden, or so wavering in their determination as to yield him their support, or that the leaders are so idiotic as to give him their support."

George D. Lord is the only canal robber of New York that has been convicted. He was a personal enemy of Tilden, and, though a democrat, did all he could against Tilden in 1874. He has moved for a new trial. His attorney went to St. Louis to work for Tilden. And Lord is still out on bail. This is what is called Tilden's reform.

Tilden will make a very good President. His nomination makes a President of Hayes. —N. O. Republican.

NOTICE.

Having my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of

Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!!

I also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

Jottings.

A sail boat containing two gentlemen and a lady from Salem, Mass., was capsized on the afternoon of the 11th off Whale's-back light, by a sudden swinging round of the sail. The parties were rescued by a passing pleasure craft and brought into this port.

Two cigar peddlars who had been held since Monday evening in the lock-up on the charge of breaking and entering the ticket office of the Eastern railroad in this city were brought before Judge Page on the 12th. There being no evidence to sustain the complaint, they were discharged.

The next meeting of the Board of Assessors will be held on Tuesday evening, July 18th.

The High School Exhibition takes place at the school-house this afternoon at half-past 2 o'clock; the reception by the High School Association and the graduating class will be held at Franklin Hall in the evening, commencing at quarter to 8 o'clock.

The bill amending the city charter passed the House and Senate on Wednesday.

The Legislature.

On Tuesday, the 11th, the bill for the reorganization of the judiciary was passed, after the usual opposition from Albert R. Hatch. It provides for six judges, the salary of the Chief Justice to be $2400 and the Associates $2200 each. The bill finally passed by a vote of 192 yeas to 148 nays.

The bill to provide for a new State Prison was advocated by Messrs. Gustine of Keene, Pillsbury of Concord, Sanborn of Concord, Humphrey of Concord, Jarvis of Claremont, Goodell of Antrim, Hitchcock of Newport, and others; and was opposed by Gen. Marston of Exeter, and Harry Bingham. The house refused to pass the bill, there being 163 yeas and 182 nays.

Mr. Moore of Nashua, called up the unfinished business, it being the bill in amendment of the charter of the City of Portsmouth. He withdrew his motion for the previous question, and offered an unimportant amendment which was adopted.

Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth, spoke in favor of his pending amendments.

Mr. Sise of Portsmouth, said he wanted the majority of the House to pass the bill without amendments, and he would answer to his constituents for it, and for its results.

Mr. Gilmore of Manchester, read from Hadley's N. H. Reports, in regard to inspectors of check lists, to refute a statement made by Mr. Hatch concerning these officers.

Mr. Stevens of Nashua, wanted to know why the gentleman from Portsmouth voted in 1874 against putting the bill before the people of Portsmouth, and favored such action now.

Mr. Sise of Portsmouth, spoke briefly on the pending issue more, and the question was upon the adoption of Mr. Hatch's amendments, which that gentleman joined into one which was to strike out all of the bill which refers to inspectors. Upon the adoption of this amendment, the vote was in the negative, rejecting the amendment.

Another amendment, fixing a penalty for malfeasance on the part of any inspector, proposed by the same individual, was adopted.

Mr. Hatch's last amendment was to submit the bill to the people of Portsmouth for adoption.

After brief remarks on the amendment by Mr. Gilmore of Manchester, Mr. Langdon of Portsmouth, called for the yeas and nays.

Some discussion ensued upon a so-called agreement that the roll call should not be had upon the amendments, if Mr. Moore would withdraw his motion for the previous question.

Mr. Hatch asked his friend from Portsmouth to withdraw his call, and it was withdrawn, but Mr. Hodgdon of Ward 4, Portsmouth, renewed it, and so another armistice was smashed to atoms.

The vote resulted—121 yeas, 195 nays, so Mr. Hatch's last amendment was not adopted.

This was the fifty-first call of the roll.

The bill then passed to a third reading.

Power of Prejudice.

Some years ago there resided in Cincinnati a member of the learned professions, remarkable for his original views of men and things. According to his views, man was a bundle of prejudices—a manifestation of prejudices was the holding of any animal unclean—all were proper food—the rat and the cat were created as much to be eaten as were the rabbit and chicken. In pursuance of his theory, he one evening invited some gentlemen friends to a squirrel supper, served in his chambers. The table was well laid, the squirrels nicely cooked, the wines excellent, and they enjoyed the meal.

The dishes removed—while smoking their cigars the guests expressed their satisfaction, and the delighted host heard that his squirrels were tender, fat, juicy, sweet. Their commendations concluded, he tilted his chair, rested his feet upon the mantlepiece, and, while he pulled the end of his cigar ere lighting it, said, with a smile of exultation:

"Well, gentlemen, do you know what you have been eating?"

"Squirrels," one answered with a sudden qualm.

"Rats!"

They sprang to their feet.

"Rats!" (he brought his chair to the floor and stood up) "fat, tender, sweet, juicy rats that I myself caught in a trap and fattened. What do you think of prejudice now?"

One, with a convulsion of face and his hand on his chest, sought the door. Another collared the entertainer but released his hold, turned pale and was attacked with sudden faintness. Confusion ensued; loud words and energetic epithets followed, and blows would have been given had not one of the guests, less affected and wiser than the others, stepped between.—Cincinnati Times.

Rise and Fall of a City.

Hundreds of cities, the creations of the great copper fever of 1861, went the way of Indian Bar City. I passed through Copperopolis in 1870. Its glory was gone. Ten years before it had boasted nearly 2,000 inhabitants. About thirty remained. On every side were barred doors, windows, shut up churches, hotels and school houses. The extensive works of the great Union vein were silent and deserted, the machinery rusted, the deep shafts full of water. Only one store doing business, and that only half open. Proprietor unkempt, in his shirt sleeves, and keeping on hand only flour and whisky. They were pulling down one of the deserted churches, and hauling it by piecemeal to Stockton. A large beer garden proprietor had bought it, and intended converting it into a bowling alley.

Churches were cheap in Copperopolis. So they were in Sonora, sixteen miles distant. There, in 1870, one could buy almost any sort of empty church. In the palmier and more golden days, twelve or fourteen years before, every little society of Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists, and so on, built its church and hired a pastor. But as the town dwindled in population from thousands to hundreds, it was difficult to maintain all these churches. The congregations became poorer and poorer. First, they dismissed their ministers. Most of the ministers went to ranching in the San Joaquin valley. A place called Forlorn Hope, six miles south of Snelling's, was full of these dismissed ministers. Instinctively they seemed all to drift in one common direction. One by one the church edifices were sold for taxes. Men of the world in Sonora bought them in on speculatiou. Mr. Hall, the principal Sonora merchant, owned a church. The district attorney owned two. He did a heavy business in second-hand churches.—San Francisco Call.

—A St. Louis woman says it is no worse to encircle a lady's waist with your arm in a ballroom than to hug your friend's sister on the back stairs. No worse? Why, it is not as good!

—All of the girls of the graduating classes of the Chicago high schools wore silk dresses at the union exercises recently. Their costumes were described in the papers with Jenkins-like attention to detail, and in every individual instance the reporters first treated of the young lady's dress and then of her essay.

—It is estimated that about two-thirds of the surface of the globe is covered with water. Although millions of living creatures slake their thirst daily, the quantity of water has not been materially diminished for centuries,—at least not since the introduction of drinking saloons, which prove a great saving of water and are thereby of immense benefit to navigation.

—For some shortcoming a St. Louis wife—a strict church member—knocked her husband down with a pudding stick and then held his head in a tub of dirty water until he was just ready to expire. Then she laid him on the lounge, and, sitting by his side, read aloud a chapter in the Bible, and wound up the exercises by asking him if he didn't believe the time is coming when all men shall be good.

—An eccentric clergyman lately said, in one of his sermons, that about the commonest proof we have that man is made of clay is the brick so often found in his hat!

—A Louisiana wife tried to poison herself because her husband, in a prayer meeting, had fervently said "amen" to the petition of a girl of whom she was jealous.

Appetite a Necessity.

Appetite is a necessity. Without it, sufficient food is not received into the stomach either to nourish the system or to give the stimulus to the bowels which they require. Both these organs and the liver become torpid in consequence, and the blood grows poor in quality and quantity. Improve the appetite, therefore, and avoid such results. This is most effectually done with Brostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic appetizer and alterative without a peer. It gives not only an unwonted zest for food, but enables the stomach to digest and the system to assimilate it. Flatulence, heartburn, nausea, and every other concomitant of indigestion are removed by it, as are chronic biliousness and constipation. Each nerve and fibre of the body is made to tingle with health by its use, and it is the leading remedy for despondency.

That "Delmonico" range mentioned in a former issue is not made by the well-known caterer, but by Hathbone, the extensive Albany stove manufacturer.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam has effected more cures during the first two years it was in the market than all the medicines that have been advertised for twenty years past. F. W. Kinsman, Proprietor, Augusta, Me.

ACTING THROUGH THE PORES upon the sources of inflammation GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP promptly relieves the burning, itching and other annoyances caused by Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Impetigo, Erysipelas, and other skin diseases and ultimately removes every vestige of them.

False Delicacy.

The friends of those who are troubled with bad breath, and, through over-squeamishness, dislike to refer to it, commit a positive and cruel mistake, especially if they are aware of the merits and great efficacy of the fragrant SOZODONT. This is the true and only remedy for the difficulty; there is no valid excuse for a bad breath now.

Castoria.

Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Hyannis, Mass., experimented in his private practice for twenty years to produce a combination that would have the properties of CASTOR OIL without its unpleasant taste and griping effect.

His preparation was sent for, near and far, till finally he gave it the name of Castoria, and put it up for sale. It is very wonderful in its effects, particularly with the disordered stomachs and bowels of children. It assimilates the food, cures sour stomach and wind colic, regulates the bowels, expels worms, and may be relied upon in croup.

As a pleasant, effective and perfectly safe cathartic remedy it is superior to Castor Oil, Cordials and Syrups. It does not contain alcohol, and is adapted to any age.

By regulating the stomach and bowels of cross and sickly children they become good-natured and healthy. They can enjoy sleep and mothers have rest. The Castoria is put up at the Laboratory of J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey Street, New York.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competitor.

Daily Chronicle.

—Ladies who wear so many little buttons in senseless parallel rows on their dresses might do some good if they were to arrange them on their backs so as to spell out texts of scripture, or the names of their presidential candidates.

—The game laws of the Pacific slope permit the shooting of Chinamen all the year round. In the Southern States the laws are more strict, the indiscriminate shooting of colored men and white republicans not being legal except for the six months preceding and following annual elections.

—The following anecdote is told of Sir Philip Francis, who was a great gourmand. Once at a city feast he enviously watched his next neighbor, who was busy eating a bowl of turtle soup, and keeping a piece of green fat for the bonne bouche. Sir Philip, unable at last to resist it, seized the delicate morsel with his fork, and transferred it to his mouth, and then giving the stranger his card, said, "Sir, I am ready to make you the most ample apology, or give you the satisfaction of a gentleman, but I must say you had no right to throw such a temptation in my way."

Modern Women.

It is a sad commentary upon our boasted civilization that women of our time have degenerated in health—pale, nervous, feeble and back-achy, with only here and there a few noble exceptions in the persons of the robust, buxom ladies characteristic of the sex in days gone by. By a very large experience, covering a period of years and embracing the treatment of many thousands of cases of those ailments peculiar to Women, Dr. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., has perfected, by the combination of certain vegetable extracts, a natural specific, which he does not extol as a cure-all, but one which admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most positive and reliable remedy for those weaknesses and complaints that afflict the women of the present day. This natural specific compound is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The following are among those diseases in which this wonderful medicine has worked cures as if by magic and with a certainty never before attained by any medicines: Weak back, nervous and general debility, falling and other displacements of internal organs, resulting from debility and lack of strength in natural supports, internal fever, congestion, inflammation and ulceration and very many other chronic diseases incident to women, not proper to mention here, in which, as well as in the cases that have been enumerated, the Favorite Prescription effects cures—the marvel of the world. It will not do harm in any state or condition of the system, and by adopting its use the invalid lady may avoid that severest of ordeals—the consulting of a family physician. Favorite Prescription is sold by dealers in medicines generally.

ESTABLISHED IN 1825.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL

— IN THE —

UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y.

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1825 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—300 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichot's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

FARMERS

should purchase

The Halladay Wind-Mill!

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the Railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my former weight in summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad he could not lift his hand to the head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of these pills will other to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

AARON H. HILL, President, JOHN CHRISTIE, Treas.

THIS Bank pays five per cent. per annum, free of all tax. A greater rate is prohibited by law. Two dividends are made in the year,—in June and December; and an extra dividend of the surplus earnings every two years. The first extra will be in June, 1876.

Deposits go on interest on the FIRST day of every MONTH, and deposits made during the FIRST THREE days of each MONTH will draw interest from the FIRST day of that MONTH.

Dividends not withdrawn will be added to the principal, and draw interest from the time when declared.

Money is received on deposit payable on checks at sight.

Portsmouth, Jan. 1, 1873.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for such refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
☞ Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

—Young men, never trifle with the heart of a pure and innocent girl. A gentleman in town, after visiting a bashful young lady two years, was asked his intentions, and when he gave an evasive answer, she hit him on the head with a potato smasher, and it cost him $2 to get his best silk hat altered to fit the strange shape his head assumed.

—A few evenings ago a young couple called upon a clergyman at Oneida, Wis., and stated that they wished to be united in the bonds of matrimony. Before the ceremony commenced the young lady excused herself from the room, saying that she would return in a few moments. She handed the minister a note which he read soon after her departure. It was as follows:—"Arthur: You will wait for me in vain, for the longer you wait the further away I'll be. I shan't marry you to-night. You went back on me a year ago, and I'll get even with you now." The bridegroom took the hint, bade the clergyman good-by, and started for home.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JULY 14, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The Legislature.

The Senate, on the 12th, read the third time and passed—

An act reorganizing the judiciary system;

An act in amendment of the charter of the city of Portsmouth;

Addresses for the removal of certain officers in the counties of Belknap and Carroll.

In the House, in the forenoon, numerous reports of committees were received.

In the afternoon the act to amend the charter of the city of Portsmouth was called up, on the question of its final passage.

Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth, suggested a slight correction before the bill was put upon its passage.

Mr. Gilmore of Manchester, said the correction could be made in the Senate.

Mr. Langdon of Portsmouth, called for the yeas and nays upon the passage of the bill, and the roll call resulted: 187 yeas, 148 nays,—so the bill passed.

Upon the question of the passage of the bill to amend the charter of the city of Manchester, Mr. O'Connor, of Manchester, demanded the yeas and nays, which, when had, resulted as follows: 190 yeas, 145 nays; so the bill passed.

The bill to amend the charter of the city of Dover was ordered to a third reading, after the adoption of an amendment offered by Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth, who moved to strike out sec. 5, which enables the city council to change the ward lines.

An address for the removal of Sheriff James Holt, Solicitor Samuel H. Eades, and Judge of Probate Jonathan H. Dickey, of Sullivan county, was passed after much fillibustering on the part of the democrats.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 138.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

There were disloyal persons to the cause of our country in the time of the Revolutionary war. One minister was thus accused. Perhaps there were others of the clerical profession, but the account of others we do not recollect now.

An Episcopal meeting was commenced in Claremont before 1772. That we believe was the second of that sect in the State, the one in Portsmouth having been first. The minister at Claremont was Rev. Ranna Cassit. In 1772 (says Farmer) he went to England for holy orders, was ordained by the Bishop of London, returned in 1773 and took charge of the church in Claremont. In January, 1776, the Congress of the State, sitting at Exeter, chose a committee of five to try five persons, (whose names are given, one of whom is Rev. Ranna Cassit,) reported to be enemies to the liberties of this country, and on conviction to inflict such punishment as they see fit, not exceeding fine or imprisonment, yet allowing them to appeal to this General Court.

There is no account of what came of this. The Association Test was sent to the towns in June, 1776. In Claremont thirty-one names were returned as refusing to sign, of which this Rev. R. Cassit was one. Farmer says he was recalled to Cape Breton in 1785.

News and Notes.

Robert Wilson of New Boston, aged about 85, worked haying all day last Saturday, and died in his chair while eating his supper.

C. W. McDonald, of Pittsburg, Penn., killed his wife and himself on the 12th. Domestic trouble was the cause.

Dom Pedro has gone to Europe.

C. Adams Stevens, vice president of the Albany & Greenbush Bridge Company, has been arrested on a charge of stealing $200,000 worth of bonds.

Ground was broken for the construction of the Manchester & Keene Railroad, at Keene on the 12th.

We saw a mosquito work about ten minutes yesterday trying to get his bill through the skin of a man who owes us two years' subscriptions. How we laughed at that demoralized little insect as, with a look of disgust, he folded up his little bill, placed it in his pocket, and went for another victim.—Whitehall Times.

The bloody riot at Hamburg, South Carolina, grew out of the fact that on the Fourth of July a colored military company refused to allow a couple of Georgia gentlemen to drive a carriage through their ranks. Their refusal cost six of them their lives.

Bishop Dupanloup has written a pamphlet entitled "Whither Are we Going?" We are going, dear bishop, to elect R. B. Hayes President. Come along.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Miss Lillie Clapp, telegraph operator at the Readville, Mass., Station of the Boston & Providence Railroad, was killed by lightning during the extended shower of the 11th. Mr. James H. Holt, of West Wilton, in this State, was killed by lightning at about the same time; also a five-year-old daughter of James Mahan, of Chelsea, Mass.

Ship Star, of Yarmouth, Me., was abandoned off the Canary islands May 10th. The captain and seven men took to one boat, and have not since been heard from; the mate and twelve men attempted to make a landing at Cacao bay, all but one man were drowned.

Political.

Hon. Wm. M. White, democratic candidate for Congress in the Twenty-fourth New York district, comes out for the Cincinnati ticket.

The Cincinnati Enquirer deplores the fact that the nomination of Hayes seems to have cemented the republican organization and to have brought back to it all the old "Liberals," while on the other hand the nomination of Tilden has rent the democracy in twain.

The New York sheriff who let Boss Tweed slip through his open fingers is hurrahing for Tilden. The "Reform" Governor proclaimed his purpose to dismiss the sheriff for letting Tweed escape. But he never did it, and the faithless official is a Tilden worker.

Isaiah Rynders is taking an active part in the New York campaign for "Tilden and Reform."

When a republican Congress investigated the Credit Mobilier fraud, Oakes Ames gave the following evidence: Question by Mr. Hoar—Were you not informed by the counsel who drew this contract, that this was a violation of law? Answer by Oakes Ames—We were informed by counsel, whom we consulted, that this issuing of stock as a payment upon the contract for building the road, was in entire compliance with law. Question by Mr. Hoar—Who were the counsel that gave you that advice? Answer by Oakes Ames—Mr. Samuel J. Tilden.

The Richmond Enquirer (dem.) says that Governor Hayes voted "with Butler and thirty-five others against even censuring the chief rascals of the Credit Mobilier ring." As the vote in question was taken in February, 1873, and Mr. Hayes' last term in Congress expired March 3, 1869, it is tolerably plain that the Enquirer has made a mistake. It looks as if the democracy, despairing of finding any weak point in Governor Hayes' record, had gone to work to make up a record for him, with a view to demolishing it when made.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says: "Ex-Senator Fenton, of New York, has returned to the republican party. The nomination of Hayes seems to have cemented the republican organization. The old 'Liberals' have all been swallowed up." It laments that, on the other hand, the nomination of Tilden has rent the democracy in twain.

Hayes and honesty on one side—Tweed and twaddle on the other. Which do you prefer?—N. Y. Com. Adv.

A Grand Exhibition of National Industry.

The American Institute of the City of New York, will hold its 45th Exhibition this Fall, opening on the 6th day of September next, and continuing until late in November.

This Exhibition promises to be unusually interesting, inasmuch as special effort is being made this Centennial Year to have the leading industrial operations carried on upon the premises.

A Special award of a Gold Medal is offered for this year, to be known as the "Centennial Medal."

The American Institute is the oldest of all societies now in existence of its kind, and is not in any sense a private corporation, its earnings being devoted by its charter to the encouragement of home industries.

For blanks and all information, address, General Superintendent, American Institute, New York City.

Saratoga Lake.

There is an Indian superstition attached to this lake which probably had its source in its remarkable loneliness and tranquillity. The Mohawks believed that its stillness was sacred to the great Spirit, and that if a human voice uttered a sound upon its waters, the canoe of the offender would instantly sink. A story is told of an Englishwoman, in the early days of the first settlers, who had occasion to cross this lake with a party of Indians, who, before embarking, warned her most impressively of the spell. It was a silent, breathless day, and the canoe shot over the surface of the lake like an arrow. About half a mile from the shore, near the centre of the lake, the woman, wishing to convince the Indians of the erroneousness of their superstition, uttered a loud cry. The countenances of the Indians fell instantly to the deepest gloom. After a minute's pause, however, they redoubled their exertions, and in frowning silence drove the light bark swiftly over the waters. They reached the shore in safety, and drew up the canoe, when the woman rallied the chief on his credulity. "The Great Spirit is merciful," answered the scornful Mohawk; "he knows that a white woman can not hold her tongue!"—Harper's Magazine for August.

Congress Then and Now.

I entered Congress fifteen years ago, says Senator Conkling. From then till now my opportunity for seeing both before and behind the scenes has been improved with diligence, and nothing is more certain than the change for the better in the executive departments in both wings of the capitol and in the Supreme Courts. In 1859 a large proportion of the members of the House of Representatives went habitually armed with deadly weapons. Drinking to excess was surprisingly common. Large numbers in both houses were often, long before evening, unfit to do business. Liquor was kept, as far as I know, in every committee room in the capitol—book-cases doing duty as side-boards. Gambling and other dissipations were very common among public men, and vice and debauchery were the topics of loud and unclean jests. Venal lobbying was too palpable and prevalent to be overlooked; on all sides lax practices prevailed which now would be scarcely credited. All this is changed for the better in all respects. Liquor is not tolerated in the capitol. Formerly every cabinet officer, and many others, rode in a public carriage as a matter-of-course; now every cabinet officer, who merely allows the old custom to go on, finds himself trumpeted through the world as a great offender. George Washington, when President, rode with six horses, and with out-riders. When he wished to use horses he ordered them from the war department, at the public expense, and the out-riders also.

The Best Men.

Romantic women are very apt to take it into their heads that a low-spirited, attenuated individual, with hollow cheeks, and no chest worth mentioning, is a little nearer the angels than a finely-built, bright-eyed man, with broad shoulders, and plenty of animal spirits, and a happy temper. They know the latter is handsomer, but think the former must be ever so good and ever so intellectual. The nearer an "anatomy" he is, the more certain they are that he is "very refined;" and they have not the slightest doubt that, if the truth were known of the other, that he would be quite a subject for revival efforts.

Heaven forbid that I should say that a man who was the victim of ill-health, could not be both good and wise. Many are so; but the very best men I have ever known were strong, rugged, vigorous ones—and health of body develops health of mind in a wonderful degree.

The most truly refined men I have ever met have looked like men. They have had color in their cheeks, and flesh on their bones. Cowardice was not in them, and about them was a sort of atmosphere of safety and protection.

They are much the best sort of men to fall in love with, I am sure. It is the delicate dandy, with the latest kind of mustache, a beautiful, straight nose, and arms like a girl's, who, with his half-dozen love affairs on his hands at once, is never really true to any one. A manly man gives his heart honestly when it is given at all, and to the heart that is given him he is very tender in his strength.

And I feel sure that manly men look manly, and that there is no better quality than manliness.

Women know so little about men, just as men know so little about women, that, really, it is scarcely safe for us to write about each other. But I actually believe—or I would not say it here—that a good, pure life, such as we would like our brothers, our husbands, or our sons to lead, leaves men strong, and shapely, and handsome, light-hearted; and that it is often nothing but dissipation that gives a man that look which innocent girls are apt to call "very refined," and to couple in their hearts with every virtue.—Mary Kyle Dallas.

Influence of Newspapers.

A school teacher, who had been a long time engaged in his profession, and witnessed the influence of a newspaper upon the minds of a family of children, writes as follows: I have found it to be a universal fact, without exception, that those scholars of both sexes, and of all ages, who have access to newspapers at home, when compared with those who have not, are:

1. Better readers, excellent in pronunciation, and, consequently, read more understandingly.

2. They are better spellers and define words with ease and accuracy.

3. They obtain practical knowledge of geography in almost half the time it requires of others, as the newspapers have made them acquainted with the location of the important places of the nations, their government and doings on the globe.

4. They are better grammarians, for having become so familiar with every variety of style in the newspapers, from the commonplace advertisement to the finished and classical oration of the statesman, they more readily comprehend the meaning of the text, and constantly analyze its construction with accuracy.

5. They write better compositions, using better language, containing more thoughts, more clearly and more correctly expressed.

6. Those young men who have for years been readers of the newspapers, are already taking the lead in debating societies, exhibiting a more extensive knowledge upon a greater variety of subjects and expressing their views with greater fluency, clearness and correctness.

—To be continually dodging about the bed, and pouncing upon every object that is not at right angles, smoothing out the sheet and dabbing at the pillows, and saying half a dozen times an hour: "How do you feel now?" "Don't you want something to eat?" "Can I do anything for you?" "Let me bathe your head!" is enough to drive a sick man wild. He feels that he would like to ask you to go away and hold your tongue; but he knows that all this fidgeting is prompted by affection, so he holds his tongue instead, and bears it all with what measure of patience nature has bestowed upon him. In point of fact, the sick person is generally very ready to tell his wants.

—A minister travelling through the West some years ago asked an old lady on whom he called what she thought of the doctrine of total depravity. "Oh," she replied, "I think it is a good doctrine, if the people would only act up to it."

—A polite way of putting it—Troubled with a chronic indisposition to exertion.

AWARD OF MEDALS.

PRESENTATION OF DIPLOMAS.

MUSIC, "America," Audience.

Haven Medal Awards.

SECOND YEAR.

For diligent application, good deportment and general improvement in all studies: First Medals, Flora Lydston, Daniel S. Broderick; Second Medals, Lizzie W. Freeman, Charles A. Davis.

THIRD YEAR.

Best in Book-keeping and Mathematics, including all branches of the latter: Ida F. Blaisdell, Arthur E. Gage.

Best in English composition, (only young ladies contesting,) Samuel W. Foss.

Diligent application, good deportment and general improvement in all studies; First Medal, Lizzie M. Flagg, Second Medal, Flora B. Dow, J. Herman Emery.

FOURTH YEAR.

Best scholar in English composition, (only young lady contesting,) Emma F. Johnson.

Diligent application, good deportment and general improvement in all studies: William P. Benedict.

Compositions of Miss Edith W. Tripp, of the graduating class, and Master E. Fred Owen, of the third class, were judged to be the second in merit.

The heat was intense, and the room, as usual, crowded to overflowing. Probably four hundred visitors were in attendance, many of whom were compelled to stand throughout the entire exercises. The school room was fitted up in a tasty manner with decorations of flags, bunting and streamers, with a profusion of flowers interspersed in different parts of the room, giving a pleasant effect. We learn that the credit of these decorations belongs to our well known townsman, D. Webster Barnabee, Esq., whose skill as a decorator and designer has already become noted among us. Mr. T. S. Gay also contributed to the occasion by furnishing a portion of the flags and bunting. The members of the graduating class (whose names we give below) compared favorably with almost any preceding class in point of scholarship and general appearance. One pleasant feature, that we take pleasure in chronicling, was the absence of that foolish rivalry in the matter of dress on the part of the young ladies that has heretofore been more conspicuous than anything else on exhibition day. One or two of the class wore the expensive and elaborate muslin but the major portion appeared neatly attired in cambric, thus giving us an opportunity to think of the brains rather than the body. This matter of dress reform, by the way, has been generally adopted among high school graduates in other cities this year, and it is pleasing to observe that our girls "fall into line" like sensible lassies. Among the pleasing ornaments of the High School room we must not pass unnoticed the several colored crayon pictures on the blackboards, which were not only patriotic and eminently centennial in their spirit, but remarkably well executed. The "Battle of Bunker Hill," "Battle of Lexington," "Washington at Valley Forge," and "Surrender of Lord Cornwallis," were the subjects of the drawings alluded to, and we are informed that Master William P. Benedict of the list of graduates was the author.

We have not room for particular mention of any one part, but must content ourselves by saying that the exhibition was a fine one in every respect, showing great thoroughness on the part of the teachers, and receptiveness on the part of the scholars. The principal, Mr. Clark, with his hard-working and able head of the female department, Miss S. E. Bailey, and the two efficient assistants, Miss Kate E. Hooper and Miss E. F. Magnaw, are to be heartily congratulated upon the results of their labors upon this class of '76. It is not so large by nearly one-half as those of many past years, but its members bear the impress of careful training and intelligent teaching.

The music, (piano-playing, violin solos by Master Nowell, and singing,—chorus and quartette,) was worthy of commendation. Miss Flanders superintended the musical part of the programme, and in this, as well the manner in which she has drilled the school in her specialty, deserves high praise.

Miss Lizzie M. Varrell sang a pleasing little song entitled "My Love has gone a sailing," rendering it very happily, and exhibiting a degree of composure that many a "star" might covet.

The exercises closed with a well written and very well recited valedictory in which all of us were remembered.

The graduating class of eleven is as follows: Misses Alice M. Deverson, Clara L. French, Lizzie L. Hutchinson, Emma F. Johnson, Annie M. Mason, Lizzie C. Meloon, Addie Randall, Edith W. Tripp; Masters Albert H. Baker, William P. Benedict, Edward H. Hall.

Barnum.

Barnum's "New and Greatest Show on Earth" comes to-day. After the show left Concord the Monitor said: "the performances gave great satisfaction to good audiences. The entertainment this year is of a much more pleasing character than that of last year to the public. The fact is Americans don't care much for the chariot races and pageants of two or three thousand years ago, when they have a Goldsmith Maid at home which makes the fastest time on record. They like a circus better, and this year Barnum gives them one of the best circuses which ever travelled, and a fair menagerie and miscellaneous show. Some of the animals are very rare ones. The tattooed man, Capt. Costentenus, is a great living curiosity, being completely covered with tattoo work from head to heel.

The circus performance was good in all its departments—acrobats, clowns and equestrians. The trapeze performance of the Masters Carlo was a marvel of grace and skill, and Satsuma and All Right were as unmatched as ever in their balancing feats. The bareback equestrian feats of Martinho Lowande, and 'the boy wonder, Tony,' were the finest we ever saw, and it is difficult to imagine how human skill can go farther in that line. In fact it was a first class performance in all respects, and Mr. Barnum has again demonstrated that he knows how to give the public the best in the way of entertainment."

The Kane Divorce Suit.

The case of Kane v. Kane was brought to trial before Judge J. F. Barnard, without a Jury, at the Special Term of the Supreme Court, held in the County Courthouse, in Brooklyn, on the 10th.

The plaintiff is the daughter of Naval Constructor S. H. Pook, on duty at the Brooklyn Navy Yard; and the defendant is a Chaplain in the U. S. Navy, and well known for his services during the late war, under Admiral Farragut.

The suit was brought by Mrs. Kane, on the ground of cruel treatment, and the allegations were of a novel and remarkable character, one being that the defendant had on several occasions spoken crossly to his wife, and one time went to her bedroom against her wishes, annoying her very much by speaking of her want of domestic economy and extravagance. Another singular allegation was, that the plaintiff had purchased a piano, as a present for his wife, agreeing to pay for it by instalments, and, after several months, sent it back to the manufacturer, on the plea that he found himself unable to continue the payments, thus cruelly depriving the plaintiff of her source of great musical enjoyment.

There were other complaints, but all of an extremely frivolous character.

As neither the plaintiff nor defendant were in Court, the latter being in Europe on sick leave, granted by the Navy Department, it was evidently not a personal but a family quarrel, and from the fact that the father and mother of the plaintiff were in Court, it is to be presumed that a "proverbial mother-in-law" was at the bottom of the trouble.

After the examination of Mr. and Mrs. Pook, and without cross-examination, the same having been reserved by order of the Court, the plaintiff rested her case.

The counsel for defendant did not think it necessary to call in a single witness, showing only several letters from plaintiff to defendant, the last one written containing a confession of gross deception and hypocrisy carried on during the space of four years, and acknowledging that she had no cause to complain of her husband, who had always treated her with the greatest kindness and affection, and had never spoken a single unkind word, but that owing to her conduct she could not live any longer with him, and asked for no further support.

Judge Barnard after a fair and impartial hearing of both sides, on motion being made by defendant's counsel, dismissed the complaint, with costs, finding from the evidence, that the defendant had not been guilty of cruel treatment of his wife,—had not abandoned her, or refused or neglected to provide for or support her, as stated in the complaint.

The Court awarded the custody of the children to the father, it being shown from one of plaintiff's letters, that she stated that when the children annoyed her by their fretting, she felt like throwing them out of the window.

Joseph M. Pray, of Brooklyn, appeared for the plaintiff, and John Todhunter and Howard Payson Wilds for defendant.

The following is from the Brooklyn Eagle, which relates to the above suit:

"In the Eagle of a recent date, I notice among your Court notes an article entitled, 'A United States Navy Chaplain's Divorce Suit.' In that article you state that I was the attorney for the plaintiff, Nellie C. Kane. I must beg leave to state that, instead of being the attorney for the plaintiff, I was the defendant's attorney, and that I considered the plaintiff's case so frivolous that I refused to cross-examine the witnesses, and that we won our case without putting any of our witnesses on the stand. Mr. Justice Barnard speedily rendered judgment for our client upon the direct examination of plaintiff's witnesses. It is but justice that your paper should correct the mistake made, and that I should appear as the attorney for the defendant, the Rev. James J. Kane, the successful party. 'Ferat, qui meruit, palmam.'

I am, respectfully yours,
JOHN TODHUNTER,
115 Broadway, New York."

Jottings.

By order of the Navy Department, the navy pay office is transferred from this city to the navy yard.

Will not some of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals interest themselves for the happiness of the poor doves, that have no cotes in which to lodge at night, or to build their nests, but are obliged to build on projections of churches and other buildings. Every owner of a barn or stable could put in it from six to fifty cotes for them, at small expense. Have them so made, with inner doors opposite each nest that can be easily opened, that the squabs can be readily taken out to make food for the sick. In that way the doves will be made comfortable and useful.

Appetite a Necessity.

Appetite is a necessity. Without it, sufficient food is not received into the stomach either to nourish the system or to give the stimulus to the bowels which they require. Both these organs and the liver become torpid in consequence, and the blood grows poor in quality and quantity. Improve the appetite, therefore, and avoid such results. This is most effectually done with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic appetizer and alterative without a peer. It gives not only an unwonted zest for food, but enables the stomach to digest and the system to assimilate it. Flatulence, heartburn, nausea, and every other concomitant of indigestion are removed by its aid, as also biliousness and constipation. Each nerve and fibre of the body is made to tingle with health by its use, and it is the leading remedy for despondency.

The Barking Season.

The condition of the public's lungs is not as sound as it might be, and there appears to be a tickling in the multitudinous throats of the sovereign people which we should be glad to have relieved both for their sakes and our own, inasmuch as the almost universal bark which the trachial irritation begets, is anything but pleasant to sensitive ears. Opportunely, under the circumstances, our attention is solicited to a medicinal agent which is said to be the most efficient preparation for calming and curing a cough, that the world has ever known. Its ingredients, as indicated by its name, "Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar," are certainly very simple and wholesome. Fine tar is one of the best pulmonics known. Horehound has a household reputation everywhere as a cure for coughs and colds, and Honey is the most healing of lubricants. We commend the article to the whole coughing community.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam has effected more cures during the first two years it was in the market than all the medicines that have been advertised for twenty years past. F. W. Kinsman, Proprietor, Augusta, Me.

False Delicacy.

The friends of those who are troubled with bad breath, and, through over-squeamishness, dislike to refer to it, commit a positive and cruel mistake, especially if they are aware of the merits and great efficacy of the fragrant SOZODONT. This is the true and only remedy for the difficulty; there is no valid excuse for a bad breath now.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

Daily Chronicle.

—A man named Fitton, of Cavendish, Vt., recently failed in the woolen manufacturing business, and settled with his creditors at twenty-five cents on the dollar. A few days afterward, while stopping with his wife in Montreal, he was robbed of $14,000 which he was carrying around with him. If Fitton does not get his money back, he will have to fall again to make up the loss.

—A little colored boy had a "Second Reader" given to him. He didn't know how to read, and even a picture was a new thing under the sun to him. In the reader was a picture of a bear chasing a boy. The boy was represented almost within the bear's reach. The little colored fellow sat silently watching that picture nearly all the afternoon of the day he received the book, and when it became too dark for him to see, he was induced to put it away until morning. The next morning, as soon as it was daylight, he jumped out of bed and ran for his book. He at once turned to the "boy and bear" picture, and, glancing at it, exclaimed, "He hasn't ketched him yit! he hasn't ketched him yit!"

Modern Women.

It is a sad commentary upon our boasted civilization that women of our time have degenerated in health—pale, nervous, feeble and back-achy, with only here and there a few noble exceptions in the persons of the robust, buxom ladies characteristic of the sex in days gone by. By a very large experience, covering a period of years and embracing the treatment of many thousands of cases of those ailments peculiar to Women, Dr. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., has perfected, by the combination of certain vegetable extracts, a natural specific, which he does not extol as a cure-all, but one which admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most positive and reliable remedy for those weaknesses and complaints that afflict the women of the present day. This natural specific compound is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The following are among those diseases in which this wonderful medicine has worked cures as if by magic and with a certainty never before attained by any medicines: Weak back, nervous and general debility, falling and other displacements of internal organs, resulting from debility and lack of strength in natural supports, internal fever, congestion, inflamation and ulceration and very many other chronic diseases incident to women, not proper to mention here, in which, as well as in the cases that have been enumerated, the Favorite Prescription effects cures—the marvel of the world. It will not do harm in any state or condition of the system, and by adopting its use the invalid lady may avoid that severest of ordeals—the consulting of a family physician. Favorite Prescription is sold by dealers in medicines generally.

PULMOCINE

ESTABLISHED IN 1855.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL —IN THE— UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y.

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG, SUCCESSOR TO Dr. TELLER, DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1853 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of matrimonie and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

REASONS WHY FARMERS should purchase The Halladay Wind-Mill!

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.'

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no avail. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of your Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they deserve.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. It has taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or th ow them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

—The Detroit Post remarks: "Perhaps the Cincinnati convention didn't fire the shot heard 'round the world, but it fired the shot which knocked more political roosters off the fence than was ever before heard of. And it knocked 'em off on the right side, too."

—She merely left a tub full of suds on the back steps, and he went out there after dark for a scuttle of coal, and as he stepped into the tub and slid down into the back yard in a shower of suds, he swore by all the classic gods and by seventeen Japanese saints that he would have a divorce within a month.

—An Irishman went a fishing, and among other things he hauled in was a large-sized turtle. To enjoy the surprise of the servant girl, he placed it in her bed-room. The next morning, the first that bounced into the breakfast room was Biddy, with the exclamation of "Be jabbers, I've got the divil!" "What divil?" inquired the head of the house, feigning surprise. "The bull bed-bug that has been ateing the children for the last month."

—A plan to make Mount Vesuvius practically useful has been broached in London. It is nothing else than to convert the crater into a receptacle for dead bodies. A company will undertake to run mortuary trains from different parts of Europe to Vesuvius, and up its sides to the summit, on reaching which they will tilt their contents into the abyss, leaving nature in its grandest form to do the work of cancelling the remains of humanity, and then take the surviving mourners a short excursion to Naples and its environs, in order to cancel the last remains of grief.

—There is but one cure for corns, and that is: Take a lemon and roll it until soft; cut a thick slice and bind it on the corn on retiring at night. In the morning if the corn is white and disintegrated pull it out with your finger nails; never cut a corn. Sometimes several applications of lemon slices will be necessary, but the corns are bound to succumb, and you can dance the next night if you like. After you remove the corns wear shoes that fit and not too stiff in the soles.

—Virginians still tilt at the ring. A gallows is erected, from which hangs a small ring; the competitors, styling themselves the knights of this or that place, ride at it full gallop with a lance. The champion of the day is presented with a crown, which he places on the head of any fair lady among the audience he may choose, and this favored damsel is forthwith styled the queen of beauty. The affectation and bombast of the whole thing is inexpressibly funny to a Northern observer, who falls to see in the lanky "knights," broken down "steeds" and generally slip-shod surroundings, anything but the ridiculous pretence that keeps the South a hundred years behind the times.

SATURDAY, JULY 14, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The Legislature.

On Wednesday, the 12th, the House passed the address removing George F. Putnam, Solicitor, Samuel K. Mason, Judge of Probate, Samuel T. Page, Register of Probate, and Nathan H. Weeks, Sheriff of Grafton County; also Samuel M. Cobb, Police Justice of Hanover.

A long fight then ensued (or rather was still continued) between the opposing parties, the roll being called in all directions; but the republicans stuck it out manfully, and an adjournment was not reached until 5:38 A. M. on Thursday, after a continuous session of 14 hours and 38 minutes.

On Thursday, the Senate passed addresses for the removal of certain officers in Rockingham, Strafford, Grafton and Sullivan counties, and an act in amendment of the charter of Manchester.

The House met at 9 o'clock, and considerable unimportant business was transacted.

In the afternoon the bill to amend the charter of Dover was passed, by 173 yeas to 86 nays.

The address for the removal of Harvey Carleton, Probate Judge, Don H. Woodward, Solicitor, and Edward P. Kimball, Sheriff of Cheshire county, was passed, after some slight show of an intention to fillibuster by the democrats.

Adjourned at 5:43 P. M.

Appointments.

The Governor and Council made the following appointments on Thursday:

CARROLL COUNTY.

Judge of Probate—Hon. Larkin D. Mason of Tamworth.

Register of Probate—Samuel B. Wiggin, Sandwich.

Solicitor—Col. Buel C. Carter, Wolfeborough.

Sheriff—John Demerritt, Effingham.

BELKNAP COUNTY.

Solicitor—John W. Currier, Alton.

Sheriff—Geo. H. Everett, Laconia.

Three noted desperadoes of Newark, N. J., brothers named Fielharn, on Thursday instantly killed one police officer and seriously and probably fatally wounded another. They then attacked the workmen in a tannery, killed one and wounded another. The murderers then attempted to escape by swimming across a canal, but were chased by the tanners and stoned until they sank and were drowned.

More fighting in Servia; both sides victorious, capturing the enemy's entrenchment, cannon and camp equipage, and inflicting heavy loss in killed and wounded.

Transatlantic dory "Centennial," Capt. Johnsen, was spoken July 9th, lat. 49:11, on. 70:20.

Michael Taky, late city messenger of Manchester, died of sunstroke in that city on Thursday.

Edward Simons of Middletown, Conn., shot himself from grief at the death of his daughter, the actress Louise Hawthorne (Mrs. B. G. Morton,) who was recently killed by a fall from a window at her hotel in Chicago.

Dolly Cranse, aged 15, of Erie, Pa., wanted to go West to see her brother. Her father would not give her money. She thereupon drew a check for $175, and forged her father's name to it. The crime was discovered, and the girl went out in a lot and cut her throat.

Republican Leaders.

Marston, of Exeter. His age, reputation, and ability combine to make Gilman Marston the leader of the House. He does not make himself prominent in the House and other names are oftener found in the reports than his. But no man's support is worth so much and no man's opposition is so fatal as his. He is a lawyer by profession and is conceded to stand at the head of the Rockingham County Bar. He has a large practice in the United States Circuit Court. His age is, as far as I know, an undetermined quantity, but he has done work enough to be about seventy. He has been much in public life, was a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1850. Has served four years in Congress. Went to the war as Colonel of the Second Regiment and returned as a General, and has before represented Exeter in the House. In public life as well as in private business he has been noted for a rugged independence and an ugly honesty which, while they have made him some enemies and have failed to make him a favorite with politicians, have secured him the confidence and regard of the people and the friendship of many to whom his judgment is law.

Stevens of Nashua, is another leader who has won his position by years of honorable service. He has long been known as one of the ablest lawyers in Hillsborough county. He has served several times in the House, four years in Congress and three years in the army. He led on the 13th Regiment as Colonel and when he returned brought with him some ugly wounds and a General's commission. He was a good soldier, an honest Congressman, and was and is a good republican. I do not know how to say better things of any man than these. He is probably the best speaker in the House.—Manchester Mirror.

The Parson's Rain-Storm.

Once upon a time a man offered to sell to Parson Surely, upon very advantageous terms, a farm in a settlement known as Fox Hollow. It was a sequestered nook among the White Mountains, and the farm in question was a good one. The parson visited Fox Hollow, for the purpose of making himself acquainted with the people, and he thought if he could find opportunity to preach there, that he might take the farm. He found the place very pleasant, and the people, so far as he could see, industrious and agreeable; but they had had no religious meetings for years. There was a small, unpainted meeting-house in the vale, used sometimes for a school-house, and occasionally for other secular purposes. It had been built by a former generation for a place of worship, but the children of that generation, though honest as the world goes, had sadly fallen from grace.

The leading man of Fox Hollow was known as "Deacon Long." His father had been a deacon in regular standing, and the title had descended upon him as a matter of social distinction. He was a thrifty farmer, was Jabez Long, and had once represented his town in the State legislature. This man Parson Surely sought.

"If," said the parson, after having stated the business which had called him to the Hollow, "I could find opportunity to preach to the people of this place, I might take the farm which has been offered me."

"Well, now look here, parson," returned the deacon, after a brief consideration, "you and I might as well be blunt and honest. 'Tain't no use beatin' round the bush. Fact is, our people don't have much faith in ministers, anyway."

Thereupon Parson Surely, mildly, but emphatically, explained to the thrifty deacon that religious ordinances were but introductory and supplementary to faith in God and Heaven. He asked for no faith in himself only in so far as he reflected the love and mercy and will of Heaven.

After some further conversation, Deacon Long said he would consult with his friends. He did so, and upon the following day he waited upon the Parson to report.

"Well, Parson," he said, "I have talked with the folks, and they don't seem to think 'twould pay to hire a preacher. They can't see the use. 'As for the preachin', they can read all they care to know, and as for prayin', they don't have no faith in it."

"No faith in prayer?" said Mr. Surely in surprise.

"No, sir. Your prayers can't alter anything. You can't pray one hair white or black. Says old John Sample—'If a minister could pray for rain, and have it come just when they wanted it, 'twould be some use.' You see, Parson, that very thing shows you how weak you and your prayers are."

Parson Surely was touched in a tender spot. He fancied he could give these skeptical inhabitants of Fox Hollow a useful lesson on the ways of Providence.

"Suppose," he said, after due deliberation, "I could pray for rain and have it come just when you wanted it?"

"In that case," replied Long, promptly, "we would hire you, and run the risk."

Parson Surely proposed that he should meet the leading ones of the settlement in the meeting-house that evening, and talk the matter over. To this Mr. Long assented, and went away to make the necessary arrangements.

Evening came, and a majority of the grown-up people of Fox Hollow were assembled, and Parson Surely was with them. The matter was duly considered, and Deacon Long put the proposition thus:

"Parson, we, on our part, agree to hire you to preach for us, and we will pay you either in money or in work. You on your part, agree that you will give us rain just when we want it. Is that it?"

"With one slight qualification," said Mr. Surely, smiling. "I cannot promise to grant a request on which you shall be divided. I cannot pray for one man's benefit to another man's injury. The request I am to answer must be entirely unanimous."

This was considered eminently fair; and upon these terms the contract was made.

Mr. Surely moved his family to Fox Hollow, and took possession of the farm, and forthwith commenced his labors as pastor. The people very quickly found in him one quality which they liked. He would work: and he was not afraid of work. He was a farmer like themselves, and understood the business. Next, they found that he was genial and cheerful, and that his Sabbath services were really interesting. And then he organized a Sabbath school, under the influence of which there was a marked improvement in the children. And he did more than this. He opened an evening school, the benefits of which in time were sought by some who had grown past the age of childhood.

The spring passed, and summer came. July opened scorchingly. The second week of the midsummer month found the earth at Fox Hollow very dry. The potato-tops were drooping, and the leaves of the corn were curling up. It was decided by the people that they must have rain.

"Now," said old John Sample, who was one of the most skeptical among them, "is the time to try if the parson can keep his promise. You'll see, I reckon, how completely he'll collapse."

A committee waited upon the parson and informed him that they wanted rain.

"Very well," he said. "I will meet our friends this evening, at the church, and the matter shall be settled upon."

The people were interested and curious, and when evening came the meeting-house was full; for nearly every inhabitant of the age of understanding was there. The parson opened the way to deliberation by stating the purpose for which they had met.

"You want rain," he said, "and I am to bring it for you?"

"That's what you promised," returned Mr. Sample.

"Exactly," said the parson. "And now we have only to decide upon the time when you will have it. You will remember that you were to be unanimous in this particular. Now say,—when shall the rain come?"

"Let it come this very night, good and streng," proposed John Sample.

"Hold on!" cried Deacon Long, starting to his feet, "I've got the very best of my hay—clover and herdsgrass—out, and in winrows. I must get that in. Let us have the rain to-morrow night."

"No, no," interposed a thrifty farmer, named Lamson, "I've engaged a crew of men, and they are coming to-morrow morning to cut down my clover. Let it go over to another day."

"Then,' said John Sample, 'let us have it as soon as neighbor Lamson gets in his clover. That'll be by Thursday, sure?"

Mr. Lamson nodded in the affirmative.

"Then let us have it Thursday."

Upon this, up jumped Mrs. John Sample and Mrs. Jabez Long.

"That's the day for the children's picnic!" they cried. "Don't for mercy's sake, have it rain on that day!"

"Suppose we set Friday, then?" suggested the deacon.

But on Friday, Peter Kempton had arranged to have men at work shingling the roof of his barn. If others were to be accommodated, he didn't know why he should not be.

"Well, my friends," said Parson Surely "since you cannot agree upon the day, suppose you let the Lord take care of the weather during the present week, and we will consider further on another day. If you say so, we will meet again on Monday next."

To this there could be no objection, and the good people separated.

On Thursday the children had their picnic, but were hurried home by threatening clouds. On Thursday night, and all day Friday, the rain fell gloriously.

On Sunday, Parson Surely took for his text—"Behold, the heaven and the heaven of heaven's is the Lord's, thy God; the earth also, with all that therein is." And he preached to them a sermon on the utter futility of man's attempting to interfere with the ways of Providence. And he bade them consider, from their experience of the past week, what a clashing of individual interests would result from a human direction of Nature's laws. Would it not be better for them to seek to understand, as far as possible, the cause and effect which they could not control, and accommodate themselves thereto? Did they not think, on the whole, that the Supreme Power which had created the universe had better be left to manage it as it might please Him?

The good people of Fox Hollow had received a lesson which they were not soon to forget. During the Autumn they repaired the meeting-house, and voted to increase Mr. Surely's pay; and they did not further stipulate that he should seek to bend Providence to their individual whims.

Political.

The Mississippi correspondent of the Hartford Courant gives a frightful picture of affairs in that State. Mississippi has undoubtedly a republican majority of 25,000, and yet it was carried by the democrats at the last election by unblushing fraud and intimidation. Any attempts on the part of black men to-day to exercise their rights as citizens would result in wholesale murder. The well-armed minority retain the power, the weaker class having neither the organization nor the courage to enforce their rights. The same state of feeling which before the war made the South a dangerous place for an abolitionist, now exists toward all white republicans, and at the recent democratic ratification meeting at Jackson, one of the prominent white leaders strongly urged that all white republicans should be driven from the State, and volunteered to lead in such a movement!

Ex-Gov. Samuel J. Crawford, of Kansas, a prominent leader in the Greeley movement of 1872, it is said by the Lawrence Journal to be now out square for Hayes and Wheeler. The same is true of Colonel S. N. Wood, another Kansas liberal of influence.

A New York exchange says that the democratic authorities of Clinton prison allowed the Tildenites to take the cannon which had never been used except to alarm the country when a convict escaped to Plattsburg to fire a salute. That night Jack Williams, one of the most noted desperadoes in the prison escaped, but no alarm could be given.

A correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, writing from Bowling Green, Mo., on the 4th, says: "All is quiet in our town, except as I write, I can see from my window the Confederate flag floating from the County building, with Tilden's and Hendrick's names inscribed on it. The resolution of 1864, the Confederate flag, and Tilden and Hendricks make a strong trio in this part of Dixie."

—Frog showers are reported in Ohio. Olebillallen (adds the Pittsburg Commercial) has always howled for more greenbacks. Hope he is satisfied now.

The Reunion

Of the High School Association and the Graduating Class of '76, at Franklin Hall, Thursday evening, was attended by a large number of former members of the school, and invited guests. Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, President of the Association, was in the chair, the members of the Association and graduating class occupying the stage. Brief and interesting addresses were made by the President, James P. Bartlett, Esq., Rev. Edward A. Rand, of South Boston, (who also read a short and appropriate poem,) and Stephen W. Clark, Esq., Principal of the High School; and the graduating class sang their parting song to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne." A committee appointed to nominate officers of the Association for the ensuing year reported the following list, which was adopted:

President, Hon. William H. Y. Hackett;
Vice Presidents, James T. Fields, Esq., Boston, Rev. Edward A. Rand, South Boston, Samuel J. Nowell, New York, Mrs. C. C. Akerman, Miss Lizzie S. Pray.
Recording Secretary, William R. Foster;
Corresponding Secretaries, Miss Mary W. Harratt, Miss Carrie A. Whitcomb;
Treasurer, George E. Hodgdon;
Directors, Charles A. Hazlett, Geo. W. Marston, Clarence O. Walker, Miss Georgie Hill, Miss Edith Gerrish.

On motion, a finance committee was appointed by the chair, consisting of the following persons: Rev. William A. Rand, Messrs. Oliver M. Knight, Howard N. Dunyon, J. Albert Sanborn.

After the literary exercises, and business of the Association, were over, the floor of the hall was cleared and dancing was in order, to the music of Harlow's Orchestra. Tripping the light fantastic by the young (and some of the older) folks, pleasant greetings between acquaintances long sundered, and the reviving of half-forgotten school-day reminiscences by boys who were boys all the way from ten to thirty years ago, filled up the time until toward midnight, when the company separated. The following is a hastily prepared (and no doubt far from complete) list of the High School graduates present during the evening:

Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, principal, many years ago.
Class of '34, James P. Bartlett.
Class of '51, E. Washington Brown, Edward A. Rand.
Class of '52, Oliver M. Knight, Howard N. Dunyon.
Class of '55, D. Webster Barnabee.
Class of '58, George W. Marston, Alfred Stavers, Thomas K. Locke.
Class of '59, William A. Rand.
Class of '60, Plumer D. Norton.
Class of '61, Joseph T. Brown, Lyman G. Spalding, J. Edward Colcord, John Pendar.
Class of '63, R. Edwin Rider.
Class of '64, Clarence O. Walker, M. Wentworth Ayers, Floron Barri, Charles A. Hazlett, William C. Ham.
Class of '65, Joseph A. Meloon, Albert H. Sides, Andrew B. Sherburne.
Class of '67, Mrs. Mercer Goodrich.
Class of '68, Frank J. Philbrick, Joseph H. Odiorne, Miss Georgie Hill, Miss Susie Spalding, Miss N. Vennard.
Class of '69, George T. Foster.
Class of '70, Mrs. Z. T. Brown.
Class of '71, William H. Gardiner, A. W. Walker, W. T. Sabine, Misses Belle Tucker, Clara Barri, Ellen Newton, Alice Hanscom, Clara Hanscom.
Class of '72, George A. Holbrook.
Class of '73, Washington Bartlett, Brent McCarthy, Misses Emma J. W. Magraw, Mary Lizzie Prescott, Helen Louise Chesley, Ella Dora Lowd, Clara Eva Lowd, Eva Clara Lowd, Nellie Giddings, Emma Louise Grace, Grace Louise Akerman, Annie Estelle Smart.
Class of '74, Willie W. French, Edwin B. Rundlett, Charles F. Shillaber, Misses Sarah Ayers, Lizzie Brackett, Mabel Moses, Nellie Freeman, Alice Freeman, Mary Gay Goodrich, May L. Varrell.
Class of '75, Frank H. Thompson, J. Warren Davis, Edwin H. Barry, W. G. S. Holbrook, Harry S. Holmes, Misses Clara G. Neil, Emma J. Hall, Nellie G. Rand, Josie F. Prescott, Ellen G. Hanscom, May E. Stewart, Maria L. Fuller.

The Amended Charter.

The passage of the bill amending the charter of this city, and providing for an election on the first day of August, is especially satisfactory to the republicans of Portsmouth, who have been practically bound "hand and foot" by their desperate adversaries for the past two years. It was expected that Albert R. Hatch would oppose its passage, it being the especial sort of work he most delights in. He took occasion to repeat his absurd charges regarding "navy yard frauds," and Gen. Stevens of Nashua brought him up with a round turn, reading from the CHRONICLE of July, 1874, a report of Mr. Hatch's speech in which he said workmen were marched from the wharves to the polls to vote the republican ticket, with leaders in front, at the rear and at the sides. We took occasion at the time to state that neither Mr. Hatch nor any other man ever saw such a procession, and Gen. Stevens availed himself of the favorable opportunity of turning the tables on the representative from "Sebastopal."

Mr. Hatch will now disappear from legislative life, his residence having been changed to a republican ward in the relaying of the ward lines. The game was hardly worth the powder, however, except that the State may save a small amount on account of a lack of speech-making in future from Strawberry Bank.

The chief opposition to the bill was on account of the wise provisions for obtaining an honest and fair vote, closing the polls at six o'clock and providing for a board of registration which will check the infamous double voting and illegal single voting which has so largely swelled the democratic vote at recent elections.

The Manchester Mirror says: "Hatch claims the bill will give the republicans eight Representatives—four from each of two large wards, and the democrats but two, one from each small ward."

The amputation of the Ex-Speaker from the South End ward does not deprive it of half its representation as he vainly would have the public believe, there being left some 460 names on the check-list of that ward.

The Mirror says: "Hatch opposed the bill in a characteristic speech in which he talked about his honesty and showed himself wholly forgetful of his course in 1874, and gave the republicans a chance to put him in a most ridiculous position by reading from the records of that year. (His speech would have assured the passage of the bill, even if there had been nothing else in its favor.)"

Jottings.

At the dedication of the new grove at Gerrish's Island by the "Piscataquatico Chowderheads," a monument in honor of Poca hontas will also be dedicated. It is a perpendicular shaft of African granite with muslin foundation, cut biased, a little full in the back, gored and trimmed with box plaiting and Martha Washington ruffling. Pocahontas's long lost brother will exhibit Powhatan's pipe of peace, which all users of the weed may take a whiff at.

The President and Trustees of the Eastern Railroad have issued a notice that a mortgage has been issued from the Company to the Trustees under the act passed by the last Massachusetts legislature, and has been duly executed and recorded. All creditors of said corporation are notified to present their claims to said Corporation, or to said Trustees, at their office, No. 60 Devonshire street, Boston, —for examination, not for payment. The most singular thing in this Eastern business is the default in the interest of the Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway railroad bonds, which has been earned on the Conway but gobbled by the Eastern, and for the security of which the Conway line is hourly in danger of attachment by the coupon holders.

As we have before noticed, a majority of the young lady graduates of the High School chose to appear in cambric dresses at the recent exhibition, which was their privilege. It was reported at the Reunion that this was so distasteful to some of the teachers that they "rebuked" the independent young ladies. If future graduates must consult the whims of their teachers and not their own necessities or desires, it isn't to be expected that the graduating classes will be very numerous in membership. Public schools are supposed to be conducted for the benefit of the pupils, and not for the gratification of teachers who are paid to instruct the children of the poor and rich alike. G. W. M.

Morse & Ilsley sell at noon to-day, the cottage house No. 53 Middle street, with large garden attached. No reserve. See advertisement.

No services at the Universalist Church tomorrow.

The stockholders of the Portsmouth Bridge at their annual meeting on the 11th elected a Board of Directors as follows: Ichabod Goodwin, W. H. Y. Hackett, Wm. L. Dwight, Portsmouth; Charles E. Barnett, Portland; S. Lothrop Thorndike, Beverly; George M. Burns, Boston; John Wooldredge, Lynn. Hon. Ichabod Goodwin was re-elected President and Treasurer; and William H. Hackett, Proprietors' Clerk.

For cool effrontery Hatch of Portsmouth carries the palm in the present House. This man, who two years ago sat in the Speaker's chair and used his position to inaugurate a system of wholesale removals from office, had the sublime impudence to say in his speech on the judiciary bill: "I wish there was statesmanship enough left in the State to let men feel that if they do right in office they will be kept in office, regardless of party changes." Uriah Heap never achieved anything like that. Never did Peckswiff. Never did the Rev. Cream Cheese. Our folks did well to pass the measure without a word in reply. It was a fitting comment upon such matchless demagogery.—Concord Monitor.

The U. S. S. "Congress," Capt. Earl English, arrived from Philadelphia on Friday. The customary salutes were exchanged.

Barnum's Great Show.

When the history of this Centennial year shall have been written, that King of amusement furnishers, P. T. BARNUM, will deserve more than one page of its contents. The "new and greatest show on earth" made its appearance about nine o'clock, Friday morning, and thousands of citizens and strangers viewed the pageant as it passed through the streets, headed by one of the best bands in the country. During the "heated term," the managers deem it unwise to cart the menagerie in wagons about the streets, and consequently the procession was not as long as it otherwise might have been. Among the chief attractions was a large bell, which was rung as the procession moved. A salute was also fired and a carnival of pleasure seems to have set in from the moment the procession commenced to move. A chime of bells played popular tunes, and a calliope belched forth stentorian tones at the rear of the procession. Some of the doubting Thomases spread a report that the show had been divided, and but a portion of it visited Portsmouth; but a visit to the tent showed the falsity of it. The menagerie was all there, and the display was the most complete one of the kind ever visiting this region.

Some 3000 to 4000 persons attended the afternoon entertainment, which was chaste in every detail, ran more smoothly than any similar one we ever witnessed, and was pronounced by Mr. Nathans, the veteran circus manager, to be unexcelled by any performance with which he had in a fifty years' experience been connected. With such men as Messrs. Hurd, Whitaker and Nathans in their proper spheres and the famous BARNUM at the head, we venture to say that no travelling show can rival this.

Among the curiosities that wonderfully tattooed individual, Capt. Costentenus, is chief. He is simply "a sight to behold," his body being "adorned" with three hundred and more pictures, most artistically done, in punishment for rebelling against China's Tartar government. Admiral Dot, in all his minuteness, is by contrast an agreeable feature among the curiosities. The rendering of the "Star Spangled Banner," by a choice chorus, accompanied by the firing of cannon, is exceedingly unique. The performances of Satsama and "Little All Right" are almost too wonderful to fully comprehend; the equestrian exhibitions of Miles. Watson and Carlo are fine; the "concert diabolique" by the trio of Carlos is most amusing, while their triple parterre act excites admiration. The trained animals are all of the best material to be procured in the civilized world. Martinho Lowande does a thrilling bareback act and is pronounced the greatest rider in the world. His son, "Tony," is emphatically a "chip of the old block," showing great zeal in the performance of most daring deeds. The father and he successfully accomplish one feat which no other persons have yet dared imitate. Master Carlo appears in the afternoon pony act, driving the four-in-hand like a veteran of many years.

The clowns, George Clark and Jerry Hopper are among the best of living wits. Hopper's comic stilt act is just "immense."

In the evening, the tent was again crowded. In addition to the performances of the afternoon, Mr. Lowande delighted the lovers of equestrianism by an exhibition of his ability in a "four horse bare-back act" which excited the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm. A grand display of fireworks closed the performance.

The representatives of the press are especially indebted for courtesies to Col. Dan B. Hopkins, a veteran quill driver whom Mr. Barnum secured to succeed our old friend Thomas, now in Europe. We thought the latter an unrivalled press agent, but the genial Col. Hopkins is "to the manner born," and being an experienced and faithful newspaper man, has no superior in his line of duty on this continent.

ACTING THROUGH THE PORES upon the sources of inflammation GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP promptly relieves the burning, itching and other annoyances caused by Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Impetigo, Erysipelas, and other skin diseases and ultimately removes every vestige of them.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam has effected more cures during the first two years it was in the market than all the medicines that have been advertised for twenty years past. F. W. Kinsman, Proprietor, Augusta, Me.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

—What species of love is that which is never reciprocated? A neuralgic affection.

—Though A. T. Stewart was worth nobody knows how many millions, his death has hardly made a ripple upon the surface of life. He died, was buried, and almost forgotten in a week. His wealth could all be estimated in dollars and cents!

—During the recent tornado a couple of Pennsylvania boys were up in a cherry tree stealing cherries. The tornado carried off the cherry tree, and neither the boys nor the tree have been seen since. Moral—Never tell a lie.

—When the band went around to serenade Gov. Hendricks, recently, it played rather a solemn sort of march until it arrived at the Hendricks house, when it struck up a very lively air. A neighbor across the street, who was aroused by the music, called to his colored boy, who was at the gate, and asked him what it was. "Dat," said the boy, "dat is de tune dey plays in the circus when de man rides two horses at once."

Modern Women.

It is a sad commentary upon our boasted civilization that women of our time have degenerated in health—pale, nervous, feeble and back-achy, with only here and there a few noble exceptions in the persons of the robust, buxom ladies characteristic of the sex in days gone by. By a very large experience, covering a period of years and embracing the treatment of many thousands of cases of those ailments peculiar to Women, Dr. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., has perfected, by the combination of certain vegetable extracts, a natural specific, which he does not extol as a cure-all, but one which admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most positive and reliable remedy for those weaknesses and complaints that afflict the women of the present day. This natural specific compound is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The following are among those diseases in which this wonderful medicine has worked cures as if by magic and with a certainty never before attained by any medicines: Weak back, nervous and general debility, falling and other displacements of internal organs, resulting from debility and lack of strength in natural supports, internal fever, congestion, inflamation and ulceration and very many other chronic diseases incident to women, not proper to mention here, in which, as well as in the cases that have been enumerated, the Favorite Prescription effects cures—the marvel of the world. It will not do harm in any state or condition of the system, and by adopting its use the invalid lady may avoid that severest of ordeals—the consulting of a family physician. Favorite Prescription is sold by dealers in medicines generally.

PULMOCINE

ESTABLISHED IN 1835.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL
— IN THE —
UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y.

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,
SUCCESSOR TO
Dr. TELLER,
DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accomodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichol's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to DR. S. V. R. YOUNG, 9 Beaver St., Albany, N. Y.

Office Hours—Daily from 9 A. M., to 8 P. M. Sundays 8 to 10 A. M., and 2 to 5 P. M. 6tmay1'77

The Halladay Wind-Mill!

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.'

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

MAGIC
CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. They helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

☞ DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 19, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:
SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.
SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.
SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.
SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.
SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.
SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.
SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.
SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.
SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing declared by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.
SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

THE "BLOODY SHIRT."

In our first notice of the "terrible negro riot" at Hamburg, S. C., we suggested that the relative numbers of white and colored men killed made the "negro riot" have a suspicious similarity of look to the "negro riots" at Coushatta and Colfax in Louisiana, and that we should not be surprised if this one turned out to be the same as the others—an unprovoked massacre of colored republicans by white democrats, for political reasons alone. We now give the full account of the affair, as written by the democratic correspondent of a democratic newspaper, the Charleston (S. C.,) News, on July 9th:

There was a bloody fight at Hamburg, S. C., last night, resulting in the killing of three negroes and one white man during the engagement, and of seven colored men after the fight was over. Hamburg is in Aiken county, S. C., and opposite Augusta, Ga., on the other side of the Savannah River.

The origin of the affray was the insolent behavior of a colored militia company in Hamburg on the 4th of July. On that day Messrs. Thomas Butler and Henry Gettsen were riding through the town on their way home and were detained by the militia company which obstructed the highway. Three days later the young men applied to Prince Rivers to have the matter explained and to determine whether the militia had the right to block up the public road. Rivers is or was a general officer of militia, and is likewise a trial justice. The examination was had, and the captain of the military company, Doc. Adams, was so insolent as to induce Rivers to commit him for contempt of court, and continue the case until yesterday. The negroes swore in advance that they would submit to no punishment inflicted by the magistrate, and were loud and threatening in the expression of their views. At 4 o'clock, the hour designated for the trial, after waiting some time, General Butler, counsel for the plaintiffs, informed Rivers that this sort of thing had gone on long enough. The negroes must give up their arms at once, and he would give the names of twenty of the best citizens in Edgefield as security that they would be turned over to Governor Chamberlain. General Butler soon after had a conference with the negro leaders. He told them that the arms must be given up; there was no necessity for them in that place, and they had no business with them. As for the Adams case, Mr. Butler would be satisfied if Adams would make an apology.

This conference accomplished nothing. The negroes still hesitated about giving up their arms. In the meantime, however, a number of white citizens had assembled in the town, and matters began to look squally. General Butler rode over to Augusta, and told several young men that he might need their services in Hamburg during the afternoon. He then returned to the town.

Just after crossing the bridge he was met by Prince Rivers, who said he would make one more effort to induce the negroes to give up their guns, and if they would not yield they must take the consequence. Accordingly he conferred with the officers of the company, and shortly returned to General Butler with the announcement that the negroes said they would not give up their guns; they intended to fight. In the meantime the news of the trouble had spread in Augusta and caused much excitement. A large number of young men hastily procured arms and ammunition and hastened to the scene. Many others waited at the foot of the bridge anxiously awaiting the result. By 7 o'clock there was a large crowd at that point.

Upon learning the result of Rivers' efforts, General Butler determined to accomplish by force that which could not be done by peaceable demands. The negroes had intrenched themselves in a large brick structure, known as Sibley's building, on a corner, and defied the whites. The latter surrounded the house, and at half-past seven o'clock opened fire upon it. This was returned by the negroes, and a constant fusilade was kept up for over two hours.

About eight o'clock a young man named T. Mackey Merriwether, who was standing near the front of Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta Railroad Bridge, was struck in the head by a Minnie ball fired from one of the windows of the Sibley building, and almost instantly killed. His body was placed on a litter and brought to the city by a number of young men.

Soon after the death of Merriwether several men were sent over to Augusta for a piece of artillery. This was procured and carried to Hamburg as soon as possible. The piece was stationed on the river bank a short distance from the house where the negroes had taken up their position, and a fire opened with canister. Four rounds were fired. Little damage was done the building, but the fire had the effect of completely silencing the negroes. During the evening eight negroes were captured, two of them members of the company.

About half-past 8 or 9 o'clock a party of five negroes escaped from the building and ran across an open field. They were fired upon by the white men, and two of them returned the fire, but without effect. About 10 o'clock a negro jumped over the fence in rear of the house and attempted to escape, but he was instantly fired upon, and fell dead, riddled by bullets. It was then ascertained that he was Jim Cook, the marshal of the town, who had been one of the chief promoters of the difficulty. His head was almost shot to pieces. Soon after this another negro named John Thomas, first lieutenant of the company, was caught while attempting to escape. After he was arrested he was shot in the back by some unknown party and seriously, perhaps mortally wounded. This action was condemned on the severest terms by every one, and especially by General Butler.

About twelve o'clock general search was made throughout the town, and resulted in the finding of fifteen more negroes, making twenty-nine in all. A negro who attempted to escape was shot in several places and badly wounded. The negroes who were last captured were discovered hid away in cellars and under floors.

Early this morning seven of the prisoners were taken out and killed. The Chronicle and Sentinel say that about 2 o'clock, the roll was called of the prisoners and those who were considered ring-leaders of the disturbing element in this county were carried to a corn field near the river and turned loose. As they ran they were fired upon and killed. One of the men shot was named Attaway, a county commissioner and a member of the legislature. The prisoners died almost without a groan. The remainder were then turned loose. Before the shooting took place a detail of twenty-five men was made and ordered to take the prisoners to Aiken jail. On the way it was determined to kill the ringleaders, and the shooting was done as described. Some gentlemen from Augusta interfered and saved the lives of three by persuading the guards to let them bring the negroes to this city. They were taken to the City Hall and discharged. The man who was shot after being captured—John Thomas—was also brought to the City Hall. He cannot possibly recover. The list now foots up ten negroes killed, one white man killed, another severely wounded.

On the 10th the same correspondent wrote as follows:

"The bodies of the slain negroes were left lying where they fell. One or two of the bodies were mutilated with hatchets or bayonets, Attaway's being one of these. One of the four negroes lived until next morning, and died from loss of blood. The feeling in Augusta among the better class is one of unqualified condemnation. All are agreed that the affair cannot be justified on any ground. It was the work of some of the band (of whites) who had inflamed themselves with liquor during the fight. The negroes of Hamburg fled by scores to Augusta for protection, but all are returning to-day. A number of their houses were broken into and robbed, and the furniture destroyed. Prince Rivers' house was sacked. His loss is several hundred dollars. The band hunted for him to kill him also, but he had escaped. The feeling among the negroes in Hamburg is that of terrified submission. All the killed had families with one exception (Moses Park,) and the grief and distress of the women and children was violent and heartrending."

The News in a double leaded editorial says: "Assuming that the accounts of the Hamburg fight given by the Augusta newspapers are in the main correct, we find little, if any, excuse for the conflict itself, and absolutely none for the cowardly killing of the seven negro prisoners who were shot down like rabbits long after they had surrendered. The insolence of the militiamen, out of which the trouble came, could easily have been punished without a resort to arms. The killing of the prisoners was barbarous in the extreme. We have no words strong enough to express our condemnation of such a crime. They who do such deeds sow the wind. We pray that they, and those who are innocent of the wrong, may not reap the whirlwind."

MONDAY, JULY 17, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

News and Notes.

The British iron-clad "Thunderer," while on her trial trip, Friday, burst one of her boilers with terrible effect. The first and second engineers were killed, and twenty-five others; sixty or more were terribly wounded. The captain of the vessel had his hand blown off.

The opinion of Judge Barrett, of the Supreme Court of New York, in the case of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company vs. William T. Garner et al., will be very interesting reading to New England manufacturers. The defendants applied the name "Amoskeag" to their print goods, thereby allowing purchasers to infer that the prints were the product of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company's mills at Manchester, N. H. The plaintiffs, it was proved, never applied the name "Amoskeag" to any but their best goods, and did not manufacture calicoes. It was often remarked by the western trade that the Amoskeag Company manufactured very fine goods, but abominable prints. The plaintiffs had built up a world-wide reputation for the excellence of their manufacture of cotton goods, and the court enjoined the defendants from using the word "Amoskeag" in connection with the products of their mills.

Gen. Crook's command has not been heard from since the Custer massacre, but military men say he is abundantly able to take care of himself.

Servian successes in the war against the Turks are reported.

Mrs. Thomas Lighthill and her four children were swept away and drowned on the 13th, by a freshet on Crow's run, a small Pennsylvania stream emptying into the Ohio river.

Haywood Grant was hanged at Rome, Ga., on Friday, for arson. He confessed to having killed four men, one of whom was Gen. Hindman of the Confederate army, at Helena, Ark.

David Coleman was arrested at Claremont on the 14th, for stealing a team in Lowell on the Fourth.

Thursday night, a large bottle of kerosene was thrown through the window into the parlor of Mr. Jaques of Augusta, Me., who has been conspicuous in prosecuting the saloon-keepers.

James Wilson, treasurer of the District of Columbia, is a defaulter to the amount of $6,000 or more. The Washington correspondents say he is and always has been a democrat, and owed his appointment to the good name he bore for unflinching honesty; but the Springfield Republican says he is a republican.

Lieut. W. S. Edgerly, son of Hon. J. B. Edgerly of Farmington, was at first reported as killed with so many of Gen. Custer's command in his recent engagement with the Indians, but his friends have since heard from him and he is safe.

The paper mill of Page & Coffin in Durham was partially destroyed by fire on Friday. Loss estimated at $2500; fully insured.

Robbins, who murdered the mate and a seaman of schooner "Annie B." off Deer Isle, Me., and then pulled ashore in a boat, two years ago, being afterward captured and tried, and found "not guilty by reason of insanity," recently escaped from the Insane Hospital at Augusta by cutting the grating to his window. He was arrested at Rockland on the evening of the same day.

A St. Louis dispatch to the Chicago Tribune of the 14th says: "Several days ago a beautiful young lady arrived at the Lindell Hotel in this city. Registering herself as Miss Ida Hermanee, San Francisco, she engaged the handsomest parlor in the hotel at $20 per day, together with the bridal chamber. She was magnificently dressed, wore several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds, and dispensed among the waiters money as though she were a princess. On Saturday she published an advertisement informing E. G. Crippen that a lady at the Lindell Hotel desired to see him. Crippen heard of the advertisement to-day, went to the hotel and found an old sweetheart. The meeting resulted in a hasty marriage in Dr. Schuyler's church this evening. Crippen is well known in Cincinnati and Chicago as a seller of safes. The young lady is said to be the only daughter of a millionaire widow of California. She ran away from her mamma about two weeks ago to Crippen."

Appintments.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council, held Friday afternoon, the following nominations were made:

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

Judge of Probate, Hon. Thomas Leavitt, of Exeter.

Register of Probate, Woodbury M. Durgin, Esq., of Northwood.

Sheriff, J. Horace Kent, of Portsmouth.

Solicitor, Hon. Wm. B. Small, of Newmarket—to take effect at the expiration of the term of the present incumbent.

Then and Now.

The Boston Globe thus alludes to the use of the guillotine at Concord this year:

"One of the charges which the republicans of New Hampshire made against the democrats was that when they got control of the legislature they removed all republican office-holders without regard to their qualifications or fidelity in office. Having regained full control of the legislature this year they have adopted the very same policy and swept out the democrats for none but political reasons. They probably excuse themselves on the ground that they are merely undoing democratic work which ought never to have been done. That is a very 'thin' excuse, and if they were honest in their professions they would have made no changes unless called for by substantial reasons."

There is such a thing as standing so very straight as to bend over backwards, and that is what the Globe does not unfrequently, in its "independence."

Its statement above quoted is an instance. The Globe must be aware that the indignation of the republicans over the wholesale removals by the democrats in 1874, was because such partisanship was in marked contrast to the action of the republicans in the preceding years. The republicans, on regaining control of the State after the democratic victory of 1871, found a goodly number of democrats in office,—and allowed them to remain there. Some (if not all) the republican papers of the State, including this one, spoke squarely against the removal of competent democratic officials for political reasons alone, where republicans had not been removed to make room for them; and none of the democratic appointees of Weston's first administration were troubled. But the democrats on regaining power, instead of imitating the example of the republicans, hastened to decapitate nearly every republican official in the State. That the democratic organs which in 1874 talked magniloquently of "the will of the people as expressed at the ballot-box," and waxed merry over "the squealing of the radical office-holders," should wax sad over the "partisanship" of the present republican legislature, is to be expected; but an "independent" paper might surely afford to be just enough to acknowledge that there is a wide difference in the circumstances under which the guillotine was set to work in 1874 and 1876.

Democratic Testimony.

Before Tilden's nomination his record was mercilessly overhauled by the democratic papers opposing him, and though most of them have wheeled into line under the party lash, their ante-convention statements are still in order. One of these papers, the Albany (N. Y.) Times, after referring to the cutting down of Tilden's majority from 38,000 to 4000, talked as follows of him and his pretence at "reform:"

What has Governor Tilden done since to arrest the downward tendency of his majority? In November last, many people really believed that he was about to fill our prisons with "canal thieves" and "cover into the treasury" large amounts of their dishonest gains. Not a "thief" has been punished or convicted, and not a dollar has found its way into the treasury since. Then again, the promise that further relief from taxation for canal purposes was to become the permanent policy of the State, is followed by a new, expensive and senseless scheme for enlarging the Erie canal, which will cost many millions, the money for which can come from no source but taxation. The few hundred thousand dollars now in the treasury, instead of being applied to the reduction of our canal debt, under this policy was to go into the pockets of that new "canal ring" which is working to make Mr. Tilden President!

The Chicago Times said: "It is entirely certain that Mr. Tilden is not a better man than Hayes, or as good a one. He has a record, and unfortunately, it is not one that will stand adverse criticism. Moreover, he is the selection of politicians. He awakens no enthusiasm among the people. Hayes will beat him as badly as Grant beat Greeley."

The Cincinnati Enquirer said: Tilden's surroundings are bad. If elected he would take to the White House the worst set of political jobbers and thieves ever seen in Washington, and that's saying a good deal." And again: "It could not but be that a man educated in cunning, in hypocrisy, in iniquity, nominated in corruption and shameless effrontery, even though his millions could elect him, would give us the most corrupt administration the country has ever known."

The Legislature.

In the Senate, Friday, the act in amendment of the charter of Dover was passed. Also, addresses for the removal of John M. Shirley, State reporter, and Benjamin F. Haley, special commissioner for the Boston & Maine Railroad.

In the House, an address for the removal of James G. Young from the office of associate justice of the police court of Somersworth was passed.

Committee on towns and parishes reported recommending passage of bill to annex Gosport to Rye, with amendments. Report accepted and amendments adopted; bill laid on table.

A joint resolution to pay Nathan C. Jameson of Antrim (unseated on account of election frauds) $250.20, was passed, it not appearing that Mr. Jameson was a party to the frauds.

The bill to divide the town of Landaff, and constitute the town of Easton, was passed.

Samuel H. Legro, Sheriff; Henry Heywood, Solicitor; Hazen Bedel, Judge of Probate; and George H. Emerson, Register of Probate, of Coos county, were "addressed out."

—Dr. J. T. Gilman's mare, Fannie, is an equine of unusual intelligence, and some of her peculiarities have previously been recorded. A day or two since, while the doctor was visiting a patient, the horse was left in the yard, as usual, without being fastened. After the doctor went into the house, Fannie walked up the yard and began browsing a rose bush. The servant girl came out and spoke to her. In a few moments the horse returned again, and began to whinnie and stamp on the door step. The girl came out again, and was not a little startled to see Fannie running out her tongue at her, and acting strangely. The organ protruded its entire length, and was kept exposed with a determination worthy of a patient undergoing examination by a physician. The girl finally examined the member, and found a thorn from the rose bush had got uncomfortably fastened to it. She removed it, and the horse went back and stood quietly by the door until the doctor had completed his call.—Portland Adv.

—The petrified body of Fin McCoul, the giant of the noted Giant's Causeway in Ireland, has been discovered in that country. Americans will take a just pride in learning that the person who has made this discovery is also the owner of the American Cardiff giant. It is one of the most wonderful coincidences on record that this Mr. Dyer should be digging about under the surface so much and twice meet, at the depth of eight feet, petrified giants such as no other man has been able to find.

—A man came to the duke of Wellington with a patented article. "What have you to offer?" "A bullet-proof jacket, your grace." "Put it on." The inventor obeyed. The duke rang a bell. An aide-de-camp presented himself. "Tell the captain of the guard to order one of his men to load with ball cartridge!" The inventor disappeared forthwith, and no money was wasted on that invention.

NOTICE.

Having my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of

Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!

I also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

Suicide.

A woman known as Georgie Crow committed suicide on Friday night by throwing herself from Noble's Island bridge into the river. She had previously made two attempts to jump overboard the same evening, but was prevented from doing so by Mr. Andrew Frisbee, who was watching her on account of her having threatened suicide. Mr. Frisbee finally left the bridge to inform the police of her intentions, when she darted for the bridge, eluded officer Watkins and Mr. Charles Berry, who attempted to catch her, (and did get near enough to get a slight grasp of her dress as she fell,) and jumped into the water. The men quickly procured a boat, but the woman had disappeared, having as they supposed struck one of the old piles in her fall and been killed or stunned. From letters left by her it was found that her real name was Georgie Jones, and that she belonged in Washington, Maine. She was about thirty years of age. On Saturday afternoon her body was found floating near the Concord Railroad wharf, by the cook of schooner Mary Ellen. Coroner Rider was notified, and took charge of the remains.

A Good Appointment.

Col. J. Horace Kent has received the appointment of Sheriff of this county,—an appointment that meets the approval of pretty much everybody in this section. Mr. Kent is an experienced and judicious detective officer, a trustworthy and almost universally popular man, and will do whatever duties appertain to his office promptly, fearlessly and faithfully.

The Boston Journal says: "The appointment of Col. J. Horace Kent as Sheriff of Rockingham county gives great satisfaction to his many friends. Should he accept the office he will make a most efficient Sheriff."

The Boston Traveller says: "Col. J. Horace Kent, of Portsmouth, has been appointed High Sheriff of Rockingham county, a post for which he is eminently qualified. For the past two years Col. Kent has been chief of the New England department of the U. S. Secret Service force, and during that period procured more than one hundred convictions for frauds against the government, among which were those of some of the most notorious counterfeiters in the country. During the war Col. Kent saw service in the 43d Massachusetts Regiment, and has since been one of the most prominent republicans in New Hampshire. He has also been a valued and interesting correspondent of the Traveller for many years, his signature being familiar to all our readers."

One of the first to felicitate Col. Kent on his appointment was Ex-Sheriff Odlin, of Exeter, (who was also a candidate for the position,) who on learning of the decision of the Governor and Council immediately sent to the successful candidate a telegram cordially congratulating him on the result.

Naval.

The Marine Band was paid off and discharged on Friday.

Paying off the crew of the "Congress" commenced Friday. All her men will be discharged at once, exceeting a few who will be detained long enough to strip her.

The Vandalia, formerly the receiving ship here, has been ordered from Port Royal to the New York navy yard.

Capt. Earl English will begin duty as Captain of this naval station, immediately after the Congress goes out of commission.

Gunner T. H. Fortune is ordered to the Mare island yard.

Lieut. T. M. Gardner and Mate Hugh Kuhl are detached from the Speedwell and placed on waiting orders.

Major Philip R. Fendall, U. S. Marine Corps, has been granted leave of absence for six months from July 8th.

Jottings.

The cottage and land No. 53 Middle street, sold on Saturday by Morse & Ilsley, at Auction, were bought by Mr. Nathan Jones for $2050.

The Vesper Service of the South Parish will be omitted until the first Sunday in September.

Mr. Joseph Boss of this city was seriously injured Friday by a kick from one of his horses, in Newington. Besides having his jaw badly damaged one of his ribs was broken in two places.

Stratham was the sixth town settled in New Hampshire. In 1776 its population was 1137, and at the present time is 785.

A cow belonging to Levi Carkin at Gravelly Ridge, was struck by lightning during the last storm, and instantly killed.

Political.

A republican in Washington suggests to the Proctor Knott investigating committee that it would be a good thing if they would try to ascertain what connection Samuel J. Tilden had with the Credit Mobilier. The report made in 1873 to the House shows that Tilden was employed as an attorney, and there are good reasons for believing that he pocketed an enormous fee for approving the Credit Mobilier scheme when it was submitted to him. The testimony of John B. Alley and of Cornelius S. Bushness shows that Tilden was employed, and it may be desirable to know what the services were which he rendered, and what was paid to him. If it appears that he is the legal god-father of the Credit Mobilier, it will be amusing, at least.

Judge Davis of the U. S. Supreme Court is consistent in repudiating Tilden. He is the same Judge who, in a decision in the case of the Galena, Chicago and Union Railroad Company, characterized the operations of Tilden as marked by "trickery and fraud."

Tilden's friends claim that he carried his State in 1874 by 50,000 majority. His vote was 416,000 against 378,000, which gives him a majority of 38,000 only. Last year a majority of 14,810 is claimed for his ticket. His vote was 390,000 against 386,000, which gives him some 4,000 majority,—a loss of 34,000 from the previous year. It is well to state the figures accurately, as they take down the lofty pretension of Governor Tilden's popularity, and show that he has fallen far short of his claims to public confidence.

A Fine House.

Messrs. Editors: During a brief sojourn among the hills of the "Old Granite State" I spent a few days at the beautiful village of Wolfeboro' Bridge, where I found in addition to the many attractions in nature a few architectural designs which also attract the eye, prominent among which (and when finished will be the finest) is the family mansion of Stephen Durgin, Esq., located near the bridge. The design is by one of Portsmouth's Mechanics, Charles Priodall Esq., who is also the master builder and who has had entire control of the work in all departments. The plastering and stucco work, is by Mr. Frazer, also of our city, and of course is first class in all respects. The house is of wood, 44 ft. by 89 ft., three stories, with addition 32ft. by 27ft., mansard roof, surmounted by cupola 12 ft. by 10 ft., covered with the best slate. The 1st story contains parlor finished in pine with stucco cornice and centre piece, with chimney piece of statuary marble of the most beautiful design and finish. Sitting-room finished in black walnut, also stucco cornice and centre piece, chimney piece of Tenn. marble, very pretty. Office finished in walnut, with chimney piece of elegant Victoria red marble. Dining-room finished in ash, with chimney piece of Knoxville marble. 2d story same as first, all finished in pine and furnished with stucco cornices and centre pieces, with marble chimney pieces of different varieties. 3d story finished in pine. Bath room finished in walnut and ash and furnished with hot and cold water. The halls are very wide, with walnut stairs, close stringers, fancy turned balusters and continued rail from lower hall to cupola. There are bay windows on front of 1st and 2d stories. Glass of best French plate. The house has been examined by many visitors and all admit it to be the finest in Carroll County, and some claim it to be the finest and most substantial in the State. ROCINGHAM.

Appetite a Necessity.

Appetite is a necessity. Without it, sufficient food is not received into the stomach either to nourish the system or to give the stimulus to the bowels which they require. Both these organs and the liver become torpid in consequence, and the blood grows poor in quality and quantity. Improve the appetite, therefore, and avoid such results. This is most effectually done with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic appetizer and alterative without a peer. It gives not only an unwonted zest for food, but enables the stomach to digest and the system to assimilate it. Flatulence, heartburn, nausea, and every other concomitant of indigestion are removed by it, as are also biliousness and constipation. Each nerve and fibre of the body is made to tingle with health by its use, and it is the leading remedy for despondency.

False Delicacy.

The friends of those who are troubled with bad breath, and, through over-squeamishness, dislike to refer to it, commit a positive and cruel mistake, especially if they are aware of the merits and great efficacy of the fragrant SOZODONT. This is the true and only remedy for the difficulty; there is no valid excuse for a bad breath now.

ACTING THROUGH THE PORES upon the sources of inflammation GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP promptly relieves the burning, itching and other annoyances caused by Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Impetigo, Erysipelas, and other skin diseases and ultimately removes every vestige of them.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam has effected more cures during the first two years it was in the market than all the medicines that have been advertised for twenty years past. F. W. Kinsman, Proprietor, Augusta, Me.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,
Newburyport, Mass.

The Workingman's Friend.

When Sam. J. Tilden's Michigan Iron Company went into bankruptcy in 1875, it was owing its miners and laborers about $50,000. Just before this event, and after it was seen to be inevitable, several of the honest stockholders voluntarily agreed, provided all the stockholders would unite, to raise the full amount due to the laborers out of their private funds. It was an honest proposition from men who understand the rights and needs of the men on whose labor they had profited. All the stockholders, save one, agreed to it. That one refused, and consequently the workmen did not get their pay, and have not yet received it. It would have cost that man about $1300 to have paid his proportion of this honorable and voluntary assessment. It was an honest debt, but he was in New York and he knew the poor workingmen could not sue for their rights, for they had no money. He had, it is said, about $7,000,000—and what did he care for the sufferings and privations of a few workingmen away up in the woods of Michigan, who needed every dollar they honestly earned? That man was Samuel J. Tilden, the Wall street candidate for President of the United States, who now has the sublime impudence to claim to be the friend and benefactor of the laboring men of the nation.—Chicago Post and Mail.

—A tramp called at a residence in New Bedford, and on being invited to dine wanted to know if the custard pie was good, and why they did not have meat for dinner. He did not eat much because he wanted meat, and consequently went in search of it.

Modern Women.

It is a sad commentary upon our boasted civilization that women of our time have degenerated in health—pale, nervous, feeble and back-achy, with only here and there a few noble exceptions in the persons of the robust, buxom ladies characteristic of the sex in days gone by. By a very large experience, covering a period of years and embracing the treatment of many thousands of cases of those ailments peculiar to Women, Dr. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., has perfected, by the combination of certain vegetable extracts, a natural specific, which he does not extol as a cure-all, but one which admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most positive and reliable remedy for those weaknesses and complaints that afflict the women of the present day. This natural specific compound is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The following are among those diseases in which this wonderful medicine has worked cures as if by magic and with a certainty never before attained by any medicines: Weak back, nervous and general debility, falling and other displacements of internal organs, resulting from debility and lack of strength in natural supports, internal fever, congestion, inflammation and ulceration and very many other chronic diseases incident to women, not proper to mention here, in which, as well as in the cases that have been enumerated, the Favorite Prescription effects cures—the marvel of the world. It will not do harm in any state or condition of the system, and by adopting its use the invalid lady may avoid that severest of ordeals—the consulting of a family physician. Favorite Prescription is sold by dealers in medicines generally.

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. DR. QUAIN'S
MAGIC
CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative. It relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the luxurious climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
— AND —
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or th ow them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contes. of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them, or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

In addition to a large number of able editorials on financial and business topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of every bond, stock and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & Co. are very extensive brokers, of large experience and tried integrity. In addition to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are termed "Privileges," or "Puts and Calls," now one of the favorite methods of legitimate speculation. Their advice is very valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—New York Metropolis.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a concentrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
Its use renders this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

A Desperate Duel.

It is now over thirty years since one of the most remarkable, desperate, and murderous duels that ever took place was fought in Vicksburg. One of the parties was formerly a New York boy, a graduate from one of the Wall street banks. After filling all the desks of that institution with singular ability, from a collecting clerk up to the position of first teller while still a young man, he was appointed cashier of a bank in Vicksburg, which gave offence and caused much jealousy among the senior clerks of that institution, and they took every opportunity to oppose and insult him. This became so marked and unbearable, in its character, that the president finally told the cashier that he must resent it, and that he would stand by him.

He had occasion, soon after, to give one of the tellers a specimen of his skill in the art of self defence. This resulted in a challenge for a duel, which was accepted, and after three days of constant pistol practice resulted in the death of the teller. He had numerous relatives, and one after another came forward to avenge his death, until four duels were forced upon the cashier from the natural consequences of the first duel, and "still there were more Richmonds in the field."

A relative of the first victim, an editor and successful duelist, gave out a threat that he was coming to town to avenge the death of his cousin. His great courage and desperate fighting qualities had been frequently tried and were so well known that something desperate must be done to meet the emergency, and if possible to stop any and all future challenges. The editor arrived in town, and lost no time in sending his message, which was as promptly responded to. Early in the morning of the same day, all of the arrangements were made for a meeting at six o'clock the next morning.

After making some necessary arrangements in case of death, the cashier went to bed and slept until 4 A. M., having all this time forgotten the almost worshipful love and devotion of his wife and only child, who were in profound ignorance of his desperate enterprise. He silently kissed them, and then the husband and father stole away to attend to the bloody business.

On arriving at the appointed rendezvous he found a trench dug six feet deep, two wide and twelve long. Into this double grave the two principals descended, each armed with six-shooting navy revolvers and having bowie knives, with instructions to commence firing at the word advance and finish the bloody work with their knives, if their pistols failed to accomplish it. At the first shot the editor was mortally wounded. He drew his knife and with the velocity of a tiger sprang toward his opponent just as he had fired his second shot. He warded off the blow with his pistol, which had a deep cut in it made by the knife, showing what a desperate blow had been aimed at his adversary, who fell dead at his feet. The cashier's mind was so much diseased that he could not attend to business, and by the advice of his physicians took a vacation and change of scene. He came to this city and died in a lunatic asylum a month after.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

—The German edition of the Daily News of this city is responsible on this side of the water for a lovestory about the Kaiser William. It is to the effect that when Prince William of Prussia entered France with the allied invaders in 1815, a youth of nineteen, he lodged in the house of a well-to-do citizen at Dizier who had a very pretty daughter. With this damsel, Angelique Barnier, the youthful Prussian Prince struck up a tremendous flirtation, and when he marched away to Paris left written on a pane of her window as well as on "the red tablets of her heart" these words in German, "I love thee; William." More than half a century rolled away; and when in 1870 the Prussian Guards rode into Dizier, Angelique Barnier, a stout matron now, received certain of their officers into her house—and showed them the precious souvenir still glittering where the Prince's diamond ring had scrawled it. The story was too good to keep, and it traveled from lip to lip till it reached headquarters. King William went straight to the house and presented himself before his old sweetheart. "Angelique," he exclaimed, "who could have dreamed you would kiss and tell!" The matron, in confusion, began to excuse herself, but the gallant old King caught both her hands, kissed them—not perhaps quite so tenderly as of old—and said, laughing, "Ah, well, my soldiers know that boys will be boys; and, Angelique! I have never forgotten you!"—New York World.

—A very daring Kentucky girl rode her horse close up to the edge of a yawning chasm and proudly defied any gentleman of the party to follow her example. Not a soul stirred except one youth, who boldly backed his horse into the same position and, standing on his head in the saddle, dared her to do the same. She concluded not to.

—Cucumbers are as vigorous as usual this season. A man who partook of them freely was found curled over a picket fence waiting for the judgment day, and had breath enough left to explain that he'd just as lief wait there as anywhere else.

—The best time to examine the wonderful architecture of the hornet's nest is after the hornets have moved out.

TUESDAY, JULY 18, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The "Bloody Shirt."

The democratic and "independent" newspapers of the North have long and fiercely reprobated the republican waving of the "bloody shirt," sturdily maintaining that the accounts of massacres of colored men and white republicans at the South by democrats, for political reasons only, are all "radical" lies. We have been told, over and over again, that where the democrats have supreme control there is no trouble! as if that was a convincing proof that outrages are not committed in the districts where the republicans are most numerous—just where the republicans assert and the records prove that such outrages are committed, and invariably by democrats. No one pretends to believe that the ex-rebel ex-slaveholders of the South would murder the freedmen by wholesale in cold blood, if the latter would consent to give up the rights guaranted them by Constitutional amendments, and vote and act exactly as their former owners dictate; it is only where they refuse to do this, and where the democrats are not sufficiently numerous to out-vote them, that the shot-gun, the lash, the noose and the knife are brought into play as potent political agencies by the White Line democracy.

Look at Louisiana,—at the massacres at Colfax and Coushatta, in Grant and Feliciana parishes, and the Shreveport district; at the cold-blooded assassination of Mr. King and the fearful maiming of State Senator Twitchell, in broad daylight, by "an unknown man" who was allowed by the democrats to ride leisurely away after finishing his bloody work, without any attempt to even find out who he was. True, the latter outrage has been "investigated" by two good democrats appointed by the House of Representatives expressly to whitewash the affair over; and that committee, after examining some score of democrats, all of whom knew nothing of the outrage excepting that it was not committed for political reasons (what other reason there could be for its commission none of the witnesses pretended to say, nor were they even asked by the whitewashing committee how they knew the outrage was not a political one) gravely announced that politics had nothing to do with the matter! That there is much trouble in Louisiana, even the democratic New Orleans Picayune admits; and the following extract from that paper also squarely admits that the aggressors are the democrats and the victims the colored republicans: "There is no disguising the fact that there is constant disorder and occasional bloodshed in certain districts of this State. It is true that the provocation has come from our political enemies; but that does not excuse us from the duty of striving with all possible earnestness to bring about a happier condition of affairs. We must teach the black people that we are their true friends, that our interests are identical with theirs and that the unscrupulous demagogues who infest the State are the common enemies of both races."

In Mississippi, where there is an undoubted republican majority of 25,000 or more, the shotgun politicians of the democratic party did their duty so well at the last election that the State went democratic; and in districts in which at the last previous election the republicans had polled more than double the vote of the democrats, not a single republican ballot was deposited! This of itself is sufficient proof of the extent to which the democracy carried their reign of terror, but the investigating committee which has recently been working in that State says the full exposure of the horrors of the last Mississippi election will appal those people of the North who do not recognize wholesale murder as a legitimate method of reducing an opposition majority.

In Georgia the democrats gained control of the State "by bribery and intimidation of the black vote." This was openly boasted of by Bob Toombs in an address to the Georgia legislature, and the boast was received with "loud applause"—Toombs also boasting that he was an active agent in the bribery and intimidation practiced, and that as a democrat he was proud of it. And some months ago a Georgian orator at a meeting in South Carolina told his hearers "how we got the niggers where they belong" in Georgia, and proffered the young men of South Carolina abundant material aid "in arms and men to use them" if the South Carolinians would undertake the enterprise on the Georgia plan. This offer seems to have been accepted, and the first massacre of colored republicans in South Carolina, by Georgian democratic volunteers, has been successfully carried out at Hamburg.

Look at the Hamburg affair, taking the accounts as published in democratic papers as correct. A military company, charged with having obstructed the highway during a parade on the Fourth of July, were complained of in court; but instead of abiding by the decision of the court, or indeed allowing the court to make any decision, the complainant's counsel, an ex-rebel general, demanded that the military company should give up to him their arms, which belong to the State. By what authority this ex-rebel general assumed to disarm and disband the militia of a State is not stated; the reason for his insolent assumption, and for the subsequent massacre of the contumaceous militiamen, is plain—the militiamen were negroes, and Georgian chivalry could not brook the insult of negroes carrying guns. As the negroes refused to deliver up the State property in their charge on the illegal demand of an irresponsible bully, the ex-rebel general roused the chivalry; the negroes were beseiged, a cannon being brought up by the Georgians; the resistance soon ceased, and the terrified negroes attempted to escape, being "riddled with bullets," "shot in the back after capture," etc., during the night, and "turned loose in a cornfield" and "shot like rabbits as they ran" next morning. One white man killed during the fight, and ten negroes murdered in cold blood after the fight was over, is the official return of the victorious ex-rebel "Gen." M. C. Butler. The beauty of the whole thing is that while the democrats "strongly reprobate" the massacre, not one of the leading murderers, all of whom are well known, has been arrested! There is no need of any further trouble there; the democratic correspondent of the Charleston News says "the feeling among the negroes in Hamburg is one of terrified submission," so the campaign has resulted exactly as it was intended; the unprovoked murder of a dozen South Carolina negroes by a thousand or more armed Georgians has induced so proper a feeling of "terrified submission" in the breasts of the survivors that it will be an easy job to keep them from carrying republican tickets to the polls at the next election. They will reason that it is a crime punishable with death at the hands of a lawless mob for a negro to celebrate the Fourth of July, how much more worthy death at the same hands for him to vote the republican ticket; and that if the law cannot protect him in the first instance it will be quite as helpless in the last. If this cowardly and brutal outrage does not turn out to be but the opening of a deliberately-planned shot-gun political campaign by the democrats, such as enabled them to carry Mississippi, we shall be agreeably disappointed.

The Legislature.

On Saturday no business of importance was transacted. An address for the removal of officers in Hillsborough county was called up, but was not disposed of, no quorum being present. Adjourned to Monday afternoon.

The act to establish a new proportion for the assessment of public taxes has been passed. It provides that of every thousand dollars of the State tax the several towns shall pay a certain amount. The proportion assigned to the larger towns is as follows:

Portsmouth	$50,65
Exeter	12.91
Dover	36.36
Rochester	14.12
Somersworth	16.10
Laconia	10.60
Concord	55.50
Franklin	10.64
Manchester	99.31
Nashua	43.63
Keene	29.97
Claremont	17.53
Lebanon	11.92

These are the only towns which pay $10, or one one-hundredth of the tax. As will be seen, Manchester pays one-tenth, Portsmouth one-twentieth and Nashua and Concord together about the same as Manchester.

The amount paid by each county is as follows:

Rockingham	$151.60
Strafford	100.14
Belknap	45.84
Carroll	36.98
Merrimack	149.42
Hillsborough	241.29
Cheshire	98,21
Sullivan	56.15
Grafton	90.74
Coos	34.62

The House has passed an act to increase the efficiency of the military of the State and for the safe keeping of uniforms, arms, and equipments. Section 1, which contains the essential part of the bill, is as follows:

Every member of the State militia shall drill with his company once a month for not less than two hours at each drill, and at such time and place as the company or regimental commander may designate, and shall receive as compensation for such service, if infantry or heavy artillery, the sum of three dollars per annum; if light artillery, the sum of four dollars per annum; if cavalry, the sum of five dollars per annum, to be paid on or before the first day of April in each year; and any member who shall absent himself from his company at any such drill without permission of his company commander, shall forfeit for each offence the sum of fifty cents, to be deducted from his pay, and if for three successive drills without such permission, may be dishonorably discharged, and shall forfeit all pay and allowance due him.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14.

From accounts received here of the recent massacre in Hamburg, S. C., it appears that the Ku-Klux of that vicinity surpassed themselves in any previous effort of their atrocious calling, and almost rivalled Sitting-Bull and his band in every savage characteristic. Details from Ku-Kulux authorities do not essentially differ from those derived from other sources; and but little attempt is made to conceal the satisfaction of the ex-Confederate writers over the cowardly murder and torture of unarmed men, whose only provocation was their attempt at self defense. The following, in brief, appear to be some of the facts: Hamburg, directly opposite Augusta, Georgia, on the North bank of the Savannah river, is populated almost exclusively by colored people. On the Fourth inst. its colored militia company (a part of the State militia,) sought to celebrate the day by a peaceful parade. It was ordered out of the highway with oaths, that two chivalous Southern gentlemen might pass. Compliance was at first declined, but subsequently the ranks were broken, as commanded, to avoid trouble. The next day the company officers were commanded to appear before a trial justice to answer for their aggravated offense. The writs were obeyed, and after a partial examination further proceedings were postponed until the 8th inst. On that day the town was early filled with hundreds of white men from the surrounding country and from Georgia, well armed, apparently under command of one Butler, a malignant, unreconstructed rebel who insolently demanded that the members of the militia company should surrender their arms. It was agreed to do so, if Butler would guarantee their safety. This condition was refused, and the company retired to their armory. This was immediately attacked by the desperadoes, but failing to dislodge the occupants with the means at hand, and after an ineffectual attempt to fire the building, it was accomplished by artillery. During an attempt to escape from a rear window, some of the negroes were riddled with bullets; and others, who were captured, were shot down like dogs, after being dispossessed of their arms, and their bodies mutilated. Their appeals for life were met by blows and responded to by oaths and derisive merriment. After these barbaritis the town, according to one account, was sacked. Every account thus far received goes to show that a pretext was deliberately sought, through two insolent, blaspheming blackguards, for the butchery of these inoffensive men, who at their own homes and among their own people, were quietly enjoying the day without a purpose to interfere with any one. The leaders here, paralyzed for the moment by the political consequences threatened, have neglected to defend this democratic constituency by a shout of "bloody shirt" or campaign lie.

The sundry civil service appropriation bill has been agreed upon, save the portion in relation to a repeal of the registration law, upon which point the Senate refuses to yield. The Senate consented to a reduction of about $8,000,000, and the House abated its demands to the extent of $700,000. The abolition of the regulations relative to the registration of voters and the supervising authority of U. S. officials, would remove every restriction to the villainous election frauds that have made New York city, Baltimore and other democratic strongholds infamous in the past. The conference committee have agreed upon the silver bill. It issues $50,000,000 in subsidiary coin and removes the legal tender feature of the trade dollar. The silver issued under its provisions will be legal tender for five dollars, but it does not provide for the retirement of greenbacks paid into the Treasury for silver. The legislative, army, diplomatic and Indian appropriation bills are all before conference committees, with no immediate prospect of an agreement upon either. The banking and currency committee yesterday postponed again the vote upon the proposition to repeal the resumption act, till Monday. It is believed that it will fail.

The swindle which passed the House months ago, known as the river and harbor appropriation bill, and in which about every member of the committee sought to increase his home popularity by seeking appropriations for the duck and frog ponds in his district, has undergone a severe course of treatment in the Senate. It appropriates about the same amount of money contemplated by the House reformers; but the number of bequests are reduced and their amounts increased by striking out the House appropriations for unheard-of streams, and harbors unknown to commerce, and adding the same to sums already appropriated to places of importance. It is contemplated in the Senate to make the terms of the Lawrence Pacific railroad bill which recently passed the House, still more severe upon these monopolies. It is a bad year for Pacific railroads, and their lobbies here are aghast at the outlook.

Since the disaster to Custer, the adroit reformers in the House desired to know of the Secretary of War the number of troops in each of the States and Territories, with a view to showing that the Indian fighters had been sent on their warlike errand unsupported, while large bodies of troops were kept in the South to overawe its chivalric white citizens and force upon them the "nigger supremacy." But it appears that the proportion quartered in that section does not exceed that retained in the North.

President Grant's letter to ex-Secretary Bristow, relieving him from any obligations of secrecy as to a knowledge of State matters and whisky wars, which came to him as a member of the Cabinet, and expressing the hope that any member of his Cabinet, summoned before a committee will gratify its curiosity, has taken the wind completely out of democratic sails. The slight ripple occasioned by Jewell's retirement from the Cabinet has already subsided. The House managers in the Belknap case have completed their evidence, except the examination of Evans, who is expected here every day, and it is not probable that the defense will consume more than two or three days. The general expectation is that Belknap will escape conviction. MAXWELL.

—A clergyman in Exeter, England, addressed a meeting of licensed victuallers as "Christian friends," and he had to wait for them to have their laugh out.

—May you learn wisdom from a postage-stamp. It sticks to its legitimate business. Letters profit by it.

NOTICE.

HAVING my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of

Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!

I also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

News and Notes.

The Old South is to be demolished.

Two brothers named Murray gave a terrible beating with a cowhide to Robert H. Berdell, of Goshen, N. Y., Ex-president of the Erie Railroad, in a depot in New York City, last week. The parties were brothers-in-law, Berdell and one of the Murrays having married sisters; but Burdell was recently divorced from his wife on the ground of infidelity. In self-defence Berdell drew a small pistol and shot Wisner Murray in the head, inflicting a probably fatal wound.

Crook's command in the Indian country has been heard from. He is besieged by immense bodies of savages, but can hold his own, and will take the offensive as soon as reinforcements now on the way reach him. Terry's official account of the Custer affair has been received, from which it appears that the whole number of casualties was 368 soldiers and 14 officers killed, and 60 wounded. A general Indian war is feared.

Orders have been received to fit the United States sloop-of-war Ossipee for sea immediately. She will probably sail next Tuesday for San Domingo.

The Post's Washington correspondent says: "Col. Andrew H. Young of Dover, who has been sojourning here for a few days, had his pocket picked yesterday of about $100 and several notes while at the Capitol." Col. Young should have known better than to take so much money into the immediate presence of a democratic House of Representatives.

The deaths from the explosion of the boiler of the British iron-clad Thunderer now number thirty, and many of the wounded are expected to die.

John Ryan's store in Manchester was burned on Saturday; loss on stock $3000; insurance $1500. Loss on building not stated; insurance $5,000.

Political.

One of the most sensible remarks for which the New York Herald is to be credited, relates to the "war of races" in Hamburg, S. C. It says:—"The reasons leading to this collision are given with that vagueness which generally characterizes dispatches from the South detailing any quarrel between blacks and whites, a vagueness which may be attributed in most cases to that fact that the whites write the narratives, while the negroes are killed."

The Charleston, (S. C.,) News prints the substance of a statement by Prince Rivers, colored Justice of the Peace at Hamburg, S. C., to Attorney-General Stone, which differs materially in its account of his actions from previous reports. In substance he says: Upon affidavits of one Robert Butler he issued warrants as Trial Justice for Dr. Adams and the other commissioned officers of a militia company in the town of Hamburg for obstructing the highway and preventing said Robert Butler from passing. This was on the 5th of July, 1876. Owing to some confusion taking place in his office on that day he postponed the trial till Saturday, the 8th, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time Gen. M. C. Butler appeared as counsel for Robert Butler. During the trial M. C. Butler asked for more time, which was granted, he (Butler) promising to be ready within an hour, but he never returned to Rivers' office any more, but went to Augusta and returned with two companies of soldiers, and demanded immediate surrender of arms in possession of the militia to him. After some talk with Rivers, he (Gen. Butler) granted them half an hour to comply with his terms. Rivers then went to the drill room of the company and consulted with the men who were there assembled to get them to give up their arms sooner than have bloodshed. This they refused to do, saying Gen. Butler had no authority to make them give up their arms. The time having expired, Gen. Butler gave an order the troops under him to fire, which they did, and the fire was not returned by the militia for some time. Butler said he would not have the arms or burn the town. Rivers offered to box the guns and send them to Gov. Chamberlain, but Butler would not agree to this.

I think he [Tilden] cannot carry New York. Those who claim that he is unassailable do not know him, or, if they do, then they are quite as dishonest as he is. He has been counsel for all the broken-down corporations with which New York has been afflicted for a long term of years, and out of them he has not come with clean hands.—August Belmont.

Why don't the northern democrats send a vigorous remonstrance to such southern democratic papers as the Charleston (S. C.) News and the Augusta (Ga.) Constitutionalist, protesting against their "waving the bloody shirt" so recklessly as they have done in publishing softened-down accounts of the Hamburg massacre? The northern democratic papers do much better—they say as little as possible on the subject; next week they will deny that there was any trouble at all there.

During the war a hotel-keeper in Davenport, Iowa, kicked a wounded soldier out of his house because he was selling Chicago Tribunes containing an account of a Union victory. The night he heard of the nomination of Tilden that man illuminated his hotel from roof to office.

Appetite a Necessity.
